

OAKLAND TRIBUNE

Magazine Section Sunday, December 8, 1918

Days of "Woman Power"

An English Fire Company
Girl in a Munition Factory
Practising a Rescue Drill.

THE world has heard a lot about horse power and man power. It has remained for the era of the war to bring forward the factor of woman power. Not merely the mental power that even reactionary critics were ready to yield to women, but nerve and muscle power have been demonstrated in an extraordinary way by the exigencies of the great conflict.

It is rather an odd experience to glance backward at the time when it was first suggested that women might offer some help, some physical help, in the countries drawn into the war. It was quite readily agreed that they might be of a certain usefulness in various manual ways. But bigoted critics of feminine limitations had it all cut and dried that women could not, of course, rise to the heights of certain forms of labor. They could not, it was pointed out, manage machinery. They didn't have the kind of minds or the kind of nerves and muscles that would fit them for the intricacies of mechanical things.

And then all the predictions of the bigoted ones went wrong. Step by step women invaded the industries, lifting their tools that men were compelled to lay down, and taking their seats before engines of manufacture which men had perforce deserted. It was an incredible thing, but it went on happening in England, in France, in Italy and then in the United States, until today no sort of man can have reason to be astonished to find a woman managing, and managing effectively, any sort of engine yet contrived, from a steel drill to a locomotive. In the engine rooms of the great ship yards, for example, where two of the pictures shown on this page were made, the spectacle of sturdy girls handling huge and intricate machinery, and doing so as a matter of course, gives an impression of revolutionary change scarcely to be matched by anything yet brought about by the regenerating calamity of war.

However much of patriotism may have gone to the recruiting of women for these new tasks, and however much may be attributable to novelty, adventure and big wages, it is true that women have yielded to the discipline of this new life in a satisfactorily complete way, and that

Worker at a Big Steel Drilling Machine.

Typical Worker in the Machine Department of an American Ship Yard.

they have in the matter of efficiency "made good" to a degree that no advocate of feminism could have risked predicting ten years, or five years, ago. The day of woman power dawned impressively and woman power will be a factor to be reckoned with in that reconstruction of the affairs of the world which must follow the completed work of the armies in Europe.

It has been estimated that 100,000 women worked in American munition and airplane plants this year. The total number of women wage earners in this country is now close to 12,000,000.

"The sudden and violent necessities of war," said Hall Caine some time ago, "have called woman up to her rightful place as the co-partner of man, and never, as long as the world lasts, can she step down from it."

Whatever may be its after-the-war bearings, the rise of women in industry has been of the profoundest significance. Opinions naturally vary as to the future. With regard to the big facts of the present, and of woman's accomplishment, there is little opportunity for variance of opinion. What women can do for industry has been proved. What industry may do for women, for her economic situation, her social situation and for her health, remains for time to prove.

It has been pointed out with great force that the effect of her industrial transfiguration must have upon woman a far-reaching effect, and that this effect is of immense concern to the world. The future of the race must be directly influenced by everything that influences her—her physical well-being, her mentality, her ideals.

It is cheering to be assured by some of the most prominent authorities that this effect is likely to be favorable to all the best aspirations of woman.

All in the Week's News

By AD SCHUSTER

The following from Reedy's Mirror bears the name of Prof. Witter Bynner of Berkeley:

"You leaned against me
Humming a slow song
Of purple shadows.
Showers and javelins and shooting stars
Fell through me where you leaned.
Whose ghost was I?"

Not knowing whose ghost the professor was at the time and event mentioned we won't venture an answer! However, nothing can stop us writing what the Binner song inspired:

You leaned against me,
Smoking a pale-pink pill;
Copious cloudlets.
Visions of cyclone cellar, tall trees,
Escape, fell through—you leaned
And borrowed ten.

Of course we all thought of the one about Peru refusing to take any Chile sauce.

The Bolshevik have captured Dvinsk. Let's see, doesn't that make it unanimous?

The trouble was, the kaiser didn't sign his first abdication on an official blank.

Just let the Berkeley hills start "clapping their hands" and see how many people telephone the police department!

At that, if a hill has a brow why not hands to mop it?

Considering the fact that King Nicholas was deposed by the Skupshina he may be excused for feeling put out about something.

A PROTEST.
Nix on the "modest" hero,
To hear some fellows talk
You'd think a bunch of violets
Had landed in Noo Yawk.

THE WAR SAVING KIND.
Now the war is over and you still are feeling strong
And there's not the slightest chance to go to camp;
You may use your fighting spirit just to help the boys along,
And as they licked the kaiser —lick a stamp.

EVE SET THIS FACE.
Huntington, W. Va.—That women are better apple pickers than men was demonstrated at the orchard of Capt. D. A. Allen in this county, etc.

HIS LITTLE HOBBY.
Percy Minnis, who had a finger cut off the day after Christmas, had another one cut off this week.—
Mercerville (Iowa) Banner.

The women are taking men's places all right. Four of them arrested at Coney Island for playing poker.

There are other things which work toward happiness just as much as the habit of chumming around with an undertaker out of business hours.

Just to show what a war can bring about, we were over at the theater the other evening and heard an Italian chief singing a song in the Greek language. If this isn't grabbing the entente cordiale by the tail and beating it into submission, we will take another guess.

The Rochelle "Herald" announces gravely that the dry-bone order will remain in effect "until the troops are brought home and demoralized."

To prevent crowding in the subway cars during the influenza epidemic, would it not be well to follow the usual custom and take off some of the cars?

There really is not much in a name, so it doesn't matter what one you hang on the baby. Look at Ferdinand of Bulgaria, then at Ferdinand Poch.

TOMBOY TALOR FELT THAT IF SHE JUMPED TO THE FLOOR IT WOULD SHAKE THINGS DOWN SO THAT SHE COULD EAT SOME MORE TURKEY.

DINNER STORIES

Charles Chaplin is very fond of his afternoon tea. If he is working at the studio he has tea served on the set; if off somewhere, he seeks the tea. The other afternoon Charles entered a new tea-room in Hollywood and ordered a pot of tea. As the maid placed it on the table Chaplin asked, "Is this green or black tea?" "I don't know, sir," answered the maid, "I'm color-blind."

It often happens. Absconding cashiers are by no means a new invention, and so the manager of the Doughnut Bank thought he had better get a detective on the job, and make his cashier run for his money. Of course, the detective wanted particulars.

"Will you furnish me with a description of the missing cashier?" he said. "For instance, how tall was he?"

"I don't know how tall he was," answered the manager testily. "What worries me is that he was $50,000 short."

It happened in a little town in Ohio. A visiting Easterner stood on the veranda of a little hotel there watching the sun go down in a splendor of purple and gold.

"By George!" he exclaimed to an impassive native lounging against a post. "That's a gorgeous sunset, isn't it?"

The native stunted his head a little and looked critically at the glowing west.

"Not bad," he drawled. "Not bad for a little place like Hoopville."

President Wilson's favorite Limerick is brought to mind by the following tale from the Orient:

Timur-lenk, the Tartar invader, was very ugly and, catching a glimpse of himself in a mirror, he burst into tears.

The court jester began weeping also and kept it up long after the master had stopped.

"Timur-lenk, the Tartar invader, was ment," "I wept with reason," he said, "at beholding my own ugliness—I, the lord of so many lands. But I do not understand why you should thus despair."

"If you, my lord," replied the jester, "wept for two hours after seeing yourself in the mirror for an instant, is it not natural that I who see you all day long should weep longer than you?"

He was a professional confuser.

"Now, ladies and gentlemen," he said, with a wave of the hand, "this is the magic cabinet. I invite any lady in the audience to enter this cabinet. I will then close the door, and when it shall be opened again the lady will have disappeared, leaving no trace."

There was an impressive silence until a little, undersized man in the second row turned to an enormous woman who sat by him, and breathed eagerly:

"Maria, dear, won't you oblige the gentleman?"

A colored unit was moving up to take its place in the line of battle. It was early morning, and daylight had not yet begun to break.

"Over in the brush to the left," when we all go in to find them together?"

"Never you mind, child; you all gonna find plenty of them things 'fore long."

"Well, I sho hope so, sergeant," came the voice. "If I don't get rid of dis mean feellin' 'fore long I's gwine to carve up on the mess sergeant, sho!"—
The Stars and Stripes.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS

A man's tongue usually outlasts his brain.

Character is the substance; reputation the shadow.

His satanic majesty must have a lot of branch offices.

Two are needed to start a quarrel, but one can stop it.

Our faults are soon forgotten—if known only to ourselves.

True love seldom finds it necessary to express itself in words.

It is better to live in the foggy present than in the misty past.

Many a man has ruined his eyesight sitting in a barroom looking for work.

It takes an experienced undertaker to look solemn and conceal his satisfaction.

When a young man climbs into a barber chair to be shaved for the first time he feels like a bare faced fraud.

A Cincinnati woman opened a matrimonial agency and married the first man who applied. The concern is closed now.

Woman is a complication of contradictions.

If the play is a frost the audience soon melts away.

Many a man robs himself by acting as his own lawyer.

Economy may be wealth, but it doesn't cut much ice in a will.

A bride with a sour disposition is apt to spoil the honeymoon.

Language isn't capable of painting a woman as she paints herself.

A woman's idea of happiness is to share the troubles of the man she loves.

SWITZERLAND.

I don't want to travel in Switzerland, I'm particular whom I meet, And a lot of ex-kings And princes and things Will be loafing around in the street.

Hotels will be cluttered with royalty, With royalty looking for jobs, With sublime potentates And ex-rulers of states And thousands of once-regal abas.

I don't want to bump into Ferdinand Selling lead pencils and laces, And sad Constantine, With his peanut machine, I'm weary of seeing their faces.

I don't mind subscribing to charity, Or dropping my dimes in a cup, But I've got no boodle To spend on a noodle Who's tried to crimp me with a Krupp.

I don't care for Charlie of Austria, I'm sort of exclusive that way. He can sell souvenirs For twenty-five years, And not get a jolt of my pay.

I don't want to travel in Switzerland, I'll dodge all those beggars and bums, I'll do my sight-seeing Among human beings, I never cared much for the slums.

SONGS THE DOUGHBOYS SING

"ON THE ARMY."
(Tune—"In My Heart.")
In the army, the army,
The democratic army,
They call you when they need you,
And this is what they feed you:
Beans for breakfast,
Soup for dinner,
Slum for suppers,
Thirty dollars every month,
Deducting twenty-nine.
In the army, the army,
The democratic army;
If you like your beer
You're sure out of luck right here,
For we're all in the army now.

THE LAST LONG MILE.
Oh, it's not the pack that you carry on your back,
Nor the Springfield on your shoulder,
Nor the five-inch crust of khaki-polored dust
That makes you feel your limbs are growing older;
And it's not the hike on the hard turnpike
That wipes away your smile;
Nor the socks of sister's that raise the blooming blisters—
It's the last long mile.

"ON THE SIDEWALKS OF BERLIN."
We're driving 'em back, boys, we're driving 'em back,
We're getting 'em back every day;
For now we've smashed that Hindenburg line,
And now we'll cross the River Rhine.
And when we are done, boys, then
we'll have some fun;
We're goin' to tan the kaiser's skin,
And we'll sing Hail! Hail! the gang's all here,
On the sidewalks of Berlin.

"THE COAST ARTILLERY." (Tune—"One King of Beor" for the Four of Us)
Enlisted in the army, turned down
the field,
Almost joined the Doughboys, am glad I didn't yield, Assigned to the Coast, I'm happy as can be,
For now I am a member of the Coast
Artillery.

Says von Hindenburg to Kaiser Bill,
"Damn that artillery, it never will be still.
They're shooting like the devil and it's very plain to see That we're up against the soldiers of the C. A. C."

Black Jack Pershing, he says, says
he:
Send along another bunch of Coast
Artillery,
They'll blast us a path through the line of the Huns,
So bring along the mortars and the twelve-inch guns.

Chorus.
Roarous, roarous, we'll make the Coast Artillery glorious.
Load her up with shell and we'll give the kaiser hell,
As we blast the bloody Germans out of France.

THE FOOD CARD.
Food cards will be next in our intrinsic scheme of existence, if present plans hit on all twelve cylinders in perfect rotation and rhythm, which will, in a manner of speaking, put a crimp in the old nose bag.
Food cards are in use in England, and they cause distress to only one class of people—those who read the comic jokes about them in Punch and Tit-Bits. It seems when food cards came out several persons tried to eat them, don't you know, thinking from the name that was what they were for—haw-haw—and all that tommyrot.

A food card really should be taken seriously, for it is a serious institution. A man learns this when he goes on a trip without one and has nothing to eat but his words.
But certain friendly arrangements may be made which relieve the difficulties. If you are fond of meat have a mother-in-law who is a vegetarian and use her meat card.
Take good care of this mother-in-law and don't let her go and live with anybody else.

It is also a wise precaution to raise all the children to be vegetarians. Their meat cards will help keep father going. Summing up entire situation, if people stick to the food cards, they will not eat more than twice as much as is good for them, and a lot of indigestion and gout specialists will have to go out of business.

The food card, long may it wave.

MARRIED LIFE

SLEEP

SUGGESTIONS

"Where do I sleep next?" queries Albert C. Jones of the 140th Infantry, 35th division, and he drops forthwith into rhyme in the following fashion:
"I've slept in cradle and I've slept in arms when I was a baby safe from alarms; I've slept on the prairie, shooting the goose, and slept in the bush, hunting the moose; I've slept on a steamboat; my head on deck, I've slept in a church, with a crick in my neck; I've slept in wide fields under the stars, and I've slept on trains in ancient box cars; I've slept in beds of purple and gold, and slept in fenders in mud and in cold, I've slept in a dugout with rat and with mouse, and in France I have slept in a fairly good house. I've slept in a barn in an empty horse stall, and I've slept in old sheds or no bed at all. I've slept in a billet on a floor of hard brick, and I've slept on a bank alongside a crick.
And now I'm sleeping on a stretcher of wire, and I pray that my next sleep will be near a fire. I'm tired of wet and of mud and of cold. Oh, when can I sleep in the old home fold?"

DEFYING HOOVER.

With a barrel of apples, a bag of butternuts and a bushel of popcorn in the collar, we face the long winter with equanimity and anticipation.—Concord Monitor.

OH, PHLEEV!

Their lives were like a benison
From morn till set of sun.
Their heads now ache in unison,
Their noses sneeze as one.
—Tennyson J. Daff.

One of the greatest problems before the American people in peace times is to learn to speak French so our French visitors can understand a word here and there.

A minister of our acquaintance says he preaches Sunday mornings and lectures Sunday evenings. In the morning attendance is about 300 and in the evening it is about 1500.

An old sea captain from Gloucester stepped into a river front bar and ordered a glass of beer and drank it. "What is that?" he demanded, not being in sympathy with the low alcohol percentage.
"It's beer," replied the bartender.
"Just think," replied the captain,
"I have been sailing in that stuff for forty years and never knew it!"

"What d'ye mean, peace?" asks a neighbor of ours who has four of his wife's relatives living with him.

The Chanute Tribune complains that the Hun helmets arriving by the carload in this country just now are neither large enough for a sitting hen or shaped right for a flower pot.

Good receptacle for bones, however.

1. That Germany furnish us 250,000 capable German hired girls at once.
2. That allied peoples be relieved from the tipping of German waiters for the next ninety-nine years.
3. Imprisonment for life for any German subject who shoots at the former crown prince—and misses him.
4. That Lenin and Trotsky shall be cut off the German payroll.
5. That every German shall say "God bless America" every time he sits down to a meal of American food.
6. That "Made in America" shall be stamped plainly on every loaf of bread.
7. That the six sons be compelled to carry all the brick for the reconstruction of ruined cathedrals and dwellings in Belgium and France.

HIS HOY AND THE KAISER.

Hsu Hoy, the Chinese poet of passion, has sent in the following, which was written during the heat of the celebration:

Wise guys spoofed KI,
Fill full him of dope.
Bye, KI, swing high
From a piece of rope.

Unk thank you sunk
Boats he like to keep.
Bye, KI—swing high,
Swing-a-bye to sleep.

But you can get
What's coming to you.
Bye, KI—swing high,
Yankee-Doodle-Do!

TO REDUCE THE EGO.

It would be a wonderful thing for every man, no matter how great, if he could get the proper perspective upon himself by going to the top of the Woolworth tower and looking down and seeing himself pass by in the street.

Something will have to be done to keep our friend Enrico Caruso out of the poorhouse. He signed to appear in two motion pictures last week, and will receive only $200,000 for the two. There's something the matter with that boy. He needs a business manager.

The police of New York City will eliminate all unnecessary noises. This does not include Doug Fairbanks, who is in New York only occasionally.

Man in New York says he can tell a woman's disposition without marrying her. He is either the only man of his kind in the world or else he's a liar.

Jess Willard seems to have signed a separate peace treaty with the whole world. You remember the name, don't you—Willard?

In London they have on exhibition a monster cheese weighing 270 pounds. Can it be Hindy?

On the Spur of the Moment

By ROY K. MOULTON

MY HOSIERY.
The hours I've looked for thee, my socks,
A string of vain regrets to me;
I count you ever—every one has holes,
My hosiery, my hosiery.

Each toe a hole, yet never darned,
To find a heel, in absence wrung,
I count my socks unto the end,
No whole one there among.

Oh, memories that bless and burn,
Now that war knitting's on the rocks,
Perhaps my wife, you will at last return
To darn my socks, sweetheart, to darn my socks.

A DISCOVERY.
Joe Carr, a Flatbusher, with a more-or-less reputation for sagacity, has made a startling discovery.
After years of research in the subject at an expense to himself of ten cents a day, he has discovered the difference between an express and a local. The local spends its time stopping at stations and the express spends its time stopping between stations. "I don't wish to cast any asparagus upon anybody at all," says Joe, "but I think the public ought to know this." Much obliged, Jpe.

WHERE DID THE BEST MAN
CARRY THE RING?
It was a military wedding, the bridegroom, best man and ushers appearing in epaulets.—News Story from Fort Riley.

EXIT SLAVERY.
The German has been driven out of Alsace once again,
And the shadow has been lifted from the face of fair Lorraine.

While his blood in rivers flowing, from his soul may wash the stain,
As we go marching on.

They can hear the tread of millions that we set across the sea,
To bear the gladdest tidings to a spent humanity.
For the blade that we have fashioned was the sword of Liberty,
As we go marching on.

EXTRA!
Miss Irma Remnant has just been married in Cleveland.

In one of the recent allied drives a Winfield soldier boy had the rare luck to capture a couple of German shrouds, provided by the "all-seeing"
German general staff, but left in haste by the retreating Hun army.
The proud captor sent them back to one of his undertaker friends in Winfield, who now advertises that he is prepared to conduct funeral services for a couple of pro-Germans.
All they have to do is to apply, specify, classify, and then die.

A New York chorus girl is under contract not to talk, for which concession she is paid $100 weekly.
That girl is learning to make somebody a mighty desirable wife.

At least Hindy had enough courage to stick with the "sorely tried" people and try to help them get established, thereby proving himself to be the only man in the gang of highbinders.

Inasmuch as William Hohenzol-lern has a fortune of $200,000,000 in his jeans we will at least not be obliged to feed him.

Another "Marriage of Convenience" is noted by the Oberlin
(Kansas) Herald as follows:
Miss Mabel Waldo and Mr. Fred
Johnston were quietly married by Judge Lathrop. The occurrence was not wholly unexpected. Miss Waldo has been one of the main-stays at the restaurant for the past year, and Fred, no doubt, concluded that it would be cheaper to get married than pay her salary any longer.

One of the surest ways to win success on Broadway is to stay off it.

Owing to the well-known scarcity the only new thing on the ordinary restaurant bill of fare is an occasional grease spot.

Peace is more wonderful than war, but it is remarkable how little there is to write about it.

To use an ancient wheeze, it seems as though the heir to the throne has been thrown to the air.

So far as the All-Highest is concerned, speed the parting pest.

The invincibles have been vincted.

PERCY AND FERDIE---Mr. Spuggs a Live Wire? No Question About It!

By H. A. MacGILL

Creator of the Hall-Boys.

WOMEN AND THE HOME

WIDE COLLARS AND NOVEL CUFF EFFECTS SEEN IN SOME MODELS

Three New Up-to-the-Times Coat Models

By ANNETTE BRADSHAW.

Everything in the way of an outdoor coat or suit is likely to be distinguished by a wide collar, if present tendencies hold true. For the most distinctive costumes show generous broad collars—collars of fur, of knitted angora or even of the self material. But they must be wide, and even the cuffs must be of an equally generous width. In some cases they are wide enough to form a muff when held together.

The coat shown at the left is of black satin with a collar of the same material heavily braided with soutache. This is buttoned on the side, so there is a graceful unbroken curve in front.

The velvet coat, in the center, has a wide collar of squirrel, a rather rare fur this year, but very beautiful in combination with black, gray or blue velvet. There is no extra muff—the cuffs being held together to give the illusion of one and warmth when desired.

The novel coat at the right is of wool velour and black satin. The huge collar and cuffs are formed of the material folded double. This produces a loose, flowing effect about the shoulders and arms, somewhat on the order of an evening wrap, and is very graceful.

FLAPJACK DICTIONARIES.

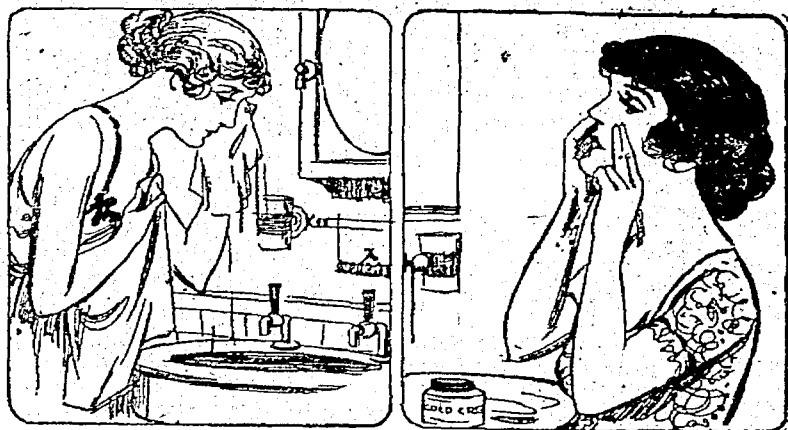

Mr. Hoover wasn't the first food dictator, by any means, the Marysville Advocate says, recalling that mother used to limit the number of pancakes the boys could have for breakfast. But mother was liberal about it, wasn't she?—Kansas Notes.

Not always. There were times when mother was cross, or was in a hurry to get started on the dress-making or something, and at those times there was nothing doing in the flapjack line after we had put away eighteen. There was one whole winter, we remember, when butter was unusually high, that nobody in the family could get more than twenty-four at any one sitting.

How You May Cleanse Your Face for Real Beauty Results

By LUCREZIA BORI

The Famous Spanish Prima Donna

Steaming the Face.

Massage an Aid.

There are many women whose complexions never give the impression of freshness and clearness. They wash their faces diligently with soap and water, sometimes even making them shine with their effort, and still their complexions appear grayish.

Are you sure your face is clean? Apologies may seem in order for such a question, but not only the surface, but also the pores of the skin should be thoroughly cleansed. Lack of attention to this fact is what produces those unsightly blackheads.

Improper washing of the face is a common enough fault, doubtless due to the habit of ages past, when sanitation and personal hygiene such as we practice today were unknown. For instance, the face is more apt to be thoroughly washed in the morning and carelessly bathed at night before retiring. The correct method of caring for your face is to cleanse it with special thoroughness at night.

If you are out of doors exercising the greater part of the day or are busy in your home or office, you are bound to accumulate dirt and dust of all kinds, including germ life and other impurities upon the skin of the exposed parts of your body. The skin of your face in particular picks up this dirt and absorbs it on account of the many pores that cover its surface, and also because of its contour.

A TACTLESS ADVERTISER.
"We Make Photographs That Look Like You."—Sign in Meadville, Pa.

If you are satisfied simply with wiping this dirt off with a handkerchief and packing the impurities into the pores with another layer of powder you are openly inviting many skin diseases. In washing your face at night use a neutral soap, such as white castile, which is pure and agrees with most skins. The lather of this soap should be applied to the face with a fine camel's hair brush, dipped in fairly hot water. The use of a Turkish towel glove is also excellent for cleansing the face. Never use a sponge. They are too soft to increase circulation and by their formation hold and invite infection.

You should go over every part of your face with the brush, Turkish glove or washcloth, thoroughly washing it. The soap should be rinsed off with clean tepid water, using two or three changes of water. Then dry your skin with a soft towel by tapping it dry in an upward direction. The addition of a few drops of tincture of benzoin to the rinsing water gives it a slight aromatic odor and imparts a tendency to contracting the pores. Benzoin is also whitening to the skin.

After drying the face you should use a good cleansing or cold cream, rubbing it thoroughly into the skin. The following recipe is an excellent skin food:

Benzoinated lard 1/2 lb.
Lanolin 1/2 lb.
White Wax 1/4 lb.
Boric Acid 1/2 oz.
Perfume to suit.

If a lesser quantity is desired, use only half as much of each ingredient.

If you are inclined to have large pores which retain the dirt in the form of blackheads, apply the following immediately after washing the face:

Acetic Ether 2 dr.
Alcohol 4 dr.
Water sufficient to make 8 oz.
After skin dries, apply the following effect of making the flesh firm while cleansing it, is found in the following lotion:

Acetone 4 dr.
Boric Acid 2 dr.
Alum 20 gr.
Alcohol 5 dr.
Water 8 oz.
Perfume to suit.

In the morning your face should be washed with soap and water. Instead of a flesh brush you should use a fine face cloth to cleanse the pores of fatty matter.

Follow the application of cold cream which should be carefully removed by wiping with a dry cloth. Before going out lightly powder the face with a good powder. This will protect the skin which is exposed to harsh winds or the hot sun.

Kitchen Economies

by Isabel Brands

of the Associated Experiment Stations

MENU HINT.
Breakfast.
Corn Muffins with Raisins
Halved Orange
Coffee
Luncheon.
Salmon Loaf with Lemon Slices
Baked Potatoes in Skins (same oven)
Rye Bread
Canned Cherries Dinner.
Ox Tongue with Spinach and Rice
Rhubarb Sauce
Picked Onions
Cup Cakes
Tea

ECONOMIES.

Now That Cold weather is here, take the handle of an old broom and cover with burlap or soft carpet (you can sew this on). Lay it along bottom of door. When the door is opened it will roll back. It keeps cold air from coming in below the door.

Old Oil Stove Wicks—When the wick is burnt down to the rim and won't light any more, don't throw it away. Simply loosen with a knife blade the little prongs that hold the wick at the bottom and pull the wick up an inch above the holder and it is as good as a new one.

When this is burnt down pull it up again, but this time it will probably not reach the oil. Take another old wick, cut off the required length to reach to the bottom of the wick holder, then fit it in next to the other wick. In this way you can use the entire wick instead of throwing away at least two and one-half inches of wick left in the old holders, which always seemed such a waste.

TRIED RECIPES.

War Time Cookies—One-half cup melted butter substitute, one-half cup sugar, one-half cup honey, two tablespoons molasses, one egg, one teaspoon spices, mixed cinnamon, cloves, allspice, nutmeg, more cinnamon than the others, a little grated orange peel, one-half teaspoon salt, two tablespoons cocoa, one cup sour or buttermilk, one cup white flour, one cup barley flour, one-half cup corn flour, one small cup rolled oats, one teaspoon soda, tea-spoon baking powder (level). Sift soda and baking powder with the flour three times, mix altogether in the order given. Drop by spoonfuls on baking sheets spread out with back of spoon and bake in a quick oven. To put a company touch to them put a little jam or jelly in center of each before baking. This makes thirty-two cookies.

Ox Tongue with Spinach and Rice (from above menu)—One can of ox tongue, one cup of spinach or one and one-half pounds washed and cooked, uncovered, without water, until soft; one cup rice. In a kettle of hot water heat thoroughly the cans of tongue and spinach before opening. This will take about half an hour. Open the can of spinach and drain through a colander; press out the spinach juice and save it for the spinach soup. Open the can of tongue and slice vertically down the middle of each before baking. This makes thirty-two cookies.

Mock Tomato Salad—Slice of onion, a bay leaf, blade of mace, half cup of green celery, top (chopped), one tablespoon granulated gelatin, half cup cold water, one tablespoon lemon juice, level, teaspoon salt, five drops tabasco; add tomato, onion, bay leaf, mace, celery top, tomato and simmer fifteen minutes; cover gelatin with half cup water. When tomatoes have finished cooking, stir in cold gelatin with half cup water. When liquid is thoroughly mixed, strain into small individual molds. Serve on nests of lettuce leaves.

FISH SAUCE ON TOAST.

2 tablespoonsful of oleanargine
1 tablespoonful of flour
1 teaspoonful of salt
1/4 cupful of milk
1/4 teaspoonful of pepper
1/4 cupful of rice stock
1 tablespoonful chopped carnegie pimentos.

Melt the oleanargine. Add flour, from the fire and bring to boiling. Turn to the fire, and mix to boiling. Stirring constantly. Add pimentos and rice stock. Pour the hot sauce over slices of hot toast.

it thoroughly into the skin. The following recipe is an excellent skin food:

Benzoinated lard 1/2 lb.
Lanolin 1/2 lb.
White Wax 1/4 lb.
Boric Acid 1/2 oz.
Perfume to suit.

If a lesser quantity is desired, use only half as much of each ingredient.

If you are inclined to have large pores which retain the dirt in the form of blackheads, apply the following immediately after washing the face:

Acetic Ether 2 dr.
Alcohol 4 dr.
Water sufficient to make 8 oz.
After skin dries, apply the following effect of making the flesh firm while cleansing it, is found in the following lotion:

Acetone 4 dr.
Boric Acid 2 dr.
Alum 20 gr.
Alcohol 5 dr.
Water 8 oz.
Perfume to suit.

In the morning your face should be washed with soap and water. Instead of a flesh brush you should use a fine face cloth to cleanse the pores of fatty matter.

Follow the application of cold cream which should be carefully removed by wiping with a dry cloth. Before going out lightly powder the face with a good powder. This will protect the skin which is exposed to harsh winds or the hot sun.

Bessie Barriscale

Signs for Eight Films

Bessie Barriscale, former local favorite and now film star, is to be a busy young woman and she has already started the big doing.

A year's work has been cut out for her with little allowance being made for rest, and when the little sun-crowned star completes the program she has entered upon, a new record will have been hung up, for every feature made will be an extraordinary production.

At a contract calling for eight features, starring Miss Barriscale was signed in New York, November 21, and the first release, "All of a Sudden Norma," will be announced in December. Miss Barriscale is now at work on the second release under her new contract, "The Trick of Fate," by Maie B. Havey, scenario by Fred Myton.

Howard Hickman will direct all of Miss Barriscale's pictures, and both he and his star promise the best work of their careers.

Director Albert Capellani and Scenario Writer June Nathis have practically completed the screen version of Mme. Nazimova's next production, "The Red Lantern," adapted from the novel by Edith Wherry, published by the Bodley Head.

THE FILM AND SCREEN

"Interview" by Film Tribune Reporter's Idea

By G. NARIO.

The "Film Interview"—in which President Poincare of France, Lloyd George, Mr. Balfour and others have been "interviewed" by screen—their sentiments being the title, and how they uttered them the picture, was hatched out of the brain of a reporter on The TRIBUNE a few years ago. He remembered how people looked when they were interviewed—and noticed that, if they had anything to say, the way they said it often had more "punch" than he could find later in the printed reports.

Hence, the "Film Interview." Harold Bolce, former TRIBUNE reporter, and now the official film reporter of the Red Cross, is the man who invented the unique scheme. He is now in Europe, and, assisted by his wife, who was Miss Phyllis Pembroke, the actress, is taking every phase of the Red Cross work. The sculpturing of faces for the blind and disfigured, the teaching of mutilated soldiers to earn their living in various vocations, which have recently been brought to America, are among Bolce's films.

Bolce started his career as a writer with The TRIBUNE. He "covered" police; he once traveled to Hayward every day for country items; he worked and "cussed" on the copy desk. Later his writings attracted attention, when the Saturday Evening Post and Cosmopolitan began to use his "copy." "Blasting the Rock of Ages" is perhaps the best known of these.

I have on my desk before me a letter from the front written by Major A. J. James Jr., telling me of Bolce's success "over there," so I thought I'd tell a little about him. Because he was awfully well-liked on The TRIBUNE.

Bert Lytell, late stock favorite about the bay and now picture star, and Charles Swickard, one of the old-time Idora musical forces, are working in a place in the sun right now. They have gone into the desert along the Mexican border, where Lytell is acting in a "Mexican" film Swickard is directing. This is the last word heard from him up here. He is, incidentally, the husband of Evelyn Vaughn, who recently played a stock season here.

Well, they're not going to take the name "Pathe" off the weekly, after all. That's flat. I got it from Paul Brunet, vice-president and general manager of the company. His letter is very emphatic, so emphatic that I wonder if there has been a "scrap" about it.

It was announced by the trade magazines a few weeks ago that the "Pathe" was to come off the titles on account of the affiliation with the International News Service.

Brunet set the name "Pathe" in the news weekly, and that the name Pathe will absolutely stay on it. "The first films," he writes, were assembled in Paris some twelve years ago as the Pathe Journal. Four years ago it became the Pathe News. The Pathe News has remained the sole property of Pathe, and for good and sufficient reasons so deemed by us the contract, which expires on December 24, will not be renewed."

What's up, I wonder?

Julian Ellings is going back from the films into vaudeville—just as Bothwell Browne, sometimes said to be his rival as a "male vamp," is going from vaudeville into the films. The news came this week. On the 23d of this month Ellings starts on a tour for William Morris at the head of a bill. Morris, it will be remembered, is the man who brought Harry Lauder to Oakland a little over a year ago.

Julian plays here again. He's a charming fellow. Last time he was here, playing in a show of his own. He staged quite a nice little boxing bout back of the scenes at the Macdonough. Billy West, the flyman, can tell you about it—or Jack Kelley—they both saw it. "A couple of local fighters put on the gloves with him before a madame one afternoon—and they pulled it around quite a bit. The first thing Ellings does when he arrives in a town is to find a boxing partner. He loves to box. And sometimes he has to kalsomine over a black eye, too, before he can go on the stage, after one of these fistie constitutional!"

"Dug" to Send Note By Airplane Route

When the big airplane, Loughhead F 1-A, leaves Santa Barbara for its transcontinental flight to Washington, D. C., it will carry a letter, air class mail, from Douglas Fairbanks, motion picture star, to Joseph Tamm, secretary to President Wilson.

This airplane, designed by Allan and Malcolm Loughhead, is scheduled to leave Santa Barbara for Washington, D. C., and expects to make the transcontinental tour in thirty hours at a speed of a hundred miles per hour. The machine is called the Loughhead F 1-A and is equipped with twin motors capable of generating 300 horsepower. Enough gas will be carried for a twelve-hour non-stop flight. Deming, N. M., is the first scheduled gasoline stop.

In a recent trial flight this plane soared to an altitude of 2000 feet and developed a speed of ninety miles an hour.

The plane, is to carry official mail on this remarkable flight and Fairbanks' letter will be the first private message taken. Lucky pieces were presented by the famous star to the three aviators, S. T. Meyerhoff, A. R. Fournau and Leo G. Flint, who will take turns at piloting the big craft from the Pacific to the Atlantic.

HOW I GOT MY FIRST JOB IN THE PICTURES

By MABEL NORMAND.

Indirectly it was the death of the late F. F. Collier, owner of the Collier's Weekly, that led to my first work in pictures. At that time I was posing for James Montgomery Flagg, Charles Dana Gibson and the Leyendeckers, also for Henry Hutt. One day when I went to Mr. Gibson's studio in Carnegie Hall—and believe me it was a sad day for anybody who was late—he let me go because Mr. Collier had just died and he had to go down to the office of Collier's Weekly to settle up some business. So I went down to the Fashion Camera—Eddow's studio that was down over Hudson's on Broadway. Several of us used to go there and make $5 a pose for being photographed in a hat or a cloak or a lace collar or something like that.

On that particular day I ran into Alice Joyce. She was then working at the Kalem studio on Twenty-third street but she still had the habit of running into Eddow's at lunch time to see the rest of us. She tried to get me to go over to the Biograph, where D. W. Griffith was working at that time. I didn't want to at first. I was fairly satisfied with my $3 a day for posing with an occasional extra $5 or $10 at the Fashion Camera studio. Besides, I wanted to be an illustrator. I could draw a little and I kept my eyes and ears open to pick up everything I could in the artists' studios.

But the next day Mr. Gibson had to be at Collier's office again, so I had a free day. I met Alice Joyce again and the result was I went over to the Biograph studio. Griffith put me to work at once.

FORGETS PICTURE.
I forgot the name of the picture, but Florence Lawrence and Marian Leonard and Del Henderson and Henry Hathaway were the principals. They gave me a pair of tights and a page's costume which terrified me almost out of my wits. I had never worn tights before and it seemed to me that everybody around the place had nothing to do but stare at me. What was more, they kept me there until 12:30 and I didn't get home to Staten Island until nearly 2. So I did not go back next day and they were furious. I met Mack Sennett on the street a few days later and he said: "That was a terrible thing you did to Griffith, not going back." I didn't understand that I was to be in another scene or what it meant.

But eventually Griffith sent for me and I worked regularly for the Biograph until they went to the coast for the winter. Then I went to the Vitagraph and got $25 a week, working with John Bunny, Flora Finch, Ralph Ince and others. I remember Anita Stewart was an extra girl at that time.

When Griffith came back from the coast I went to the Biograph again. They would not allow our names to be published in those days. I was known as the little dark-haired Biograph girl. Nearly all the other girls on the screen at that time were blondes. Mary Pickford was with the Biograph then, and Charles West and Del Henderson.

I had always been fond of swim-

Here's a freak the camera caught. Someone set a dress form just behind Mabel Normand's camera-man—and the "still" photographer caught it. Looks as if the camera-man had a dress on. And the director, in the foreground, never noticed it!

May Allison takes a lot of fitting to wear a dress. Here she's being fitted into a wedding gown—the last touches of the costume being applied. Quite chic—yes?

ming and diving for my own amusement and one of the most popular pictures I played in was "The Diving Girl" which Griffith made.

When Mack Sennett first came to me and said: "How would you like to make $100 a week?" I said: "Stop making fun of me—don't be ridiculous." And when he took me to Kessell and Bauman and they said they liked my looks, I asked if they intended to pay me $100 a week and they said, "Well, call it $125."

You may believe me or not, but when I got that contract in my hands I walked in a daze from Union Square to Times Square and back. Every five blocks I would read it again. I couldn't believe it. I took it to Allen Joyce in the Park Avenue hotel and showed it to her. We both decided that it meant $25 a week and that the figure 1 was a joke.

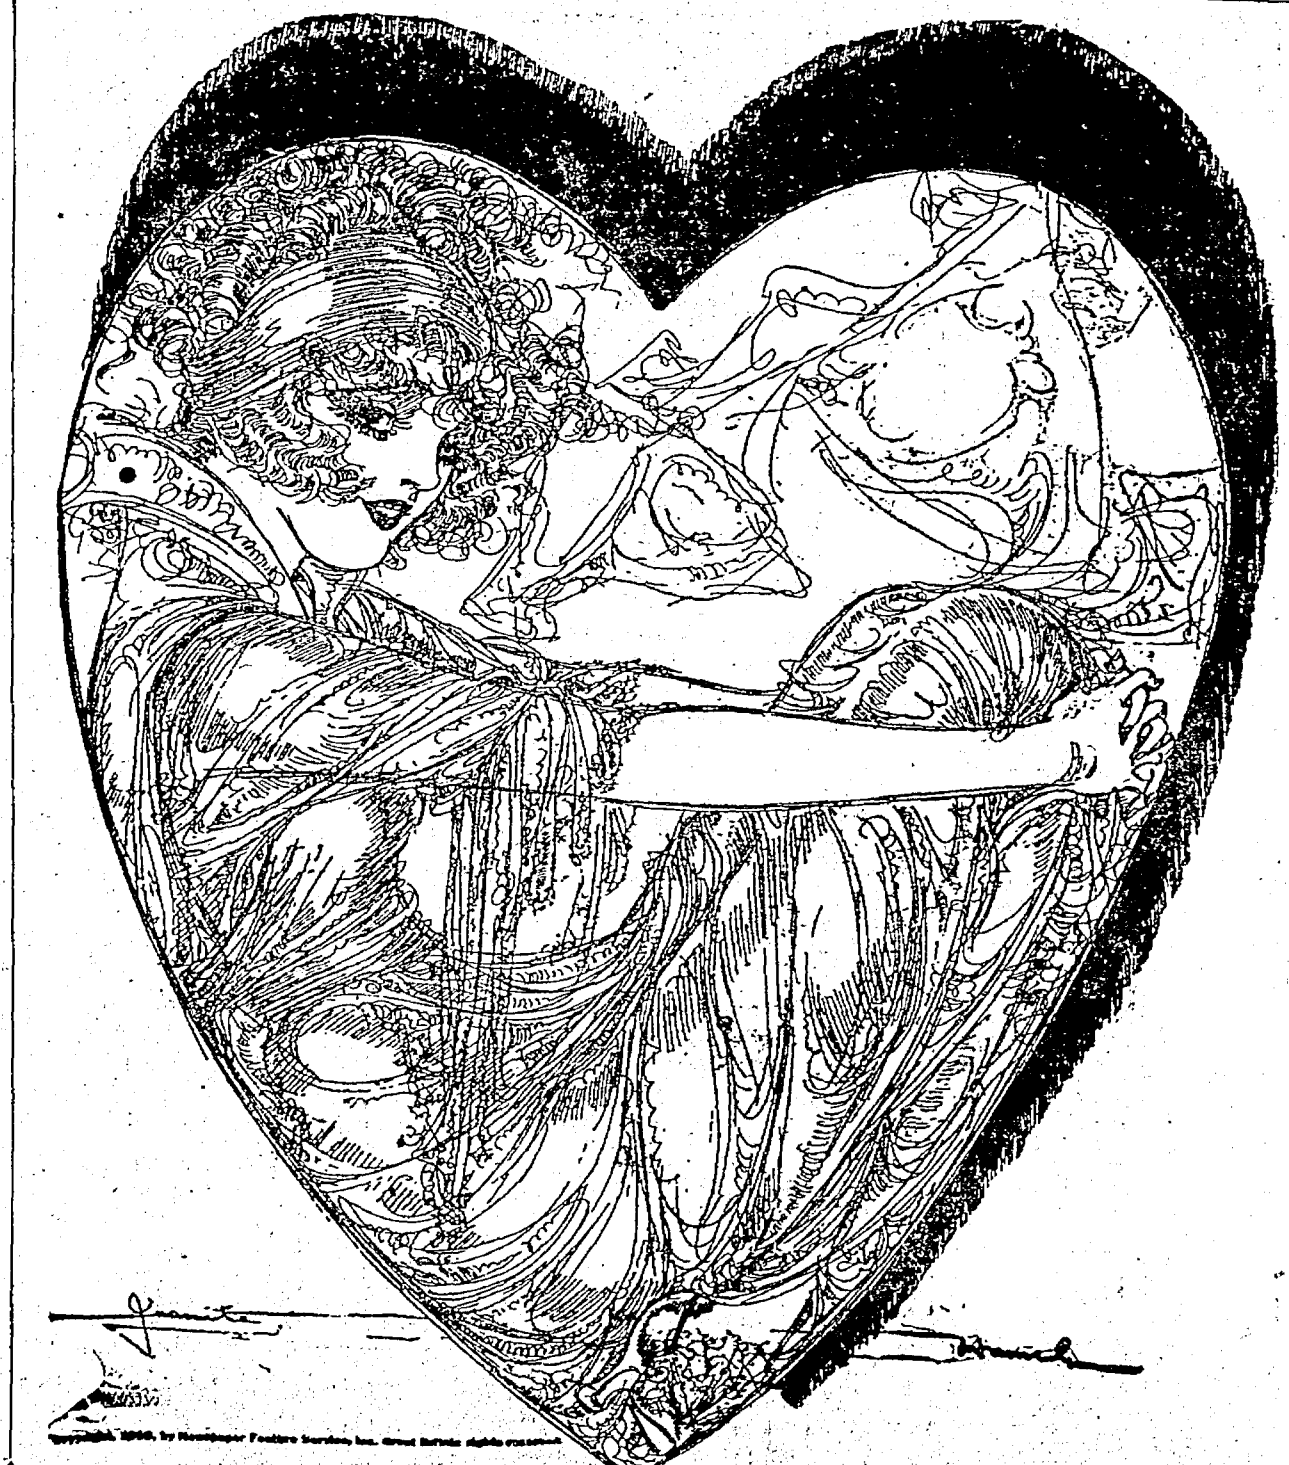

MEETS CHAPMAN.
I worked at the Keystone with Mack Sennett for several years. Charlie Chapman joined the company after a while. In fact, I was responsible for his coming into pictures. I saw him one night at Hammerstein's Victoria, and went straight out and telegraphed Sennett to get him.

I worked at the Keystone studio until they organized the Mabel Normand company. A little more than a year ago Samuel Goldfish made me an offer and I joined the Goldwyn organization. The first picture I made for Goldwyn was "Dodging a Million," directed by George Loane Tucker. I have since been in half a dozen others, including "Joan of Plattsburg," "Back to the Woods" and "The Venus Model." My newest comedy is "A Perfect 36," and I am soon to do "Sis Hopkins."

"Photographing Soul," New Actinic Feet

Frank Keenan, in his delineation of Mathias in "The Bells" shows that the motion picture as a medium of "sole expression" is capable of wonderful achievement. Now fresh critics have accorded a full measure of praise to the picture, shown ten weeks before regular release at the Rialto theater.

Allen Sangree, the well-known author and reviewer, says of the production: "One sits in fascinated silence and looks deep into the tortured soul of the murderer of the wealthy Jew traveler and sees how Conscience sears, as though by fire, and lashes and tears with the haunting, accusing sound of the bell." As Henry Irving marked a new place in dramatic art with this play, which gave him established fame, so Mr. Keenan creates a definite era in the expression of the Cinema—he has placed a naked soul before the camera with a skill so exquisite as to create a new art.

There's something about the word "heart"—despite its countless other connotations—something about even the merest suggestion of the symbol of the heart that bids for ardent thought from those to whom LOVE means ALL. And when the heart that was empty is filled—when every bit of space is crowded with HER, so there's no room for anything else—then, indeed, love is all.

BOOK REVIEWS AND LITERARY NOTES

FAMILY
Henry Kittell Webster Makes Move Toward the Great American Novel
With "An American Family."

Has the great American novel yet been written? We have had "Uncle Tom's Cabin," "Ramona" and several other specified as "filling the bill," and yet the nation is not satisfied. How can it be until we ourselves are more settled, have a more unified nation, more clearly defined and accepted national standards? And this will come in the future.

As a step in the right direction, however, one can read Henry Kittell Webster's "An American Family." With complacency and satisfaction it is a keenly analytical and persons and their motives of circumstances and their influences as anything written by Henry James or George Eliot. And it has all the clarity and vigor of the latter named author, and none of the turgidness and circumlocution of the former. The book is American from beginning to end. We are introduced to the home of the Corbett family who has built up a great establishment (factory) in Chicago. He has sons and grandsons, with their families. This makes up the personnel of the book. One member is a dreamer, a visionary, a man who longs for social fairness and justice, who wants even the factory hands to receive the squarest kind of a square deal. He is lovable and yet, to come, an impossible character. His Socialistic schemes are opposed by his father and brother, yet he cannot help the expression of his humanitarian feelings. He becomes interested in engaged to, and finally marries a Socialist agitator—a girl of peculiar heredity and training. She makes a mess of her own life and his also, but a sweet, dear, sane-headed American girl who tries to rescue and bring to the world a new happiness. This is only the barest suggestion of a part of the story, yet it interests the reader enough to send him to the bookstore or library to get the volume for his own perusal it will have done him a good service. For the novel is a worthy one. Its plan is ambitious, its characters live in the main, and they are truthfully typical.

—G. W. J.

"An American Family," by Henry Kittell Webster, Indianapolis, Bobbs-Merrill Co., $1.50 net.)

"BEHIND THE BATTLE LINE"

Fragmentary but "up to the minute" is Madeline Z. Doty's account of her latest dash through war-torn places. This writer, who has been to the front three times since the war started, has essayed a stupendous task in one small hurried volume; for Miss Doty has gone around the world in 1918 and has meant to reflect the changed conditions and the ideals that have come to women.

Of the writer's opinions of Russia we have other evidence. It is known that she went there a radical and returned convinced that the Bolsheviks were wrong and that she brought back a sympathy and profound understanding of the common people of the white land.

Doty stops off in Japan long enough to decide that there is a big woman's problem there, dashes into China, across Siberia, and into Russia. We are given more pictures of Russia in upheaval, of meetings in Smolny Institute, of fiery harangues that took the writer off her feet, of nights of terror, and of persons who have figured in the tragedy. It is undoubtedly first-hand information and is interestingly told. In Sweden Miss Doty clasped the hand of Ellen Key and rejoiced in the mutual understanding discovered.

There is material enough in this book for a dozen volumes. Doubtless the author will elaborate her notes and produce some of them. In this book, however, she has been content to give an account of the visits paid by a woman interested in "the woman's movement" to the various countries and in the last days of the war. The handicaps due to haste are offset in a measure by the extent of the research.

It is certain that no other writer has made this same trip at so recent a date. The reader will view these snapshots for what they are and find them worth while.

—B. S.

"Behind the Battle Line," by Madeline Z. Doty, New York, the Macmillan Company, $1.25.)

"PRINCIPLES OF ACCOUNTING"

To the one who would understand the fundamentals of accounting may be recommended "Principles of Accounting," by Paton and Stevenson, a book that has been accepted as a text book in many of the leading universities and colleges. William Andrew Paton, one of the authors, is assistant professor of economics in the University of Michigan, and Russell Alger Stevenson is associate professor of accounting in the University of Iowa.

The authors believe that there has been a dearth of books available for the student of economics who desires a broad training in accounting principles underlying all commercial transactions and have written their volume with that thought in mind. The work is a comprehensive one and is designed easily to be grasped.

"Principles of Accounting," by Paton and Stevenson, New York, the Macmillan Company, $2.25.)

The NEWEST BOOKS
As Soon As Published.
SMITH BROS.
13th St., Bet. Broadway and Washington.

"NIGHTS IN LONDON," BY THOS. BURKE

THOMAS BURKE

Those who have read "Limehouse Nights" and "Twinkles" are doubtless looking forward to a new book by the little Londoner, Thomas Burke, who has caused a furore in English letters second only to that caused when Kipling came into his own. "Nights in London" is a new Burke book only because it is the latest published. It was written before the much-discussed "Limehouse Nights" and, because of that fact, vindicates absolutely those who saw the purpose and heart behind the tinselled stories of beauty and depravity.

In this book Burke has chosen no heroine or heroes and has spun no romances. It is rather a personally conducted tour of London at night, interrupted by bits of reminiscence and sketches of characters. It is the other book in essay form.

There is probably no one who loves London as Burke does and for the reasons that are his. The book breathes the romance, tragedy and comedy of the out-of-way places, of the slums, and of the little-understood. He says that he knows too much of his city to think that anyone can interpret its soul, an admission that explains why he has not labeled the book, as many another would, "The Soul of London."

"Nights in London" is a powerful social document without an argument or sermon. There is no gloss or pretense in its brief 300 pages, but everywhere there is beauty, mystery, sympathy and genuine understanding. To my mind it is infinitely better than "Twinkles" and just a little bit better than "Limehouse Nights." And this is only another way of saying that the book merits a lasting place and that it is one of the year's "big" books of the year.—A. B. S.

"Nights in London," by Thomas Burke, New York, Henry Holt & Company, $1.50.)

ENEMY BOOK PROVED FALSE

I wonder what Lieutenant-General Baron von Freytag-Loringhoven, of the German Imperial staff, now about his "A Nation Trained in Arms," is a book of "Lessons in War from the Past and the Present," written solely with an eye to material aims and material interests of attaining them. It concludes with how that a nation cannot succeed in war unless it has a well-trained army, and that no militia or national guard has ever proved itself a standing army that a nation must have a standing army to win out—proves it by Russia, Prussia, Austria, England, France, Italy and the rest of the European countries during the past century. Proves by the smashing of Belgium, France and England's paltry and "contemptible" army.

Yet, somehow, facts have upset the general's proofs. His arguments didn't go far enough. It is true, undoubtedly, that sometimes and for long times might may seem to make right—does succeed from a material sense. And then comes some quiet, little man, who releases a tremendous physical force, which in turn completely smashes all the stored-up power of words, whether he be a man, a state or a nation.

General Freytag-Loringhoven is correct—as far as he goes—but he has now learned, what all good men have always known, that all the world will ultimately win out right is on the side of the victor.—G. W. J.

"A Nation Trained in Arms," by Lieutenant-General Baron von Freytag-Loringhoven, New York, G. F. Putnam's Sons, $1.25 net.)

PADRIAC COLUM'S LATEST WHIMSY

"The Boy Who Knew What the Birds Said" would have saved the world if the legend upon which Padriac Colum has reared an edifice of words calculated to entrance youthful book readers had been true. For, as the book states, "when the bird that follows the cuckoo flies into the cuckoo's mouth the world will come to an end." It was because of the boy that this catastrophe did not take place, and so whether the cataclysm would have resulted or not never will be known.

If this foregoing appears without much definiteness, it is because it is based on the collection of a whimsy that is not definite, either, but which has among its component parts a boy, a princess and a raven. It is a fairy tale which owes not a little of its attractiveness to the illustrations and decorations which are by Dugald Stewart Walker. The book is published in all the glory of holiday dress.

"The Boy Who Knew What the Birds Said," by Padriac Colum, New York, Macmillan Company, $1.50 net.)

KILTIE MCCOY

Slangy and Rough Book of War Tells What the Reader Wishes to Know of Actual War Life.

Kiltie McCoy was an American boy, born in Holland, Michigan, of parents of Dutch ancestry, who went to England at the outset of the war, was induced to join the Scotch army, but, of course, had to change his name, so that he became the Irish Patrick Terrance McCoy, and thus went over to fight in France. He has written a sketch of his experiences. It is well done. It is a piece of literature. It tells what the reader wants to know, and tells it well. Of course, it is slangy, occasionally rough, now and again vulgar, and sometimes it makes you cringe. But so does life. Kiltie's style is real, vivid, intense, human. He is full of humor—almost as much as Bellinghast. There is no pretense about the book. It is a narrative of real experience, and narrative of real experience is what one feels as he reads every page that here you are getting the truth as closely as it is given to man to get it. It shows how a man may escape all the horrors and terrors, fight day and night, go out raiding, bombing, over the top, under all conditions, never get a wound, and then, when he least expects it, be knocked out and sent to Blythly. It is one of the best worth while books of personal experience the war has yet given us.

—G. W. J.

"Kiltie McCoy," by Patrick Terrance McCoy, Indianapolis, The Bobbs-Merrill Co., $1.50 net.)

SHORT STORIES BY JACK LONDON

Under the title of "The Red One," the Macmillan Company has published four short stories by Jack London. The stories were written not long before the death of London and are vibrant with the author's later powers.

Two of the tales, that from which the volume gets its title and one having its locale in Alaska, are as truly London as any he ever wrote; but the other two are in a vein and of subjects that have more of the characteristics of O. Henry than of the London of general acquaintance.

The Red One is the story of a scientist who sought the Arctic and other specimens in the South Sea Islands, and gave his life to satisfy his desire to discover the origin of a strange sound. The origin was tabu for the foreigner, and the scientist suffered more than death before he gratified his mad curiosity. This, and "The Hussy," which is an O. Henry-flavored tale, were written in the Hawaiian Islands, one May 5 and the other May 22, 1915.

"Like a Bird of the Ancient Time," an Alaska tale, and "The Princess," which makes one think of O. Henry, were written at Glen Ellen, in September of the same year, one on the 14th and the other on the 26th. Admirers of London will find something to talk about in his change of style and theme shown so strikingly by the diverseness of the items of the collection.

"The Red One," by Jack London, New York, the Macmillan Company, $1.40 net.)

"THE WINDS OF CHANCE"

"Poleon Dorot, hero of Rex Beach's latest novel, 'The Winds of Chance,' is a 'roughneck man,' a French Canadian with a wealth of dialect done as only Beach and Gilbert Parker have dared. He is a hero to the liking of the author of the rough and wild and in the picture of a story that is elemental and engulfing, and tenacious.

And as for the heroine, this is what she says: 'I am a gambler's daughter, nothing more—a bold and forward creature.' As a gambler's daughter she knew enough not to play her own game of chance but to enough to stay away from the game of hearts that called from outside.

Rex Beach peoples this book with big men and bad ones. There is struggle between the lines as well as in the printed words, fist fights and heart battles but always the cleanliness of the out-of-dogs and the nobility of the man who was of it. It is contrasted with the baser metal of the 'imported' man.

To follow 'Poleon Dorot through these pages is to go upon a breathless, pulse-quicken journey. It is to gasp at brutality and the wonder at magnificence. In other words, Rex Beach has written a Rex Beach yarn, one of the kind that will soon have drawing thousands to the film shows just as it will have made thousands sit up too late at night in the reading.

"The Winds of Chance," by Rex Beach, New York, Harper & Brothers.)

FREDERICK STARR

Frederick Starr, associate professor of anthropology in the University of Chicago, is now in Guatemala, where he is conducting special researches in his field. He will collect material for several books, one of which will be a presentation of excerpts from Central American authors. The latest volume by Professor Starr is just announced by his publishers under the title of "The Buddhist," a discussion of its history, present condition and art. The book is illustrated from photographs taken by the author in Korea, where he recently spent several months.

LOUISE BRYANT

When Louise Bryant went to Russia on the last steamer carrying political exiles home at the expense of the new revolutionary government, she went, not with the idea of collecting a few tourist impressions of the superficial aspects of things, but to become for the time being one of the Russian people themselves. For six months she dressed, acted, lived in all respects like a Russian. As a result, she saw and took part in events which were rigidly closed to foreigners.

THE WAR DOG

Thrilling Poem Brings Home to Us the Heart and Brain of Dog.

What everything and everybody has done to help us win the war has been dinned into our ears by a thousand different voices. One tiny tinkling voice has been heard now and again in and above the uproar, but few heard it. Yet it is a note we ought to have with alight and thankfulness for it tells us what dogs have done, by clear-brained, warm-hearted, intelligent cooperation to help smite the Hun. Oh, yes, I know I shall be laughed at by the unthinking mass and sternly rebuked also by the know-it-all scientist, whether a naturalist or psychologist. But I repeat my words deliberately and give them forth as my present belief, viz., that dogs have, by clear-brained, warm-hearted intelligent cooperation, done their share toward winning the war. Many a soldier has learned to think the same thing, and a few writers accept their dictum. One of these has written a poem, illustrated by Harrison Fisher, telling the story of

... only a dog, but he went to war, On the shell-ploughed fields of France, And loyally labored with tooth and paw And baffled the clutch of an iron claw, In the swoop of the Hun's advance.

It is a thrilling poem that brings home to us the heart and brain of this dog. Especially is the climax fine, when his master, a chief surgeon, had been struck down in No Man's Land. Wounded also, the dog stayed by his master's side, and when a Hun would have bayoneted the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going out yonder and putting him in." But the moment he put forth his hand to bring in the brave dog he found the stricken man he leaped for his throat and "another note in the hymn of hate was ripped from its scroll by the fangs of fate." Then one of our soldier boys, fired by the sight, cried out, "I'm going

CALIFORNIA LITERATURE AND ITS MAKERS

By GEORGE WHARTON JAMES

(Continued from last Sunday)

LITERATURE OF THE MISSION EPOCH

CHAPTER VII.

The Life of Padre Junipero Serra, the Founder of the California Missions.

But history was shaping itself for another change. The advance into Alta California was decided upon by Galvez, as a peaceful step in the carrying out of the plans of his royal master, and the college of San Fernando was again called upon for missionaries to establish the three new missions. It had been decided to start, viz., of San Diego, Monterey and one midway between the two, to be dedicated to San Buenaventura. In the meantime the Franciscans had taken charge of the Jesuit missions and Padre Serra, the president, had founded a new mission, that of Velicata, on the peninsula.

The guardian responded that he did not have the means to get them, to supply the need of Alta California, and suggested that, if it were absolutely necessary that the Franciscans be despatched to the new foundations, he be released of the care of the peninsula missions. This was ultimately done and the Dominican order took charge there.

Now it is that the real history of Alta California is about to begin, and as Junipero Serra was placed in charge of the missionary enterprises in the new land it is important that we familiarize ourselves with the chief facts of his history. Fortunately he was regarded as so eminent a missionary that even in his own day, or at least soon after his death, it was thought fitting that a full account of his life be written and published. This work was entrusted to his close companion and friend, Francisco Palou, who at the time of the writing was in charge of the Mission of San Francisco. It is therefore a purely California book, giving in detail the work of the founding of the earliest of the California missions, written by San Francisco by the priest in charge of that mission, and published in the City of Mexico in 1787. In spite of these facts and the self-evident importance of the work, it was never translated for English readers until 1913, at the second centennial of Serra's birth, when I issued one. There had been a few chapters, with snatches here and there from the original, done into English and published in 1890 by the Reverend Father Adam, vicar-general of the diocese of Monterey and Los Angeles, but its inadequacy and incompleteness was a source of annoyance. As I then said in my introduction to the translation:

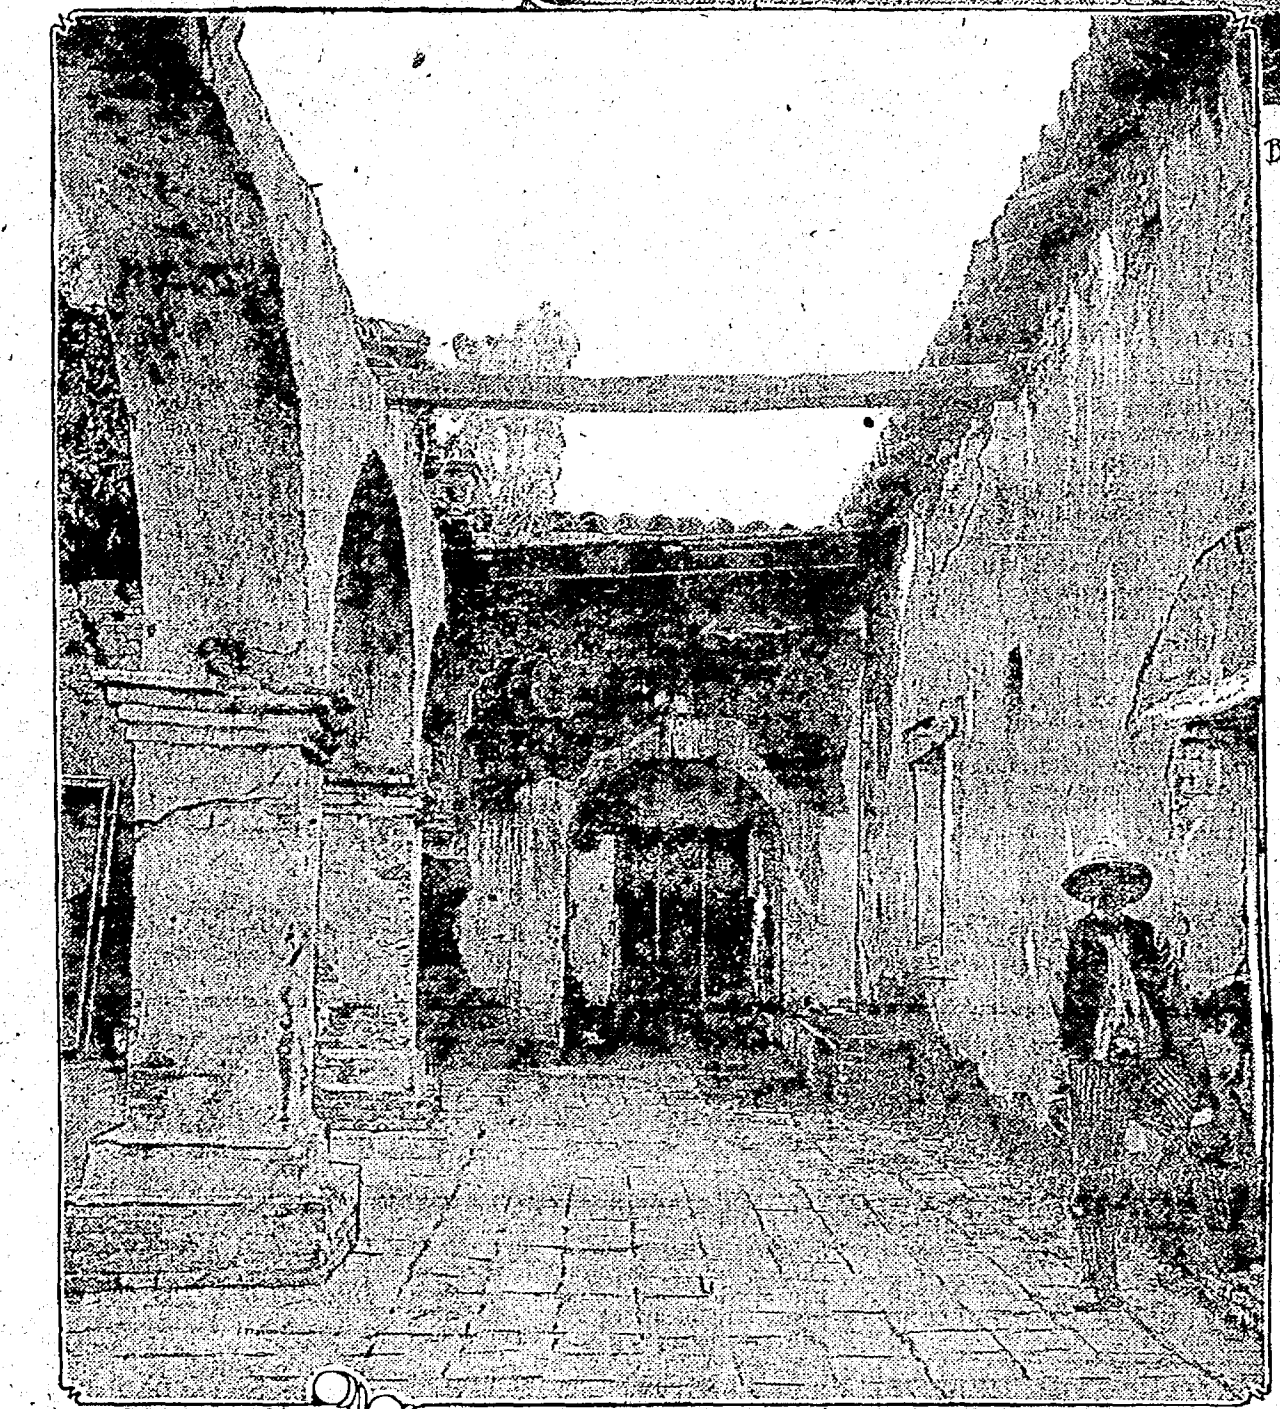

"Does it require any lengthened argument to show that such a lack in the literature of the Golden State does not recommend us to the good opinion of outsiders? To have the very first book upon which our knowledge of the history of the state depends inaccessible to all gave a few Spanish scholars reveals a lack of state pride and self-respect and a personal indifference that are unbecoming to a great state and its progressive people. This would be so even were the character of the 'history maker' one that neither commanded veneration or respect. But when, as in the case of so noble and Godlike a man as Padre Junipero Serra, people of all classes, parties and religious beliefs acclaim him one of the noblest, purest, most self-sacrificing, devoted, humble, apostolic and Christlike of men, the careless indifference of the educators, religious leaders and teachers and scholars of the state borders upon the reprehensible.

"It seems peculiarly appropriate, therefore, that in this year of our Lord 1913, two hundred years after this his devoted servant Junipero Serra, first saw the light, that a translation of his life and labors should be published. For thirty years I have waited, hoping that some competent pen would undertake the work. Father Zephyrin Engelhardt, the official historian of the Franciscan order in California, was the man who most properly should have done it, as he had great familiarity both with the Spanish language and with the life of his fellow-Franciscan—whose memory and apostolic labors he reverently filled him for the task. But his exhaustive studies and work upon the monumental history of the Missions and Missionaries of California, lower his head, and he was not yet being completed, was compelled to forego the pleasure."

From this reliable "Life of Padre Serra" we can gain a clear idea of the character of the man, and the esteem in which he was held by his co-workers. Naturally the book is full of references to the Catholic Church, and the Catholicism of the person, it seems to me, even though he be bitterly opposed to the Catholic church as an organization, can read the story of this man's life and not be thrilled by his single-hearted devotion to the one purpose he ever had before him, namely, the conversion of heathen souls and the gathering of them into what he conceived to be the only safe fold—the bosom of mother church.

He was born of poor but good parents in the village of Petra, on the island of Mallorca, on the 24th of November, 1713. His parents carefully trained him in all the duties of the church, and in due time he was confirmed. The growing lad early showed desire to live a pious and religious life, hence no one was surprised when he became a Franciscan novice, soon after his sixteenth birthday. He was a great reader, and says Palou, "the books that he read oftenest, and which most attracted his attention, were the chronicles of our Seraphic order. He delighted himself with the lives of those holy and venerable men, as set forth in the chronicles, reading their lives with much attention and tenderness that each one seemed upon his memory, so that he used to repeat the story of their lives and deeds as if he had but just read them. All of us who used to hear him tell these stories were astonished at the beauty of them. Whenever he heard of the beatification of any one of these venerables, his heart would be filled with joy and he would repeat the story of his life with as much accuracy as if he had but just read the chronicle.

At San Juan Capistrano.

"Out of this devout exercise of the reading of the lives of the saints, there was born in the heart of the young novice the strongest desire to imitate them insofar as it would be possible. This reading had the same effect upon him that it had had upon St. Ignatius of Loyola, and the principal thing which came out of the reading was the vehement desire to imitate these holy and venerable men who had been employed in the conversion of souls, principally those of pagan and barbarous peoples. His desire went so far as to make him long to give his life and to shed his blood, as indeed many of them had done,

This I heard from his own lips, for when the venerable father was telling me of his call to leave his native land and come to the Indies he said, with great tenderness of heart and with tears in his eyes: 'My principal motive has been to revive in my heart those great desires which I had as a novice when reading the lives of the saints, desires which are somewhat deadened by the distractions of my studies. But let us give thanks to God because my wishes are beginning to be fulfilled, and let us ask that he for his greater glory and for conversion of souls.'

After he made his final profession he received his degree of doctor of sacred theology from the Lullian university. Then he became professor in the same institution and at the same time was constantly called upon for special sermons on great occasions. He soon became a popular preacher, stirring rich and poor, the faithful and the indifferent, alike. It was evident he was on the way to high honors. Now let Father Palou take up the story: "At this time in which the Reverend Father Lector Fr. Junipero was enjoying the highest esteem and applause, both from the friars and others, and when it might be expected that the corresponding honors would come to him as a matter of merit, the voice of God came to him calling him to be a teacher of the pagans, touching his heart and leading him to leave his native land, his parents, and his holy province, in order to employ his talents in the conversion of pa-

Bells, San Juan Capistrano Mission

gans who, for lack of someone to show them the way to heaven, were perishing. He was not unmindful of this secret voice of the Lord which lighted in his heart the fire of love for his fellow men and gave birth in him to the most vivid desire to shed his blood, if necessary, in order to secure the salvation of the miserable heathens, and alluring in his heart, those desires which he had felt when a novice, which have been deadened somewhat by the distraction of his studies. As soon as he felt anew the call he took the matter to God in prayer, using for his intercessors his immaculate mother, and San Francisco Solano, apostle of the Indies, asking them if it were God's will that he would touch the heart of someone who might share with him the task and accompany him upon so long a voyage.

In spite of the fact that his reverence kept this a secret in his heart, God willed it that the R. P. Lector Fr. Rafael Verger, at that time a professor of philosophy and at present bishop of Nuevo Leon, understood that a friar from the province was anxious to go out to the Indies for the conversion of the pagans. He communicated the fact to me almost immediately because of the intimacy between us, although he did not say that he knew for certain but he inferred it from a rather vague remark which he had heard, and no names were mentioned; but, from the time that he had heard of the proposition, there had come into his heart the most ardent desire to do the same thing, and he had not been tied down by his chair in the college; he had offered to go. On several occasions both of us spoke of the matter and from that I became filled with the same strong desire to go.

It was soon discovered that this friar who had the desire to be a missionary was Father Serra himself, and Palou, in telling how the discovery was made, says tears of joy sprang into his eyes when he made the confession that he was the person: "I am the one who is anxious to make this long journey, and my grief has been that there was no one to go with me as a companion upon so long a voyage, though, for that reason, I had not given up my purpose. I have just received the novitiate of the most holy and San Francisco Solano, asking them to touch the heart of someone who might go with me, and I have felt in my heart that I had come here resolved to speak to you and invite you to go with me for the voyage, because from the moment that I myself reached a decision to leave my province, the greatest desire to speak to you and this has made me think that you might be persuaded to go. But in view of the fact that though I had kept the matter a secret in my heart the news came to you in the way which you tell me it did without your knowing who it was who planned to go, and also seeing that I had been asking God to touch someone's heart and that I had felt such a great drawing towards you, there can be no doubt but that this is the will of God. However, let us commend the matter to the Lord and do you do as I have done in the matter of the Novitiate and let us both keep our secret."

In due time these two earnest souls were licensed to go forth to Mexico, there to follow their bent or the conversion of the heathen. On the 13th of April, 1749, they took the packet-boat from the island of Mallorca to the mainland and finally, on the 28th of August, they, in company with nineteen other friars of their own order and a number of Dominicans, sailed from Cadiz for Vera Cruz. They endured great vexations and privations and it was not until December that the vessel reached the port of their destined port in Mexico. Now let Palou take up the story, in order that one may understand the manner of man Junipero was:

"As soon as the two bands, ours and that of the Dominican Fathers, had safely landed a solemn celebration was held by them both in honor of our glorious protectress, Santa Barbara, in proof of our gratitude and in order to fulfill the vows which we had made in the moment of great affliction. At this service our Venerable Fr. Junipero preached giving a complete narrative of every the smallest circumstance and the little incidents which had happened during the long voyage of ninety-nine days. He did so with such perfection and eloquence that his hearers were in wonderment in them all, and on top of his reputation as more exemplary, which he already had, he acquired the other title of being very wise and very humble, for up to this time scarcely the least of his great talents had come to be recognized.

Having in mind the very sickly climate of Vera Cruz, which I experienced very shortly to my sorrow, as I came near the point of death, an effort was made to have leave to go to the interior, which was at the expense of the king, who furnished transportation and other necessities, in order that, in view of the long time spent in the sea voyage and the sudden changes in that climate, was not to be made on foot but on horseback and with a certain degree of comfort. However, our model Junipero, desiring to make the journey on foot, resting, asked of the Reverend Father President that he be permitted to go on foot, inasmuch as he was in good health and had the necessary strength for the task. The latter, recognizing the favor of his spirit, granted permission both to him and to another missionary from the province of Andalusia, who had also made the same journey, and they both set out without other guide or provisions than the breviary and their firm confidence in Divine Providence.

"But having thus chosen the best of all passports, far from lacking anything in the way, they were the recipients of the most singular aid of the Almighty. One day when they had traveled for some time they expected, they reached the banks of a river after nightfall, and they knew from what they had been told that they must cross this river before they could reach the town where they would find shelter for the night. On seeing that the river was high and that it threatened no little danger to anyone who might try to pass it, they knew exactly where the ford was, and they were much perplexed. Finding themselves in this situation in the middle of the night, without anyone to show them the way, our two travelers hesitated about entering the water and instead, hoping that Heaven would send them some help in this time of need, they began to recite the prayer of the Benedict of Our Lady. When they had finished it, it seemed as though they could distinguish upon the opposite bank the faint light of a fire. In order to make sure, Fr. Junipero called out in a loud voice, using these words: 'Hail, Holy Mary! Is there any Christian on the other side of the river?' The answer came: 'Yes. What do you want?' The friars replied that they desired to cross the river and did not know the ford. The voice from the other side told them to pass at that point. This they did without any danger and found the man with whom they had been speaking, who was a Spaniard, well-dressed and very attentive to the matter of but a few words. He took them by the hand, quite a way distant from the river, gave them supper and provided them with beds. When, the next morning, they left the house for the church in order to say mass and noticed that in all the road there was plenty of ice on account of the storm of the night before, they better understood the great benefit which God had granted them in providing them with shelter through the agency of their benefactor, for without him they must surely have perished under the inclement rigor of the night."

Literature of the Mission Epoch.

CHAPTER VIII.

The Life of Padre Serra (Continued). In due time Serra reached the College of San Fernando, in the City of Mexico, which, henceforth, was to be his parent house, to which all his official reports were made. From here he was sent to do arduous missionary work among the Indians of the Sierra Gordo, and after nine years of service which was regarded so successful that the missions were transferred to the care of the archbishop, henceforth to be served by regular parish priests.

Serra was now requested to prepare to go on another mission to the Apaches of Texas. Two missionaries had already gone ahead, but these warlike people had fallen upon them, destroyed what work had already been done on the mission buildings, and in the conflict a number of Indians had been killed. In the delay caused by the sending out of a military expedition to punish these hostilities and bring them to subjection, and the fact that the viceroy of New Spain died at the time, Serra was prevented from going.

This great plan, however, did not by any means meet with the unqualified approval of Serra's superiors in Mexico. It was not a plan of their formulation. In their larger, imperialistic schemes, the royal grabber and his associates in Spain were spending all the money they could lay their hands upon and they could ill afford the necessary cash for the proper foundation, support and due protection of the missions. Yet, as we have seen, expansion was forced upon them at the peril of the loss of Alta California either to the British or the Russians, so Galvez, the visitor-general, regardless of the attitude of Verger, the guardian of Serra's college, went ahead and formulated the plan for California's colonization and christianization. It can well be understood, therefore, from this statement of facts, how Serra and Galvez were drawn together, though Serra's superiors did not regard the plans of Galvez with favor. On this matter Priestly thus comments:

"It only remains to iterate, that this occupation of the upper California ports was the conception of Galvez, and of him practically alone. The College of San Fernando, which had charge of the California missions, was bitterly opposed to the plan of establishing so many new missions as were projected, at such remote distances. The original plan was to have three missions in upper California, while five were to be placed between Velicata and San Diego. Those of upper California, were, as is well known, increased gradually, whereas the desert country of the peninsula obtained no more. Had the plan been consummated, a route from the extremity of the peninsula to San Francisco would have been established, the missions occurring at easy intervals for travel by the existing means. The college of San Fernando regarded the plan as quite a different one, as it was with the feeble resources which Spain was able to lend to the occupation of so vast a territory. The funds available at the beginning were all too inadequate, and the struggling missions of the south were never as prosperous as the visitor-general expected them to become. And yet, with all the poverty, the hardship and the imminent failure of the expeditions, the remarkable thing is that they were undertaken at all. Only an invincible will like that of Galvez could have brought them about. It has long been the fashion to say that Junipero Serra does California owe her settlement by the Spaniards. That Serra was an enthusiastic supporter of the plans of Galvez is not to be questioned, but it is not the case that he was the one who saved the situation at San Diego, when Portola, discouraged at the sickness and sorry plight of the first expeditionaries, was ready to attempt to save his party by retreating to the Peninsula in search of food. But Serra had nothing to do with the conception of the plan. He was even chosen president of the California missions without his knowledge, and sent thither without opportunity of refusal. It was not until Galvez, being in the peninsula, acquainted him with the project that he entertained it, and his own college would have resisted him from entering as heartily as he did into the visitor's plans had it felt equal to opposing Galvez."

(Continued Next Sunday)

GOSSIP FROM CALIFORNIA WEEKLIES

Jacklings

Coming Back

The Daniel Jacklings are coming back to San Francisco to live.

This decision has been made, by Mrs. Jackling, and their arrival will follow on the heels of the decision so quickly that they are expected in less than two weeks.

Mrs. Jackling's family and friends are already on tiptoe to greet them and their apartments in the St. Francis hotel are all done in and ready to receive them. They shall look their prettiest upon their arrival.

The apartment was done over about a year ago at an expense that would stagger anyone but a Copper King who had invented the cyanide process in order to hang some tapestries, two floors were converted into one, which meant elimination of the law of impossibility and the straining of the maximum bending moment of steel girders. When the architects and engineers said it was a dubious plan, Jackling himself took up his pencil and his engineering knowledge and figured it out to their satisfaction.

However, Aladdin had hardly rubbed his lamp when this country entered the war, and Jackling was called to Washington in charge of the P. N. T. plants as a "dollar-a-year" man. So they moved to a New York hotel and the tapestries hung in the "unpeopled shadows of darkened rooms."

The Jacklings have spent just one week there in the last year and that week has been divided into three separate visits. The first time that they commuted out here, Mrs. Jackling had to have an operation on her throat, so all her time was spent in a hospital. News Letter.

Why the Fuss Over Paint?

This year the Stanford boys put over their regular doings, and, also as usual, found California asleep. And then the growls of the bear! "Vandalism, vandalism, 'kultur,' 'rowdyism' were some of the terms generously applied to the red hue daubers. And for why? Why also the offer of $50 reward for information leading to the arrest of the culprits? In other words, why the fuss? It doesn't hurt our feelings to have our dear President utter his wrath—but why the verbal mouthings of the college journalists. Surely a little application of fresh paint and brown and olive juice will wipe out their visiting cards. And anyhow, the game little fellows were entitled to a fling when they had the nerve to tackle the U. C. football giants.—Berkeley Courier.

Will Irwin to Return to Bay Soon

Mrs. Will Irwin is now in San Francisco and plans to make this city her home for the winter. While here she will work on a new novel, the second of a series of four, the plan of which she had outlined for some time. Also she will await her husband here.

Mrs. Irwin, an Inez Haynes Glimmer, is one of the best known women authors of America. Her fame equals that of her brilliant and famous husband. Will Irwin is one of the products of that brilliant journalistic colony that produced his equally brilliant brother, Wallace, Jimmie Norse, Chubbie Morton, Jimmy Hopper, Charlie Masher, Billy McGeehan, Joe Timmons and a number of others.

After leaving the Stanford University, he worked for the daily papers here. His brilliant writing soon engaged local attention and it was not long before he became Sunday editor of the Chronicle.

In those days the Sunday editor did not handle syndicate matter as he does today, but he wrote stories and sketches of local color himself. Frank Norris graduated from Sunday editorship on the old Morning Call to gain fame in the East just before Bill Irwin's time. It was not long before Irwin began to catch the eye of the literary sharks in the East, and it was just before the big fire that he left us to gain new laurels in New York. When the news of the San Francisco disaster was sent over the paper on which Irwin worked gave Bill the telegraphic reports, and told him to write the story. The result was "The City That Was," first a newspaper story and then published in book form. It is a journalistic classic and gave its author national fame. Few who read the story at the time could believe that it was written in a New York newspaper office and not by an eye witness.

Then came more brilliant newspaper stories from the pen of Irwin, but they are known mostly only to newspaper

MARDI GRAS BALL WILL ECLIPSE ALL OTHERS

Plans for the Mardi Gras Ball are informally under way and before long there will be official announcement of the program for this year's affair. It should establish a new standard for the city and that it shall go down in local history as the great Peace Mardi Gras. With that end in view Edgar Walter and the others are working their imaginations overtime to conjure up some scene of breathless beauty, or exotic charm, or lovely imagery, that will be a proper setting for a court of fair beauties, gay cavaliers and a king and queen. Time may come when kings and queens will rule only at Mardi Gras Balls—at the present moment in history most of them playing are "Kings-Ex" in Switzerland. There is no question that the deposed monarchs thus engaged in the Swiss Alps would gladly exchange places with the royalty chosen to rule over the gay caperings of a ball masque in this city by the Western sea.—News Letter.

When the European war broke out Irwin went to Europe as a war correspondent and some of his best narratives of events "Over There" are equally equal by the classics Irwin Cobb has written.

By the way, Will Irwin is co-author of some of the best San Francisco stories that ever saw the light of day. He with Gellert Burgess wrote "The Pleurotons," a series describing life here some thirty years ago. Then ran in Pearson's Magazine and a fortune awaits the publisher who will issue them in book form. They rank with the Frank Norris stories in "The Third Circle," and are not to be overshadowed by the stories of O. Henry which follow in the same vein, only the Henry stories describe New York life, while the Pleurotons describe San Francisco life.—The Wasp.

Berejo's Rejoinder

Has San Francisco any of those antiquated hydraulic elevators, or did they all perish in the great fire? Oakland still boasts one that I know of. I had occasion to make a business call in one of Oakland's old office buildings the other day, and was lifted to the third floor in such a leisurely fashion that I realized I was riding in one of the antiquated contraptions which our grandfathers thought such marvels of efficiency. And my progress being so gradual, my ride so long drawn out, I had time to think of a story of Ambrose Bierce. It seems that our great satirist got into one of those hydraulic lifts one day. A fellow passenger who, judging by his preposterous air, must have been the owner of the building, said to Bierce:

"Do you know that this elevator has been running since 1827?"

"I wouldn't doubt your word," responded Bierce, "but I only got on at the second landing."—Town Talk.

East and West Meet

"I see," writes an occasional correspondent, "that you corrected a local society reporter who spoke of Mrs. Bruce Porter as a San Francisco girl. Society reporters haven't much time for literature—the books they thumb most are the Blue Book and the Social Register—so I'm glad you were not too hard on the one who made that slip. And yet, she might easily have known better, for the wedding of Bruce Porter and Margaret James was reported in the papers of this hemisphere. The daughter of William James the pragmatist, and niece of Henry James, the novelist, Margaret James is a personage. And Bruce Porter—though many San Franciscans may not know it—has national reputation among amateurs of the fine arts. But this is not what I wanted to tell you. I wonder if you ever heard an amusing story of that wedding? Perhaps not, so here goes. The wedding took place in a beautiful Swedish church in New Haven, Conn. The ceremony was performed in the presence of many notables. At its conclusion Bruce turned to his bride and said: 'And now, Margaret, I am going to kiss you.' 'But the bride held up a warning hand.

"Not yet, Bruce; not yet," she said. "As the wedding processional sedately down the aisle, the bride whose eyes were modestly lowered in the best New England fashion, did not realize that Bruce Porter was marching at her side with one hand raised aloft in amused supplication to 'whatever gods there be.' But everybody in the pews saw that the East and the West had met."—Town Talk.

Dr. Howard as Admiral

There perhaps there is one sight that would be more startling than that of Mrs. Cuff at Versailles. It is Dr. Anna Howard Shaw in the uniform of an admiral. Josephus Daniels has promised to give it to her. Indeed, Josephus said that this was the only thing needed by the navy to make it perfect. But would the gentle Anna be willing to wear such a uniform? She would. It is Dr. Shaw's present practice to wear some dreadful contraption in the shape of a collegiate mortar board, although why she does this deponent sayeth not. She is probably the only woman in America, or indeed in the world, who wears a mortar board upon ordinary public occasions, and as it is thus evident that she has no objections to making a display of herself we may safely assume that she will wear the admiral's uniform as soon as it comes to hand. And that would be even funnier than Mrs. Cuff at Versailles.—The Argonaut.

ARTISTS AND ART EXHIBITS

By LAURA BRIDE POWERS

Oakland Municipal Art Gallery, Municipal Auditorium, open from 1 to 5 p. m. daily, except Thursday. Worth Ryder, curator.

Galleries rehung, in new dress.

Permanent exhibition, including the Porter collection of Russian pictures that include some of international interest, examples of William Keith, gift of Dr. Thomas H. Winslow, William Macs (self-portrait), Twachtman, Martha Walter, Lepino, Robinson, Blakelock (a loan), Charles J. Dickman, Xavier Martinez, Goddard Gale (gift of the late Dr. A. S. Kelly), Macowsky, Zabouren, Reynolds, Gifford Beal and many other equally interesting canvases.

Hahn collection, containing excellent examples of William Keith, Charles Rollo Peters, Maynard Dixon, Maurice Del Mue, Xavier Martinez, Giuseppe Cadonasso, Thomas Hill and Gordon Coutts. Canvases on sale.

Collection of etchings, including the work of Auerbach Levy, Henry Wolf, Max Klinger, Roth, the Arminsons, and a number of California painters who find their play-time with their needle and press—a worthy collection.

Palace of Fine Arts, open from 10 to 5 p. m. J. Nilsen Laurvik, director.

Alma de Brettville Spreckels' loan exhibition of Auguste Rodin's sculpture. Brancusi's "The Kiss."

Permanent exhibition of Greek casts, gift of Greece to the San Francisco Art Association, north galleries.

Phoebe A. Hearst's loan exhibition, occupying twelve galleries, including paintings, miniatures, etchings, engravings, tapestries, rugs, furniture, objects d'art and textiles.

Among the paintings are examples of Corot, Millet, Rousseau, Troyon, Harpignies of the Barbizon group, Detaille, Fromentin, Isabey, Lancret, Lepine, Carl Marr, Van Loo, Monet and Vereschagin.

Among the etchings and engravings are examples of Rembrandt, Durer, Meryon, Hogarth, Holbein, Leiden, Carl Marr, Salvatore Rosa, Guido, Rembrandt, Whistler and Henry Wolf.

Exhibition of William Penhallow Henderson's paintings and pastels. North galleries, showing examples of "Elbow," "The Face," Constant, Schreyer, Jules Pages and several Americans, including Emil Carlsen, William Keith and Arthur Matthews.

Exhibition of work of California School of Fine Arts.

Hungarian collection of paintings and drawings, south galleries, including Por and Berehny, two ultra-moderns.

Axel Gallen-Kallela, Finnish painter. Retrospective exhibition, south galleries.

Color drawings by Auguste Rodin, Y. du Mas and Valentine de Saint Point, north galleries.

Exhibition of "Flambeau Weavers," Tolerton Print Rooms, 540 Sutter street.

Etchings and colored wood-blocks by J. O. Nordfeldt, Tolerton Print Rooms.

Heterogeneous collection of paintings at Tolerton's.

Sketches by Martha Walter, Helgeson Gallery, 345 Sutter street.

Portraits by Genevieve Rixford Sargent, Helgeson's.

New paintings by Charles Rollo Peters at Rabbjohn & Maccom's, Post street.

Football Inspiration

To Painters and Sculptors

Where were the painters and sculptors on Thanksgiving Day, when Youth and Courage and Strength and Beauty were matched on the green-sward of California field?

Where were they?

Everywhere I looked for an artist, thrilled to his soul with the splendor of the sunlight dripping upon the running, tumbling masses of youth, and in the end the serpentine that wound and wound around the arena like a mammoth serpent of a hundred hues, all a-shimmer in the blue-gold light of a perfect day. Such a chance for movement, spirit, color, joy, life. Here was inspiration for a thousand studies.

I am thinking of George Bellows and Henri and others of their group who sense the spirit of moving masses of men, and go after them as epitomizing life in its potential moods. They are painting or trying to paint, life as it is lived. Damn them if you will by crying, "Realists, all!" But they are giving us the essence of the principle in life, realist or not.

It is human stuff, a recital of human activities, hopes, fears, ambitions, griefs and exaltations.

And that is what the artists in California need more than anything on this blessed footstool—if they are to score in the big game today—to get out of their studios into the game, out into the sunshine, out into the scrimmage where life is, and feel it surge and roll and swirl around them, just as the rest of the world does. Then we shall see a stimulation in production. We shall see more concise, fresh visions, new outlook, new art.

O, you sculptors who lurk in your moldy studios dragging inspiration out of the air, what you could have done with the Greek god of a sailor-boy who led the ropers of the Stanford section.

Slim, erect, lithe, alive, with hands so eloquent that each gesture was a command, a pity you didn't see him. But there are other crowds and other football games.

Come to the next, if you have to scale the fence. And if you feel no thrill for form and color and movement, then lay down your tools and go out and get a job—you've dropped into the wrong pew.

"THE FORGE—ENGELHOLM," by J. O. Nordfeldt—an etching that is characteristic of the artist in his serious moods, a simple forthright rendering of fundamentals that makes him an artist to be reckoned with. "The Forge" is one of a stunning group of etchings on exhibition at the Tolerton Print Shop.

The Council of Inter-Allied Arts, Bernard Maybeck, president, will meet at luncheon on Tuesday. Discussion of movements to commemorate the achievements of soldiers and sailors will occupy part of the hour—our soldiers and sailors—those that are coming home in the full panoply of glory, and those who sleep so deep "where the poppies grow."

Witter Bynner, who has come out of the worshipping east to the University of California as a member of the department of English, will be the special guest of honor. The poet will have something to say about the forward movement in art-forms that he and his confreres, Sam Hume and Arthur Farwell, are formulating in the university—democratic art-forms that promise to enrich the daily lives of men and women who toil in the heat of the day.

And that's a task worthy of the gods.

Here's to them!

Livery Paintings Of Memorable Hours

A week or two ago there came over the wire the announcement that Sir John Lavery, royal academican, had been commissioned to preserve in oils the personnel of the armistice commission that met aboard the flagship of Admiral Beatty, is an interesting pronouncement from the standpoint of history, but hardly from art.

Historic pictures take their value, even those painted by R. A.'s—a few Turners excepted—from their importance. These later expressions have to do with the physical facts, leaving but little margin for the exercise of imagination or emotion. And therein they are excluded from the realms of the highest form of art, which is not, however, to say that they have no place in art production. Quite the contrary is true. They fulfill a very definite place in the accumulated knowledge of the world, and the better they are painted, the more acceptable they are as contributions to the world's dearest possessions.

Therefore it is a matter of felicitation that so eminent a painter of facts as Sir John Lavery has won the commission. Lesser men would be permitted no more license as to fact, and they would be less technically equipped. Moreover, the academican is a royal colorist. He uses clean colors that usually take their places together in harmonic sequence—never brilliantly placed, but happily placed. And his portraiture is true and illuminating.

Even if the pictures that will grow under his facile brush are fettered by fact, it is something that these portrayals of the most momentous scenes in the history of man since the birth of the Nazarene, shall issue from the brush of a competent technician.

Here are the facts as they come over the wire:

"Sir John Lavery, of the Royal Academy, famous painter of naval subjects, has returned to London from a visit to the grand fleet, where he was commissioned by the Admiralty to paint a picture of the historic scene in the cabin of Admiral Sir David Beatty's flagship while the German and British were arranging the final terms of the armistice.

"Sir John was present in the fore cabin of the Queen Elizabeth throughout the whole ceremony and struck off a finished study of the scene which will serve as the basis for a big canvas. This will be completed during the next few months."

"The first picture was painted in an almost artificial light, owing to the fog. There are fifteen figures in the scene, including the five German delegates. In addition there are Sir David Beatty, Admiral Sir Charles Madden, Admiral Brock, Vice-Admiral Sir Montague Browning, Rear Admiral Sir Reginald Tyrwhitt, Commodore Brand, the captain of the Queen Elizabeth, two naval secretaries and an interpreter."

"In painting the study, Sir John concentrated upon the German delegates as it will not be possible to get another sitting of them. If the picture is ready it will be exhibited at the Royal Academy next year."

While with the fleet, Sir John painted a picture of the arrival of the German delegates on board the quarterdeck of the Queen Elizabeth. This picture will be shown with forty or fifty naval scenes which Sir John will present to the British nation."

France Pays $90,000 For A Picture

Ye croakers among us who proclaim stentoriously that this is no time to talk art and to buy pictures and sculpture, listen to the courage of France—the France whose heart was at that moment the target for German long-range guns.

While the bombardment of Paris quickened the breath of the civilized world, an art auction was carried on in its marts in which $90,000 changed hands. And—harken to this—the government, though harassed by the terrible drain of war, purchased a painting by the Initiator Degas for $90,000.

And in the name of fair play, it is incumbent upon me to say that at the same time the German government made important purchases at an auction in Berlin, the exchanges totaling well over $200,000.

With the undeveloped sense of Americans toward art, who seem to regard it as a thing reserved for the rich and for leisure, these facts are eloquent.

They serve to strengthen the doctrine that art is as necessary to the development of men and women as the three R's, and more necessary to their happiness.

How many of us owe our delight in the purple shadows of a pool to the artist whose quickened vision rendered it on canvas?

And this truth lies behind the need for art galleries in communities where ideal citizenship is sought by its leaders.

Frank Edoff Presents Picture to Gallery

Another good citizen has added his tribute to Oakland's Municipal Art Gallery—Frank Edoff, who has presented one of the internationally discussed Russian pictures that formed the background of the Frank C. Havens' collection to the gallery by the lake. The canvas is by Ivanhov, the painter of "The Shepherdess," one of the dominant canvases of the large gallery, the gift of Dr. William S. Porter.

Among the other Oakland men who have given canvases to the gallery—the only municipal gallery in the United States, by the way—are William G. Havens, the late Dr. A. S. Kelly, Dr. Thomas H. Winslow (several worthy canvases and etchings), Worth Ryder, the late Frank C. Havens, Dr. William S. Porter and M. H. de Young. If I have omitted any, forgive me—it's the fault of memory harassed by a cold.

Who will be the next to offer a gift to his city, a gift to refresh the souls of his fellows?

Art Compensation Of The Near-sighted

"As a short-sighted person I have frequently enjoyed pictures which must have been invisible to ordinary people," writes Myope in an English newspaper. "Thus, in crossing our river in the evening, especially at this time of the year, I have seen nocturnes as fine as any that Whistler gave to the world. Only the frame and the butterfly signature were wanting. I did not need to wait for the mist to rise, which turns into faint forms of fading grace curved bridge and swaying barge. On other occasions of a morning in the country, I have seen Corot and Daubigny even when the atmosphere was perfectly clear. But all this beauty vanishes if I remove my glasses. The softened outlines disappear and the landscape appears like an architect's drawing. I then begin to wonder if perfect eyesight is such a blessing after all. I put my spectacles down and think of Poe's lines addressed to science:

"Vulgarities! As these wings are dull

Has thou not torn the Nalad from her flood,

The Elfin from the green grass, and from me

The Summer dream beneath the tree?"

NOTES OF THE MUSICAL WORLD

By ROY HARRISON DANFORTH

Community Music Arrives in Pageantry's Mask

Of a sudden pageantry has stooped to cover our Eastbay cities with her enveloping wings. In part her advent is due to the invitation inherent in the presence in our midst of such a triumvirate as Arthur Farwell, Samuel C. Hume and Porter Garnett, and such a committee of one as Lila Agnew Stewart. For the latter, to keep to the chronological order, is the author of "The Road to Victory," chosen for the three-day Baby Hospital benefit and the former are chiefly instrumental in developing plans for the presentation New York's Eve of Percy Mackaye's masque, "The Evergreen Tree."

Pageantry is the more picturesque garb in which the new community music movement has bedecked itself. Community choruses are given to chorusing and directed community-singing crowds chiefly to competition in fortissimo. Pageants of the new order popularize the former by making them portion of an intelligible picture (program music in which the "program" is action), and corral the more obnoxious elements of the latter. It lacks something of the spontaneity of real community singing, they lack also its crassness, crudities. It seems to promise, therefore, a more facile means of escape from musical bad taste than either of the others.

"Giving even the best concerts," Daniel Gregory Mason writes in his recent absorbing volume on "Contemporary Composers," "seems too often like handing the people music at the end of a stick—take it or leave it; naturally, having so little choice in its selection, they often leave it. This is the reason that more active forms of music-making, even if crude, seem so full of promise. Yet here again we must beware of a too easy optimism. There is no magic about the community chorus that can suddenly change bad taste to good. Too often we seem here, as in all other activities for popularizing music, to oscillate helplessly between two evils. On the one hand is the crudity of actual taste; the majority prefer reggae and the musical comedies to folk-songs or the simple classics. On the other hand is the apathy that comes of prescriptions from outsiders—musical activity that is not spontaneous is sterile. Progress seems to come painfully and uncertainly from a constant zig-zagging between these two evils, getting gradually away from them as the taste of the minority exercises its persuasiveness."

DIFFERENT PHASE. A somewhat different phase of the matter, certainly a more optimistic and democratic phase, is presented in the statement in an adjoining column on this page by Professor Farwell. Farwell collaborated with Mackaye in the preparation of "The Evergreen Tree," to the extent of supplying the original music. Beyond this, he has been one of the country's foremost apostles of community music, so that his concep-

ACCELERATION ONLY RECENT

There are certain echoes of Wagnerian theory in the ideas to which Percy Mackaye and Professor Arthur Farwell have given expression in their notes to "The Evergreen Tree," echoes, that is, of his ideas of dramatic and musical coalescence, yet with the very evident difference that these later expressions have to do with the physical facts, leaving but little margin for the exercise of imagination or emotion. And therein they are excluded from the realms of the highest form of art, which is not, however, to say that they have no place in art production. Quite the contrary is true. They fulfill a very definite place in for nearly two decades. Taking its rise in the compelling necessity of this principle, the "community music" movement has swept the country in the last few years, plunging it anew into violent discussion, annihilating personal theories, and products of the musical hot-house, demanding the wholesome and the true—and giving the people expression.

In this movement the composer of the music for "The Evergreen Tree" has been immersed. In the communal dramatic work and ideas of Percy Mackaye he has recognized a similar development in the art of the theater. It was inevitable that these two movements should come together and unite their powers in seeking to make a helpful contribution to the quest for a drama—and should that shall serve most appropriately the deep need of the American people for expression in such a form.

Anything which may prove to be of worth in my composition for "The Evergreen Tree," I owe to the new influx of life which I have received from contact with the soul of the people, as revealed in the movement which is making us a singing nation.

number of Eastbay society women are instrumental in the preparations and will assume dancing and other parts in the affair.

Professor Farwell's music to "The Evergreen Tree," to be given also at the auditorium, but on New Year's Eve, was written while he still was residing in the East and before he came to the University of California. Mackaye was as pleased with it, as he was with what he termed Farwell's "creative ardor." The masque was written by Mackaye with the expectation that it would be produced during last holiday time, but certain exigencies of publication prevented the manuscript reaching an available form in time, and these plans had to be foregone. The Oakland production will, therefore, be the masque's premiere.

SEVENTEEN NUMBERS. The compositions of Professor Farwell include nine choruses and eight carols. The "Chorus of the Christmas Tree" is the most elaborate of the former, being in antiphonal form and in three parts. The music is spoken of by those who have heard it in rehearsal as being winsome and graceful throughout, and of a simplicity that particularly fits it for a community venture.

The masque calls for two choruses, one of mixed voices, the other of masculine singers alone. The latter is to begin rehearsal at once at Mare Island, being composed of men in naval training there. The mixed chorus, which McCloskey is training, has already been largely selected, though applications for admission still are being received. There has been no choice yet of principals.

Of added interest, in the light of the community music movement which the masque is intended to foster, is the fact that audience singing will both precede and follow its presentation. This will be under Professor Farwell's direction. Composition of the accompanying orchestra and its leadership are still to be announced.

The impetus which the two pageants will supply is not to be permitted to die away without result. Presently announcement is to be made, according to Alexander Stewart of this city, who, in his capacity as local representative of the War Camp Community Service, has much to do with the arrangements of plans for the organization here of a community chorus and of regular community singing events. Among the places where these will be instituted are the shipyards and other large industrial plants in the Eastbay section. Already at Berkeley a community chorus has been launched, and is getting fairly underway again after the influenza hiatus. If, as is expected, the war camp service is to be given a permanent status now that peace has been declared the local centers will assist in the new movement.

Margaret Arndt-Ober, the German mezzo-soprano, who has sued the Metropolitan Opera Company for $50,000 damages for discharging her because she was an alien enemy, lost two important points in her case when the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court handed down a decision which makes it necessary for Frau Ober to submit to examination as to her status and conduct while a member of the Metropolitan Company, before the trial of the action, and also refuses to require the defendants to file a bill of particulars or make their complaint more definite.

John L. Nelson, who has served as a Y. M. C. A. secretary in France, has returned with a new trench opera, of which the words and music were written by him in the trenches. "Over Here" is the title of the production, and it is a story of an American Doughboy in France and a Y. M. C. A. girl. Several selections from it have already been sung in the United States at Red Cross concerts by Alice Neilson and Marie Sundelius.

When Campanini learned of the signing of the armistice and the present end of the war he happened to be rehearsing the orchestra of the Chicago Opera Company. Promptly he paraded it up and down Michigan avenue, playing the national hymns of the victors. By-standers report that the violoncellists and the players upon the double basses, acquitted themselves laboriously but well.

Chamber Music Season Is Opened

The Chamber Music Society of San Francisco has commenced its new season and the initial concert Tuesday night at the Hotel St. Francis introduced it as an organization of capable and earnest artists, playing the finest type of music that we have. The second concert is set for the evening of January 7, when the program will be as follows:

Haydn.....Quartet for strings
Grove.....Suite for flute and string quartet
Schubert.....Sonata for violin and piano
Johann.....Nocturne for string quartet
Wolf.....(First performance anywhere)
Wolfe.....Italian serenade for string quartet

The society is composed of Louis Persinger, director and first violin; Louis Ford, second violin; Nathan Firestone, viola; Horace Britt, violoncello; Gyula Ormay, piano, and Ellis Hecht, flute. The six have been playing together for three years.

Brief Notes From The Music Lanes

The composition for soprano and orchestra, "A California Idyll," written by Edgar Stillman Kelley, whose lectures on the history of music attracted much interest during the last summer session at the University of California, has met with a pleasing reception from many of the eastern critics. The libretto was prepared for Kelley by Charles Keeler of Berkeley. Kelley intimated that his inspiration came from a visit while he was here to the Bohemian Grove.

"Kelley is not a prolific composer," writes H. T. Finck, "but what he does write is usually worth while. 'A California Idyll' is richly melodious and adorned with floridure both facile and effective."

February 23 and March 2 have been set as the dates for the appearances of Max Rosen, the remarkable young violinist. Rosen has been playing recently with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra and has won enthusiastic recognition in all of the cities that organization has visited on tour.

Tuesday evening the Shavitch-Saslavsky-Bem chamber music trio will make its second appearance of the season at the St. Francis Hotel. The program, which was in preparation for a concert last month until the date was postponed because of the epidemic, is to include a trio by Charles Wakefield Cadman, a trio by Antonin Dvorak and a sonata for violoncello and piano by Cesar Franck. A third and last recital will be given in January.

Mrs. John Reginald MacKay and Charles Bulotti were vocalists and Miss Mauda Wellendorf pianist in the presentation before the San Francisco Musical Club Thursday night of selections from William J. McCoy's opera, "Egypt."

Frank Healy announces February 2 as the date for the appearance in San Francisco of Rudolph Ganz, the noted Swiss pianist.

Sibelius Symphony On Hertz Program

Alfred Hertz has chosen a program for the most part filled with the unusual for the second pair of symphony concerts next Friday and Sunday afternoons. The symphony will be the first by Jean Sibelius, in E minor. A second number will be "Schelomo," by Ernest Bloch, in which Horace Britt will be violoncello soloist. This number, a Hebrew rhapsody, according to its composer, is descriptive, never before has been played about the bay. The conclusion will be the beautiful "Leonore" overture, No. 3, by Beethoven.

The first of the popular concert series will take place this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and is to be known as a "victory" concert, with many of the allied countries represented by their music. The program is as follows:

Dirge from "Indian Suite".....MacDowell
Cello Mendelssohn of Our Heroes.....Bisetz
Overture, "Patrie".....Grieg
Five Finnish Dances.....J. S. Bach
Two British Folk Songs.....Granger
(a) Irish Tune from County Kerry.
(b) Molly on the Shore.
(c) Intermission.
"Airs from Scenes".....Massenet
At the Tavern.....
Under the Golden Trees.....
(Clarinet obligato, H. B. Randall; Violoncello obligato, Horace Britt.)
Santuzza.....
Three Slavonic Dances.....Dvorak
Verdian.....Caraval.....J. Burgmela
(a) Flauto.....
(b) Rosaura.....
(c) Polka.....
(d) Le Seigneur Arlequin.....Tchaikovsky
March Slav....."Star-Spangled Banner."

Eddy Brown in Last Recital Today

Eddy Brown is to give his last recital during his present tour of the coast this afternoon at the Savoy Theater at 2:30 o'clock. Brown has just returned from Los Angeles, where his audience confirmed the high impression of his immaculate artistry already expressed in San Francisco and on this side of the bay, where he played for the Berkeley Musical Association. His program this afternoon is to include the following:

Tartini.....Sonata in G Major
Cello Mendelssohn of Our Heroes.....Bisetz
Presto assai
Violoncello.....Concerto No. 5 in A
Cooper-Kroeger.....Chorus of the Derivatives
Reethoven-Auer.....Serenade Espanol
Chopin-Paganini.....Serenade No. 22
Paderewski.....Mennett
Carmel-Brown.....Bondino
Paganini.....Witches' Dance

Confident that Mendelssohn (1809-1847) is banished in perpetuity from the matrimonial rites of Americans and that "Lochengrin" is interned for the duration of the world, Soiza has placed a new wedding march at the disposal of brides and bridegrooms, warranted to be 100 per cent American and so driving the more familiar measures of "The Midsummer Night's Dream" and Elsa's chamber, into "innocuous desuetude." Time will tell.

How soon do we get all the candy, an' pie, an' cakes we want?

Armistice Time

Sketches from life by Westerman.

Father surely has to pretend to be the wise gazabo these days. It used to be "When will the war end?" and now it's "When will they let John come home?"

"Gee! Whiz! — I knew that Kaiser'd never be able to hold out until I could get into this thing!"

"Oh! My dear! I'm so disappointed. You know I've thought all the time that if peace were declared I'd jump up and down, stand on my head, scream and all that sort of thing, and now I find myself just standing around in a stupid manner with nothing but a queer little wiggly feeling inside!"

Oh! Dear! I'm so happy I just cry every time I remember that the fighting has stopped.

Wife and Mother - "It does seem wonderful to be able to go to bed and sleep."

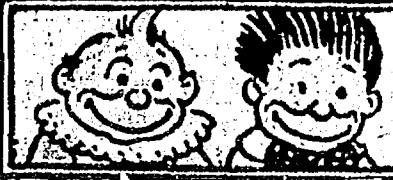

The war bride's dilemma - "Well! I wonder how we're going to like our husbands after we get acquainted with them!" "Better say - How are they going to like us, dearie!"

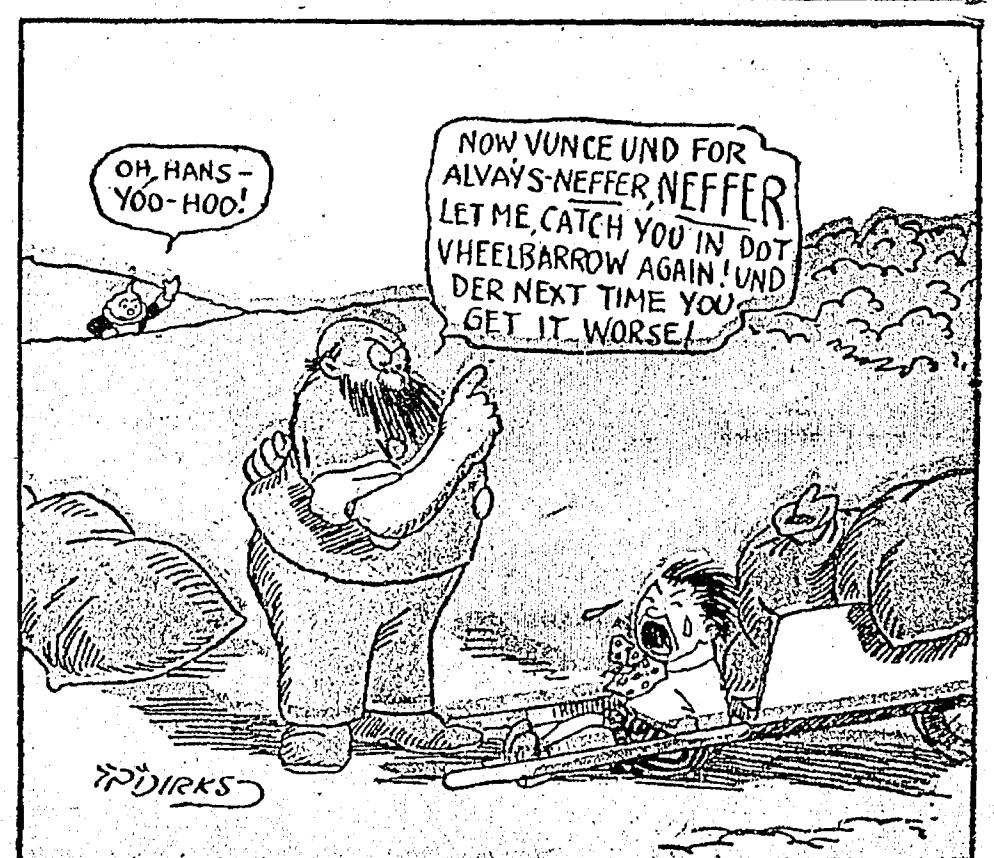

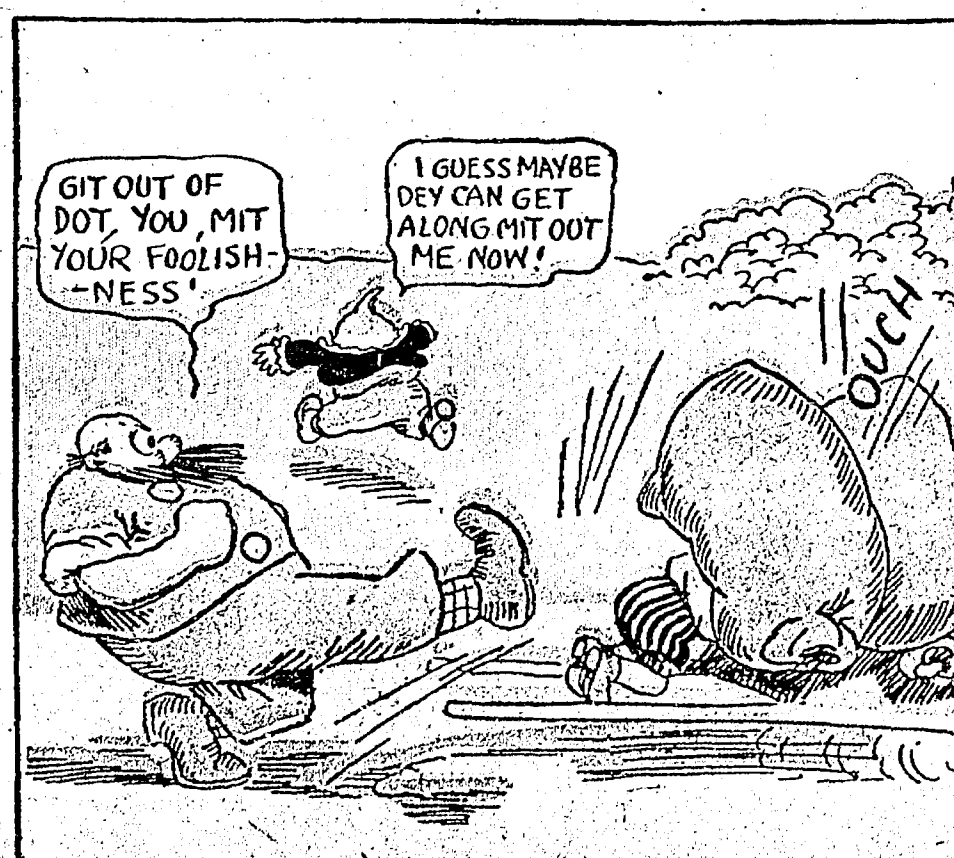

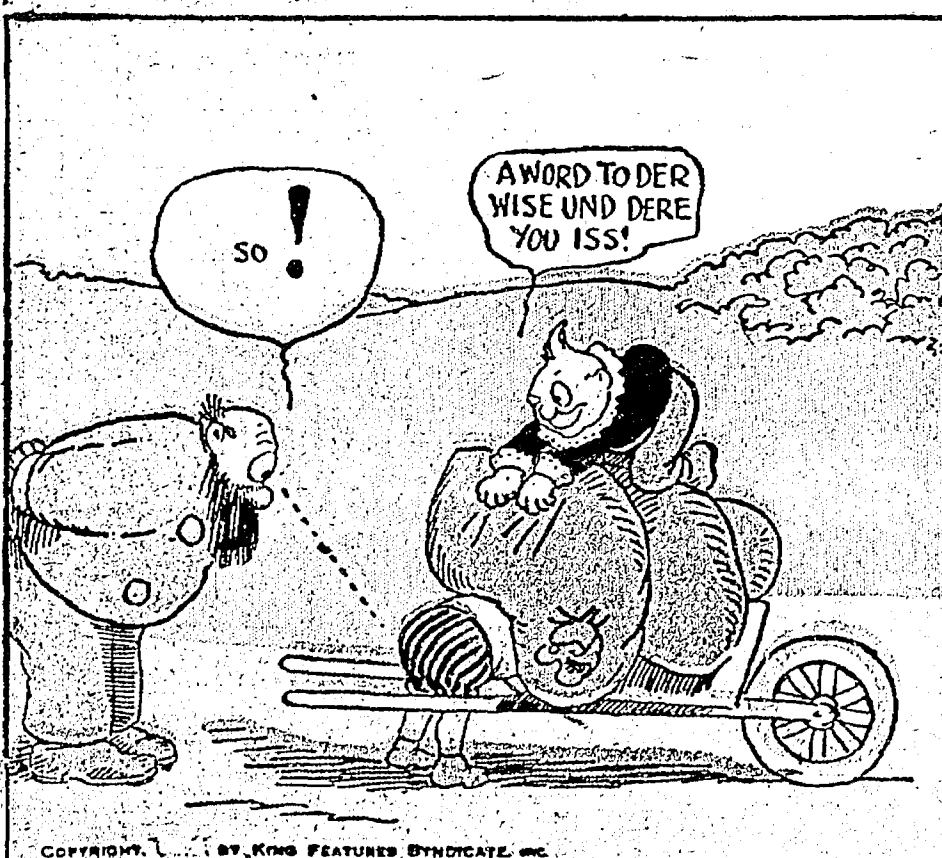

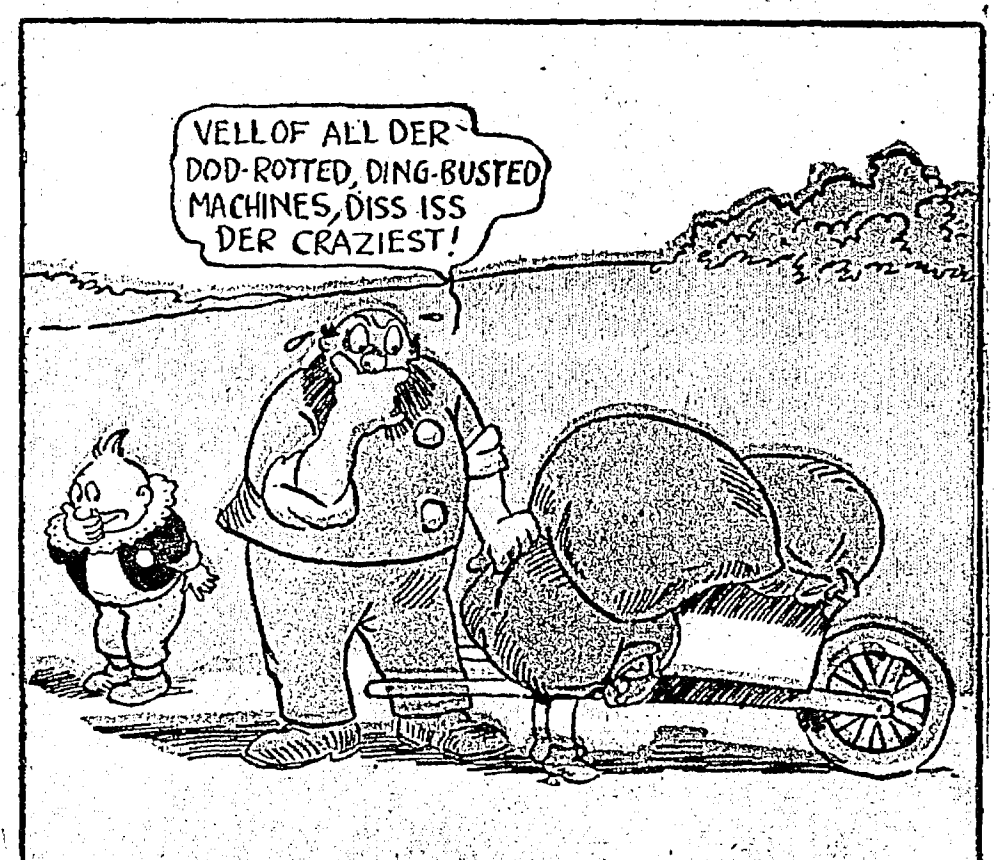

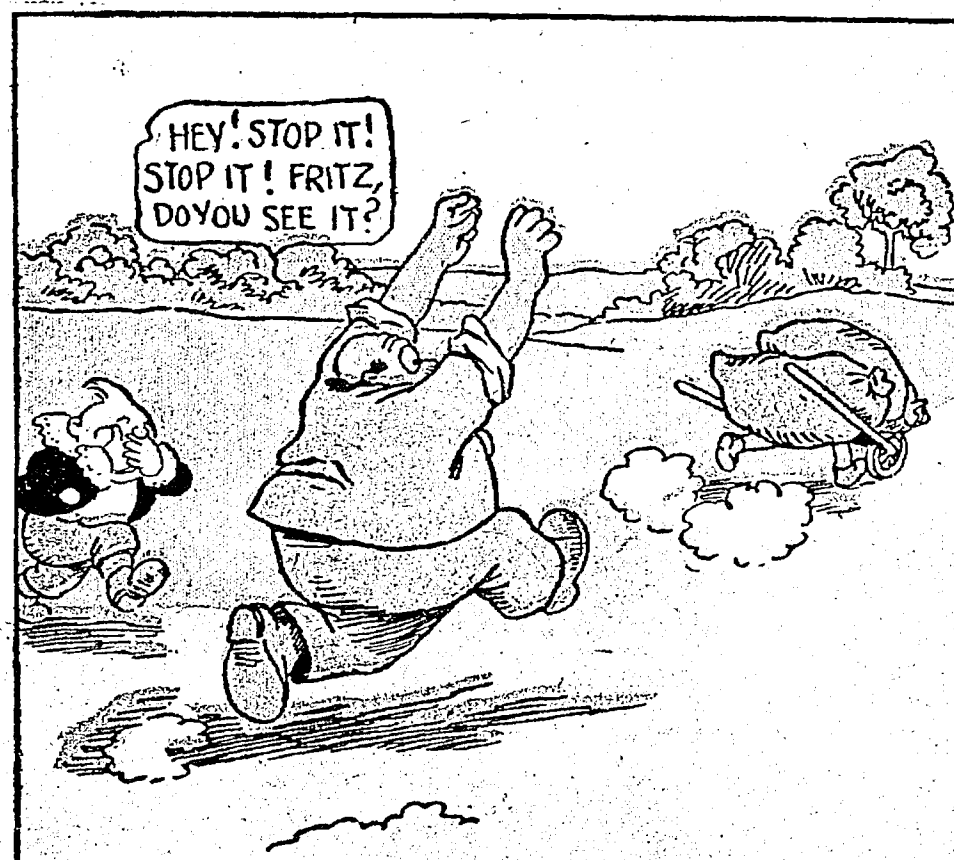

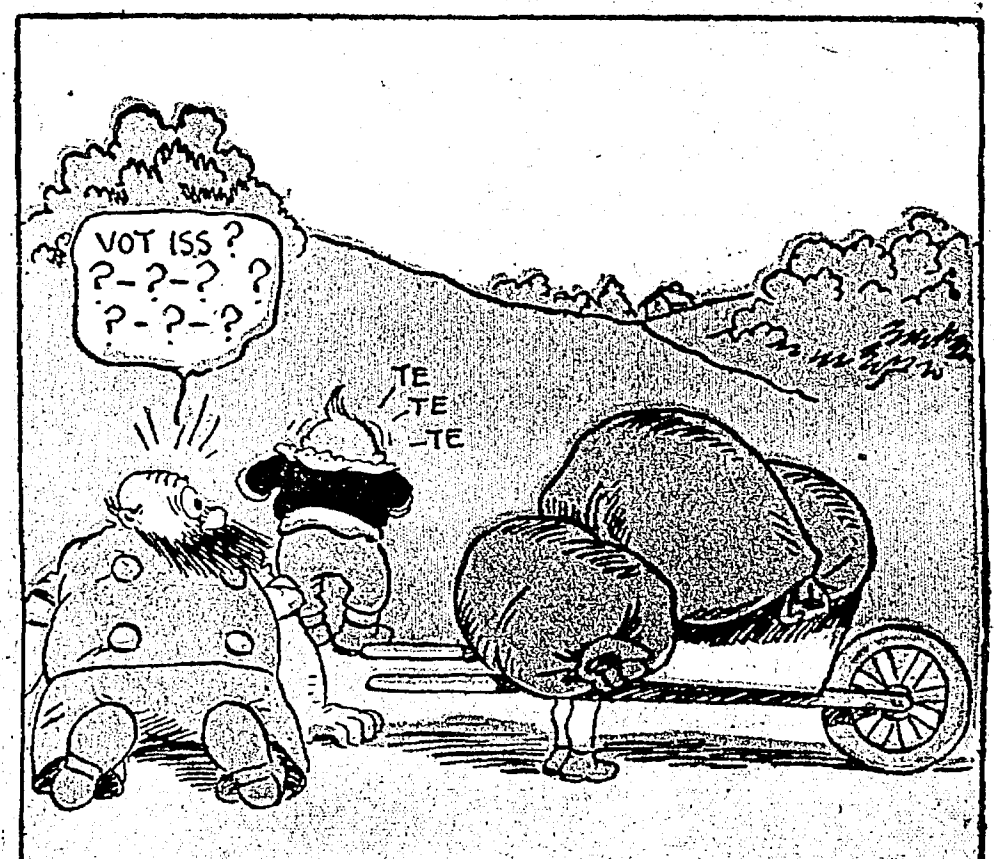

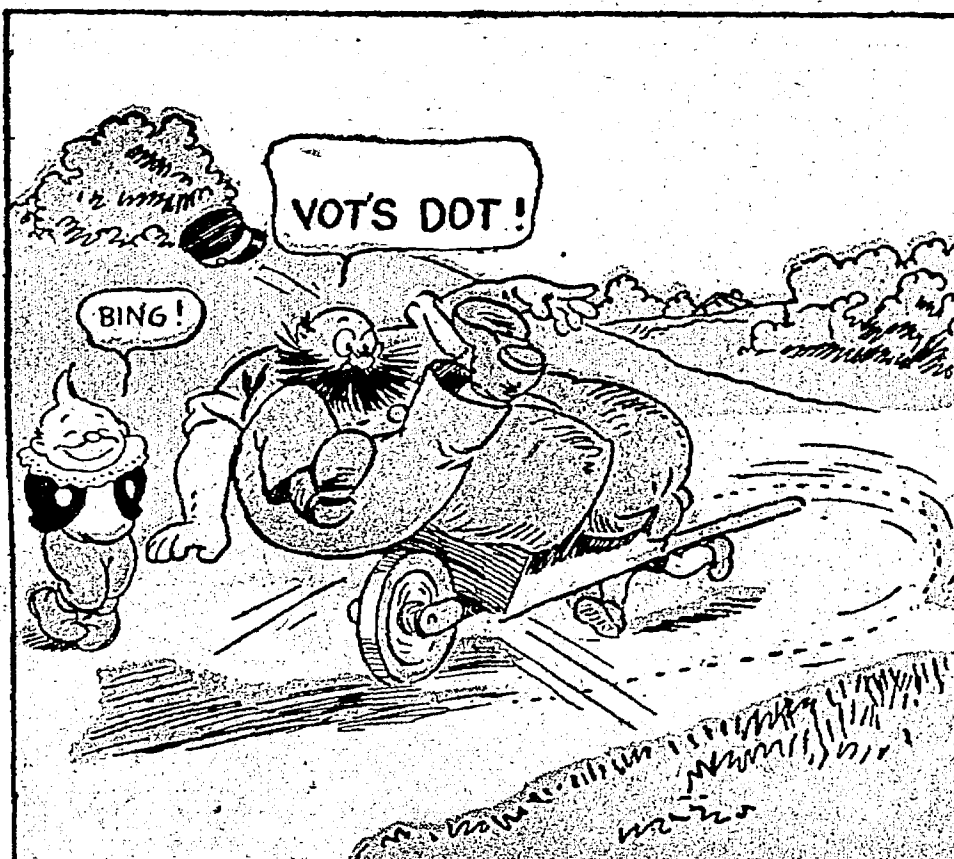

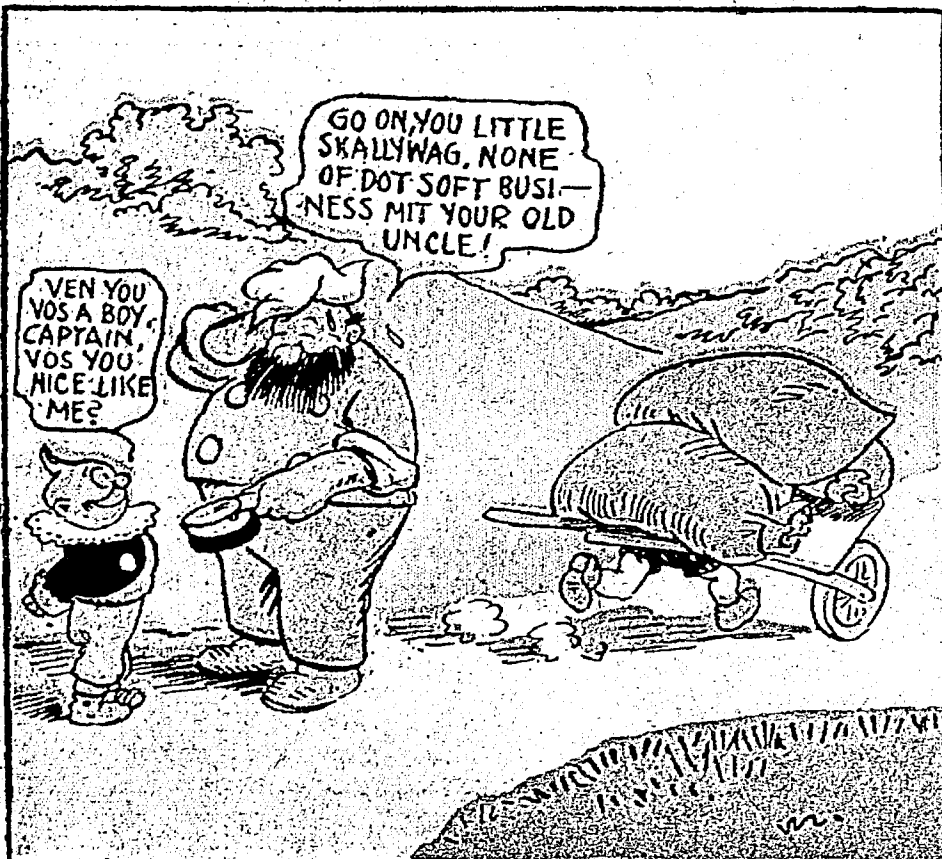

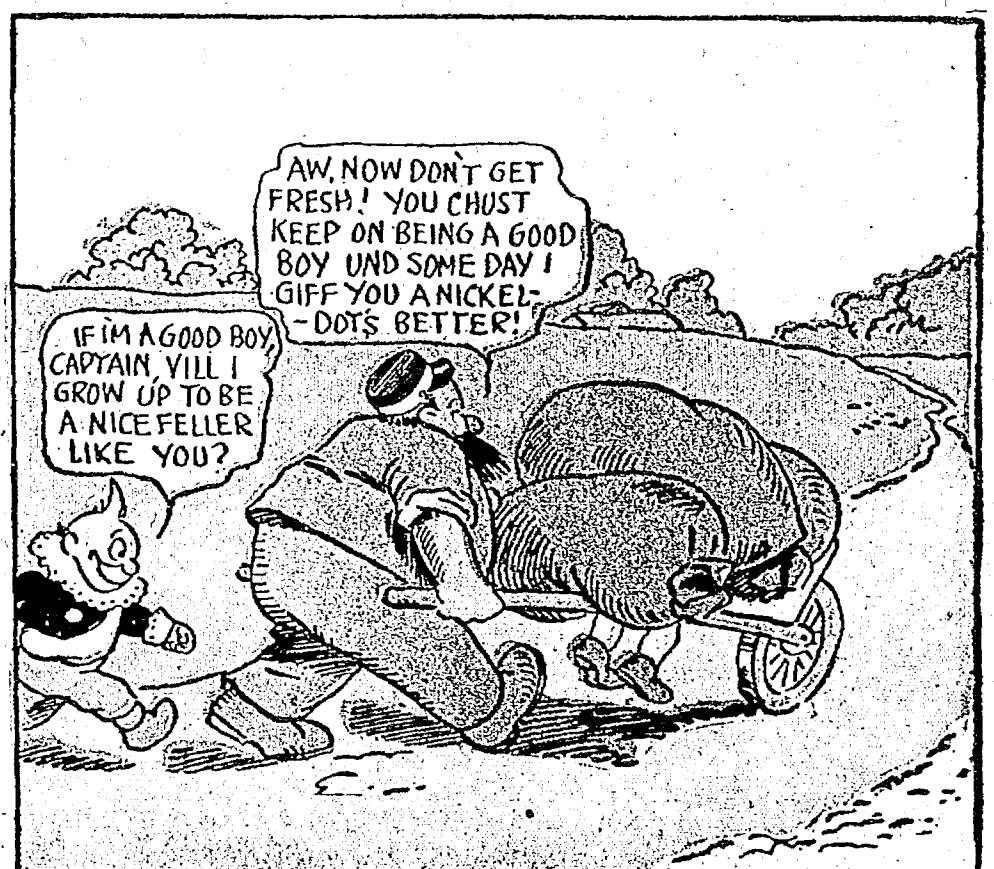

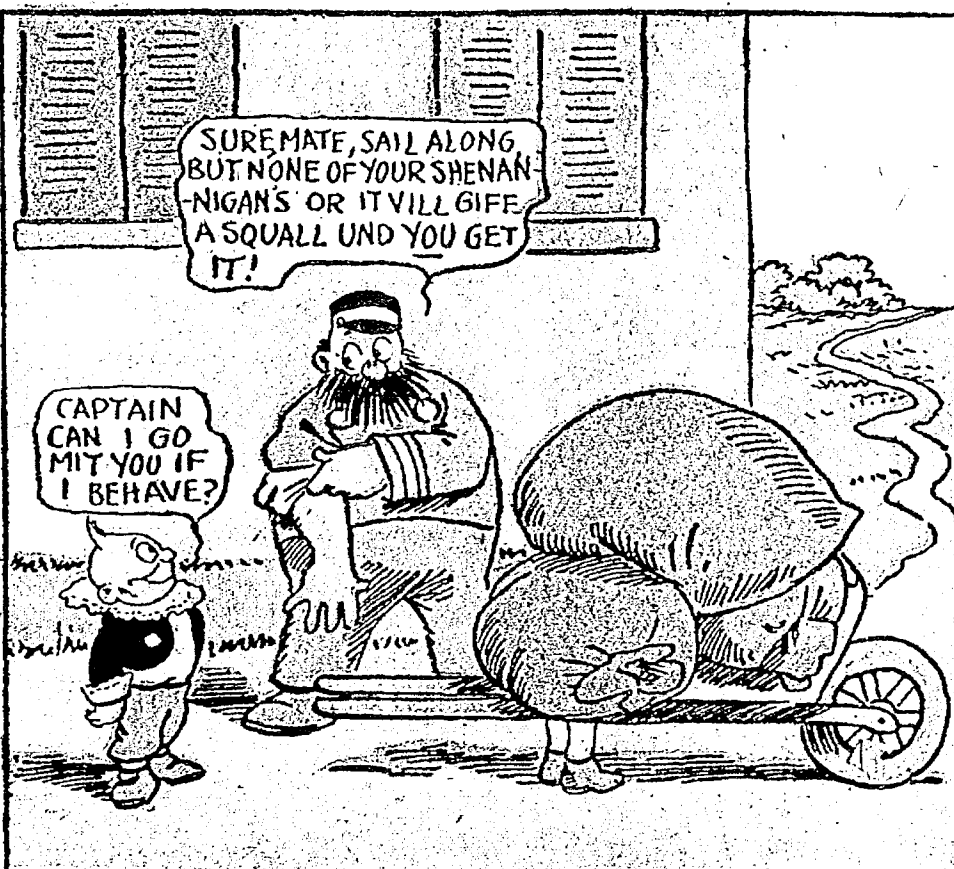

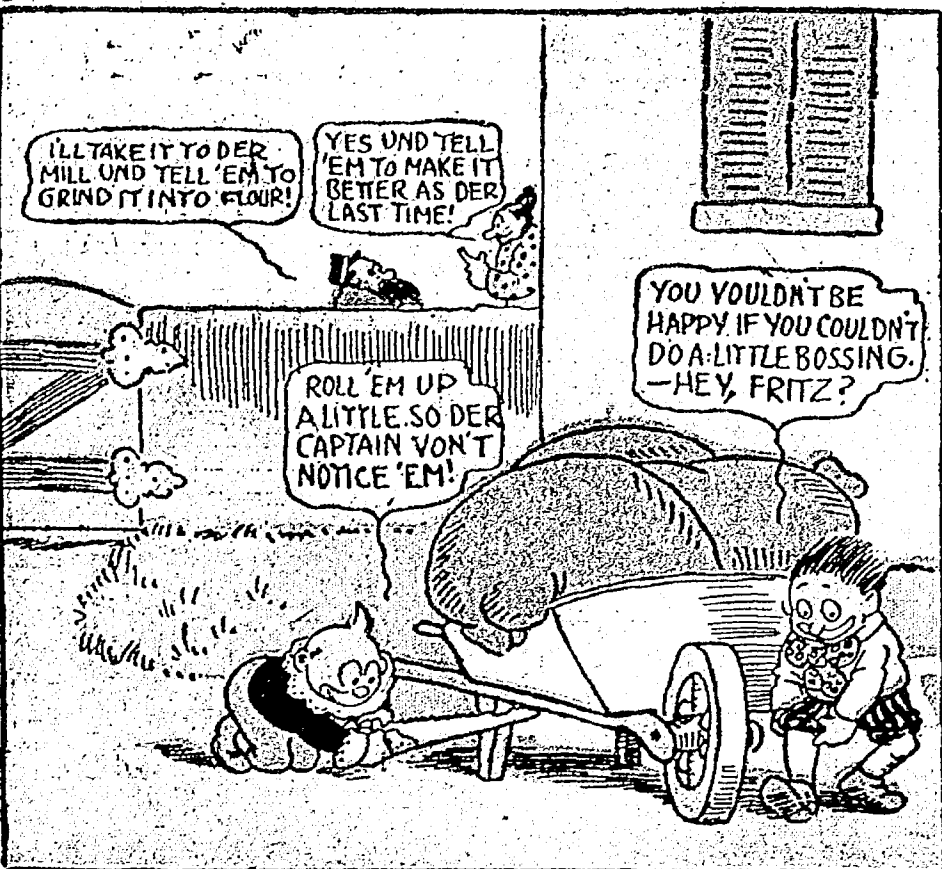

Maybe you think there's been some celebration, but just you wait till the boys come home.

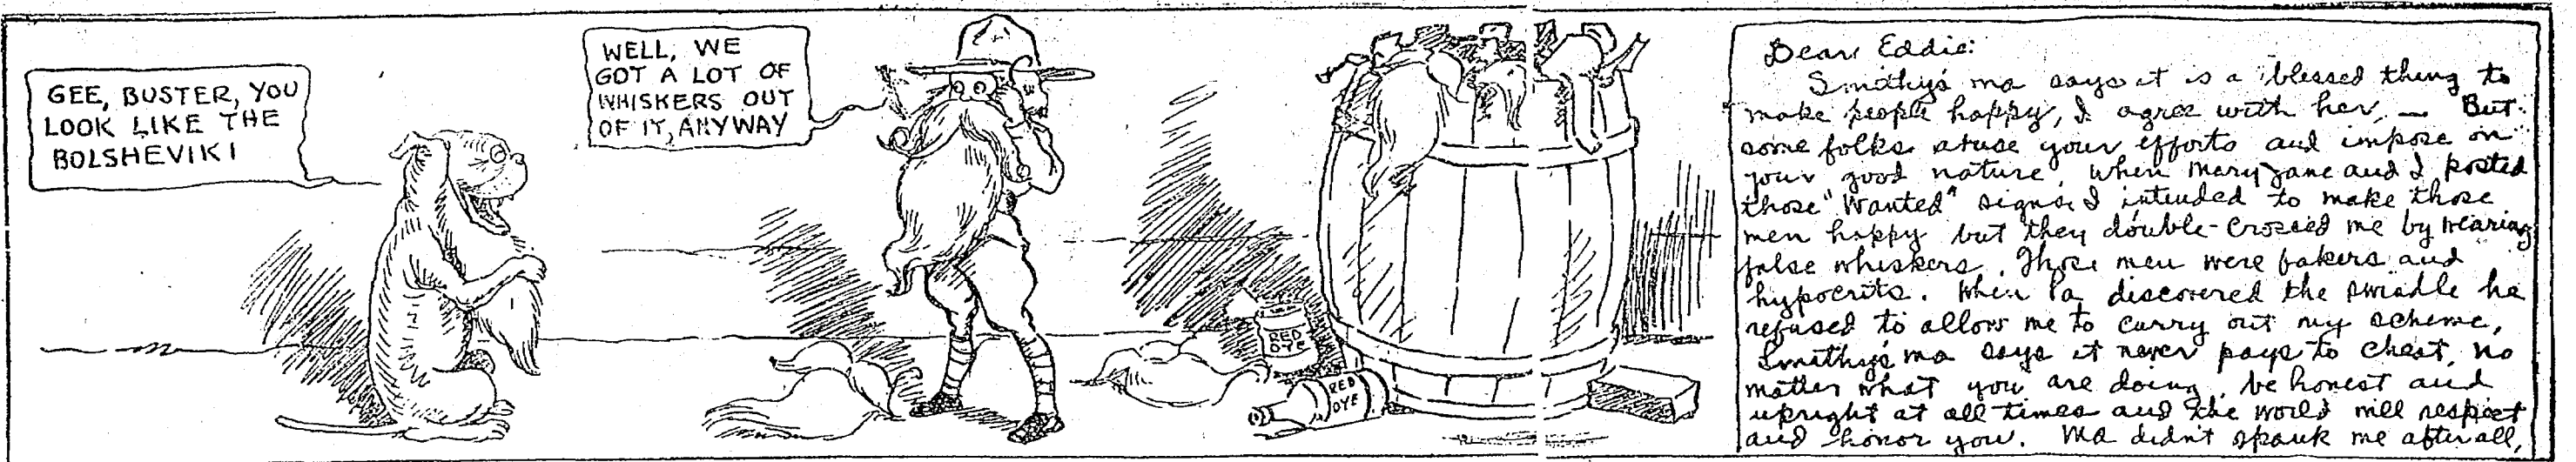

Sunday, December 8, 1918

THE KATZIES

Der Wheelbarrow Vass
Loaded with Surprises!

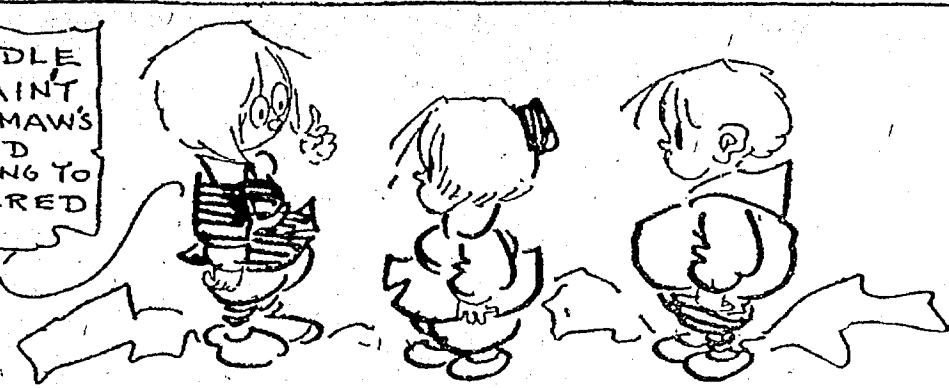

His Posters Bring Unexpected Results

A PADDLE WICH AINT IN YER MAWS HAND IS NOTHING TO BE SCARED AT

Say, Pop!

Dop's Plan Works Perfectly
by C.M. PAYNE

POP, POP, YA KNOW, OLD TIMER'S EAR?

SURE! I KNOW THEM BOTH

WHICH EAR ARE YOU SPEAKING OF?

OH-H-H, I FORGET

ALWAYS TRY TO BE EXPLICIT

BEFORE DISCUSSING THE SUBJECT FARTHER GO BACK AND FIND OUT WHICH EAR YOU ARE TALKING ABOUT

YESSIR

HM-M-M!

IT'S HIS LEFT EAR, POP

VERY WELL. NOW YOU MAY STATE THE MAIN DIFFICULTY REGARDING OLD TIMER'S LEFT EAR

DESPERATE AMBROSE'S LITTLE BROTHER HAS A HOLT OF IT AN' WON'T LET GO!

AWK!

HE HOLDS TIGHT LIKE A BULL DOG, POP

MY BROTHER HE DOESN'T REALLY WANT OLD TIMER'S EAR. HE'S JUST STUBBORN- HE IS

SKLLOOCH! SKRUPPH!

HM-M, THAT REMINDS ME THEY SAY WATER WILL LOOSEN A BULL DOG'S GRIP

GANGWAY

HAVE COURAGE. SUCCOR IS AT HAND

SKYROWTCH BLLOO-EEK

DRIbble DRIbble DRIbble

OH, YOU'RE WELCOME

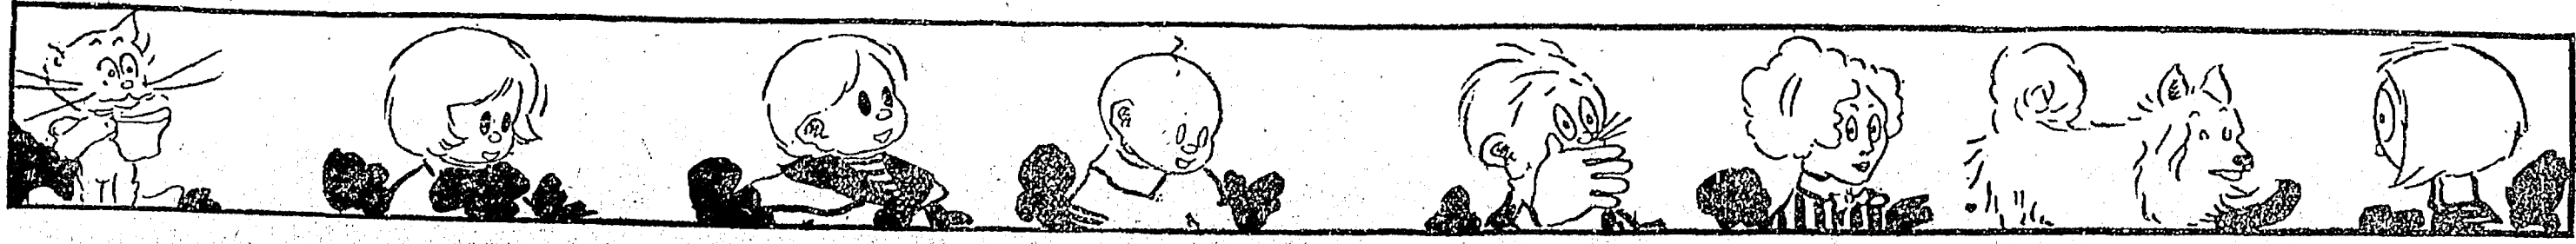

SKLH BKXSS

I THANK YA FER NOT DROWNDIN MY BROTHER, WHICH I THOUGHT YA WUZ GONNA DO

SO THAT WAS ALL THERE WAS TO THAT.

Paper

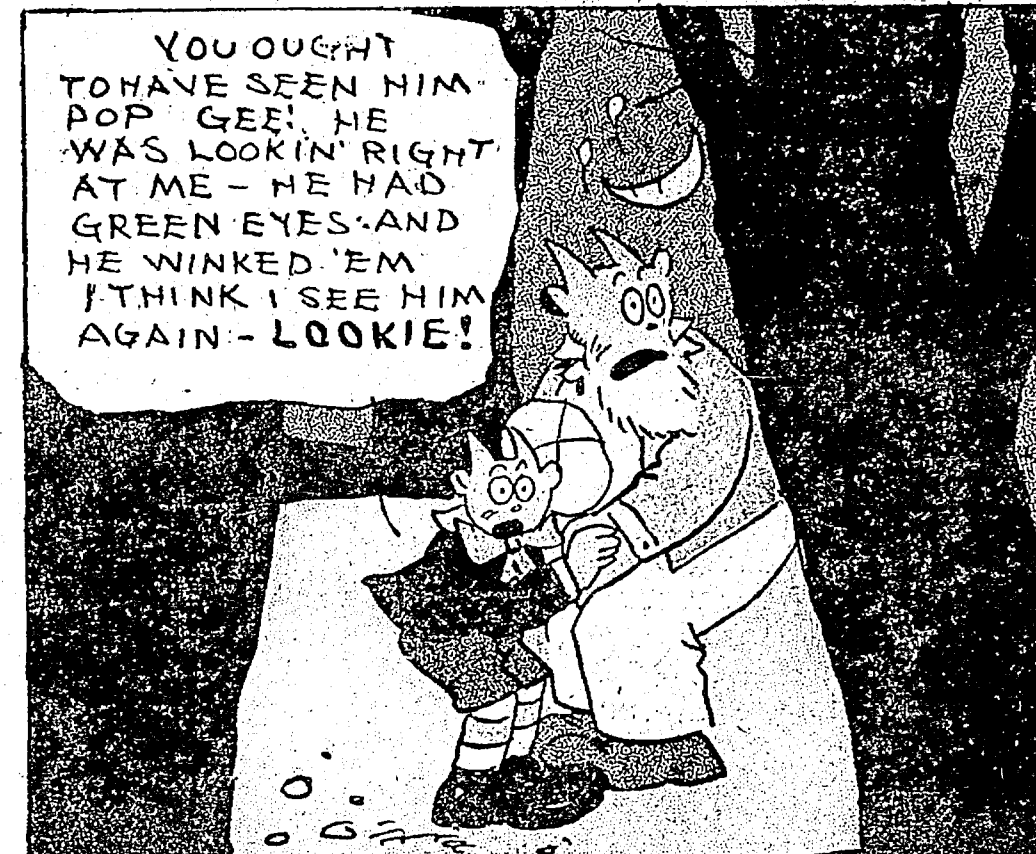

COPYRIGHT, 1918, BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

OLD DOG YAK

SIDNEY SMITH

GERMAN PLOTS REVEALED TO CONGRESS; WILHELM TO FACE TRIAL AT VERSAILLES

TRIBUNAL OF NATIONS TO SUMMON ARCH-ENEMY

Joint Action by Allied Governments Are Looked to Force Surrender of Leaders; Holland Waiting Move

GERMANS NOT EXPECTED TO OPPOSE ACTION

Soviets Expect Discourse of Inner Secrets of the War's Cause by Extradition of Ex-Emperor; Loyalists Strong

LONDON, Dec. 7. "Reynolds" newspaper, which has information that the trial of ex-Kaiser Wilhelm will be held at Versailles.

By Universal Service. OXONIAN, Dec. 7.—The allied governments have announced their joint intention of summoning the late heads of the German government and state before some kind of international tribunal, ex-Premier Asquith stated in a speech at Rochdale today.

It was the first intimation that others besides the ex-Kaiser would be brought to trial by the allies, for the heads of the German government would include also such responsible ministers as the imperial chancellors, from Bethmann-Hollweg to Count von Hertling and possibly Prince Max von Baden, the foreign ministers from Dr. von Jagow to von Hintze, possibly Dr. Solf, and perhaps the army and navy chiefs, notably Grand Admiral von Tirpitz and General von Ludendorff.

Whether the heads of the former kingdom of Prussia, Saxony, and Wurttemberg, being in this connection one with the "German government"—are to be included is open to speculation. Certainly it seems that not only the former emperor, but his whole war-planning camarilla faces trial.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS URGED BY ASQUITH.

Ex-Premier Asquith again came out in his speech for the league of nations, saying it was imperative that it should become a fact before President Wilson returns to America.

Upon a "real understanding between ourselves and the German States," the former prime minister and present opposition leader, planned the greatest hopes for permanent peace and the happiness of mankind.

It is noteworthy that Premier Lloyd George neither in his long declaration of political principles two days ago nor in his address at Rochdale today made any reference to the league of nations project, an omission which is causing considerable political speculation.

Referring to the significance of the visit of President Wilson to Europe, Asquith said that for permanent peace purposes the world was now one. These purposes, he said, would not only have been not achieved, before the president returned, a league of nations had begun to be translated from formula into fact.

"The best security against the dangers which beset the coming conference," he continued, "is the maintenance in its fullest and freest sense of the real understanding between ourselves and the United States. It should be clearly understood that a league of nations does not mean the cessation of industrial and mercantile rivalry."

With regard to the ex-Kaiser's fate, the former premier said: "There is a broad distinction between errors, even lying and wicked errors of policy and deliberate and systematic refractory of rules which rest for their sanction not only on international usage but on the instincts and dictates of humanity."

Germany's chief crimes coming under this head and upon which he advocated the "late heads" of Germany should be tried, were:

1. The devastation of Belgium.
2. The sinking of passenger ships.
3. The "almost incredible" brutality of the maltreatment of our prisoners of war.

"We ought to insist," said the ex-premier, "that justice be done, and that not only the forms, but the spirit of justice—the meeting out to the wrongdoer of his due, no less and not more—should be scrupulously observed."

AMSTERDAM, Dec. 7.—The German government has decided not to

GAS RETALIATION WRONG? SO SAYS NOTED OXONIAN AUDIENCE, GAYLEY, SAY 'NO'

I. B. Stoughton-Holborn, dignified don of Oxford college, literature, art and musical critic to the elite of Britain, strode out of the academic atmosphere yesterday afternoon at a British Day mass meeting at Harmon gymnasium at Berkeley, that it was all wrong for the armies of his country to answer the German poison gas attack with poison gas attacks of their own.

In doing so the Oxonian started two separate and distinct whirlwinds aimed in his particular direction. The first was from his four thousand and auditors who but everything but "boo" the second was of some what later development when Professor Gayley, dean of the University of California and recognized statesman of the United States entered the war as campus leader in unalloyed Americanism, declared that Stoughton-Holborn did not know what he was talking about.

The audience in Harmon Gymnasium was polite to the point of frigidity, crying back at Stoughton-Holborn nothing more ungenerously than "No, No!" "Kill the Germans," and similar cries of advice.

Professor Gayley, too, remembered his academic noblesse oblige and, though emphatic in his rebuke to the gas retaliation, courteously omitted from his statement the name of the British visitor. "There is nothing gained in playing the cat and mouse game," he said, "but the British Empire swept in its wake the way the English retaliate the way the English retaliate."

Cries of "No! No!" rose from the throats of the big audience and interrupted the speaker.

Dr. Holborn continued his address to deplore punishment of the Germans for their crimes. "Let us show them we are superior people," he declared. "Kill the Germans!" was the answer that greeted him in a second interruption. "You cannot understand this attitude," was the speaker's response. "I have been accused of being a pro-German but I cannot see my nation stoop to the treacheries and crimes of Germany without protest."

To Dr. Stoughton-Holborn's criticism Professor Gayley, solicited last evening, gave the following answer: "I believe that the British was thoroughly right, absolutely right, in returning attacks by gas, and so were the Americans. We are human beings and not mere abstractions or airy spirits wandering through space and capable of conducting human efforts when our bodies have been slain. We are souls, contained within bodies, and if we allow the human protagonists of evil to kill us without any attempt to put them out of business, we shall certainly not do much toward pushing the principles and methods of outrage by which the German foe desired to dominate the whole world."

In his address Dr. Stoughton-Holborn accused the Allies of failing to understand and give credit to Great Britain for its achievements. "Some French people understand each other if America will but study the British Empire," he said, "but the Americans are not alike and we don't think alike. We cannot but face the truth, but we can understand each other if America will study the meaning of her aristocracy and learn the things for which we stand."

A third interruption marked the afternoon's meeting, but this in the form of an ovation to Professor Gayley.

(Continued on Page 14, Col. 8)

WALK SEVEN MILES TO HATCH HETCHY PROJECT.

Unable to get the motor back on the track, they took account of where they were and found that they had to "foot it" some seven miles to get to human habitation. Slowly they made their way along the rough track, covering the seven miles to Jackson, where without further mishap, but with tired feet, they arrived last night.

In addition to inspecting the great water project, the party visited the immortal haunts of Bret Harle, the home of "Tennessee's Partner," and the famous haunts of the "Bret Harle days." A camera man took moving pictures of the party in these historic environments.

On the ridge between the Hetch-Hetchy dam and Lake Eleanor, but went over the trail on horseback without trouble. The party then followed the Hetch-Hetchy dam, fed from the waters of Cherry creek, which drains from Lake Eleanor, is earning $300 a day in surplus, current to one of the city's power companies, in addition to supplying needed power for the Hetch-Hetchy construction work.

Construction work is being carried forward, though not with any special rush, owing to war conditions making for scarcity of labor and material. Five years of steady construction under unrestricted conditions will be necessary before Hetch-Hetchy water is a realization for use.

NO SPECIAL PURPOSE IN PRESENT TRIP.

The trip at this time had no special significance, though the formation of the water committee by the city engineers and the city manager, Eastbay cities made the trip timely. City Engineer M. O'Shaughnessy and San Francisco had previously invited the Alameda city manager and the trip and the city manager suggested that the city engineers of Oakland, Berkeley and Richmond be invited to go along. The trip was made entirely on foot, and the city manager collected masses of data and details to be used in making reports to their respective city governments and for later reference in dealing with the east-side water problem.

Miller Chosen Coast Head Of Red Cross

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—John B. Miller of Los Angeles has been appointed Pacific Coast manager of the American Red Cross, as full time volunteer, to succeed Marshall Hale, resigned.

OFFICIALS, IN VALLEY TRIP, NEAR DEATH OF LEAGUERS?

Car Plunges From Track and Hurtles Toward River With Engineers Aboard; a Few Inches Intervene to Disaster

Eastbay Men, on Inspection of Hetch Hetchy Project, Take Thrilling Ride on Brink of Torrent; All Are Saved

Only a few inches remained between them and the brink of the yawning chasm of the Tuolumne river when the railroad motor truck in which City Engineer Perry Brown and a party of Eastbay and San Francisco officials Friday night were traveling to Hetch-Hetchy jumped the track and careened toward the river. It had covered the few inches remaining it would have plunged over the bank and leaped through the air hundreds of feet to the raging waters below, with all the party on board.

The city engineer told the story of the narrow escape from what would have doubtless been certain instant death to all the members of the party on his return last night. He, with City Manager C. E. Hawes of Alameda, City Engineer Clyde Kennedy of Berkeley, and City Engineer O'Shaughnessy and R. Chapman of San Francisco, were traveling to make an inspection of the Hetch-Hetchy project, as guests of San Francisco.

They were traveling along the Tuolumne river in the railway motor truck and going at approximately the speed of a train when, as they passed point where the track ran close to the river near Chinese Camp, the truck suddenly leaped from the rails and lunged toward the bank.

It was a narrow escape, and there was no moon. The lights were disconnected when the motor left the track, and when it stopped they had no idea what their situation was. Cautiously they gathered themselves together and got to the ground, to discover that they had been saved from going over the black precipice almost by a miracle.

WALK SEVEN MILES TO HATCH HETCHY PROJECT.

Unable to get the motor back on the track, they took account of where they were and found that they had to "foot it" some seven miles to get to human habitation. Slowly they made their way along the rough track, covering the seven miles to Jackson, where without further mishap, but with tired feet, they arrived last night.

In addition to inspecting the great water project, the party visited the immortal haunts of Bret Harle, the home of "Tennessee's Partner," and the famous haunts of the "Bret Harle days." A camera man took moving pictures of the party in these historic environments.

On the ridge between the Hetch-Hetchy dam and Lake Eleanor, but went over the trail on horseback without trouble. The party then followed the Hetch-Hetchy dam, fed from the waters of Cherry creek, which drains from Lake Eleanor, is earning $300 a day in surplus, current to one of the city's power companies, in addition to supplying needed power for the Hetch-Hetchy construction work.

Construction work is being carried forward, though not with any special rush, owing to war conditions making for scarcity of labor and material. Five years of steady construction under unrestricted conditions will be necessary before Hetch-Hetchy water is a realization for use.

NO SPECIAL PURPOSE IN PRESENT TRIP.

The trip at this time had no special significance, though the formation of the water committee by the city engineers and the city manager, Eastbay cities made the trip timely. City Engineer M. O'Shaughnessy and San Francisco had previously invited the Alameda city manager and the trip and the city manager suggested that the city engineers of Oakland, Berkeley and Richmond be invited to go along. The trip was made entirely on foot, and the city manager collected masses of data and details to be used in making reports to their respective city governments and for later reference in dealing with the east-side water problem.

Miller Chosen Coast Head Of Red Cross

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—John B. Miller of Los Angeles has been appointed Pacific Coast manager of the American Red Cross, as full time volunteer, to succeed Marshall Hale, resigned.

Week to Be Rainy, Says Weather Bureau

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Weather predictions for the week beginning Monday, issued by the weather bureau today are:

Pacific States, frequent rains during the week over north portion and generally fair weather for Monday over south portion. Nearly normal temperatures.

AMERICAN ANSWER PROMPT "WE'LL SEND YOU THE MEN" LLOYD GEORGE TELLS OF IT

By Universal Service. LEBEDS, England, Dec. 7.—"Send your ships across and we will send the 120,000 men per month."

President Wilson sent this cable to Premier Lloyd George on March 21, 1918, in response to an urgent "S. O. S." message from the British premier laying bare the terrible critical situation of the allied armies. At dawn that day the Germans had launched their super drive to London. It was Lloyd George himself who in a speech today disclosed for the first time this exchange of cablegrams with President Wilson.

"It was an inspiring narrative—this recital of the inside history of the gravest crisis for the allied cause in the whole war—inspiring to Americans who heard it for it was new proof to them from the lips of Britain's first statesman, of the smashing decisive part America's troops played in the great victory of the allied armies. At dawn that day the Germans had launched their super drive to London. It was Lloyd George himself who in a speech today disclosed for the first time this exchange of cablegrams with President Wilson.

"The speech on the whole, was indeed, an eloquent tribute to the British nation. I shall never forget," said the premier, "that morning (March 21) when I sent a cable to President Wilson, telling what the facts were and how it was essential that we should get American help at the speediest possible rate, inviting him to send 120,000 infantry and machine gunners per month to Europe."

"Then I invited Sir Joseph McKay, the shipping controller, to Downing street and said to him: 'Send all the ships you can. They were all engaged in essential trades because we were cut down right to the bone.'

"The investigation is to be conducted by a special committee of seven members of the House empowered to 'sit anywhere' or to hold hearings in Washington or any other city, or part of the country. Frear declared the league had 'arranged to have all the loyalty of any American community.' He charged that it openly advocated the maintenance of an American standing army of 1,000,000, of compulsory military service, and of the American navy being the largest in the world."

MOTIVE CONCEALED IN CLOAK OF PATRIOTISM.

He and Representative McCulloch asserted that its real motive, concealed beneath a cloak of patriotism, should be subjected to the light of a Congressional investigation. The political activities of the National Security League caused charges that it was financed by corporations and profiteers.

Frear testified before the committee that the league had admitted having handled $1,200,000 in waging a country-wide campaign against the re-election of members of both the Senate and House whom, he declared, he had falsely charged with disloyalty.

McCulloch read into the record a letter he testified he had received from Charles D. Orth, chairman of the congressional committee of the National Security League, which he declared contained a "veiled threat" against him as a member of Congress.

The letter bore the following names as those of the officers of the league: Elihu Root, honorary president; Alton B. Parker, honorary vice-president; Charles E. Lytle, executive secretary. It gave the headquarters of the league as 19 West Forty-fourth street, New York.

SENATOR REVEALS ATTACK UPON HIM.

Representative Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, elected United States Senator at November election, read some correspondence he obtained to 100 and her recovery, is forecasted by Dr. George E. Bright, president of the Board of Health, who has been in constant attendance since early this morning.

According to the mayor, Mrs. Rolph contracted the disease doing the Red Cross work in the Misol district during the last epidemic, the long hours and mental strain undermining her health and strength until she finally became a victim of the epidemic herself.

One hundred, and four new cases of influenza, reported yesterday moved the health authorities to appeal to Mayor James Rolph to issue a proclamation asking the people to resume at once the wearing of the flu masks.

A proclamation was forthwith issued from the mayor's office, at about 2 o'clock this afternoon, and immediately thereafter masks began to appear on the streets.

Both the mayor and William C. Haasler, city health officer, press assurance that there is no occasion for alarm and that the measure is only for preventive reasons.

The flare-up in new cases today would probably not be repeated tomorrow, it is thought, but it is deemed the part of wisdom to require the wearing of masks, to prevent the possibility of the epidemic gaining headway.

It was announced that at least for the present there will be no regular meetings of the city board of health, of theaters or any of the other drastic measures that were in effect up to the celebration of the victory over the epidemic on November 21.

Oakland health officials last night stated that at present there is no need of ordering the city to mask against the "flu," but if the order is found necessary it will be as a preventative measure only. The fact that thousands of persons come here from San Francisco and other California cities where there has been a "flare-up" of the disease was pointed to as the only danger to Oakland.

U. S. BARES HUNAGENT'S TELLTALE DOCUMENTS

Plot to Purchase News Association Which Did Not Mature Is Divulged in Latest Series of Exposures to U. S.

BIELASKI TO STAY THROUGH HEARING

Influential Men's Cooperation Is Said to Have Been Secured; Bernstorff Papers Are in State Dept. Files

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—The State Department late today made public the complete texts of all the Bernstorff documents read into the record by a Bureau of Investigation of the department of Justice. These, with a mass of other evidence disclosing German intrigues before and after the United States went to war, are in the department's files.

The resignation of Bielaski will not affect the vigorous prosecution of investigations of the activities of German agents during the war, it was announced today by Attorney General Gregory. It was further announced that Bielaski will continue in his present position until all these investigations are completed. There was no indication today of a change in the department's policy.

Before the Senate committee to day Bielaski read into the record a memorandum taken from the files of the German embassy, which showed that Dr. H. E. Albert had negotiated for the control of the American Press Association. The memorandum was in the form of a contract between the German embassy and the association which placed its whole organization at the disposal of Dr. H. E. Albert in order to spread pro-German news or to suppress anti-German news, to make the German propaganda in any other way compatible with its organization.

This arrangement, to be valid from July 5 until October 31, 1915, the second section of the agreement read: "Within this time Mr. Albert has to declare whether he will make use of the option or not, by paying the amount of $900,000."

Bielaski introduced a letter from P. Reisz, the German consul at Chicago, to the German embassy at Washington dealing with the organization of the embargo conference in which he said "very confidentially" that he had secured the cooperation of Wright A. Ruggles, president of Detroit and one in Chicago. Bielaski believed these men were Carl E. Schmidt, a wealthy tanner of Detroit, and a Mr. Jacobson of Chicago.

PLAN TO HOLD UP REISWITZ.

Reiszwitz said he was sending to Washington a man named Von Alvensleben, who had a plan by which Germany, through the expenditure of $50,000, could secure the control of the Wright A. Ruggles patent and through this could hold up work at the Dayton factory on airplanes for shipment abroad.

The letter also said: "For the purpose of inner organization, to which we attribute particular importance, we have assured ourselves of the cooperation of the local Democratic boss, Roger C. Sullivan. Sullivan was formerly leader of the Wilson campaign and is a deadly enemy of Wilson, as the latter did not keep his word to make him Secretary."

Bielaski discussed the activities of Theodore Lowe, who, he said, published in Washington a paper called the "National Review." Bernstorff urged that "his esteemed friend" do something to prevent the paper dying after Bernstorff left this country. He read other letters from Lowe to Dr. Albert, German financial agent in the United States, for Louis Garthe, Washington correspondent of the Baltimore American, to meet the "list of important persons" that German propaganda in

DIOLAPERS PAPER "NATIONAL REVIEW."

"I know that paper was thoroughly loyal," said Senator Nelson. The committee today invited Prof. A. Russell Hart of Harvard to testify Thursday. Hart was one of those named in the "list of important persons" that German propaganda in

(Continued on Page 14, Col. 4)

SIXTEEN ARE KILLED IN BERLIN RIOTS

COPENHAGEN, Dec. 7.—There was a lively exchange of shots resulting in the killing of sixteen persons and the wounding of fifteen others when soldiers, parading in Berlin as a demonstration against the council of the Soldiers' and Workmen, refused to disperse, according to reports from Berlin.

An official note concerning the food reserves issued in Berlin says that under the most favorable circumstances there will only be enough breadstuffs for February 7 for a daily ration of eight grammes, which is one-third the present ration.

The note says that the death rate continues to increase in Berlin. It says that in October, 1915, 1097 women died in Berlin, while in October, 1918, the number of women who died was more than 3000.

LONDON, Dec. 7.—Fighting has broken out again in the streets of Berlin following the arrest of members of the executive committee of the Berlin Soviet. Shots were exchanged outside the Reichstag building, presumably between soldiers returning from the front and members of the Berlin Soviet, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen.

Troops have occupied the University building in Berlin.

A serious situation has been precipitated by the arrest of the soviet executive committee. The Spartacus group is greatly excited, according to advices reaching Copenhagen from the German capital. Announcement was made in Berlin that the government did not order the arrests and promises were made that the men taken into custody would be released.

Newspapers in the German capital say that soldiers on leave and deserters were holding a mass meeting to protest at now being represented on the soldiers' council when they

9,000,000 LBS. CANDY TO GO TO U. S. BOYS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Nine million pounds of candy for the army has just been ordered by the War Department, and it was announced today that a considerable part of it would be rushed overseas in time to insure a plentiful supply for Christmas. Other special purchases for the Expeditionary Force include 565,000 gallons of pickles.

heard the announcement that an executive committee of the Berlin Soldiers' and Workmen's Council had been arrested. The meeting organized a demonstration which was broken up by soldiers with machine guns.

BERLIN, Dec. 7.—In the elections held Thursday to fill two vacancies in the Soldiers' and Workmen's executive council, the left wing of the Social Democrats, or the Independent Socialists, gained both seats. The council, which has 23 members, is ostensibly the highest revolutionary tribunal.

By winning the two vacant seats, the independents secured a working majority in the council. The soldier element attributed its defeat to the inability of Herr Melkenbaur, majority Socialist and one of the two chairmen of the executive council, to cope with the other chairman, Richard Mueller, representative of the workmen.

AMSTERDAM, Dec. 7.—Baron Rosen, German minister to The Hague, is to succeed Dr. Solt as foreign minister of the German government, according to Die Pripel.

Reports have been current for several days that Dr. Solt was to be forced out of the German government. He was former colonial minister of the late imperial government, but became foreign minister shortly after the downfall of the imperial government.

MUNICH, Dec. 7.—Professor Ludo Bretano of Munich University, widely known as an economist, has been appointed "people's commissary for trade and industry" in the new Bavarian state. He will not enter the cabinet, but will act as a sort of connecting link between the leaders in trade and industry and the government.

BOILERMAKERS TO MEET CAPWELL

Committees representing the Boilermakers' Union, out on strike at the Alameda plant of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Company, and H. C. Capwell, president of the Chamber of Commerce, where officers have been sought to help arrive at an agreement between the men and the shipbuilding corporation, will meet today at 2 o'clock at the Downtown Garage, at which session, it was said by Capwell and the union men late last night, it is expected that a settlement of the dispute over the May award terms may be reached.

"We believe," said Capwell, "that an arrangement will be made that will end the disagreement, and thus work to the benefit of not only the men themselves but the entire city, and that will help all lines of business as a result."

WILHELM MAY BE TRIED IN FRANCE

(Continued From Page 13)

oppose the surrender by Holland of the ex-king and the former crown prince if the allies seemed it preliminary to bringing them to trial. Announcement to this effect was made in Berlin today. As was pointed out in these dispatches two days ago, the German moderates do not wish to burden themselves with the presence in Germany of the former emperor and his eldest son because it would inevitably lead to a violent struggle between those elements still loyal to the Hohenzollerns and those who clamor for their punishment. That there are influential circles still in Germany opposing their trial by foreigners is shown by a statement made by the Lokal Anzeiger to the effect that "Holland has no right to extradite the former Kaiser."

New Revelations of a Wife starts soon in THE TRIBUNE.

BERNSTORFF PLOTS EXPOSED BY U. S.

(Continued From Page 13)

this country regarded as friendly to the German cause.

William Bayard Hale, former representative in Berlin of the New York American, suggested to American Ambassador Bernstorff that a first-class weekly be established for purposes of propaganda, according to evidence submitted by Bielaski.

TEXT OF LETTER SENT TO BERLIN OFFICE

After in code, under date of October 27, 1918, from Bernstorff to the foreign office in Berlin describes the plan and Bernstorff's doubt as to the value of a weekly.

"As to the value of weekly papers in general, there are very different views. Mr. Bayard Hale wishes me to propose to you the founding of a first-class weekly, whereas I, in my report, recommended the starting of a monthly.

"Personally I think it entirely depends upon whether we make a paper for the German people or for the world. In this respect we have a very uncomfortable experience with the 'Times-Mirror'.

only the future can show whether we shall be better back with Mr. Huntington Wright and Mr. T. E. Lowe.

"The fact of an American newspaper being subsidized can never be a good reason for its retention in this country. It always ends with my being held responsible for all articles of any such papers. This is particularly true in the case of the 'Times-Mirror' which is now in an electoral campaign which is turning largely upon foreign policy.

WOULD BE GLAD TO DIRECT 'WORLD' AND 'MIRROR'

"I have, therefore, with much satisfaction to myself, at least, succeeded in getting out of all relations with the 'Fair Play' of Mr. Marcus Smith. I still allow it to be free from the 'Fatherland', which has shown itself to be of little value. It is particularly difficult in a hostile country to find suitable persons to help of this sort and to this, as well as the Lusitania case, we may attribute the shipwreck of German propaganda initiated by Herr Deberg.

The Bernstorff communication to Berlin announcing reorganization of his propaganda after the sinking of the Lusitania, as decided by the department of Justice, was read as follows:

"As you will have learnt from my previous report, we have since the Lusitania case endeavored to wind up all the so-called German propaganda, and especially to get rid of all dubious individuals. I can now say with a good conscience that we are no longer compromised. Some of the old affairs still hang on, but we are more or less settled, although they will cause some future expenditures.

"At the beginning of the war many things were undertaken which we would not have considered if we could have seen that the war would last so long. Nothing can be done for long be kept secret in America.

"Since the Lusitania case we have strictly confined ourselves to such propaganda as can not hurt us if it becomes known. The sole exception is perhaps the peace propaganda, which has cost us the largest amount, but which also has been the most successful.

"Latterly we have been using the embargo association and have entirely reliable private intermediaries. I have also made use of the German University League, founded since the war. This has done its best to take the place of the German association (?) (word not decipherable), which has been of no use during the war on account of its management. The league has published under my collaboration an excellent collection of reports on the war which will be of great service to our cause.

"The support which I have already given the league is entered in the first quarters account from 1916, item No. 208. On the occasion of later installments to them I will refer to this report.

"I ask that this may be sanctioned."

GERMAN-AMERICAN ALLIANCE SUSPECTED

The communication was read by Bielaski. The name of the association whose name could not be deciphered, he told the committee might have been the German-American National Alliance.

Two other communications from Bernstorff to Berlin, in which he stated he desired an arrangement to use funds to influence Congress and which were made public by the State Department some months ago, also were read to the committee.

Referring to F. C. Archibald, Bielaski said he started to Germany and Austria as a representative of the Wheeler Syndicate, bearing letters from Count von Bernstorff and Captain von Bismarck, saying he was "an unscrupulously independent journalist" and that he was going to Germany and Austria to "gather fresh impressions." Archibald's connection with the Wheeler Syndicate ceased, however, according to the witness, when his articles became so pro-German that the papers associated with the syndicate refused to print them. A message from John Wheeler, head of the syndicate, to Archibald, telling him his services were dispensed with, dated October 27, 1918, was read. This message said the contract with Archibald provided that he should write unbiased news from the battle front, whereas he remained in Austria and wrote biased in favor of the Central Powers.

MOTION PICTURE IS MENTIONED IN PROBE

Another writer alleged to have been on the payroll of the German embassy in Washington, as associate editor of Freedom, a foreign language publication at Cleveland, who, Bielaski said, wrote a motion picture scenario called "The Archibalds" and "The Archibalds" scene showing Austrian workers in the United States refusing to make munitions for the allies and the subsequent turning of the arms.

In a report of the conference, written by G. M. Jacobs of Chicago, acting chairman, and made to William Bayard Hale, as a member of the executive committee, it was stated that former Senator Works of California, Senator Smith of Georgia and Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, chairman of the foreign affairs committee, supported the principles of the conference.

Later Bielaski read a communication signed by Senator Hitchcock stating he would do all in his power both as a senator and as editor of the Omaha World-Herald to bring about an embargo on arms.

$250,000,000 YEARLY ADDED R. R. PAYROLL

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Just before the government took over the railroads, executives of the companies found themselves confronted by wage demands approximating $1,000,000,000 a year and in addition to these demands, increases had been conceded during the years of 1916 and 1917 amounting to about $300,000,000 a year.

How the railroad administration met this grave problem was explained for the first time here today by G. H. Sines, chairman of a board of railroad wages, before the labor reconstruction conference of the Academy of Political Science.

General MacAdoo was to appoint a commission to investigate wages and working conditions of the rail employees, of which Sines was the nearly two million in this country.

ERROR CORRECTED

To correct the erroneous impression undoubtedly gained through promiscuous advertising by privately owned railroads in the pre-war period when demands for certain employees were pending that "the railroad men were the aristocrats of the labor world," Sines quoted the following from the report of the investigating commission:

"It has been a somewhat popular impression that railroad men were among the most highly paid workers. But figures gathered from the railroads disposed of this belief. Fifty-one per cent of all employees during December, 1917, received $75 a month or less, and 80 per cent received $100 a month or less."

WAGE BOARD NAMED

Since the commission had based its increase were inadequate or inequitable, it was apparent, Sines stated, that additional increases were immediately necessary and to the end that this might be fairly worked out and in keeping with recommendations contained in the report, the railroad general board of wages, consisting of six members, three railroad officers and three officers of national labor organizations, was named.

The average increase in wages will be less than 50 per cent while the increase in living costs is more than 65 per cent, Sines declared.

Four Local Men in Casualties State's Longest List Is Told

Four Eastbay men are reported in yesterday's casualties, comprising 102 California names. Private Joseph R. Caldera, Hayward; Joseph S. Caldera, R. P. D. 1, Castro Valley, next of kin, is reported missing in action, and Private John D. Martin, next of kin J. P. Martin, Hayward, is seriously wounded.

Private Antonio Cardozo, 2350 Castro street, Richmond, is reported as wounded, degree undetermined, and Alex. Huss, Colonial Hotel, Richmond, previously reported missing, is now on the sick list. Louis W. Churapas, or Churpas, 3230 Eighth street, Oakland, previously reported missing, is back on duty.

"The list of Californians in the casualties is the longest yet reported. It concludes the following:

Previously reported missing, but now listed as wounded in action, degree undetermined: L. A. Blescar, Los Angeles; B. F. Goode, Corona; James Christ, Los Angeles; Attilio Dagnino, 481 Union street, San Francisco; C. B. Post, 122 Third street, San Francisco; R. B. Vreeland, Los Angeles, and F. Ehrmantraut, San Antonio.

KILLED IN ACTION

Lieutenant Clifford C. Harter, Santa Barbara; Sergeant Clinton McLaughlin, Ripon; Sergeant Alfred B. L. Anderson, Fresno; Corporals Louis Pedrilli, Modesto, and Glen H. Robinson, Pescadero; Privates Wesley G. Nabors, Riverside; Antonio Camastro, San Jose; Edward F. Kunzle, Sacramento; Elmer E. Van Lew, Graton; Ferdinand Bell, San Francisco; Herbert A. Nelson, Canaan; Cyrus R. Deiano, Hayward.

WOUNDED, DEGREE UNDETERMINED

Private Leroy O. Brown, San Bernardino.

MISSING IN ACTION

Privates Attie Berett, San Francisco; Meddy M. David, Crows Landing; Thos. W. Neuner, Los Angeles; Robert A. Rogers, Coalinga; Joseph R. Caldera, Hayward.

DIED OF WOUNDS

Sergeant Arthur H. O'Flinger, Los Angeles; Privates Pietro Aglio, Dunsmuir; James J. W. Bance, San Anselmo; Lee Rainbow, Ft. Yuma.

DIED OF ACCIDENT AND OTHER CAUSES

Privates Jesse J. Roberson, Ring Gold, and Chester H. Kelley, Porterville.

WOUNDED SLIGHTLY

Lieutenant Burton R. Pitts, South Pasadena, and Ralph B. Richardson, Long Beach; Musicians Thomas Bushman, Los Angeles; Privates Henry Goodman, San Francisco; Karolin Channessan, Fresno; John F. Shingler, Los Angeles; Joseph S. Behavarnie, Los Angeles; Ernest Mayhew, San Luis Bay; Edward N. Woltz, Alima; John G. Trout, San Bernardino; Henry L. Tuter, Sesson; Peter Epton, Placentia; Julius Lutge, San Francisco; Alonzo B. Cox, San Jose; Harold C. Dunham, Water, Marin.

OXFORD SAVANT BLAMES ENGLAND

(Continued from Page 13)

ley himself. In behalf of Queen Mary's Needlework Guild, T. Arthur Rickard presented Dean Gayley with a large laurel wreath twined with a British flag in recognition of his services for the cause of democracy.

Cheers lasting five minutes greeted Professor Gayley while the audience joined in singing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" in tribute to the well-known scholar.

Despite the rain, 4000 persons crowded in Harmon Gymnasium to do honor to Great Britain. President Benjamin Ide Wheeler presided, while as speakers were Mayor Samuel C. Irving, F. H. Dam, representing the Red Cross as a four-minute speaker; Dr. Ian E. Stoughton-Holborn and Professor Gayley.

Voicing the gratitude of Great Britain for America's tribute to her, A. Carnegie Ross, British consul-general at San Francisco, read a telegram from Arthur Balfour sending the greetings of the British government to the people of the United States and thanking them for their mark of esteem and affection in designating today as Britain Day.

Patriotic music consisting of the following program supplemented the addresses: "God Save the King," Mrs. T. Arthur Rickard and audience; "Rule Britannia," Miss Amy Holman; "Freedom for All Forever," Miss Caroline Little; "La Marseillaise," Mrs. Rickard; "The Star Spangled Banner," Mrs. Orrin Kip McMurray; "America," the audience.

Will Cancel Contracts for 50,000 Air Motors

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Senate military affairs committee men were informed today that the War Department plans to cancel existing contracts for 50,000 airplane motors. Contracts had been let, officials told the committee, for 91,000 motors, and of these 21,000 had been delivered. It was stated that some ten thousand motors now under construction would be constructed and stored.

ENLISTED MEN

Deaths	1751
Wounded	2490
In hands of enemy	75
Missing	282
Total enlisted	4598

533 14th St. L.M. Friedman Co. 1318 Clay St.

FOR STOUT WOMEN

A Reduction Sale of

Stout Suits and Stout Coats ON CREDIT

36 Stout Suits

SIZES— 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 51.

MATERIALS—Serges, Tricotines, Oxfords, Poplins.

COLORS— Black, Navy, Gray, Brown.

STYLES— All of this season.

If you have had difficulty in finding a style suitable for your figure and desire a suit along youthful lines you will find it among our becoming stout suits now reduced in price and purchasable at Friedman's on credit.

Some of the Stout Suit Reductions

A POPLIN—	Size 45, formerly	$32.50	NOW	$22.50
A SERGE—	Size 51, " "	$41.50	" "	$29.25
A TRICOTINE—	Size 47, " "	$50.00	" "	$33.50
AN OXFORD—	Size 42, formerly	$75.00	NOW	$50.00

24 Stout Coats

SIZES— 42 to 48 inclusive.

MATERIALS—Velours, Kerseys, Broadcloths.

COLORS— Black, Oxford, Gray.

STYLES— All of this season.

If you have experienced the same difficulties in securing a suitable stout Coat as other stout women have, you will be pleased with our belted, semi-fitted and tailored stout coats. The poise and grace of youth is evident in the flattering lines that our stout models all reflect.

Some of the Stout Coat Reductions

A VELOUR—	Size 43, formerly	$39.00	NOW	$25.00
A KERSEY—	Size 47, " "	$41.50	" "	$27.50
AN OXFORD—	Size 46, formerly	$67.50	NOW	$42.50

TERMS

A deposit when purchasing and the balance in convenient payments adjusted to suit your income or pay check. During the Xmas month we recognize the many demands made upon your purse and will arrange the deposit and terms accordingly.

Out-of-Town Folks, Have You Tried Shopping by Mail?

Write for Our Illustrated Christmas Folder.

Livingston Bros.

GRANT AVENUE, SAN FRANCISCO

Gift Purchases

Will be held for Christmas delivery if requested, in which case charge will be made on January bill — payable after Feb. 1st.

Two Holiday Silk Petticoat Specials!

All Jersey silk petticoats—a new line of extra fine quality in novelty styles and splendid new colorings: tan, peacock, navy, rose, turquoise, grey, emerald, purple and American beauty

$4.95

All Jersey Petticoats in the new block design in two color effects—also a model with tucked flounce edged with silk fringe—all good shades. These shirts will make ideal Christmas gifts

$5.95

SHOP EARLY

Gift Suggestions

Negligees

A whole sample line just in time for a Holiday Special

In this lot are lovely models in crepe de chine, satin and chiffon—laces and ribbons in pretty French effects predominate as trimmings.

$6.95 $10.95 $12.50 and up

For Monday

Huge reductions made on

Suits

950 Suits to sell at ridiculously low prices

Representing the very best of the season's suit styles—in point of fashion, fabric and tailoring—not to mention the richness of the fur used on many models! All sizes included for Women and Misses.

Just Five Big Price Groups!

$19.50 for Suits sold to	$35.00
$23.50 for Suits sold to	$42.50
$29.50 for Suits sold to	$49.50
$39.50 for Suits sold to	$60.00
$49.50 for Suits sold to	$75.00

Gift Suggestions

Handkerchiefs

For men, women and children

Never before have the assortments or the styles been daintier.

At Popular Prices

Extra Special!

95 Beautiful Tricotee Dresses

Many reduced from $65.00! There are fringed, embroidered and plain effects to choose from.

$34.50

A Rare Holiday Buying Opportunity!

Sample Line of Pure Silk Sweaters

One of our luckiest purchases this season brought us these beautiful sweaters at a big price concession. They are manufacturers' samples—in every wanted shade and style—khaki, pink, navy, black and white combinations. There are models with sashes, with fitted bells or loose belts, and models with tuxedo as well as sailor collars! Every model is a beauty and well worth your attention.

$34.75 for regular $65.00 values

On Our Fourth Floor

A Big Sale of Over 3000 Dresses

Models for Women, Misses and Juniors

Our busy dress department has been doing a record-breaking business this last week, but we still have many hundreds to sell, for never before have we carried such tremendously heavy stocks.

For Monday we have made greater reductions than ever on hundreds of models which represent the very best of the season's styles.

Silk Dresses of Tricotee, Georgette, Satin, Crepe de Meteor, etc.

$19.75 for vls. to	$35.00
$24.75 for vls. to	$45.00
$34.75 for vls. to	$65.00
$49.75 for vls. to	$75.00
$59.50 for vls. to	$95.00

Dresses of Serge, Velvet, Jersey, Tricotee, etc.

$16.75 for vls. to	$29.75
$21.50 for vls. to	$40.00
$24.50 for vls. to	$49.00
$29.50 for vls. to	$55.00
$44.75 for vls. to	$69.50

SILENCE WILL BE POLICY OF STATE I.W.W.

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 7.—"Silent defense" is the program of the trial committee which will represent all but one of the forty-seven defendants in the Industrial Workers of the World conspiracy cases, who will be brought to trial here Monday in the United States district court, according to Robert Duncan, special attorney for the Department of Justice, who will prosecute the case for the government.

Duncan said today he had received information from among the defendants and through other sources that it was the plan of the defendants and their committee to treat the entire proceedings with "silent contempt" and to take no part in the trial.

The only woman defendant, Miss Theodora Pollok of Oakland, will be represented by Nathan C. Coghlan, attorney of San Francisco. It was announced that the other defendants announced at their arraignment October 8 last, when they entered a plea of not guilty, that they had dismissed their attorneys and would conduct their own trial.

One defendant, Julius Wolfberg of San Francisco, entered a plea of guilty October 4 last, but he has not been sentenced.

The defendants are charged with a conspiracy to obstruct the war

Tribune Annual to Be Issued Soon Edition Is Unusually Attractive

The Annual Edition of the Oakland TRIBUNE will be issued as usual in the month of January. Despite the war and the changes necessitated by rapidly shifting world conditions, the TRIBUNE Annual will make its appearance as usual, but better and more attractive than ever. The TRIBUNE Annual is a recognized Eastbay institution, made each by a dozen years of regular publication. It is the only publication issued in the Eastbay district that attempts to completely show the resources and the attractions of this section, and it is the only publication that is used or can be used to advantage in the eastern states and abroad. This is the primary object of the Annual, and a circulation abroad and program of the United States Government.

CHICAGO, Dec. 7.—Five notables of the Socialist party will go to trial here Monday before Federal Judge K. M. Landis. The charges, for the most part, are based on mail appearing in Socialist publications and attacking America's right to enter the world war. Obstruction of the draft and of recruiting figure incidentally in the charges.

The men who will face the charges are: Victor L. Berger, former congressman and now congressman-elect from Wisconsin, publisher of the Milwaukee Leader, Socialist daily; Adolph Germer, national executive secretary of the Socialist party; J. Louis Engdahl, editor of various Socialist papers; William F. Kruse, director of the National Young People's Socialist League; Irwin St. John Tucker, former director of the Socialist party's literature department.

throughout the east is maintained under the supervision of the Chambers of Commerce of the county and of the Board of Supervisors that is productive of infinite good to the whole district.

This circulation has been extended to American consulates in foreign countries, to all kinds of trade institutions and direct results can be shown from this advertising of the section in places where it would do the most good.

New plans are being prepared for the Annual of 1919 that will make it the finest publication ever issued by any newspaper in this territory. Expense will not be spared, and every effort will be made to issue a publication that will be a credit to the East Bay district and to the Oakland TRIBUNE.

LIQUOR WAGON LATEST; INNER TUBES BOOZY

OREGON CITY, Ore., Dec. 7.—Four hundred quarts of whisky were seized in an automobile here today and Peto Coburn and P. E. Collins of Seattle are under arrest as the result of the prank of a small boy. The boy plunged a knife into one of two extra tires on the rear of the machine. Instead of the hiss of escaping air, red liquor gushed forth in a spooling pavement.

Immediately the officers of the law searched the machine. There was booze in both tubes of the extra tires and booze likewise in every other available quarter. It now rests in the county vaults.

ALLIES ARE TO SEAL DOOM OF HUN SOVIETS

LONDON, Dec. 7.—The allies intend to demand that the German government dissolve all of the soviet councils or go without food from the outside world, according to an Exchange Telegraph despatch received here today. It quotes the National Zeitung of Berlin.

The rumor still persists that the allies will occupy the whole of Germany, the despatch adds, and there is little opposition to the rumored plan because it is believed in Germany that the move would prevent anarchy.

Decumtary evidence of energetic preparation to launch an international revolution affecting the entire world was unearthed at Stockholm, according to the Dagbladet. The revolution was to have the Swedish city as its center. According to the Dagbladet, the gigantic conspiracy was discovered through the examination of a Swedish vessel.

ARMED ADVANCE IN GERMANY CONTINUES

"Yesterday we reached the general line of Rheinhach, Wiltswist, Bergheim and Wevelinghoven," Field Marshal Ludowig announced today. The Belgians have occupied Neurs, on the left bank of the Rhine river, opposite Dusseldorf, it was officially announced this afternoon. The Belgians now hold Gladbach and Hellberg. There have been no untoward incidents in their occupation.

Nine American dreadnaughts and thirty United States destroyers, headed by Admiral Sims, left New York today to meet President Wilson and escort the George Washington to Brest.

Arrangements are being made at Brest by Vice-Admiral Wilson, chief of the French coastal patrol of the American Navy, for the official reception of the President and his party.

RAD WEATHER FAILS TO DELAY PRESIDENT

ON BOARD U. S. S. GEORGE WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (By wireless)—President Wilson's ship today is sailing through a severe rain and rain storm. It is maintaining its fixed speed, however, and is due to pass around the Azores on Sunday. After reaching the Azores the presidential liner will pick up more units of the naval escort.

Wilson slept until a late hour this morning and there were no conferences with his advisers.

PARIS, Dec. 7.—President Poincare, his cabinet and large delegations from the senate and chamber of deputies left Paris for Strasbourg on special trains today to take official possession of Alsace-Lorraine on Sunday and Monday. Elaborate ceremonies are planned.

Colon E. M. House was the first of the American peace conference delegates to take possession of his quarters in the Hotel Crillon, where apartments have been reserved for the delegation. The apartments are extensive ones on the third floor of the building, fronting the Place de la Concorde, with the foreign office, where the sessions of the international conference are held, immediately across the Seine. General Tasker H. Bliss, another of the American delegates, is moving into his quarters from Versailles today.

AMERICANS TO OCCUPY CENTER BRIDGEHEAD

BASEL, Dec. 6.—The British forces which entered Cologne Friday were English Lancasters and armored motor cars.

Three bridgeheads along the Rhine will be occupied by allied forces. The Cologne will be held by the British and Mainz will be occupied by the French. American troops will garrison the bridgehead at Coblenz, between Cologne and Mainz.

ROME, Dec. 7.—Pope Benedict XV has ordered all Catholic bishops to pray for the enlightenment of the statesmen at the peace conference, so that they may conclude a just peace.

Wilson Regrets Resignation of Chas. M. Schwab

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—The resignation of Charles M. Schwab as director-general of the Emergency Fleet Corporation was accepted today by President Wilson in a wireless message from the transport George Washington to the White House.

The following was the message as received by Secretary Tumulty this afternoon to be conveyed to Schwab:

"I accept your resignation only because you wish it and because I feel that I must do so in fairness to you. You have been exceedingly generous in giving your services, and they have been invaluable. Want to thank you very cordially, indeed, for all that you have done. Shall always remember it, as I am sure all your associates in the government will, as a service of unusual value and distinction."

Christmas Trees For Oakland

Eight carloads containing 12,000 carefully selected Oregon trees, all sizes, will be received and distributed by

S. HERMAN

Wholesale Produce Dealer
Corner Second and Franklin
Oakland 5252
EXCLUSIVELY WHOLESALE

Untermeyer Denies He Was Hun Agent

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Samuel Untermeyer, attorney, tonight issued a formal statement, denying that he acted as an agent in a proposition to buy a newspaper for German propaganda purposes, and that he had not even been counsel or been connected in any way with the German embassy. His statement was with reference to testimony introduced by A. Bruce Blaisdell at the Senate probe into propaganda. Untermeyer declared he had contributed $3,000,000 to Liberty loans and that his son was in the army in France. "I never in this transaction (purchase of a newspaper) or at any other time acted in any capacity, either as counsel agent or otherwise for the German government or the German embassy, or for any of its members, or in connection with it."

with German propaganda, or anything else in any form," the statement said in part.

He declared that before the United States entered the war he repeatedly refused to act as counsel or in any capacity whatever for the German embassy or anybody connected with it.

SEND FOR
Our Illustrated List of Christmas Gifts
—FREE

Roos Bros

"THE GIFT CENTER"

We Make Your Christmas Shopping Very Easy and Economical

—Vast stocks for essential gifts for Men, Women and Children, systematically arranged to give you prompt service at our OAK-LAND Store. Here is a partial list for you:

Gifts for Women

YOU CAN ORDER BY NUMBER

BOUDOIR ROBES

X143-13—BATH ROBES in warm, comfortable blanketrobing. In fancy patterns, gray, pink and blue. Sailor collar and large pockets. All sizes. $7.95

X1205—LOUNGING ROBES IN CORDUROY; rose, blue, lavender, coral, pink, Copen. Sailor collar, large patch pockets, corduroy belt, and deep flounce at bottom of robe. All sizes. $8.75 and $10.00

A PETTICOAT GIFT

X1203—ALL JERSEY PETTICOATS in the newest model, pictured on your left, with deep pleated ruffle.
Choice of emerald green, gray, rose, tan, purple, white, black and navy blue. A very SPECIAL $5.95 VALUE. All sizes.

HOLIDAY WAISTS

X121—Beautiful holiday waists in extra quality
Georgette—flesh, white and many suit shades—featuring round, "V" neck and square effects;
some with neat pin tucks, others richly embroidered. Choice of any, in all sizes. $5.55

N. B.—We have a magnificent stock of holiday blouses varying in price from $1.45 to $29.50.

DAINTY CAMISOLES

X1282—Special values in flesh-colored satin and white crepe de chine, lace trimmed, hand embroidered and hemstitched. Choice of $1.50 four designs, all sizes.

WOMEN'S SILK HOSE

X107—PHOENIX SILK HOSE, in Havana brown, Russian caif, cloud gray, battleship gray, Arizona silver, mouse, light and dark tan, champagne, black and white. $1.00 Per pair.

X108—McCALLUM'S PURE silk hose in all fashionable colors. Pair $2.00

X109—McCALLUM'S pure silk, in fine Richelieu rib and open block. From $3.00 to $5.00

SCARFS

X114—IN BRUSHED WOOL, with stripes. $2.50
All colors.

X115—IN ANGORA, as pictured; tan with green stripes, tan with blue stripes, purple and gold. $5.00

CHRISTMAS SUGGESTIONS FROM MILLINERY DEPT.

A handsome corsage is of the utmost importance in giving the finishing touch to the evening gown, just as the pretty little boutonniere gives a smart finish to the tulle suit or fur. For your choosing we have violets, roses, lilies, orchids and the ever-popular gardenia. The boutonnieres range in price from 25c to $1.00; corsage bouquets from 75c
to $3.00.

Merchandise Orders

ROOS BROS. merchandise orders make splendid gifts—
GOOD IN SIX CITIES—for any amount you wish.

IMPORTANT — For gifts of Women's Suits,
Coats and Dresses, take advantage of this great sale.

O'Connor-Moffatt & Co

The Christmas Store

Give the Kiddies a Happy Christmas With Santa Claus Tomorrow

Jollier, and fatter than ever—just brimming over with good cheer—anxious to meet and shake hands with the trusting little tots who come to see him.
And all around him the most—Wonderful Toys and Dolls

The Christmas Store of a Million Gifts

The store where your Christmas problems are most satisfactorily solved.
Ask for our GIFT PROBLEM BOOKLET.

Greatest Bargains in Tomorrow's Reduction Sale of Suits, Dresses, Coats.

Still further price reductions make still greater inducements in smart, seasonable garments.

A Suit or a Dress or Coat for Christmas, and savings to make such a gift doubly valuable. No Suit in our entire stock now higher than $48—reductions have been so great.

These Suit Reductions

$19 Good, practical and stylish navy and black serges; also some mixtures and mannish stripes in this lot.

$38 Fur-trimmed silvertone, velour and tailored cloths in the best street shades. Maximum reductions here.

$28 Suits of broadcloth, serge, poplin and mixtures in a variety of most desirable styles. All wonderful bargains at $48 Greatest reductions in this group for, no matter what the former price, no suit is now more than

These Dress Reductions

$18 Georgettes, satins, serges and net dresses reduced to this sale group.

$48 Georgette, charmeuse, satin and serge combinations—here in a variety of effects—offer splendid bargains.

$38 Afternoon dresses of satin, silk and georgette—gorgeous effects—and reduced to $58 These exclusive models, in the richest fabrics for afternoon and fancy wear, now reduced to

Coats Are Reduced to $33.00

Silvertone, marinette and velour in brown, burgundy, green, taupe and Copenhagen.

Post St. near Kearny
Hearny St. Entrance
SAN FRANCISCO

Sale of Women's COATS, SUITS and DRESSES

A Huge Sale Offering for Monday

$21 $29 $41

Sale Prices Represent Reductions From 1/4 to 1/2

For Your Men

WE ARE HEADQUARTERS FOR MEN'S GIFTS

Here is a partial list:

MEN'S HANDKERCHIEFS

X134—CROSS BAR handkerchiefs, colored medallion initials. 25c Each.

X135—IMPORTED French linen, with corded borders. Self stripe with colored borders and colored initials. Also with plain white initials. Your choice of any of these at, each. 50c

X136—WHITE HANDKERCHIEFS with long initials. 50c THREE for

X137—SIX assorted colored border handkerchiefs, with colored initials, in box, FOR. $1.50

X138—THREE KHAKI HANDKERCHIEFS, in box with French primer enclosed. SPECIAL. 75c

FINE SHIRTS

$2.00 $2.50 $3.50

X126—SPECIAL OFFER—Silk-striped and silk-fiber shirts from the best makers, in every striped color combination; all sizes, at, $5.00

"TOM WYE" COATS

X162—Pictured on your left is a new jacket that every man will want. For motoring, house, garden and every-day wear. "The Tom Wye" is made from pure double-combed Australian worsted wool (the only wool that will stand hard wear and keep its elasticity). They are carefully hand tailored to fit the form. The shoulder seams stay in their proper places, the buttonholes will not stretch, and there is no bulging under the arms. This splendid jacket for men comes in sizes 34 to 46, in the following colors: green heather, blue heather and brown heather. PRICE $12.50

MEN'S JEWELRY

X156—SCARF PINS in handsome and effective designs. $1.50 EACH.

X157—NOVELTY LINK SETS. Correct looking styles. $1.50 EACH.

X158—FULL DRESS and TUXEDO studs and links. $3.50 SET.

MEN'S BELTS

X133—GOOD LEATHER BELTS with initial buckles, black or old English style lettering. $1.00

MAIL ORDERS FILLED PROMPTLY

WE PAY PARCEL POST CHARGES

Market at Stockton
SAN FRANCISCO

Washington at 13th
OAKLAND

Shattuck Hotel Corner and at BERKELEY FRESNO

Also at "THE REGENT," Palo Alto, and Menlo Park

EDUCATION BILL VOTED APPROVAL

At a meeting of the education committee of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce yesterday a resolution was adopted endorsing Senate bill No. 4987, known as the national education bill, and recommending that the chamber take favorable action. Superintendent of Schools Hunter was asked to explain the bill to the directors of the Chamber of Commerce.

The pending Senate bill was introduced last October. It provides for the creation of an executive department to be known as the Department of Education, with a secretary in the President's cabinet. It is proposed to appropriate $100,000,000 annually to be expended in the several states on the condition generally that an equal amount is forthcoming from state sources for the purposes of removing illiteracy, Americanization of foreigners, equalizing of educational facilities with special emphasis on rural and village schools, promotion of physical and health education and the improvement of the facilities for the preparation of teachers for the public schools.

Four Great Services Will Cover Peace For Tribune World-Famous Writers Are Engaged to Report Events at Conference of Nations

Not since newspapers have been published has there been such a demand for keen thinking and keen writing by newspapermen as will be occasioned by the peace deliberations that are to be begun soon in Paris.

And not since newspapers have been published have there been assembled on one assignment so many newspapermen of highest attainments as will be assembled to prepare the peace news that will be served to the readers of THE TRIBUNE.

Four great news services that furnish news to THE TRIBUNE have summoned their best men to Paris and the general managers of these news services either will go with their men.

schools, promotion of physical and health education and the improvement of the facilities for the preparation of teachers for the public schools.

PE-RU-NA

Defense against Colds and Grip

All doubts of the curative and defensive merits of Peru-na are removed by the letter written in October, 1918, by Mr. R. F. Suttles, R. D. No. 3, Box 51, Waynesburg, Ky.

Here Is the Letter:

"I have used Peru-na for several years and can heartily recommend it for catarrh of the stomach, or entire system. I always get benefit from it for colds, coughs, colds and grip. It stands out as a doctor bill and makes you feel like a new person."

(Signed) R. F. SUTTLES.

For All Forms of Catarrh

Peru-na is not a new, untried experiment. It has been used in the American family for forty-five years. Its value is unquestioned in coughs, colds, effects of grip or Spanish influenza, or any catarrhal affection of the nose, throat, stomach, bowels or other organs. Insist upon trying Peru-na first.

Sold Everywhere.

or are on the ground now and will direct every phase of the situation that may develop. These services are the Associated Press, the United Press, the International News Service and the Universal Service (Sunday).

STONE TO HEAD LIST.

Heading the Associated Press staff of writers will be Melville E. Stone, general manager and considered the dean of newspapermen of this country. Assisting him will be Elmer Roberts, chief of the Paris bureau; Robert M. Collins, chief of the London bureau; Salvatore Cortesi, chief of the Rome bureau; L. C. Probert, chief of the Washington bureau; S. E. Conger, chief of the former Berlin bureau. These are the news executive heads of the Associated Press branches, who will combine to direct the task of news-gathering, prepared as they are by intimate experience with international affairs.

Accompanying them will be the Associated Press star men—Charles T. Thompson, Edwin L. Hood, Robert Henry, F. E. Grundy, J. A. Brown, George McFall, James P. Howe, Philip M. Powers, Stuart Maroney, S. F. Wader and T. T. Topping.

UNITED PRESS TALENT.

Of those who will represent the United Press, Robert J. Bender, manager of the Washington Bureau, accompanied President Wilson on the trip to Europe. In France he is to be joined by William P. Sitman, manager of the Paris bureau; Edward L. Keen, manager of the London bureau; Lowell P. McLeet, Fred P. Ferguson, John D. Garndt and a number of other famous correspondents.

Keen will be in direct charge of the United Press staff which will report the conference. Roy W. Howard, president of the United Press will have general direction of the arrangements for the service and is returning to France for such other able lieutenants as Henry Wood, manager of the Rome bureau; Arthur E. Mann, Don Chamberlain, Webb Miller, Frank J. Taylor and Ralph Couch.

John Edwin Nevin, manager of the Washington bureau of the International News Service, will head the staff of writers who will cover the peace conference for clients of the International News Service. Nevin sailed on the George Washington with President Wilson's party. He will be with President Wilson every day while the chief executive is abroad. His daily stories will give International News Service clients the very latest and most accurate accounts of the developments as they relate to this country.

NOTED MEN ENGAGED.

Other writers who will be assigned to the peace conference include Newton C. Parke, John McHugh Stuart, Henry G. Wales, Dell M. Edwards and Bert Ford.

Universal Service will cover the peace conference in Paris with the following staff:

James J. Montague, one of the most

400 ENROLLED IN EVENING CLASSES

There are more than 400 students enrolled in the evening classes in the Vocational High School at Twelfth and Market streets. The classes in shipbuilding have a large enrollment and are being provided with better facilities so that they may go into the more difficult problems.

The machine shop, automobile, forgo shop and electrical shop are all fully equipped and are able to handle quite a number more to an advantage. With these various crafts are one of the essential studies, shop arithmetic to enable mechanics to brush off the rough spots.

Women also have an opportunity to help win out against the high cost of living in the study of dressmaking and millinery.

Another course of study for the alien citizen to that of Americanization. Application to the various classes can be made any school day at the office, Twelfth and Market streets.

trenchant and comprehensive newspaper writers in the country. Mr. Montague has covered national political conventions for the past twelve years. He has an intimate personal acquaintance with American public men. He has a broad knowledge of international affairs and has been a close student of the problems confronting the peace conference.

Jay Jerome Williams, White House correspondent of the Universal Service, Mr. Williams has had unusual facilities in getting important and exclusive news of America's part in the war and knows thoroughly the American aims in the peace negotiations.

EXPERT ON FRANCE.

Naboth Hedin, head of the Paris bureau of Universal Service, Mr. Hedin has been a resident of Paris for upwards of twelve years. He knows France thoroughly and is intimately acquainted with most of her foremost leaders.

Robert Welles Ritchie, of the foreign staff of Universal Service, Mr. Ritchie is an American newspaperman of twenty years' experience and has covered international events in Europe, in China, Japan and Mexico. He reported the signing of the Russo-Japanese peace treaty.

E. G. Fitzhannon, manager of the London bureau of the Universal Service, Mr. Fitzhannon is an American newspaperman who also has had long experience in London journalism. He has a large acquaintance among British public men.

The Universal Service is also arranging to obtain the peace conference "lead" of one of the leading London newspapers with a view to furnishing its clients the British and French views of the deliberations.

HOUSE DRESSES APRONS NURSES' UNIFORMS

Announcing Opening of New Store.

2213—Broadway—2215

Next Door to Key Route Inn

DOCTORS AND NURSES

OUTFITTING CO.

Phone Oakland 1902

Continuance of Tax on Profits Is Urged

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—The continuance of a tax on profits, estates and luxuries was urged in a plank adopted today by the reconstruction committee of the Social Democratic League of America, which is completing its revised program for national and world readjustment. The committee also adopted a plank of maximums for inheritances and incomes.

"Second Cleopatra" Divorced by Spouse

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 7.—Archibald White, millionaire and original promoter of the East Ohio Gas company, was granted a divorce by Judge Kennedy today from Mrs. Olive Moore White of New York.

Friends of the family testified that Mrs. White, a former opera singer, spent money like an oppressor and that she lived a second Cleopatra.

Physical Education for Children Urged

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Adoption of a comprehensive nation-wide program of physical education for children and youths, to be aided by government appropriations, was advocated before the national conference on child labor here today in an address by Dr. Willard S. Small, school hygiene specialist of the United States Board of Education.

Wilson's Photo Put in Hall of Fame

URBANA, O., Dec. 7.—President Wilson has been given a place in Urbana's hall of fame. High school students, have banded together and have purchased a large portrait of the President, which has been placed alongside the portraits of Washington and Lincoln in the lobby of the high school building.

Now Revelations of a Wife start soon in THE TRIBUNE.

"The Christmas Store"

—The knowledge that the gift comes from Taft's is pleasing assurance to both giver and receiver. This advertisement is dotted with suggestions of Christmas merchandise, together with their prices, in the reliable Taft quality.

Toys

—Toys, Dolls, Trains, Games and all kinds of Playthings to bring cheer and happiness to children.

—DRESSED DOLLS from $1.00 to $15.00.

—CHARACTER DOLLS from 95¢ to $8.50.

—A full line of Doll Clothes.

—DOLL BUGGIES from $2.00 to $17.50.

—KIDDIE KARS from $1.75 to $3.50.

—ROLLER COASTER, Taft Special, $5.00.

—MECCANO SETS from $1.00 to $20.00.

—ERECTOR SETS from 50¢ to $10.00.

—All sorts of Sporting Goods.

—MECHANICAL TRAINS from $2.25 to $5.50.

—ELECTRICAL TRAINS from $4.00 to $17.50.

—All sorts of Train Equipment.

—Soldier, Indian, Boy Scout, Fireman and Baseball Suits, 95¢ to $6.50.

Silk Hosiery Sale

Greatly Under Prevailing Prices

at $1.55 pr.

—These Silk Stockings are for the most part perfect. The principal reason for being able to offer these goods at $1.55 per pair follows:

—In the course of manufacturing silk hosiery varies in weight with the standard of the mill, some are lighter, others heavier, others sheer—goods which the mill calls "run of the mill" or "irregulars." The silk thread in these stockings is absolutely standard.

—They are all silk in black, white and light colors. Full fashioned with double soles, heels and toes; wide garter top.

—The regular standard production of this class of silk hosiery, made of no better silk than we cannot obtain to sell for less than $2.25.

PUT IN A SUPPLY FOR XMAS.

Xmas Cards

—In the Suit Section, second floor, spacious and commodious quarters that are so desired by Christmas shoppers. There are all kinds of Holiday Cards, Accessories and Novelties offered in splendid selections. Prices 1¢ to $2.50.

Taft's Gift Section

—Situated in the Millinery Section, second floor. An unusual display of appropriate and useful gifts, artistically and charmingly arranged. A great many exclusive articles in this section.

Prices $1.00 to $100.00

Decorative Mirrors

—In the Drapery Section will be found a very fine assortment of Artistic Framed Mirrors in gold and mahogany. New shapes and new designs, moderately priced from—

$2.35 to $40

FOUNDED 1850.
SAN FRANCISCO

Union Square Geary at Stockton

Monday's Sale of SUITS and DRESSES

Unusual Price Concessions

Our entire collection of Suits and Frocks goes in this great sale, with the exception of a few evening gowns. Radical Reductions in the heart of the season.

Suits Reduced		Dresses Reduced
$58.50	Values to $79.50	Values to $82.50	$58.50
$63.50	Values to $89.50	Values to $92.50	$63.50
$71.00	Values to $110.00	Values to $110.00	$71.00
$86.00	Values to $125.00	Values to $122.00	$86.00

Imported Models, Copies and Adaptations AT EXTREME REDUCTIONS

All Suits and Dresses over $125.00 upward to $325.00 greatly reduced. Individualized types of elegant simplicity, or exquisitely elaborate modes of distinction and character truly City of Paris ensemble.

All Popular Priced Suits and Dresses

Underpriced to assure tremendous savings

Every Suit and Dress in our entire stock up to and including $75.00 at extreme reductions. Nothing reserved. Types for all occasions, for both women and misses. A most lovely and varied collection of the newest styles and colors. Grouped and priced in four big lots regardless of former values.

Suits		Dresses
$26	$32	$24	$31
$39	$47	$41	$51

(Values from $39.75 up to and including $75.00)

139-143 GEARY ST.
SAN FRANCISCO

Coat Sale Monday

200 New Fur-Trimmed Models at the Sale Price of

$55.00 $59.00 $65.00 and $75.00

FAVORABLE conditions enabled us to buy these Coats at much below market prices. Rich, beautiful Crystal Bolivias—suede cloths, velour de laines, broadcloths developed in twenty new models, all of them new and original with smart style. Richly lined with heavy silks and luxurious collars and cuffs of Hudson seal, beaver, Australian opossum and raccoon—some with self collars and cuffs. All sizes from Misses' 14s to Women's 44s and every fashionable color.

Special Purchase Sale of 2000 Waists

at Four Sensational Prices

$5.85	$7.75	$9.45
	$11.65

—The entire surplus stock of two of our very finest waist manufacturers at less than the wholesale cost of the materials, making possible this sensational bargain event in waists.

Crisp, new styles in every favored model in dressy or tailored effects. Embroidered, beaded, fur trimmed or trimmed with Val or real fillet laces. Built of Georgette, elaborated with hand-work and hemstitching.

—All fashionable suit shades, also flesh or white. Every size.

NOTE—No returns or exchanges.

HAVE IT CHARGED

CHERRYS

14th NEAR CLAY

OAKLAND FURNITURE DRAPERIES CARPETS STOVES OAKLAND

GIFTS OF FURNITURE

—This is the one Christmas, surely, when such a gift as Furniture is in accord with all ideals of giving—and this store is certainly THE place where such ideals may be completely realized.

—MARTHA WASHINGTON SEWING TABLE of solid mahogany. "Cowan" make. Price—$21.50

—MAHOGANY FINISH PIANO LAMP with attractive shade. Special—$17.50

—GATE LEG TABLE in mahogany finish. Prices $18.00 upward from

—TEA WAGONS in every finish and design. Priced upward from $15.00

—ENGLISH WING CHAIR or rocker with cane back and seat. Special—$18.50

—SMOKERS' STANDS in various styles and finishes. Priced upward from $2.00

—PRISCILLA WORK BOX in mahogany finish exactly as illustrated. Price—$7.50

—SPINET DESK of solid mahogany. Specially priced at $35.00. Chair to match—$10.00

CHERRYS—14TH NEAR CLAY—CHERRYS

UNIFORM AUTO LAW PROPOSED BY OFFICIALS

Proposed changes in state automobile laws, to make speed and headlight laws uniform and to require all drivers to pass examinations, will be made ready for submission to the legislature at a conference to be held tomorrow and Tuesday in Sacramento between legislative and traffic officers, the latter representing the Traffic Officers' Association, headed by Police Chief Henry Neideman, and Corporal Joe Wallman of Oakland. Neideman and Wallman will leave tonight for the conference.

The salient features of the proposed new laws are these:

Every owner or driver of an automobile must take an examination before a sheriff or an examining board and demonstrate his competency to drive. If he proves competent, he will be granted a license. In the case of the holder of a license to drive is found incompetent, persons injured by such incompetency will be enabled to proceed against the bond of the sheriff issuing the permit to drive. Any person driving a machine without such a permit will be liable to arrest on a misdemeanor charge.

A law requiring auto headlights to be uniform as to length of beam, height of glow from the ground at a given distance, and intensity of light, is also proposed.

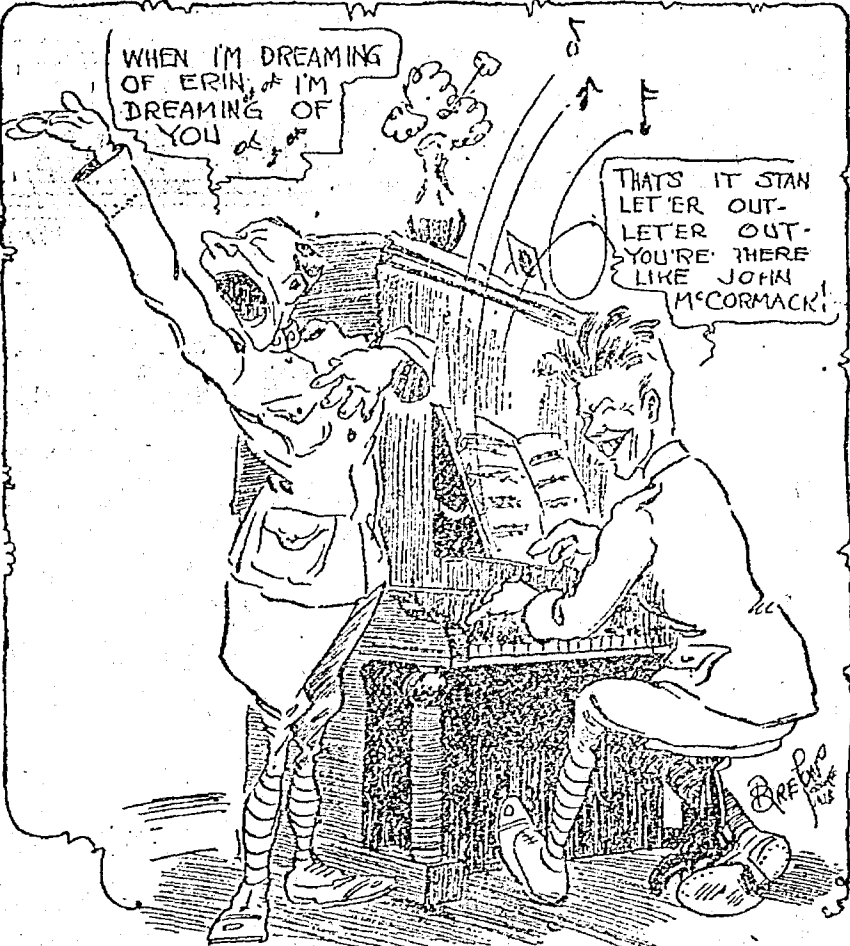

The matter of speed laws will be left to the legislative committee, who will be furnished suggestions in the form of a report from the State Traffic Officers' Association. The traffic officers say they are not so particular as to the exact speed limits to be ordered as they are in the matter of their applying uniformly throughout the state.

Identification experts will also meet next week in Sacramento at the offices of the State Bureau of Identification, when the new methods of the state bureau are to be gone into in detail. Fingerprint and Bertillon measurement systems to be investigated. Corporal C. A. Coley, acting head of the local police identification bureau, will attend this session.

FLU IN ALASKA.
JUNEAU, Alaska, Nov. 9 (By mail).—The annual meeting of the Alaska Native Brotherhood, which was to have been held this week at Honnah, an Indian village near here, has been postponed on account of the Spanish influenza epidemic.

Former Tribune Artist's Work Features 'The Spiker'

INDOOR SPORT 'NOTES' BY
BUCK PRIVATE MUSICIANS.

The Thanksgiving number of "The Spiker," published by members of the United States Railway Engineers' corps in France, has been received here. It contains numerous items of interest to the engineers and teams with wit and humor. The work of Louis E. Breton, formerly connected with the art department of The TRIBUNE, is here with reproduction. It shows the artist in a gay mood reeling off notes on a piano.

Evidence as to how much Americans at the battle-fronts appreciate newspapers and magazine clippings from home is given in the following article, which appears in "The Spiker":

"Almost every army hut has its collection of scrap books. Scrap books in this case does not refer to a pun on the Field or Drill Regulations, but those carefully gleaned newspaper and magazine clippings which are gathered together by the folks at home, pasted up in book form and sent over to the members of the A. E. F.

BULKY ONES BARRED.

"The bulkier volumes, of course, are barred by the postal regulations which were found necessary to keep the trans-Atlantic mail chute from becoming clogged up. But smaller ones, of letter bulk, arrive in every mail, and the ingenuity of some of the compilers has made the perusal of many of these a real treat.

"Most of America's foremost cartoonists, illustrators, comic artists, paragraphers, columnists and poets are represented in these collections. It gives one a sort of panoramic picture of Yankeeism from the mixed point of view of an American army camp in France.

SCRAP-BOOKED WAY.

"Berton Braley, Edmund Vance Cooke and B. L. T. have scrap-booked their way through every American army hut in France. Harrison Cady, Anderson,

CARMEN DISPUTE TO BE MEDIATED

A settlement before New Year's of the wage and working hours controversy between the Oakland Street Carmen's Union and the local Traction company is predicted by Leo P. Laytham, president of the first-mentioned organization. An order to conduct the hearings in this city instead of at Washington has been received from the War Labor Board, according to Laytham, and it is proposed to make a start prior to Christmas.

W. R. Kelly and Raymond Swing, the federal mediators who had been in Oakland for the past three weeks taking evidence in the wage and working conditions between the employees of the California Cotton Mills and the management, have been ordered to take testimony in the local traction case. A brief in the cotton mills hearing has been filed with R. H. Brochert, representative of the United States Wage Adjustment Board on the Pacific coast, and by him forwarded to headquarters of the board at Washington.

Kelly and Swing are now in Los Angeles taking testimony in the wage and working hours controversy between the street carmen and traction people of that city, and will take up the traction case here upon completion of their duties in the south. As the matters in dispute are identical with those already adjudicated by Kelly and Swing at Seattle, it is thought probable that the decision will not be long delayed.

Should the decision be favorable to the Union the men will be granted a $5 8-hour day and double pay for work on their day off each week, when forced to work at such times.

CLEVELAND, O., GROWS.
CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 7.—The United States Census Bureau estimates Cleveland's population on July 1, 1918, was 210,306. On July 1, 1917, the estimate was 691,251.

Tousey, Conacher, Walker, Zim and a hundred others picture the America we knew a year or more ago—and the America that we hope our present task finished in a thorough, business-like manner, to know again.

"Sometimes a thoughtful hand pastes in a Jim Riley or a Gene Field and 'Out for Old Aunt Mary's' and 'Little Boy Blue' dry up the intervening ocean and make home seem just around the corner.

"A good, genuine American joke has as much kick to it as a six-inch shell and victory and laughter should be spelled the same way. Hyphens are not very popular these days, but there is one hyphen that is doing its share in the way of morale. It is the Scrap Book, the hyphen that connects Home with the A. E. F."

GREAT ALASKAN HIGHWAY NAMED

'CORDOVA, Alaska, Nov. 1 (By mail).—"Richardson Highway" is the name given Alaska's great 317-mile automobile stage road which climbs south from Fairbanks, in the interior, over the rugged Alaska range of mountains and connects at Chitana with the Sopper river and Northwestern railway from Cordova. The road was named after General Wilds P. Richardson, president of the Alaska Road Commission from 1905 until 1917, when he was assigned to active duty with the American forces in France. As a result of General Richardson's efforts the government carved the road through the wilderness to open a path to the territory's interior.

Smoking volcanoes, glaciers, perpetually white peaks, jagged cliffs, mountain torrents and great valleys greet the tourist who takes the railroad here and continues his journey to Fairbanks over the highway. After the war, it is hoped here, the road will become one of the best

Adele Garrison's New Revelations of a Wife

WILL START SOON IN THE
Oakland Tribune

Travelers of America's scenic highways. Tourists can load their automobiles on steamers at Seattle and have them unloaded here for the trip to Fairbanks.

Roadhouses dot the highway at about every ten miles. Automobile stages make regular trips summer and winter with mail. They take about thirty-six hours to run from Chitana to Fairbanks. In winter the stages are equipped with 18-inch wheel rims for snow travel.

Travel over the road to the interior may be cut down when the government railroad from Seward to Fairbanks is completed. The railroad is being built through Broad Pass from Seward, while the highway runs through Luabella Pass. Both start or connect with ocean terminals and run to Fairbanks, the interior metropolis.

Asked Dress Suit to Dine With Prisoner
LONDON, Dec. 7.—Occasionally even a Turk has a heart. A British airman fell behind the Turkish lines with his clothes torn to ribbons.

Shortly thereafter a flag of truce went across No Man's Land carrying a message from the Turkish commander to the British lines, saying: "Please send a bag with a dress suit for Lieutenant — who has been captured and is dining with me tonight."

EXPLAINS WHY SOLDIERS SWEAR

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Dec. 7.—Why do soldiers swear? Rev. Dr. Daniel L. Marsh, who made a tour of the fronts while the war was still in progress asked the soldiers themselves and here are some of the reasons given:

Because restraint is removed. Because it is a habit acquired in childhood to which free rein is given in military life. Because it is the soldiers' way of trying to be emphatic. It is the lar's attempt to make people believe that he is telling the truth. It is the soldiers' way of bolstering up his courage. Soldiers think that a profuse use of profanity will impress their comrades with the idea that they are full-fledged soldiers that have received their "third degree."

It is an egotistical method of attracting attention to themselves. Jealousy and anger were given at the causes of blasphemy; liquor drinking was given as still another cause.

Furniture Gift Supreme

The lessons in thrift and economy which the war has taught Americans will not soon be forgotten, and this Christmas time, when their hearts are full of the world's problems, sensible people will give sensible gifts. Furniture leads the list of truly practical presents, for it is the gift used every day for a lifetime.

Why not give a Victrola
The model illustrated can be placed on a table or record cabinet. It's only $60.00 $6 down—$6 monthly.

Our stock of VICTOR, COLUMBIA and SONORA Phonographs is complete, and you will save the time and energy it takes to shop around if you hear these three leading instruments here. Then deciding will be easy.

Also full lines Victor and Columbia records.

Does he smoke?
If so, a smoking stand is the most useful thing you could choose. There's every variety of smoking stand here from the cabinet type with compartments for smoking materials to the stand illustrated, which comes in metal, and sells for $2.75
A similar stand in mahogany or oak finish, with glass ash tray $2.25

A Handsome Library Table
in either solid mahogany or walnut. The lines are unusual, but represent the highest designer's skill, and are very lovely. A large, roomy table for a finely furnished room, and priced reasonably at $59.50
$5.95 monthly

Children's Furniture and Toys
It takes a furniture store to have wonderful furniture for the little folks. There are chiffoniers, dressers, toy dining room sets, kitchen cabinets, pianos—everything a child could use. And chairs in abundance.

The fumed oak chair illustrated sells for $4.85

Sam-E-Kars
In the wheel goods section are automobiles, handcars, canoes, velocipedes, and for the little boys kiddy cars and SAM-E-KARS. The latter is adjustable to the child from its second to eighth year, and is priced at $5.00
All our toys are sold on terms.

Christmas Gifts in the Drapery Section
Hemstitched damask table cloths, with six napkins to match; sets neatly boxed; sizes 64x68 to 64x104. Priced $6.50 to $7.75
Pure linen 13-piece dolly sets, boxed $4.00 to $6.65
Pure linen tea napkins, dozen $5.50 to $6.65
Pure linen dollies, 6-inch size, per dozen $2.25 to $3.35
Just received—a delayed shipment of fine Hudson Bay all-wool blankets, in white, gray and plaids $30.00 each

Select an Easy Chair
Every member of the family will enjoy it. See the fumed oak green plush upholstered Morris chair at $22.50

"Royal" Easy Chairs
the nationally advertised chair. You press a button in the arm and the back reclines. A concealed foot rest may be brought forward, as in the illustration. These chairs come in fumed oak or mahogany, upholstered in imitation leather, tapestry or leather, and are priced from $35.00 up

Her Desk
is the most intimate piece of furniture the lady of the home possesses. It should be worthy of her close friendship. The spinet desk illustrated comes in walnut or mahogany and sells for $40.00
$4 monthly

A special in Tea Wagons--
$17.50

While they last the tea wagons pictured will be sold at this very special price. But be early, as there are not many. Solid mahogany, walnut or fumed oak. Removable glass tray; rubber tired. An unusual price for this handy "unpaid servant."
Terms—$1.75 monthly

Mahogany diningroom suite

The William and Mary suite illustrated is very handsome in its beautiful lines and rich mahogany tones. One may buy as many pieces as desired, and on our usual terms. Prices are:

TABLE, 45-inch, with 6-foot extension $42.50
BUFFET, as illustrated $50.00
CHAIRS, each $12.00
ARM CHAIRS, each $17.50

A Modern Gift for a modern home--
A Telephone Stand
Telephoning has become so much a part of the present-day life that every home should be equipped so that the one at the phone may sit in comfort. This telephone stand and chair, as illustrated, in solid mahogany, is priced at $21.50
$2.25 monthly
The same in vermillion, black and gold lacquer—a very striking set, only $35.00

Plain Facts From Highest Authority

COULD there be any more direct message? Could there be any higher source of information on employment conditions than the one from whom this message comes?

It is a timely and an important note to you, who must feel and realize the surprisingly fast process of the country's return to a peace footing.

You need not, however, be at a loss to gain a good livelihood if you will but apply yourself to a business training that will, within a short time, equip you to meet the economic and industrial readjustment.

For over half a century Heald's Business College has stood pre-eminent in training the biggest business minds on the Pacific Coast. Today its superior service stands ready to help you. Its no-vacation, non-stop day and night service is giving young America the training that makes for quick efficiency. Its employment department will place you in a right position.

You should take advantage at this time of Heald's no-vacation feature. It will give you a big start before January 1st. You will be earning money a month earlier by enrolling now.

You will find the tuition within your reach. Come up and talk it over—your answer is here, we are certain.

For a Constructive Business Training Use Heald's Service. Ask About the Full Commercial Course.

Heald's Business College

San Pablo Ave. at 16th St., Oakland
Telephone Oakland 201

Breuner's Clay St. at 15th

AUSTRALIA TO ROLL UP TRADE WITH FRANCE

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 10 (Correspondence of the Associated Press).—When the French mission, headed by General Paul Pau, which is now touring Australia, returns home, it will urge the government to appoint trade commissioners to improve the commercial relations between France and Australia. Dr. Siegfried and M. Motte, members of the mission, have been very actively engaged in Sydney and Melbourne in conferring with commercial interests and governmental departments with this end in view. Addressing the Commercial Travelers' Association in Sydney early in October M. Motte said that the Germans had robbed northern France of $100,000,000 worth of wool and woolen goods, machinery, leather, copper and other things, and he added: "It will take us some time to reorganize and we want support in order to enable us to rebuild trade before Germany can find her place again." Subsequently at a dinner given to the mission by the Commonwealth government in Parliament House, Melbourne, the Acting Prime Minister, William A. Watt, said: "For four years the mission has been in the government and Parliament will do so with pleasure. We recognize that France deserves special consideration amongst all the allies."

Peanut Growing in Arizona Increases

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 7.—The peanut growing industry in the Salt River Valley of Arizona has made a long stride ahead in the last year. From a few scattered acres of a year ago the acreage planted to peanuts in this section has grown until it now reaches 1,000 acres. The product is of the highest quality and the yield to the acre averages 200 pounds. The greater part of the crop has been used locally, especially in the manufacture of peanut butter, for which a large factory has been built in Phoenix.

Prairie Dogs Slain to Help Red Cross

DENVER, Colo., Dec. 7.—Two Victory girls, 8 and 10 years old, whose homes are at Manzanola, Otero county, resorted to trapping prairie dogs and making soap of their fat to earn money for the Red Cross. They earned $50. The federal food administration for the state is going to make an effort to interest other girls and boys in this work, according to the educational secretary of the organization.

In a Class by Itself

FOR keen buyers and careful dressers—whether it be a flannel shirt for general all-round comfort, indoors or out, or a neck band shirt for dress or business, or a work shirt for long wear and satisfactory service, the Racine Label is your safest guide.

A Distinctive Shirt

Every style is good to look at—better to buy and best to wear. The shirt with more than a million friends. Every Racine is good, or we make it good.

The Chas. Alshuler Mfg. Co.

"Soft Shirt Specialists for 34 Years"

If you do not find the Racine shirt promptly, write and tell us the name of your favorite dealer and we will see that you are supplied. Insist on the Racine.

THE Racine

Soft Shirts For Dress or Sport Union Made

Saw the Allies Liberate Villages Ruin Left Everywhere by Hun

Description of the destruction wrought by the Germans in their retreat before the allied armies, how they deliberately looted homes and drove the helpless inmates before them, and how they needlessly smashed household furniture that they could not take with them, is told by W. J. Adams, attached to the 72nd Canadians, in a letter written to his wife in San Jose under date of October 21. Adams, writing from the scene of action at the front, says in part: "Am sitting on a box in a deserted office and alongside of me is a stack of ammunition detritus and wire, enough to wreck a city. This was left by the Boche in his hasty retreat. "Recently we were camped near a town and I heard a party was going in to try to rustle a few vegetables for our country cook, so my mate and I, although tired, asked to go, and with a corporal and two others started. We crossed where the railroad station was and then passed through some fields to our destination. The Hun had been driven out but a few hours earlier, and everything they could not carry away was wrecked. "ROADS ARE BLOCKED. "The roads were blocked with bricks and other debris, but in a few hours they will all be cleared up on the principal streets and up will come an endless line of food, ammunition, supplies, troops, etc., all hurrying onward. "We entered a fine-looking house with the roof gone, windows broken, walls pushed in and the floors covered with bricks. Expensive furniture was smashed and the wardrobe was wrecked. We found a piano here, and after the bricks were cleared from the keys one of the boys played some ragtime. We went up stairs and there in the corner stood a baby's crib with clothes ready for some babe, but its mother was perhaps being driven with the rest of the population toward Germany or Belgium. "Here in the street we found a Hun with his face buried in the mud; farther on we came upon a new pair of children's shoes in the corner store by some Boche in his haste. We found a garden where we got some cabbage and beans. "BABY BUGGY BROKEN. "Father on, we found a baby buggy broken and wrecked without cause. It made us feel that we do not want to get home for awhile yet. It came to what remains of a church. At one end, as if by some miracle, stood a statue of the Virgin Mary and one of Christ unblemished. It is uncanny, but noticeable everywhere, how these sacred things survive. "As we turned a corner, a few shells fell near us and covered us with brick dust. Then we came to a wrecked bridge, a huge steel structure broken in the center, but already the Canadian engineers are working feverishly getting a pontoon structure ready to handle the trucks, which are expected along any moment. "We started back to camp with four sacks of vegetables, highly pleased with the prospect of roast beef, brown gravy and cabbage the following day. The next day life proved about the same. We have no newspapers and hardly know the day of the week, but we push on, on, ever onward, and in the afternoon passed through a village the only occupant of which was a man with a wooden leg. He stood, hat in hand, and repeated again and again 'merc' (thanks), 'monsieur.' "The following day we went through another village, ruined, of course, and we found two young women very poorly dressed and with no hats. What was left of their emaciated faces told their own sad story. Next we came to a town and found it full of old men, old women and children. The younger and stronger ones had been driven off captives until such time as we have finished our job. "We are tired, mud up to our waists and our packs are heavy, but we are marching as never troops marched before. We are proud that we have done something. Our pipes are in the lead playing snappy tunes. A hundred French flag flutters from their handkerchiefs, children stand still and old men weep, and the girls can't be remembered. "That night my mate and I stole from camp and I went to town, where we found the church intact, hat in hand, in reverence. The edifice was crowded and lighted by only fourteen candles. How they do sing! At the close of the service they sang the 'Marseillaise,' the first time in four years and two months. As we passed out of the church in the semi-darkness we stopped and some of the worshippers came and wished us 'bonjour.' Others shook our hands and were too full of joy to say a word. "FAMILY LEFT FOODLESS. "On our way to camp we gave a woman a small piece of candle and she said that we were 'entree.' We entered a dark room and lighted the candle. Here were her husband and four small children and everything about the house was spotlessly clean. The Boche had left the family foodless, but our division is rushing up to give them supplies. They insisted that we accept a cup of cocoa and were eager to hear about Canada. "The next day we talked with another family. Here was a woman whose husband had been driven off. While my mate carried some water for the woman I went into the back yard and dug up her clock, which had been hidden for fifty months. She showed us how, with stolen grains of wheat, she made flour with a small coffee mill and on the sixteenth day of the month she had made some white bread. Germans had lived in every house during their occupation of the town. A child sew some red, white and blue into a French flag."

FLU STILL RAGES IN LOS ANGELES

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 7.—Quarantining influenza cases, but no interruption of public meetings was the means adopted by both city and county health officers here today in their fight to stamp out the epidemic. Reports to the city health department showed the disease was holding its own, 330 new cases and two deaths having been reported to 10 o'clock this morning. The average for the week has been 330 cases a day against 350 last week. Dr. J. L. Pomeroy, county health officer, announced he had placed all influenza cases in his jurisdiction under quarantine and similar measures were being placed in effect in Los Angeles city. The city council amended the contagious disease ordinance making it a felony for any physician to fail to report a case of influenza within 24 hours after his diagnosis. In Eastern Siberia the way of the German propagandist has grown up. Russians with eyes opened, are beginning to work against them.

HUN PROPAGANDA IN SIBERIA OVER

VLADIVOSTOK, November 2. (By Mail.) Communication between Berlin and Vladivostok has been broken at last. Through mail, telegraphic and other channels Germany has kept in contact with its numerous propagandists in Eastern Siberia, but the connection has been broken by the post and wire censorship established by the new allied intelligence board here. Certain Russians had become deceived by the enemy propagandists and were aiding the Germans in trying to foment confusion among the Allied nationals and representatives in Vladivostok. Their game was to tell the British certain stories concerning the Japanese and Americans to cause British resentment. The result was, according to American visitors to Vladivostok, that the Allied representatives seemed to chafe each other in a circle. Now, all has changed. The intelligence board has conducted the registration of 60 aliens and is expected soon to bring about the arrest of several hundred unregistered ones. The Americans are doing good work along this line, for a complete intelligence department has been organized at American headquarters with 20 specially trained officers who recently reached Vladivostok from Washington. In Eastern Siberia the way of the German propagandist has grown up. Russians with eyes opened, are beginning to work against them.

Baby Hospital Pageant "Road to Victory" December 12, 13 and 14, at Auditorium. Help the Babies.

Depend Upon Capwells For Christmas Gifts

The spirit of Christmas is now in the hearts of all—the coming of peace adds to the joys of the season, and makes it certain that the approaching Christmas will be the merriest ever known.

We expect it to be our largest holiday season. We are prepared for the increased business with bountiful holiday stocks.

Enlarged floor capacity, more conveniently arranged departments and the many store improvements installed in the early Fall makes it easy, despite the greater numbers due to Oakland's increased population, to maintain the CAPWELL reputation for best Christmas service.

Established 1896

A SENSIBLE XMAS GIFT

AN EXTRAORDINARY OFFER!

I Want to Take an X-Ray Picture of Your Mouth

Why I Offer to Take an X-Ray Picture of Your Mouth Free of Charge

EVERYONE SUFFERING FROM NERVOUSNESS, NEURITIS, NEURALGIA, RHEUMATISM, LIVER, KIDNEY AND STOMACH TROUBLES SHOULD READ THIS AD.

Some may say "There must be a string attached to it." Well, there isn't. I mean exactly what I say when I make the statement—"I will take an X-ray picture of your mouth free of charge, if you will call at my Oakland office within the next three weeks." I am doing this for just two reasons. First, because I know the wonders of the X-ray, I want to prove to you the benefits of its value and show you with your own eyes the actual condition of your mouth. The X-ray cannot lie. It is absolutely dependable. You need take no dentist's word for the condition of your mouth. The X-ray shows you your own mouth just as it is. Secondly, I am justly proud of my Oakland office, its three-thousand feet of spacious floor space, its equipment, complete in every detail, its corps of experienced and gentle dentists, its quiet and considerate nurses, its qualified laboratory men, and its wonderful sanitation; so I want to have everyone in Oakland and vicinity call and see this office and meet my associates.

One Hundred and Nineteen People Called Last Week

Abscessed teeth are at the root of many cases of nervousness, neuritis, neuralgia, rheumatism, liver, kidney and stomach troubles. If you are so troubled and the cause is your teeth, a physician cannot help you. Patent medicines only harm you. A dentist is your only hope, but if upon examination, he finds your teeth apparently sound, don't give up hope, until you have had an X-ray picture taken of your mouth. A tooth may appear perfect to the naked eye, but the X-ray exposes the hidden pus pocket which though giving no evidence of its existence, is sending poison through the blood and causing many ailments whose cause cannot be found. Few dentists have equipped their offices with X-ray machines; but I wouldn't work without one. After an X-ray picture, the dentist knows exactly where and how to work to relieve the trouble. The X-ray never lies.

Within seven minutes I can take and develop an X-ray photograph, depicting the exact condition of your mouth showing you the only proven way to expose the cause of your trouble. Save yourself needless suffering, money, and a world of time by taking advantage of my offer, for December only to call at my office for an X-ray picture of your mouth without obligating you in any way. It will pay you in health and purse to investigate the Anderson system of dependable dentistry. For 23 years the best.

My Easy Payment Plan—Pay a Little as Your Work Progresses

DR. R. C. ANDERSON

DEPENDABLE DENTISTRY

484 12th St., cor. Washington, Oakland

Offices—San Francisco, Stockton, Sacramento, San Jose, Modesto.

NOSE CLOGGED FROM A COLD OR CATARRH

Apply Cream in Nostrils To Open Up Air Passages.

What relief! Your clogged nostrils open right up, the air passages of your head are clear and you can breathe freely. No more hiccuping, snuffing, mucous discharge, headache, dryness—no struggling for breath at night, your cold or catarrh is gone!

Don't stay stuffed up! Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate through every air passage of the head, soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane, giving you instant relief. Ely's Cream Balm is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer has been seeking. It's just splendid.—Advertisement.

New Revelations of a Wife starts soon in THE TRIBUNE.

SING FAT CO.

SAN FRANCISCO

A Merry Christmas and Happy New Year To All

Sing Fat Co., Chinatown, and Sing Fat Co., Geary and Grant Ave., San Francisco, have the reputation of having everything in Oriental goods marked in plain English figures. When in doubt what to purchase give a Sing Fat Co. Merchandise Order for any amount, good at any time in any of Sing Fat Co.'s two stores. Mail orders will be promptly and carefully filled and money refunded if not satisfactory.

Oh! Children! See Here! Santa Claus will be in CAPWELL TOYLAND every afternoon until Christmas will delight the heart of the woman who loves pretty things. Besides the pleasure of being remembered, there is the thorough satisfaction gained from their wear.

Gift Silk Hosiery

HOSIERY IN PLAIN COLORS to match the suit, frock or colored shoes. Good assortment of shades. Well made and correctly shaped. Prices—$1.00, $1.25, $1.55, $1.75 to $2.50.

EMPEL HOSIERY—Superior silk hosiery at the dependable kind you can count on for good wear and comfort. Silk or lisle feet and tops, as you prefer. Fashioned foot reinforced heel and toe. In black, white, beige, champagne, grays, suede, silver, mist and pink, blue, yellow for evening wear. Price—$1.75.

LACE STOCKINGS—Irresistibly attractive and of excellent quality. All the desired colors. Price—$3.50 and $3.75.

NOVELTY MESH SILK HOSE in favorite evening shades. Pair—$2.00.

RICHIELE RIB HOSIERY—Splendid quality silk in bronze, gray, light blue, flesh, etc. Pair—$2.75.

MCALLUM HOSIERY in black, white, gray, brown, mouse, beige and other desired shades. Noted for their splendid worth. Pair—$2.50. First Floor.

Kayser Silk Underwear

Solves the feminine gift problem

You can make no mistake in giving Kayser Italian Silk Underwear, because no woman can have too much—and it is always of superb quality, perfect in fit, and wears splendidly. Of soft, firm silken texture, they do not muss or wrinkle and can be washed out very easily. Their new Marvellit features and reinforcements make them an economy as well as a joy to possess.

KAYSER ITALIAN SILK VESTS, in pink or white—$2.45, $3.00 to $4.00.

KAYSER ITALIAN SILK BLOOMERS—$2.95, $3.75 to $5.75.

FANCY KAYSER ITALIAN SILK DRAWERS—$4.50 to $8.50.

KAYSER ITALIAN SILK CHEMISES, either lace trimmed or embroidered—$5.95 to $14.95.

KAYSER ITALIAN SILK CAMISOLES—$2.45 to $3.95. Second Floor.

Suit Case or Traveling Bag

What gift could be more acceptable?

BROWN COWHIDE BAGS—Superior traveling bags with double stitched edges for strength and durability. Sewed corner pieces, lift catches and high-grade locks. With attractive plaid linen lining and pocket. 16-inch size$8.00 18-inch size$9.00

BLACK COWHIDE BAGS—Embossed in walrus design. High cut and very roomy, these bags are leather lined and fitted with pockets on each side. Equipped with sewed corners, set-in locks, and flap for name card. Of exceptional quality and appearance. 16-inch size$8.00 17-inch size$8.50 18-inch size$9.00

NOVELTY TRAVELING BAG—Of cowhide embossed in realistic imitation of alligator skin. A very handsome bag of durable quality. Fitted with sewed corners, lift catches and is lined with pockets. 18-inch size$8.00

LEATHER BAGS—A splendid assortment of traveling bags for gift selection. Of genuine leather of high quality. Styles and sizes suitable for men or women. Prices—$10.00 to $35.00.

COWHIDE SUITCASES—With heavy leather corners, straps all around and riveted hinges, these cases are noted for their sturdy serviceability. Lined, lined, with shirt fold lid and retaining straps in both lid and body of the case. 24-inch size$12.00 26-inch size$12.50

Other cases priced from $3.50 to $20.00. Third Floor.

Wardrobe Trunks

With travel restrictions lifted, the long talked-of trip may now be definitely planned. A wardrobe trunk, which makes traveling a pleasure, makes a delightful gift—and one that will long be cherished.

The latest and best models, of superior workmanship and designs are on display in the Luggage Department. Equipped with the newest features and conveniences for the care of garments. Steamer, three-quarter and full size wardrobe trunks. Priced from—$28.50 to $50.00. Third Floor.

Special Holiday Sale of Coats $27

Each one a prize in good value at this price. They are just what Winter Coats should be—they are cozy and warm and their loose, graceful lines are flattering to the figure.

Of velour, kersey cloth, pom pom, broadcloth and duvet de laine. Some are trimmed with fur, others with plush and buttons.

Other styles of silvertone, bolivia, evora cloth, burella, tricotine and velours—$19.75 to $97.50. (Second Floor)

Gifts of Music for Christmas

As there is scarcely a family without music, a gift of music nearly always solves the problem of "what to give."

VOCAL

- "Till We Meet Again".....15c
- A Little Blue Canoe and You.....30c
- Cotton Hollow Harmony.....15c
- For Your Boy and My Boy.....15c
- Tuckin' 'Em Down.....15c
- Swingin' Along with Lindy.....40c
- I'll Say She Does.....40c
- Some Lonesome Night.....15c

INSTRUMENTAL

- Djer-Kiss (waltz).....30c
- Bone Dry (fox trot).....15c
- The Awakening (waltz).....15c
- Out of the East (fox trot).....15c
- Cassandra (fox trot).....15c
- Kisses.....30c
- Beautiful Ohio (waltz).....30c
- Lovely Waltham.....15c
- Allied Victory March.....15c
- Saxonia Fox Trot.....15c

BANJO UKES—SPECIAL $8.50

These are great favorites, and as gifts are always appreciated.

GENUINE HAWAIIAN UKULELES—$5.00, $6.50 and $10.00.

Why Not Give Player Piano Rolls?

In thinking over your gift lists, remember that player piano rolls are gifts that give pleasure the year 'round. Here are some of the titles:

BOOKS OF MUSIC

- Classics, Home Songs, College Songs and Star Dance Folios, 50c.
- A Wonderful Thing.....$1.00
- Oh! Frenchy.....80c
- Belgian Tocc.....85c
- My Pavo Real Girl.....$1.00
- Smiles.....90c
- That Soothing Serenade.....85c

I'll Think of You.....$1.00

After You've Gone.....80c

La Marseillaise.....80c

Mickey.....85c

First Floor.

Give Capwell Merchandise Orders

Clay, 14th and 15th Streets, Oakland

Toys! Toys!

CHAPLAIN IS KILLED LAST HOUR IN WAR

By BERT FORD.
International News Staff Correspondent.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY OF OCCUPATION, Dec. 5.—(By courier to Nancy).—Rev. William F. Davitt of Holyoke, Mass., a chaplain with the 125th Infantry, was killed by a shell at 9:45 o'clock on the morning the armistice was signed—just one hour and fifteen minutes before hostilities actually stopped. He was the last chaplain. It was learned today, and probably the last officer in the United States army, to give his life to his country.

Chaplain Davitt had been attached to the corps headquarters for a few weeks, returning to his old regiment on November 11. He said it was like a homecoming. He gave Colonel Eckert a flag which he had been carrying in his role of leading. He said it was to be used in the flag raising when hostilities stopped. A few minutes later he started out across a clearing and a shell struck him. He was killed instantly.

LOVED BY DIVISION.

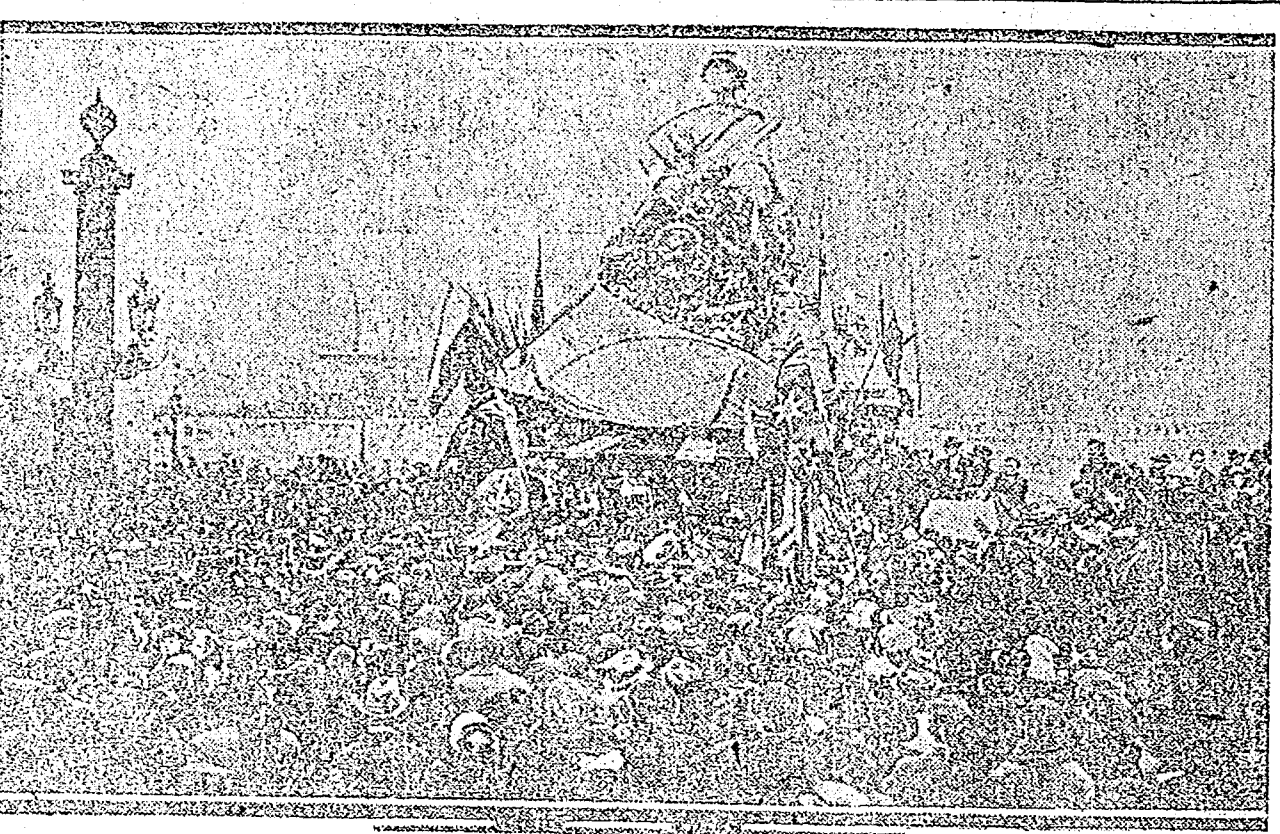

He was worshipped by the entire division. A casket of oak was made for him, lined with an olive drab army blanket. Another blanket was folded and used as a pillow. The flag that he gave Colonel Eckert and which was to have been used in a flag-raising ceremony, was draped over the casket. He was buried the next day with one of the most impressive ceremonies accorded anyone.

The hearse was formed with two machine gun cars. An army route which had been a part of the chaplain drew the casket. The chaplain's horse was led to the burying ground by an orderly. The stirrups were reversed and the regimental band trailed playing the dead march.

CLASSMATES MOURN.

The clergyman who officiated at

Parisians Celebrate Dawn Of International Peace

In France, as in America, the celebration of the news that the armistice had been signed, and that the world war had come to an end, was a joyous one. Paris was particularly gay. Crowds gathered simultaneously with the news of Germany's defeat, and marched through the streets in a continuous parade. The photograph shows a portion of the throng before the statue of Strassburg, which up to this time has been a sort of memorial to the city's capture by the Huns in 1871. The mourning wreaths were removed and the statue decorated by the crowds when news of the victory arrived.—(Photo copyright by Underwood and Underwood, New York).

the grave was Rev. George S. L. Connor of Holyoke and now a senior chaplain with the third army of occupation. He was a classmate of Chaplain Davitt at Holy Cross. Both were graduated in 1907. Each had heard the other was in France and had sought each other for weeks. They finally met just a couple of weeks before Chaplain Davitt was killed.

Chaplain Davitt was cited for bravery on August 6 during the operations along the Vesle river.

Learning that forty wounded Americans were cut off in a ravine he called for volunteers and led a rescuing party through a hail of machine gun fire. The party rescued every one of the wounded men and not a member of the rescuing party was hit.

Oakland Honors British Allies Patriotic Affair Closes Day

(Continued from Page 19)

line with their own bugle squad and band.

Returned British soldiers and sailors in uniform were cheered as they passed and were full of smiles despite the soaking rain.

Hanson's band played both British and American patriotic airs and evoked applause.

Other features of the parade were the Boy Scouts, Sons of St. George, bagpipers and order of Scottish Clans, decorated automobiles containing citizens, Anzacs in autos and members of the Chamber of Commerce.

Several features of the parade had to be eliminated. A contingent of soldiers from Fort Scott was kept away as a result of quarantine regulations just adopted there. The float that was to typify James Montgomery Flagg's poster did not appear as a result of the rain. Harry G. Williams was in charge of the parade.

At 6:30 o'clock the British soldiers and sailors were guests at a club dinner given by the Athenian-Nile Club at its rooms, Fourteenth and Franklin streets. M. W. Bidwell, vice-chairman of the National Committee of Patriotic Societies, presided as toastmaster.

U. S. WILL AID IN SETTLING QUARREL

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 7.—President Wilson and President Irigoyen of Argentina, will co-operate in an effort to effect a settlement of the controversy between Chile and Peru, it was officially announced here today.

Wilson offered Chile and Peru the services of the United States in conjunction with any South American republic, as an intermediary in their difference. Through Ambassador Stimson, Wilson invited Irigoyen to work with him in the matter.

Irigoyen accepted and instructed the Argentine ministers in Chile and Peru to assist the American minister in attempting to bring about an understanding between the two countries.

It was announced today, had a long conference Thursday with Foreign Minister Pueyrredon. This afternoon he visited Irigoyen.

Don't Worry About Marrying French Girls

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Dec. 7.—American girls need not worry over reports of United States soldiers rushing into wedlock with fair French maidens, according to a letter from Corporal Jack Fox, Company F, 131st Infantry, who, before enlistment, resided here.

"You can inform all the girls they should not worry about prospects of their particular Sammies bringing French wives back with them," Fox says. "Home and all its environment becomes closer to the heart each day. When the boys get back they will have to be chased from the house, so close will they stick."

This Good Advertiser Despite Strange Name

SEATTLE, Dec. 7.—Because a federal grand jury believes Mrs. May Assimakopoulos—yes, that's the correct spelling—presented herself as a candidate for marriage to at least five men at the same time, she is under indictment here charged with fraud on seven counts.

Mae believed in advertising. The jury declared she advertised so extensively concerning her personal charms and that she was about to inherit $200,000 that she became engaged to five men, while the wife of one Assimakopoulos of Everett, Wash.

European Rulers May Visit America

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—King George V of England, King Albert of Belgium, King Victor Emmanuel of Italy and President Poincare of France may visit the United States in the next year, Stephane Lausanne, editor of the Paris Le Matin, who is in this country on a visit, declared here today. Lausanne said the visit of the French president and monarchs would be only diplomatic courtesy following President Wilson's trip to Europe.

Dies on Eve of His Hundredth Birthday

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 7.—Timothy Sullivan, who was born in Ireland, died at his home here today. Sullivan would have been 100 years old had he lived until Christmas Day. Portland has been his home for forty years.

Aviator Dies After Fall in Tail-Spin

LOVE FIELD, Dallas, Tex., Dec. 7.—Lieutenant Ralph F. Collier, of Battle Creek, Mich., died in the base hospital here late today of injuries sustained earlier in the day, when his aeroplane crashed to earth in a tail spin. Lieutenant Alvah Woodward, of Attawandun, Conn., who occupied the plane with Lieutenant Collier, was not seriously injured.

Victory Meeting Is Planned at School

A victory meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of the Lincoln school will be held next Wednesday at 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. L. E. Blockman will be the guest and speaker. Her subject will be "Reconstruction." The school children will render a patriotic program. There will also be a speaker on "Food Conservation." Mrs. F. E. Nelson, president of the club, will preside.

Two Laborers Die in Metal Explosion

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 7.—Two laborers were killed and two badly burned in an explosion of molten metal at the Carnegie Steel Company's plant here today.

New York Burglars Get Liberty Bonds

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Burglars ripped open the safe in the office of the James C. Kuhn manufacturing plant here early today and escaped with $5000 worth of Liberty Bonds and war savings stamps.

No Fee For Renewal

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 7.—Put this in your tool box: No fee is charged by the state motor vehicle department for the renewal of operators' licenses, although a 25-cent assessment for the issuance of a duplicate license when the original has been lost.

ADELE GARRISON'S New Revelations of a Wife Will Start Soon in the

Oakland Tribune

LIVESTOCK PRICE BREAKS RECORD

CHICAGO, Dec. 7.—Three million dollars an hour is the record-breaking sum paid farmers of the country in the month of November, 1918, for livestock used for meat purposes, according to an estimate made by experts at the International Livestock Exposition and Horse Fair which closed here today.

Producers received more than $37,000,000 for hogs sold in the Chicago market last month. This estimate is based on the arrival of 900,000 head at the local stock yards, the minimum market price of which was fixed by the government at $17.50 per hundred pounds.

Livestock experts declare that the farmers are now receiving more than twice as much for their hogs as before the war and their shipments are from 10 to 15 per cent above normal. The prices of cattle and sheep, also have increased enormously compared with pre-war figures.

These estimates are based on a seven-hour livestock buying day at the Chicago Union Stockyards and a six-day week.

Sentry Exonerated for Killing Mexican

CALENICO, Cal., Dec. 7.—Civil and military authorities here have completed an investigation of the killing of Benjamin Orozco, a Mexican, by a sentry here yesterday. Orozco, they learned, came here from China and went into Mexico. Later he returned, but failed to halt when directed. The United States soldier shot him when he started to run.

A coroner's jury exonerated the sentry and the military authorities returned him to duty. His name was not disclosed.

California Robber Suspect Is Arrested

ST. PAUL, Minn., Dec. 7.—James McTague, known among underworld colleagues as "One-Eyed Johnny," was arrested here today on a warrant charging him with robbing the Elks Club, Cal., postoffice of $741 on April 17, 1917. He was arraigned before the United States commissioner and held in $5000 bond, while extradition proceedings were begun. McTague's wife, seized earlier, is held on a charge of vagrancy. Alleged theft of an automobile brought McTague and the authorities together.

Bishop Hayes Chosen Archbishop of N. Y.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—The report was current in Catholic circles here today that Bishop Patrick J. Hayes, who is charged with the duties of archbishop in the United States archdiocese, had been appointed archbishop of New York to succeed the late Cardinal Farley. Bishop Hayes, who was born here November 20, 1857, is auxiliary bishop of New York.

Flying Lieutenant Is Killed in Smash

DALLAS, Tex., Dec. 7.—Lieutenant R. F. Collier, Battle Creek, Mich., was killed in an airplane crash here today. Lieutenant Alvah Woodward, Attawandun, Ga., seriously hurt when their airplane crashed near Love Field today, it was announced tonight.

The machine had risen less than 500 feet from the ground when it fell in a tail spin.

"Beauty's New Creed"

Every woman must read the latest book, "Beauty's New Creed," tells the safe, new ways to gain, increase and preserve beauty. Based on the wisdom of the most advanced authorities. Beware of preparations and methods that may permanently injure the skin. Late discoveries are very significant. Find out what is safest and best. Send for free descriptive circular.

S. A. KNECHT
3018 Stanton St. Berkeley, Cal.

Double Houses
Also ready-cut and permanent houses. Investigate. Save 40%.
236 BLAKE BLOCK

Rheumatism

A Home Cure Given by One Who Had It

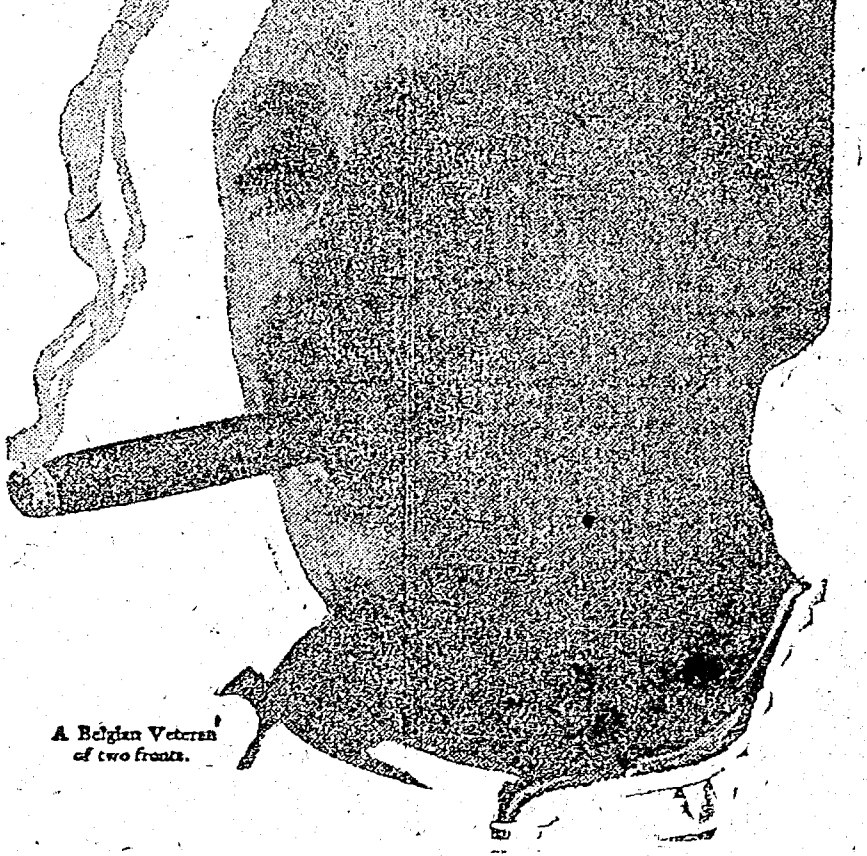

In the spring of 1893 I was attacked by muscular and inflammatory Rheumatism. I suffered only three years. I tried every remedy after remedy and doctor after doctor, but such relief as I received was only temporary. Finally, I found a remedy that cured me completely, and it has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted and even bedridden with Rheumatism, and it effected a cure in every case. I want every sufferer from any form of rheumatic trouble to try this marvelous healing power. Don't send a cent simply to have your name and address and I will send it free to try. After you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long-sought-for means of curing your rheumatism, you may send the price of it, one dollar, but understand I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer when positive relief is thus offered you free? Don't delay. Write today.
Mark H. Jackson, No. 695 Gurney Bldg., Syracuse, N. Y.
Mark H. Jackson is responsible. Above statement is true.

Hawaii to Produce More Sugar in 1919

HONOLULU, T. H., Nov. 20 (By mail).—Hawaii's cane sugar crop for 1919 will be about 593,500 tons, according to an estimate by the Sugar Factors' Company, or 22,000 tons more than the crop of 1918. At the new government-fixed price of 7.28 cents a pound, the gross revenue to Hawaiian growers will be $83,413,600.

Girl Section Hands to Be Discharged

SEATTLE, Dec. 7.—Women railroad section hands in the state of Washington must go. C. H. Younger, of the state labor department, has notified the Northern Pacific railroad that employment of women as section workers in this state is a violation of the law and must be stopped.

Hitch dependable thrift to dependable pleasure

Quite often we find cases like this. A man has been smoking pretty expensive cigars. But he wishes to hitch thrift to smoking—for the sake of the Government, the Red Cross, the Y. M. C. A. or the Belgian Relief.

To such men we say: "Try Owl and White Owl. You will find two cigars of rare mellow fragrance. You will discover in them unchanging fragrance—a rare ability to give dependable pleasure. Their dependability is guaranteed by a reserve of ever-curing leaf worth always nearly $2,000,000.

Many have taken the advice, and later said—
"Thanks—very much."

OWL 7c
white OWL 8c
General Cigar Co., Inc.
M. A. Gunst Branch

TWO DEPENDABLE CIGARS

CEMENT BUNGALOW FOR SALE $500 DOWN

MONTHLY PAYMENTS—$30.00

Located in Berkeley

Agents need not apply. This bungalow has just been completed and I am offering it for exactly $500 less than exact duplicates are being sold for in Oakland. Therefore come out and look.

It has five rooms, hardwood floors, beautiful buffet kitchen, the very best of fixtures and plumbing and is built like a little battleship.

Schools 4 blocks, Key Route 1/2 block, stores 1/2 block, cars 1/2 block.

Right up to the minute in every housekeeping and home comfort requirement.

I will be on the premises from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. today. Price, $3250.

How to Get Here—
Located at 1330 Curtis, near Gilman. By automobile go out San Pablo avenue to Gilman (eight blocks north of University avenue). Turn east on Gilman, seven blocks to Curtis. By street car, take Grove and transfer west on University avenue. At Sacramento and University avenue transfer to "Dinky" car and get off at Curtis and Gilman.

J. H. BOLTON
1330 Curtis St., Berkeley

The bell-toned Phonograph

THE INSTRUMENT OF QUALITY

Sonora

CLEAR AS A BELL

The "Grand"
$300
Terms $37.50 Down—$17.50 Monthly

The "Intermezzo"
$175
Terms $17.50 Down—$11.25 Monthly

The "Imperial"
$135
Terms $13.50 Down, $8 Monthly

The "Laureate"
$230
Terms $23 Down—$14 Monthly

The "Sonora plays Victor and Columbia Records, which we carry"

Remember—the Sonora is Sold in Oakland Only at Bruner's
Clay Street at Fifteenth

"A TONE as brilliant as the sparkle of gems and as sweet as the old love song—as clear as the Sabbath church bells' chimes and as true as the ring of a gong—this is Sonora's tone."

A noted writer has described the famed Sonora tone thus: Is it any wonder this phonograph won the highest award for tone quality at the Panama-Pacific Exposition?

Let us play the Sonora for you in comparison with other phonographs and you will see the difference.

All makes of records may be played on the Sonora without any separate attachment.

The Sonora comes in all size and type instruments from the small portable case to the handsome period cabinet. Prices range from

$50 to $1000

And no interest is charged on Sonoras

Four of the most popular Sonora models are pictured here-with, and the terms on which they may be bought are stated. If none of these is just what you are looking for, let us show you other models.

But hear the Sonora—that is the important thing. You owe it to yourself to hear this much-talked-of phonograph before you make your choice.

RUIN IN RUSSIA IS DUE TO BOLSHEVİK

AMSTERDAM, Dec. 7.—The Dutch Minister at Petrograd, who has arrived in Holland by way of Germany, spoke freely on his arrival of the conditions brought about by Bolshevism in Russia and appealed to the workmen of all nations against Bolshevist tendencies.

The minister characterized Bolshevism as "the end of civilization." "Translated into practice," he declared, "the Bolshevist principles are 'high wages or no work, the taking of other's property without punishment and no taxation.'"

"The state of unemployment in Petrograd is terrible," the minister said. "The situation is one of utter exhaustion. The people do not know how they will exist from day to day. I never dreamt of such corruption and tyranny and the absence of all semblance of freedom."

"The future is no longer hopeful. One thing is certain and that is if she is left as she is now, Russia will be completely and utterly ruined."

Germans Feared, Hated Americans Leave Offered For All Captured

Evidence that the Germans hated and feared the Americans was contained in a document taken from a Hun prisoner and reading: "The 91st Division (American) is directly in front of us; 13 days' leave will be given every man who brings in a prisoner from that organization."

This information is contained in a letter from First Lieutenant R. H. Chamberlain Jr., to his father, R. H. Chamberlain Sr., a local carpet dealer, under date of November 5. Chamberlain, who is attached to the division referred to, was gassed recently and sent to a hospital. The letter is written from Flanders, to which sector the young man went after the Argonne Woods battle, and reads in part: "Your last letter was dated October 5. I will remember that day. I spent it in a shell hole in the Argonne between the devil (Boche high explosive) and the deep sea (the pool in the bottom of my shell hole). It was some day! a short lull in the advance. A Hun machine gun was making things

'HANGING JUDGE' DIES AT AGE OF 97

REDDING, Dec. 7.—Judge Chas. Wells, the oldest man in Shasta county, died in the County hospital here at the age of 97 years. During the last years of his life he was blind and bedfast, yet his mind remained clear up to a month ago.

Wells was a lawyer in Illinois when Abraham Lincoln was a practicing attorney. In the first campaign he stump for Lincoln, and Kansas for Lincoln, with whom he claimed a warm personal acquaintance.

Wells was made a judge in the early days of Omaha, when that city was still a wild frontier town. There he won the nickname of the "Hanging Judge," because, he sentenced so many murderers to the gallows.

Judge Wells was subsequently active in the grain business in Illinois and played an important part in breaking up pooling by the railroads. Finally troubles caused him to come West. Judge Wells settled in California. For twenty years or more his daughter, in the East, never heard from him. He was believed by them to be dead until a few years ago.

Judge Wells came to Shasta county thirty years ago. He was a prominent character in Keswick from the beginning of that camp. He worked as a day laborer there for several years. Falling in business in Keswick at the age of 87—he had a failing heart—he was admitted to the County hospital.

Since he entered the hospital communication was re-established with his daughters in the East, Mrs. J. R. Clarkson of Kenosha, Wis., and Mrs. Elizabeth Partridge of Omaha. They made a remittance monthly to purchase little luxuries.

Wants Hotel Property if in 'Good Condition'

DAYTON, O., Dec. 7.—Dayton's city commission is called upon to answer some queer correspondence. The latest epistle comes from a man in a Western state who is evidently thinking of buying property in Dayton. He asks: "Is it a first-class hotel or is it a lemon?" In another question the correspondent wants to know if the furniture is in good "condition."

Fighters' Relatives Are Kept Advised

CAMP GORDON, ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 7.—Medical authorities at Camp Gordon adopted a novel way to assure relatives at home of the condition of soldiers in the camp hospital here. The first day the patient is able to sit up a photograph of him is made and sent his folks at home. This follows daily letter or telegram giving information as to the soldier's illness and the progress of his recovery.

OAKLAND STORE

S. N. Wood & Co.

14TH & WASHINGTON - OAKLAND
4TH & MARKET - SAN FRANCISCO

Half-Price Sale

of Women's Large Size Suits

Monday Only

Sizes 42, 44, 46, 48, 50, 51 and 55

We have too many large size Suits in stock. Materials are men's weight serge, oxford, broadcloth, gabardine, tricotine, Venetian and mixtures.

Suits marked to sell at $25.00 will be sold at $12.50.
All Suits that sold at $29.50 will be sold at $14.75.
$35.00 Suits for $17.50.
$50.00 Suits for $25.00.

And so on throughout our entire stock of larger sizes.

Not a large size Suit reserved. You have your unrestricted choice of every 42 to 55 Suit in stock at half price. Over 100 Suits to choose from. This half price sale is for Monday only. Tuesday those not sold will be returned to stock at double the price.

Sale of Dresses

$12.95	$24.40	$19.75
Of Serge and Satin	Serge, Satin and Jersey	Serge and Satin
Values to $25.00	Values to $49.50	Values to $35.00

Pre-Holiday Sale of Furs

10% Off Every Fur Piece in Stock

Scarfs, Muffs and Children's Sets

Regular prices from $7.95 to $135.00 on Neckpieces.

Children's Fur Sets, $3.95 to $20.00.

Vegetable Growing

Gaining in Alaska

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Dec. 7.—Though farmers in the Fairbanks region this season harvested a short crop, as compared with last year, good marketing conditions have encouraged them to clear more land for cultivation in 1919, according to a report to William C. Edes, chairman of the Alaska Engineering Commission.

The production of the Fairbanks region this year was as follows: Oats and wheat hay, 350 tons; seed oats, 10 tons; seed wheat, 30 tons; potatoes, 450 tons; cabbages, 15 tons; carrots, turnips and rutabagas, 30 tons; tomatoes, cucumbers and other hot-house vegetables, 25 tons. About one-third of the crop was marketed in Fairbanks and the rest in Nenana, Tokovana, Ruby, Hot Springs and Iditarod.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or a brush with a little water and draw through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire dark hair and youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease. —Advertisement.

Begs to Go Over, but Appeals to Wrong Man

CAMP DEVENS, AYER, Mass., Dec. 7.—Just before 775 medical replacement troops left this cantonment for overseas a sergeant from the depot brigade came before Lieutenant-Colonel C. C. McCormack, division surgeon, and asked for transfer to the detachment about to leave. "If I don't get across now, I never will," he said. "I'll be a hell of a soldier, won't I?"

"Sergeant," said the colonel, smiling, "you've got a fine chance of getting any sympathy out of me on that score. I've been in the army twenty years and haven't got across yet. What are you kicking about?"

Lip Reading One of High School Studies

DENVER, Dec. 7.—A course in lip reading is one of the features of the Evening Vocational high school of Denver. The course is intended not only for totally deaf persons, but also those who hear imperfectly on account of defective auditory organs.

No tuition is charged students in the lip-reading class. They are required, however, to deposit a registration fee of $2, returnable at the end of the term if the student has attended three-fourths of the classes.

The school is open four evenings of the week.

Peanuts Buy as Many Bonds as King Cotton

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 7.—Peanuts stored in a reputable warehouse are as good collateral for loans as cotton. The Federal Reserve Bank here has just ruled that peanuts are now "wide open," all restrictions having been removed by the food administration. Most farmers are holding their "goodies" for 35 cents a pound.

WOLVES PLENTIFUL

JUNEAU, Alaska, Nov. 9 (By mail).—Wolves are very numerous in this part of the Yukon valley where caribou are running, according to reports reaching here. One trader reported seeing a pack of about 200 wolves.

TIMED TO THE MOMENT

These Holiday Specials

Just a little way we have—searching diligently through our stocks to find the things that you want most—right now. And we would rather sell them to you at special prices, when you need them, than to reduce them after your need is over. That is also a good reason why we CAN and DO sell good, clean, staple merchandise cheaper than any other store in Oakland.

Whitthorne & Swan

SUCCESSORS TO Yale's
OAKLAND STORE

OAKLAND'S STORE THAT UNDERSELLS

Handkerchiefs for Christmas Gifts

Buy them here at a saving

CHILDREN'S HDKFS., have picture designs; Box of 3, our price...	23c
CHILDREN'S HDKFS., have colored rolled edges; box of 3, our price...	15c
WOMEN'S HDKFS., fine linen, narrow hemstitched, with pink or blue initial, each	25c
WOMEN'S LINEN HDKFS., hemstitched, hand embroidered corner design, each	25c
SWISS HDKFS., scores of pretty designs, scalloped and hemstitched edges; all white or with suggestion of color, very newest effects, each	25c
SHEER SWISS HANDKERCHIEFS, colored bar effects, very new, each	15c
SHEER SWISS HANDKERCHIEFS, colored bar effects, very new, each	15c
SHEER SWISS HANDKERCHIEFS, colored bar effects, very new, each	15c
NOVELTY COLORED SCALLOPED EDGE HANDKERCHIEFS, fancy colored corner designs, 3 to box	$1.00
"1847" ROGERS BROS.' SILVERWARE at 15% to 33 1/3% savings
SALE OF INLAID LINOLEUM REMNANTS, worth double sale price asked, sq. yd.	89c
TAPESTRY RUGS, size 8x12 ft., reg. $32.50 value	$19.00
CHILDREN'S UMBRELLAS, each	69c
WOMEN'S UMBRELLAS—Of good quality American taffeta, steel rod, all have detachable handles; an excellent value for—	$2.49

Clearance Sale of Draperies and Curtains

at Savings of 33 1/3 to 50 per cent for Monday and Tuesday Only

FLORAL SCRM, 25c yard, 36 inches wide; pretty pattern, special	15c
SILKOLINE, of best quality, 36 in. wide; 35c value; special, yard	19c
CABLE MARQUETTE, 40 inches wide, reg. 55c value, special, yard	35c
CURTAIN GRENADE, 36 inches wide; reg. 50c value; special, yard	30c
CURTAIN SWISS, 36 inches wide, 25c value; special, yard	15c
CRETONNE, yard wide; 55c value, many pretty patterns, yard	33c
SUNFAST MADRAS, 36 ins. wide, 98c value; special, yard	55c
PLAIN SUNFAST, 50 inches wide, $1.50 value; special, yard	98c
DAMASK, of fancy delft or rose, 50 inches wide; regular $3.00 yard; special, yard	$1.50

DRESDEN RIBBON—Regular 33c yard, 40c yard, 50c yard and 59c yard values. In a big sale at, yard... 25c

Annual Sale of Women's Silk Hosiery

WOMEN'S FIBRE SILK HOSE, with reinforced foot and garter top, black, white, dark brown and tan, gray, pearl, pink and champagne; sizes 8 1/2 to 10, pair 59c || WOMEN'S FIBRE SILK HOSE, heavy quality, double sole, lisle heel and toe and garter top, good line of all the leading fall colors, pair | 79c |
WOMEN'S PURE THREAD SILK HOSE, with full fashioned or seamless foot and garter top, black, white, and all the new fall shades; sizes 8 1/2 to 10; special, pair	$1.00
WOMEN'S PURE THREAD SILK HOSE, full fashioned lisle sole, heel and toe, made with seamless lisle garter top, in black, white, dark brown and tan; medium and dark gray; sizes 8 1/2 to 10; special, pair	$1.50
WOMEN'S PURE THREAD SILK HOSE, "Poppy Maid" brand, sold exclusively in Oakland by Whitthorne & Swan, heavy quality, with reinforced foot and garter top, white, champagne, navy, pink, dark brown, pair	$1.75
WOMEN'S OUTSIZE PURE SILK HOSE with reinforced fashioned foot and very elastic seamless foot, black or white, sizes up to 10 1/2, pair	$1.75
WOMEN'S WHITE GLACE GLOVES with all white or black embroidered back—pique seam, with large clasp, pair	$1.65
MEN'S MOCHA SUED GLOVES, pique and P.X.M. seam; sizes 7 1/4, 7 1/2, 7 3/4; a small lot of these gloves; they are worth today $2.50 pair—Clean-up sale price, pair	$1.79
SPECIAL GLOVE ITEM—Women's tan and gray, washables, pique caps. These have fancy embroidered back; regular $2.50 values. Spec. Monday, pair	$2.15
CHILDREN'S GREY SUED GLOVES—Pique seam; sizes 4-0 to size 7—Pair	$1.65

7-HOT ONES-7

FOR EARLY MORNING SHOPPERS

Priced so Low That They Will Hardly Last an Hour.

MEN'S E. & W. SOFT COLLARS—Several styles; regular 25c value—Special 2 for	15c
SHADOW LACE FLOUNCING, 18 inches wide, suitable for trimming undershirts and camisoles. This is a good 25c yard value—Monday, yard	15c
"REIS" CROCHET THREAD, 15c value. Special, ball	5c
HALF PRICE HOSIERY SPECIAL—Women's 50c Silk Lisle Hose, black, white, dark and medium brown, dark, medium and light gray; all sizes. Monday, pair	25c

Staple Domestic Always Underpriced

BLEACHED ECONOMY SHEETS—Extra good wearing quality—Size 63x90—Our price... $1.55
Size 72x90—Our price... $1.74
Size 81x90—Our price... $1.79
Size 91x90—Our price... $1.89

PILLOW CASES, fancy embroidered and hemstitched, size 45x36, 26 in. Xmas boxes, each pair... $1.19, $1.45 and $1.95

NEW BATHROBE BLANKETS, heavy fleecy quality, with cord and frogs to match... $3.98

BATHROBE FLANNEL, new patterns, heavy quality, yard... 59c

COMFORTERS of heavy saton, pure white filling, plain color, border, double bed, size. Our price... $6.95

BLEACHED UTICA SHEETS, extra heavy quality, size 81x90, 24.40 value. Special... $2.09

BLEACHED UTICA PILLOW CASES, size 45x36, 60c value, each... 50c
Size 50x36, 65c value, each... 55c

BLEACHED POPPY SHEETS, good weight, no seams, size 81x90, regular $1.69 value, each... $1.15

Timely Items of Interest to Women

SPECIAL SALE of Women's Cows and Envelope Chemise—fine soft nainsook with beautiful hand-embroidered yokes, put up in fancy Xmas boxes. Special $2.95 || SPECIAL SALE of BABY CELLULOID TOYS—More than seventy different kinds of little celluloid novelties—Dolls, Platform Toys, Celluloid Animals, Battle Ships, Birds, Turkeys, Roly Poly, Rattles and Floating Toys, all specially priced 5c, 10c, 15c, 25c, 50c, 75c, $1. | |
| SALE on Second Floor in Baby Department. | |
| FANCY TEA APRONS, made of lawn and organdie, trimmed with lace or embroidery—hemstitched. Special 25c, 35c and 50c each. | |

SALE OF IMPERIAL PYRALIN IVORY to 50% continues.

Handsome, new, heavy gabardine, a firm, smooth finish cloth; a good line of the latest colors; 38 inches wide; of regular 85c quality—Monday, yard... 69c

ALL-WOOL PLAIDS—Fine soft French twill, in good dark color combinations; full 48 inches wide; our regular $3.50 line. On sale $3.00 Monday, yard... $3.00

ALL-WOOL VELLOUR, 56 in. wide; black only; regular $5 quality. Monday, $3.50 yard || BLACK SILKS UNDERPRICED | |
HEAVY BLACK TAFFETA, 36 inches wide, 11 1/2 quality, yard	$1.25
HEAVY BLACK SATIN MESSALINE, 40 in. wide, 12.00 quality, yard	$1.50
FEU DE SOIE, 36 in. wide, 12 quality, yard	$1.50
BLACK MOIRE, 36 in. wide, 11.50 quality, yard	$1.00
HEAVY BLACK TAFFETA, 40 inches wide, 12.50 quality, yard	$2.00

ANNOUNCEMENT

For ten years I have practiced as a Chinese herb specialist in Oakland, but for the past year I have been in China. I have just returned and, resumed my practice at my new office. I wish to inform the public that they are welcome to my free consultations.

Dr. P. Kwong Shew

Chinese Herb Specialist

Hours—10 A. M. to 12 M., 1 to 7 P. M.

OFFICE—1732 Webster St., Oakland, Calif.

DR. BECK'S Pine Tar Honey for Coughs & Colds

Right after the first dose you'll notice the relief, the easing up of the throat-tickle, the loosening phlegm. Soon the breathing becomes less wheezy, the stuffy head clears, and the irritation subsides. Before long, relief comes.

Dr. Beck's Pine Tar-Honey is pure, safe, harmless. Its ingredients are soothing, healing, antiseptic. Relief and quiet rest follow its faithful use. Economically priced. All druggists, 30c, 60c and $1.20.

EPILEPTIC ATTACKS Have Been STOPPED For Over 50 Years

DR. KLINE'S EPILEPTIC REMEDY is a thoroughly successful treatment for Fits, Epilepsy (Falling Sickness) and kindred Nervous Disorders. Get or order it at any drug store.

Send for our valuable book "Epilepsy, Its Cause and Cure" on Epilepsy, its Cause and Cure. FREE

Dr. R. H. KLINE Co. Department B, READING, N. J.

CANCER BOOK FREE

Send for this valuable medical book on cancer. Diagnose your own case. It describes in plain, simple language our wonderful bloodless treatment for the cure of Malignant Tumors, Cancer and all lumps in the Breast. A vegetable plaster makes the cure. Examination Free.

SURLEY TREATMENT 253 12th St. Oakland, Cal.

WHITTHORNE & SWAN—Washington St. at 11th

CHAPLAIN HERO LIKE HORATIUS

CLEVELAND, Ohio, December 7.—"Horatius at the Bridge" had nothing on the Reverend James M. Hanley, of Cleveland, chaplain of a regiment in France. According to stories drifting back from the front the chaplain was wounded while holding a bridge the Hun sought to take. As it is related here by friends of the former priest, a captain and a few soldiers were detailed to hold the bridge against heavy odds. The captain said it couldn't be done without more men. "Why, I can hold that bridge with a club," Hanley is said to have declared.

"Then do it," the captain answered, as he hurried off for reinforcements.

The soldiers, inspired by the actions of the chaplain, rallied around him and held the contested bridge until the captain returned with more men and made the bridge safe.

Celebrated Writer Moves Here George Cronyn Stirs Controversy Has New Theory of Indian Rhythm

BERKELEY, Dec. 7.—George W. Cronyn, New York poet and playwright, is the latest celebrity to join Berkeley's literary colony. Discussion caused by the latest of his books, "The Path of the Rainbow—the Book of Indian Poems," has brought the Berkeley man into unusual prominence during the past fortnight and, in fact, has made him the center of a storm of literary controversy.

The volume, it is said, is destined to re-create our conception of aboriginal American literature and exist-reviewers are quick to perceive the new field of controversy it opens up. It could hardly be otherwise with Cronyn's name to it, we are assured by those who remember the storm which early this year raged about his comedy, "The Sandbar," when produced by the Washington Square Players of New York. And also, of his "Poems" and his play, "The Greaser." He is still under thirty; hence intrepid.

"Not often does it fall to the writer of prefaces an opportunity equal to this, in introducing the first tentative volume of aboriginal American verse," says Mary Austin in her introduction to the new Cronyn collection. If the volume is indeed authoritative—and the Bureau of Ethnology of the Smithsonian Institution collaborated in its preparation—then a challenge is hurled at all our so-called Indian literature of the past, including the hallowed "Hiawatha." The songs and poems of the Red Man are revealed to us in a new realistic splendor. There is no classical English contamination of their content or structure.

MODERN NOTE.

The startling modern note in many of these lyrics will come as a surprise to all unfamiliar with the poetry of the Indian. Many of these songs might have been written by our younger poets of the Imagist school. The chants have all the vigor of Whitmanic verse:

Here's good wind; here's sweet wind;
Here's good wind and my woman calls me!
Straight she stands there by the pine tree;
Faithful waits she by the cedar.
When she sees my woman calls me!
Here's good wind and my woman calls me!

It was while Cronyn was working on his thesis for his master's degree at Columbia that the possibilities of the present volume presented themselves. At his home, 2215 Dwight way, Berkeley, the author commented yesterday on the range of the collection:

"Nothing in the history of American literature is more curious than the gradual development of the white man's conception of the red. He was pictured as the great exemplar of Rousseau's theories; the ideal simple savage, as the flend, by the Puritans; as a bespotted brute, and then there was the popular hero of the Cooper novels."

MISCONCEPTION.

"Hiawatha," with its mixture of unsound sources and poetic idealization, gave a permanent stamp to this misconception of the Indian that a generation of scientific investigation has by no means erased, and resulted in a vague, demoralizing craze for "Indian stuff," the reaction of which we still experience. Indian legends, adapted, appeared voluminously, and even what purported to be translations of Indian songs, in suspiciously regular rhymed English meters.

"In this welter of romanticism two men appeared with a genuine respect for the Indian as he existed, not as the white man supposed he ought to be: these were Catlin, the artist, and H. H. Schoolcraft. Then followed careful research. Frank Cushing examined the great epic of the Zuni; Alice Fletcher translated one of the most profoundly moving rituals in any language, the Hako Pawnee ceremony; Washington Matthews recorded the richly poetic night chant of the Navajo, and Mrs. Converse treated the Ritual of Darkness of the Hopi. None of these has been reprinted from the original Smithsonian Institution reports. "The Indian Number" of Poetry Magazine contained the largest collection of poems close to the Indian mode hitherto published. Vera Libre helped to break the ground."

OUR PLACE.

California takes a distinctive place in the collection. Besides the modern note to the lyrics and ceremonial chants there is a striking Sanskrit echo that has the tone of the mystic east, as in Carl Sandburg's "Early Moon": "Who squats, legs crossed, and arms folded, matching his look against the Moon-face, the Star-face, of the West?"

The author of "The Path of the Rainbow" has devoted much of his time to the little theater movement. He was stage manager of the Little theater of Indianapolis with Samuel A. Eliot Jr. Of his "Poems," published in 1915, the Literary Digest listed: "Only a true artist could blend the thought and the form so skillfully." His poetry is represented in Edwin Markham's anthology, "The Younger Choir." The Globe magazine devoted an entire issue to Cronyn verse. "The Greaser" was produced at the Cort theater, New York, in 1914. "The Beggar Man," a comedy in verse, supplied the theme for the symphonic overture by Wallingford Riegler which was played by the St. Paul Symphony orchestra on tour.

Cronyn also is an artist. Two of his canvases were exhibited at the San Francisco exposition and others are in Portland, Indianapolis and New York galleries.

Maimed Soldiers to Be Given Work

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7.—Soldiers returning from war partly disabled will find jobs waiting for them in Los Angeles under plans being placed in effect today by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce in co-operation with the federal government.

A survey of the city has been started under which all jobs which can be filled by maimed soldiers will be listed and classified. The classification will be made according to what positions require—whether one-armed men, blind men, deaf men or men injured in other ways, can fill them.

As soldiers return they will be given the positions they can fill and if they are not qualified by training, arrangements for giving the necessary training will be made.

QUARANTINE RIGID

COROV, Alaska, Nov. 5 (By mail).—During the influenza epidemic quarantine only one person at a time was allowed to enter the postoffice here to get mail.

New Revelations of a Wife Starts soon in The TRIBUNE.

GOLDIER TELLS OF PEACE JOY

VALLEJO, December 7.—Private Fred Seaton, of the 1st Marine Division, tells of the peace joy at Bordeaux and vicinity as follows:

"Well, the end came at last and everyone here is so happy I can hardly write this letter. I am so excited. The noise going on is deafening. Everything that makes a noise is being used. The bell in the old church on the hill within sight of our camp can be heard above them all and as I hear it I can't help but think of God and thank him for being so good in bringing peace in such a wonderful way."

"Everything today was made to bring about peace. The sun came out in all its glory and one could almost say that God would have a day just like this to have peace tiding announced. I was down to Bordeaux when the good news arrived and the celebration that met my eyes, I shall never forget, as old women sixty and seventy years of age were either crying or laughing and did what they could to show their appreciation of what 'wonderful America' had accomplished. I could go on and rave like this all day but will write more about the event later. I am going to church next Sunday and thank God for what he has done for me, because as you know I have been through it all and came out without a scratch. I am so happy I can hardly sit here and write."

"I don't think it will be long now before I will be home and say, mother I am glad that I came over here. I have done my best, but I shall miss the way I feel I will never care to leave California again, but will be contented to stay right there in Vallejo, which is plenty good enough for me."

"I guess that folks over in the good old United States were certainly proud of their boys, the way they went after the Hun. I certainly would have liked to have been at the front when the end came, but it wasn't to be. Give my love to all my friends and tell them to hold on because there is going to be some celebration when I arrive home."

Portuguese Labor in England Happy

LONDON, December 7.—Between 2,000 and 3,000 Portuguese sent here to aid in timber work, principally in the south of England, are having their entertainment brought to them. Movies of the events of the day, as well as regular plot pictures, are brought to their camps, with a lecturer thrown in to aid in explaining some educational screen.

Capt. De Trigueiro of Lisbon, is editor of a small paper, printed in Portuguese for their benefit. It contains items from Portugal and a weekly letter from Lisbon summing up the week's news.

BOOZE IN RUSTLE

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Dec. 7.—Wearing a hot water bottle filled with whiskey, but Mr. Dr. J. J. Evans, a preacher, was arrested today charged with bringing whiskey into dry territory from Kentucky.

SHE USED TO BE GRAY

Society Ladies Everywhere Use "La Creole" Hair Dressing.

The well known society leader's hair was prematurely gray, perhaps just like yours. But Mr. J. J. Evans heard of "La Creole" Hair Dressing—how thousands of people everywhere had used it with perfect satisfaction. It is not a dye, but a preparation designed especially for the purpose of gradually restoring color to gray or faded hair, and which is easily applied by simply combing or brushing through the hair. "La Creole" Hair Dressing immediately eradicates dandruff, keeps the scalp in a healthy condition, and promotes the growth of new hair, bringing back a natural, soft, even, dark shade to gray or faded hair, and makes it lustrous, full of life and beautiful.

USE

"LA CREOLE" HAIR DRESSING to prevent your hair from turning gray and to restore a beautiful dark color to gray or faded hair. For sale by The Civil Drug Company, 1234 Broadway, New York, and all good drug stores everywhere. Mail orders from out of town customers filled promptly upon receipt of regular price, $1.20. "La Creole" Hair Dressing is sold on a money-back guarantee. Advertisement.

MEAT INJURIOUS TO THE KIDNEYS

Take a Tablespoonful of Salts If Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well-known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative function ceases; thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel little lumps of lead and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have nervous headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with other salts and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in uric acid so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, and not only cures kidney trouble, but a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active. Advertisement.

SPANKED WIFE IS AWARDED $25 MONTH ALIMONY

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7.—Husbands really shouldn't spank their wives—at least in Los Angeles. It costs $25 a month alimony.

That developed from the case of Mrs. Rosa Allen, young and mighty pretty, against Raymond Allen, for divorce.

"He spanked me just as he would a child," Mrs. Allen testified.

"With a hair brush?" sympathetically inquired Judge Wood harking back to the golden days of starchy apples and cornsilk cigarettes.

"No, with his hand," sobbed Mrs. Allen. "And we were on our honeymoon."

At that juncture the $25 a month alimony was granted.

BOSTON'S NOTED BUFFET TO CLOSE

BOSTON, December 7.—"Fennel's Place," Boston's famous buffet bar, where men of affairs long have met to have a friendly "nip," will pass into history in May, because of wartime prohibition.

Tucked away in a quiet spot close to busy Devonshire street, "Fennel's" has stood for forty years, presided over by John Fennel. The lease expires in May and Mr. Fennel has decided to close up.

"Combination" is the popular drink at "Fennel's." It consists of whiskey with a dash of gin and ale. Famous personages visiting the city were always taken to "Fennel's" to try the "combination."

SIX MILES OF BILLBOARDS IN L. A. REMOVED

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7.—Billboards and advertising signs are fast disappearing here, according to a report recently made to the city council, show that of 27 billboards and signs standing on June 1 last, 840 have been removed in compliance with an ordinance passed a year ago forbidding such advertising in the residence section of the city.

The signs removed it placed end to end would reach a distance of six miles.

were always taken to "Fennel's" to try the "combination."

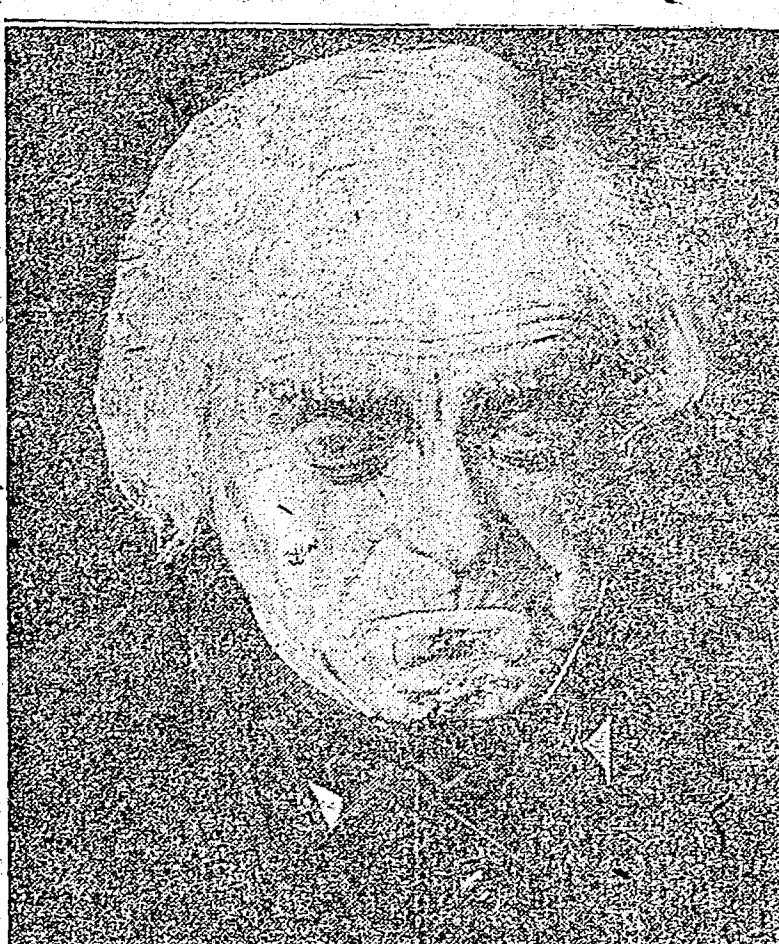

Mr. Fennel is said to be the country's most famous purveyor of wines. He has traveled over Europe all his life collecting choice wines.

SASKATCHEWAN TO USE LIGNITE

ESTEVAN, Sask., Dec. 7.—Plans are definitely under way to utilize the lignite coal deposits of Saskatchewan to supply electric light and power to the cities of Regina, Moose Jaw, Estevan, Weyburn and other towns. Several of the municipalities already have appointed delegates to a convention which soon is to be held. The plan is to be erected in Estevan. The Canadian government will be asked to guarantee the bonds of the development project and each city will become responsible for a fixed proportion of the bond issue.

(The favorite question in Oakland this week is: "Have you your Grumpy seats yet?")

AT THE FULTON! TODAY! THE PLAY ALL OAKLAND HAS BEEN WAITING FOR "GRUMPY"

Produced by the Special Permission of Mr. Cyril Maude.

Mr. Paul Harvey will be "Grumpy"

Pretty Rhea Mitchell will be "Grumpy's" adorable niece.

Eleanor Parker will be the pert "Susan" in "Grumpy's" home.

Frank Darien will be "Grumpy's" long-suffering valet.

Norbert Sills will be "Jarvis," the diamond thief in "Grumpy's" house.

Jerome Sheldon will be the handsome lover who courts old "Grumpy's" niece.

Frank K. Wallace will be "Mr. Isaac."

In brief, the cast will be perfect for

"GRUMPY"

NOTE:—Prices not advanced.
Evenings 25c, 50c and 75c.
All Matinees, Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday, entire orchestra, 25c.
"Pop" nights—Monday and Tuesday—entire orchestra 50c; entire balcony 25c.
PHONE LAKESIDE 73.

Remember! The entire orchestra at the Sunday "Grumpy" matinee, today, is 25c.
THIS IS "GRUMPY" WEEK!

January Prices

on

Suits, Dresses, Coats

$28.50 for our high-grade coats and suits

Don't wait for further reductions, for they are a month ahead of themselves this year, and the choosing is excellent right now. Imagine broadcloth, velours, serge, poirat twill, gabardine, oxford and velvet suits reduced to sell at this figure. And coats of broadcloth, silvertone, plush and high-grade velours!

There's also an excellent showing of coats and suits at $15.50 $10.50

for lovely serge and jersey dresses

Some of these dresses were regularly more than twice this price. All are of beautiful material, in the wanted dark colors for winter and the newest styles. The very same tan and taupe serges and jerseys will be in for spring at high prices.

25c gifts

Hat pin holders
Tea tiles
Pin trays
Soap boxes
Paper weights
Celluloid soap dishes
Pin cushions
Fancy baskets
Combs
Brushes
Brass finger bowls
Brass card or tumbler trays
Stamp boxes
Children's handkerchiefs, 3 in box
Men's cotton sox
Women's white or novelty colored embroidered handkerchiefs

All our Pattern Hats

now $9.45

Every pattern hat in the house—some forty of them—will be closed out at this price during the coming week. This includes REGINA, FISK and GERHARDT models; stunning creations of these leading makers. There are large irregular shaped hats, ostrich trimmed, and smart hats which fit close to the head. Only one of a kind and each a dream.

Also many neatly trimmed velvet hats from $3.45 up

Novelty silk now $1.39

For making waists for holiday gifts this silk is just the thing. Irregular and broken stripes in satin, messaline and taffeta. This silk is a yard wide and comes in pretty color combinations.

$2.50 gifts

Silk envelope chemise of tub silk, lace-trimmed.
Silk bloomers, ruffled and shirred at knee.
Hand-embroidered gowns of batiste with wash silk yokes.
Women's pajamas of fine batiste in white or pink.
Children's sweaters, colored and white mercerized and wool.
Children's hats and bonnets in velvet and silk.
Blanket robes for men and women.
Cape kimono for women and misses.
Kaysers silk vests and bloomers, sold separately.
Hand bags and purses.

When in doubt as to what to give, remember Marymont & Upright's Merchandise Orders, from $1.00 up.

Double A.A. stamps until noon daily.

MARYMONT AND UPRIGHT

13th and Washington, Oakland

50c gifts

Men's neckties
Boudoir caps
Men's suspenders, in boxes
Women's handkerchiefs, set of three

75c gifts

Ivory hair brushes
Ivory jewel cases
Ivory pin cushions
Ivory shoe horns
Men's Notaseme guaranteed socks
Men's neckties
Women's Kayser Swiss ribbed vests

$1 gifts

Ivory powder boxes
Ivory hair receivers
Ivory perfume sets
Ivory comb and brush sets
Ivory mirrors
Ivory glove stretchers
Frisly baby caps
Silk corset covers and camisoles
Nainsook envelope chemise
Voile waists
Wool and fibre scarfs
Infants' bibs, shoes, silk bonnets and caps
Men's neckties
Men's initial handkerchiefs, 6 in a box
Men's initial linen handkerchiefs, 3 in a box
Women's silk boot hose
Hairbows, in boxes
Women's felt slippers

$1.25 gifts

Women's guaranteed Notaseme silk stockings
Purses and handbags
Beautiful neckwear
Ivory buffers
Ivory hairpin trays
Ivory hair receivers
Ivory powder boxes

$1.50 gifts

Kaysers silk top vests
Fancy neckwear
Men's neckties
Men's suspenders in fancy boxes
Women's novelty silk stockings
Society Brand silk hose
Ivory articles

$5 gifts

Women's and misses' sweaters
Georgette and crepe de chine waists
Silk petticoats
Silk kimonos
Corsetry and blanket robes
Crepe de chine gowns
Silk umbrellas
Moire, velvet and leather bags

SOCKS PROVE TALISMAN IN GREAT DRIVE

Private Jake Schrieblman, known among his pals as "Omaha," gives women a new reason for knitting socks. He believes the socks his mother made for him were the talisman which saved his life in that great drive when, of his company of 200 but 27 came back unharmed.

Because Schrieblman did not understand the word "No" when told by draft board No. 2 that he could not be sent to war on June 17, he was allowed to enlist that evening for Camp Lewis. He was not naturalized, although he had been here since age of 7, because his father had not secured his final papers. The young man said he had been turning his family and an invalid brother. The latter had just died so Schrieblman wanted to enlist at once. He refused to be put off when told that no draft contingents were being sent to Camp Lewis that week.

"The first night that I saw real fighting I felt as if I was going to march to Berlin," he writes his mother. When he got orders to "go over the top" he says:

"The first thing I thought of was the socks you sent me. I had a feeling they would save my life. So I unpacked my pack and put the socks on for the first time. I never saw those socks again until nine days ago. I had them on for sixteen days without getting a chance to remove my shoes and hating all the time. If they had been of a cheap grade of material my feet would not have held out."

"The first night we started out after the Germans we just kept on running after them until we were taken out for a rest. We captured about 20 miles of ground the first three days and I have not counted up the rest, but when we finished our drive we were about thirty-six miles straight from where we started."

"Let me tell you some real good news—the American boys are the bravest lads that ever stood up to a gun fire. They walk right to it when they have to. I ought to tell you, I was there with some of them. We had quite a time for a couple of days with the Germans. We were out to capture a hill. We got about half way and the Germans turned their guns on us. We just did not have a chance. They were on the hill and around it. We turned back and had our artillery give to them. We advanced three times after that hill before we captured it. I lost quite a few pals in that drive and a braver lot of lads never lived. We came out of it with about twenty-seven men. Went in with 200.

"I would do it all over again if it needed me. It does not look as if the war will last much longer and then I will be home to you again."

Schrieblman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Schrieblman, 717 Broadway street. Before joining the colors last June he was employed by the Union Iron Works. He sailed overseas in July.

FARMS AWAIT FORMER SOLDIERS

PUEBLO, Colo., Dec. 7.—Pueblo county is expected to take care of part of the soldiers returning from the battlefields of France, who wish to make their homes on farms, and also of immigrants from European countries, a tide of whom is expected to follow the formal declaration of peace.

County Surveyor W. J. Jenkins has received through the state board of immigration an inquiry from federal officials relative to irrigation possibilities of the county. An immediate reply was requested.

Information is sought as to undeveloped water supply, available lands for irrigation, possible storage reservoir sites, irrigation projects that have been started but for any reason not completed, maps and data on contemplated irrigation projects.

It is intended to submit to officials at Washington, it was learned here, all information that may be available in regard to undeveloped lands, possibilities. The report, it was said, contemplated extensive land development and irrigation projects in all parts of the country and final decision as to the location of its effects will be determined by the advantages a district has to offer.

Markets, land condition, character of crops, cost of irrigation projects, value of land when it has been put under irrigation and many other features of development are to be taken into consideration, according to information received here.

TAX OFFICE DOES NIGHT BUSINESS

Handling money by wholesale, and working from 9 in the morning to as late as 1 o'clock at night, the city treasurer's office attaches in the last five and a half days have added $200,000 to the city treasury in Oakland taxes.

The treasurer's office, open nights to accommodate taxpayers paying their bills, has collected thousands in checks, currency and coin.

Next year will see the office, open day and night to accommodate taxpayers.

Parts of Smokestack Riddled by Bullets

EDWARDSVILLE, Ill., Dec. 7.—High-powered rifles, operated by crack marksmen, have been used to remove a portion of a dangerous smokestack 100 feet high, at the plant of the Richards Brick Company here. The stack has been in a damaged condition from being struck by lightning.

It was necessary to reduce the height of the stack twenty feet and reap it, but, owing to its dangerous condition, workmen could not get to the top. The problem was solved by picking off the loose fragments by bombarding them with rifle.

Goats Are Used in Threshing Pinto Beans

DENVER, Dec. 7.—In Conejos county, Colorado, goats have been put to work threshing pinto beans. The chairman of the Conejos county threshing committee told of this method in a letter to the state headquarters for the food administration located here.

Goats are admirably adapted to threshing beans according to the head of the threshing division of the food administration for the state.

because of their light weight. Horses are too heavy. Their hoofs would crush the beans. The goats, however, do the work without damaging them.

New Revelations of a Wife starts soon in The TRIBUNE.

Make All of Hawaii, Free, Urges Leader

HONOLULU, T. H., Nov. 20 (By mail).—A movement to have Honolulu created a free port for the trade of the Pacific, a tremendous development of which is expected to follow the end of the world war, is being agitated in civic organizations here. Professor W. A. Bryan of the College of Hawaii advocates a plan to have the entire territory made free to the shipping of the world.

Fire in Ship Plant Destroys Machinery

BALTIMORE, Md., Dec. 7.—A stubborn fire, which started in a machine shop of the Spedden Shipbuilding Company here this afternoon, was confined to the one building. Cause of the blaze is unknown. No estimate of the loss is made, but it is stated that valuable machinery was destroyed.

New Revelations of a Wife starts soon in The TRIBUNE.

Uncle Sam!—Liberty!—Santa Claus!

Unite to Make This a "Merrier Than Ever Christmas"

Old Glory Hangs in the Dome---
Smaller Trees will decorate the dome this year—all brilliantly lighted with hundreds of electric lights.

Only 14 Shopping Days Until Christmas

Give a KAHN'S Merchandise Order!

Instead of the Big Christmas Tree
That was the sensation of Oakland last year

KAHN'S is radiantly ready!

Buy Early in the Month and Early in the Day

Make Kahn's Your Gift Store

Kahn's Brimming Over With Gifts Like a Christmas Stocking.

"Backward, Turn Backward! O Time in Your Flight! Make Me a Child Again Just For Tonight!"

—How many of us have wished again and again that we were children once more. However, the fact that we are not will not prevent us from bringing the Christmas spirit into the lives of children and everybody and make them happy. The appended list may help you somewhat in the selection of an appropriate gift—and the gift will lose none of its sentiment because you Pay Less at Kahn's

Gift Suggestions!

Slippers For Gifts

Here by the Hundreds for Men, Women and Children

—Gifts that give comfort the year round; they're worn probably 365 days in the year.

—SLIPPERS FOR WOMEN that glitter with daintiness; an assortment greater than ever; most reasonably priced.

—SLIPPERS FOR MEN that guarantee comfort; these are here from the Romeo and Juliet to low cut bedroom slippers.

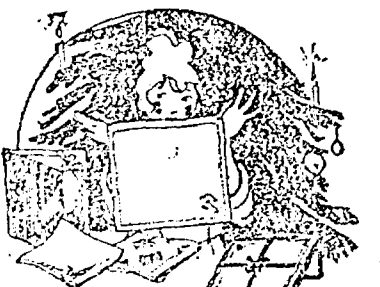

—SLIPPERS FOR CHILDREN—Dainty yet serviceable kinds for girls and boys. Many styles and rightly priced.

Daintiest of Women's Lingeries

—Whether it be something novel like a one-piece pajama, or something more elaborate, or just a plain silk conceit, you'll find a wonderful collection on the second floor. Camisoles, Bodice Caps, Gowns, Chemises and numerous other dainties that reflect good taste on the giver. Prices are interestingly low. Come in.

Handkerchiefs

—Snowy and dainty and most adorable for Christmas giving. Big bunches filled with these Christmas handkerchiefs that have come direct from Ireland and France TO YOU. Handkerchiefs for men, women and children. Sold singly or by the box. Attractively priced. Main Floor.

Stationery and Good Books

Are Appreciated by All.

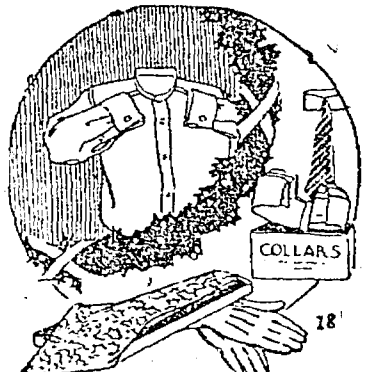

One who appreciates good stationery will revel in this section at Kahn's. Many handsome gift boxes with writing paper, envelopes and correspondence cards to match. Other combinations equally as attractive, and they are all very sensibly priced.

—You'll also find BOOKS OF ALL KINDS for the little folks—adventure stories for the boys—popular fiction that girls enjoy and then GIFT BOOKS—beautifully bound—any number of well-known titles, such as Rhymes of a Red Cross man and many, many others.

The Men's Shop

Offers Good Suggestions

—Yes, and just the sort of gifts men enjoy—Smoking Jackets, Lounging Robes, Bath Robes, Scarfs, Shirts, Collars, Sweaters, etc. Everything to please every man—you'll find right here.

Handsome Scarfs for 50c and up to $2.50.

Lounging Robes, $5.00 to $12.00

Silk Shirts, $6.50 to $9.50

GIFT SOCKS—Silk, tulle or cotton, ranging in price 25c to 75c a pair.

—Also Cigars, Cigarettes and Smoking Tobaccoes. Men's Section, Main Floor.

Home Furnishings

The Gift for All the Family

—Gifts that all the family can enjoy and they're inexpensively priced.

—BEACON JACQUARD COMFORTABLES, $5.50.

—BEACON PLAID BLANKETS—a pair $8.50.

—WHITE WOOL BLANKETS, a pair $8.50.

—PESTRY COUCH COVERS—$7.00.

—And innumerable other gifts—like Table Linens, Automobile Robes and countless others. All for the family pleasure and comfort.

A New Picture

Makes the Home Homier

—Our big Third Floor Section offers you a wonderful selection of pictures and prints of all kinds. They're very modestly priced and a picture gift is something that a whole family can enjoy. Many have handsome hand carved frames others are elaborate.

—Next time you're down go up to the Third Floor and see our interesting line of pictures—just stay as long as you like and enjoy them.

TOYS

AT KAHN'S The Talk of All OAKLAND

Biggest and Best

Santa Rules With a Sceptre of Joy!

—The childish exclamations of wonder and delight over the fascinating sights. The laughs and screams over the funny doings of old Santa, the king. Interest keen in the pretty dolls and doll things. The boys enthused over the mechanical and electrical toys. All pay their tribute in some way or another to the King of Toyland and his subjects. See the electric trains with headlights and the aeroplane in motion.

Toys! Wheel Goods! Dolls!

—They're of very sort that boys want—whether it be for a lad of constructive imagination or inventive mind, you'll find it right here at Kahn's.

—For boys and girls: the best collection to be found anywhere, and the best part is a great big place for the children to try out their favorite kind.

—For the little mothers who love dolls—we want them on our big third floor. You'll find the best assortment of all kinds. See them tomorrow.

Kahn's Toy Section—Third Floor.

Give Ivory This Christmas

—It's useful and surely acceptable—in fact, it may be called the gift universal. We rightly call them so, for one may select appealing gifts for every woman from these requirements for her dressing table. And you can be certain that your gift will be enthusiastically received if chosen at Kahn's.

A Practical List of What to Give Her

PICTURE FRAMES—25c to $6.50

PERFUME BOTTLES AND HOLDERS—50c to $4.50

JEWEL BOXES—$3.00 to $5.00

SHOE HOOKS—25c to 35c

SOAP BOXES—25c to $1.00

WHISK BROOMS—$1.25 and $1.75

HAIR BRUSHES—$1.50 to $6.00

MILITARY BRUSHES—$2.50 to $7.00

CLOTH BRUSHES—$2.25 to $3.00

HAT BRUSHES—$1.00 to $2.50

COMBS—25c to $1.25

MIRRORS—75c to $5.00

—Come in and look over the large selection.

—Main Floor.

Gift Suggestions!

Gloves for Women

A Big Christmas Assortment

—A surprising selection of high-grade quality gloves, purchased months and months ago—qualities that cannot be duplicated—Gloves selected and designs especially for Kahn's—new, fresh and clean merchandise that spells "GIFTS" and gifts of quality.

Kahn's Famous $2.50 Glove

—A beautiful Dressy Glove with two clasps at wrist, self or black bracelet top—self or black embroidery—good looking and good wearing glove, soft, pliable and shape retaining. Sizes 5½ to 7½.

—An immense selection of Gloves can be had at all prices—particularly at $2.00, $2.50 and $3.00 a pair.

—Also a big line for men and children.

What Woman Would Not Enjoy

Velvet Hand Bags?

The Largest Selection in Oakland.

—An attractive handbag is the most essential and should be the most correct of all women's dress accessories.

—Chiffon Velvet Bags are particularly fashionable for this season's wear.

—Hundreds of styles in handsome costume shades will confront the customer in the jewelry section from the plain drop frame, tasseled effects to the more elaborate headed models—moderately priced upwards from $4.95. Give her a Velvet Bag this year.

Every Bag in a Christmas Box

Smart Neckpieces

Appeal to Every Woman

—Never before such a beautiful collection awaiting holiday shoppers. One is daintier, prettier and more tastefully trimmed than the other. They're neckwear of uncommon styles in collars, sets, vests, gumps—in a variety of georgettes, organdies and satins. You'll enjoy buying these pretty things.

—THE COLLARS are $1 to $3.

—THE SETS are $1 to $5.

—THE VESTES and GUMPS are $1 to $8.50.

—HAND-EMBROIDERED COLLARS, SETS and GUMPS—$2 to $10.

—How about a pretty MARABOU COLLAR for her this year—$5, $7.50, $10 and $15.

Fancy Ribbons

Gorgeous New Designs

—What wonders ribbons do accomplish—just a little twist and way or the other a little stitch and you have a dear little gift that some woman or miss will be delighted with.

—Our ribbons this year are beautiful—America has certainly put some gorgeous colorings in them this year. The selection is wonderful—hundreds of patterns, lustrous silk with distinct and exclusive patterns, light and dark grounds in Dresden, Persian, stripe, cluster and foliage designs—widths up to 7 inches—modestly priced at 5c, 10c, 15c and $1.00.

Art Needlework

Hits the Heart of Every Woman

This department, on the 2nd floor is the Mecca of Christmas shoppers. Gifts that are useful and that every woman enjoys are here in abundance.

A SHORT LIST OF A FEW OF THEM

—Cluny, Madeira, Flot and Egyptian Lace Trimmed Linens.

—Handkerchiefs, Gloves and Trinet Boxes.

—Crocheted Woolen Shawls, Jackets and Hug-Me-Tights.

—Fancy Hats, Fancy Bags, Stamped Children's Dresses.

—Shaving Pads, Tie Stacks, Laundry Bags.

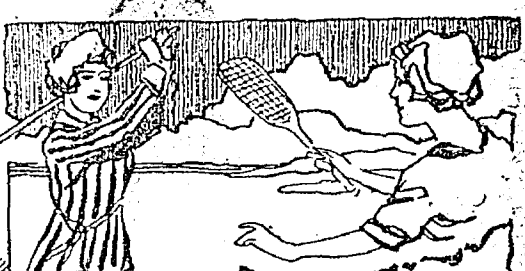

—Collar and Cuff Boxes, Tobacco Boxes.

—Stamped and Embroidered Linens of all kinds—all moderately priced.

—A most suggestive assortment and you're more than welcome to see it whether you purchase or not.

Buy Early

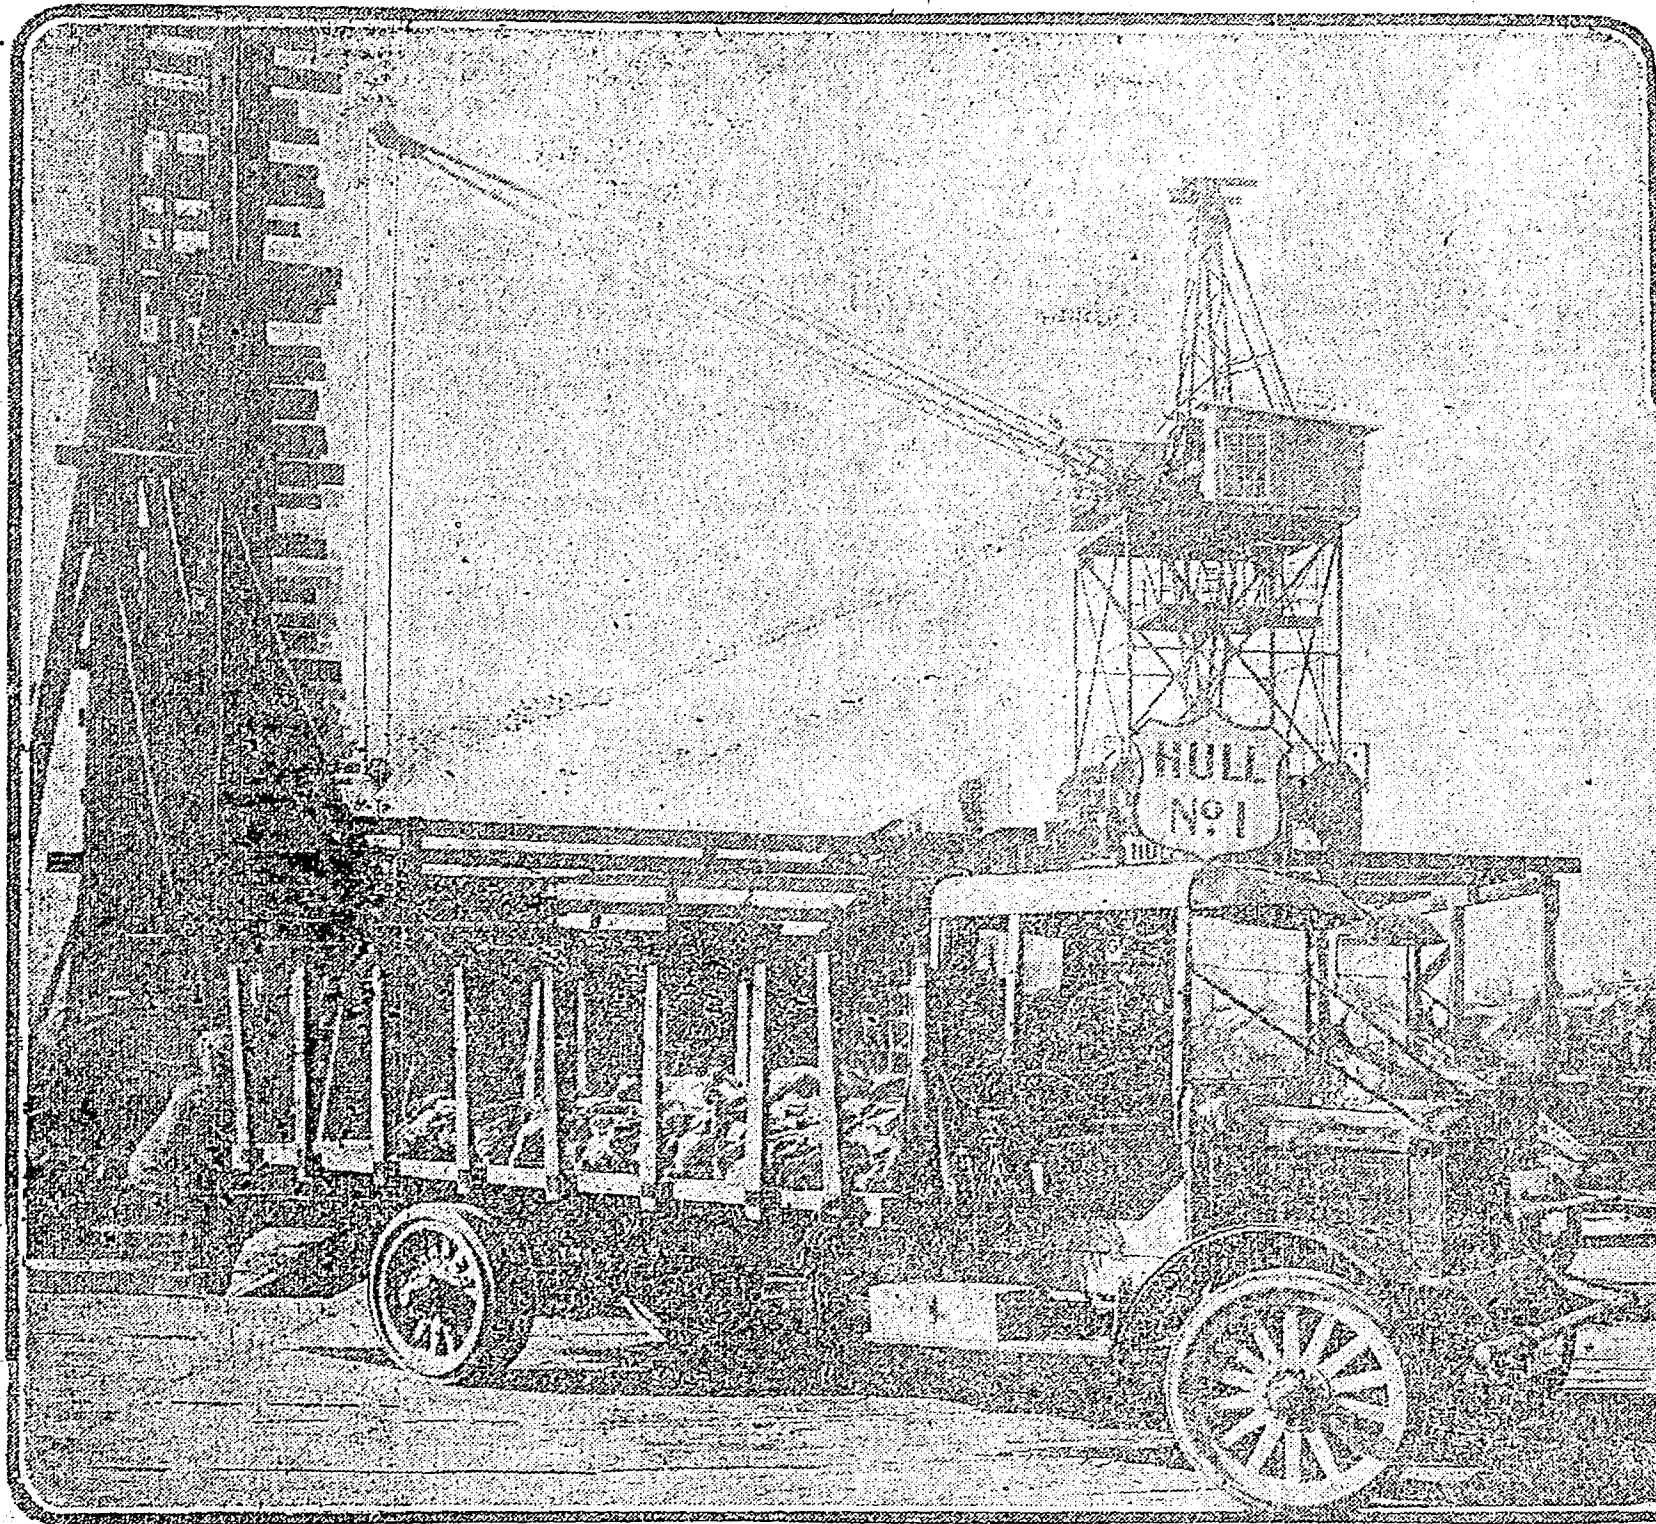

VOLUME LXXXX.

OAKLAND, CALIFORNIA, SUNDAY MORNING, DECEMBER 8, 1918.

PAGES 25 TO 32

NO. 104.

CONFERENCE IS TO CONSIDER VEHICLE LAW CHANGES

Helping Uncle Sam Speed Up Ship Building.

Motor trucks have played a leading role in the record-breaking performances of the shipyards about the bay. Until recently we frequently saw that sign "This Truck Engaged in War Work. Don't Delay," on numerous trucks. Reproduced here is a scene from the Union Construction Co. yards showing several different types of Service trucks in action. In the immediate foreground (left) is a two-ton Service model loaded with four tons of rivets. On the right is a five-ton Service fitted with a four-yard dump body and a hydraulic hoist. The latter can be filled quickly and unloaded in a very few seconds. The E. L. Peacock Auto Co., distributors of this make made a close study of the Union Construction Co. needs before delivery.

Amendments Relating To State Regulation of Traffic on Program

Prominent Officers Meet Here and Lay the Groundwork for Desired Changes

By JIM HOULIHAN

A number of important amendments to the present State Motor Vehicle laws will be discussed and later passed upon at a three-day conference in Sacramento, beginning tomorrow, by delegates from every organization in California interested in automobile affairs. The meeting is of considerable import to the automobile owner, dealer and police officials since the result of the discussions will undoubtedly influence legislative action at the coming session of senate and assembly.

The ground work for several desired changes in which associations in Oakland and San Francisco are concerned was laid at an informal conference held Thursday in this city. Corporal Joseph Wallman, traffic chief of the Oakland police department, who is also president of the California Traffic Officers' Association, presided at a meeting attended by Chief Volmer of Berkeley; Traffic Officer Mike Brown of San Mateo county; Sergeant Frank Mahoney, head of the San Francisco traffic squad; D. E. Watkins, secretary of the California State Automobile Association; Robert Martland, secretary of the Alameda County and California Automobile Trade Association; D. P. Scudder, president of the Consolidated Sales Company of San Francisco; A. E. Demar, general manager of the Diamond Signal Company.

STATE ROAD POLICE WANTED.

The establishment of a State Highway Traffic Police Department, supervised by the Motor Vehicle superintendent, was unanimously endorsed by these men. This measure has already received the sanction of state. It is proposed that this department take over the policing of all state or county roads outside of corporate limits. California would be divided into three divisions with a lieutenant in charge of each. Operating under him would be as many officers as are necessary to properly safeguard the highways against speeding. These officers would be on duty night and day working on eight hour shifts.

As part of the State traffic force there is also proposed a staff of highway inspectors to be stationed on every road leading out of the state. These officers would be detailed to stop every motor vehicle leaving California, and compel the owner to give a full description of the car, names of occupants and possibly show a bill of sale for the automobile. The purpose of this measure would be to curb the increasing theft of cars which are now driven across the state line and disposed of outside. Advocates of this particular measure say that the rightful owner of cars temporarily leaving the boundaries, pleasure or business bent, will not be embarrassed by such an examination since he will have been informed in advance that this procedure is necessary and he will be fortified with the required information.

UNIFIED LAW INTERPRETATION.

Another feature claimed for the bill is the elimination of fifty-seven

(Continued on Page 29)

TRACTOR MEN HOLD SESSION AT STOCKTON

The regular quarterly meeting of the Fordson tractor dealers of Northern California was held at Stockton a few days ago.

The advent of this tractor into the agricultural world has done much to bring the ranchers and farmers to the realization of how important a tractor is to the economical and efficient operation of a ranch, in not only the conservation of labor, but in the maximum production of the rancher's product.

The tractor and plow experts were on hand, who addressed the dealers assembled, and it was clearly shown that the conditions in California are more varied than in any other state in the Union. Many problems of the ranchers were discussed at length and in pursuance of the wishes of Mr. Ford special implements are being designed to take care of this varied work. One of the latest additions to be added to the exclusive implements used in connection with the Fordson tractor was that of a three-bottom, 10-inch plow with a reversible hitch, which will permit the orchardist or vineyardist to plow directly through the tree or vine as well as to plow away from the tree or vine. The designing of this new style plow with its power lift, which is operated directly from the seat of the tractor, met with instant approval by all those who have seen it demonstrated. It promises to be one of the most novel and important implements that the orchardist or vineyardist has ever seen.

Advices from Mr. William L. Hughson, who is now at the tractor plant at Dearborn, Mich., were brought to the attention of the distributors. He advised that big shipments are now on the way, and will follow all through the month. So great has been the demand for these tractors that the various Fordson dealers are besieged with orders.

Auto Club Urges Good U. S. Roads

Memorial Is Sent to President Wilson

Aiming to start a country-wide movement that will result in a federal policy of road building on a national scale, the Detroit Automobile Club has presented to President Woodrow Wilson a memorial asking his immediate action in the appointment of a congressional committee to take the matter under consideration. The memorial, which is a de luxe affair bound in green morocco and vellum, was presented to the President by Representative Frank E. Dorems of the first Michigan district.

War-time transportation conditions, which seriously hampered movement of military supplies, is called to the President's attention. It is asserted that with a national system of highways motor trucks would have increased the nation's hauling capacity enormously and to such an extent that the railroads would have been in a position to better handle war and domestic traffic. Action at the earliest possible moment is asked.

The presidential memorial was prepared and signed by William A. Metzger, president, and William A. Brush, good roads committee chairman of the Detroit Automobile Club.

BUYING SPIRIT AGAIN EVIDENT AMONG PEOPLE

Automobile distributors and dealers throughout the country are facing many problems today but they are being solved carefully and the outlook for the automobile man is most encouraging. This at least seems to be the consensus of opinion of men here who are closely in touch with the automobile situation.

The question of reorganizing sales forces and planning selling campaigns in the territory covered by the distributors is occupying a great deal of the time of the executives of the various automobile concerns.

"The present conditions are very good and the outlook for the future is exceedingly gratifying," said Robert L. Alvier, manager of the Western Motors Company, Maxwell distributors, when

(Continued on Page 29)

AUTOMOTIVE SHOW IS PLAN NEXT SEASON

Detroit will have an automotive show next season. As an automotive show, it will be a national instead of merely a Detroit exhibit. The display will include passenger cars, motor trucks, tractors and more than likely airplanes.

For years Detroit has clamored for a national automobile show. With two established national exhibitions, the one in New York and Chicago, the makers have turned a deaf ear to such cities as Detroit and San Francisco. Now, with the war situation preventing the holding of New York and Chicago affairs, Charles

(Continued on Page 30)

GREAT YEAR FOR AUTOS IS PREDICTION

The greatest of all motor car years is the prediction for 1919, made by James Bayless, factory representative of the Cadillac company, who has just returned from the East. Every factory is going into immediate production and reports from all sections point to an unprecedented demand for motor cars, according to Bayless.

"There is every reason to believe that 1919 will be a banner year in the industry," said Bayless. "For a long time people have been making old cars do the work when it would have been economy to buy a new machine. Many men and women have thought it unpatriotic to buy cars during the past year or two. These people are now actively in the market and sales cannot but show a tremendous increase during the next few months. This, combined with the export demand, which will be greater than ever before, will tax the factories."

"The Cadillac factory is in an enviable position. A great deal of its war work has been the turning out of Cadillac touring cars for the use of the United States army in France. As a result we were actively in production when the armistice was signed and all that was necessary was to speed up this production and a steady increase in the number of cars sent to the various parts of the country."

"The United States government will probably exercise some control over the number of cars exported in order that the demand will not run away with production."

"Everything looks like the motor industry is about to have its greatest year."

Better 'Gas' Los Angeles Idea

Committee to Frame Standard

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7. — Relief for local motorists in the gasoline situation is on the way. The appointment of a committee by Mayor Woodman last week will result in an ordinance to take the place of the former law which was repealed at the request of the government as a war measure. Since that time all restrictions as to gasoline quantity have been off.

For the framing of the new ordinance the mayor named W. L. Moreland, president of the Moreland Motor Truck Co. and vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce; Harold L. Arnold, former president of the Los Angeles Motor Car Dealers' Association; Standish L. Mitchell, secretary of the Automobile club; P. P. O'Brien, of the board of public works, and Howard Robertson, president of the public service commission. "I believe that we should go into this very carefully and get an ordinance that will protect the motorists thoroughly and at the same time not impose a standard so high that it will give the refiners a basis on which to increase prices," said Arnold.

Moreland has been deeply interested for years in the use of disillite as a truck fuel and will be able to give valuable assistance to the committee. Secretary Mitchell last week reported that a committee of the Auto club was investigating the gasoline situation.

With the two city officials it is expected that the automobile men will be able to work out a model ordinance for Los Angeles.

MOTOR INDUSTRY IN U. S. VICTORY

DETROIT, Dec. 7. — It has developed that the motor industry has contributed more toward victory than any industry except steel. It took on more than 1,000,000,000 worth of war work for not only trucks, airplanes, cars and trailers, but also for shells, helmets, sub-chasers and other articles not related to other cars. In addition it contributed thousands of valuable mechanics and engineers.

W. T. RANCEL

will buy your old tires or allow liberal prices in exchange for new ones

Ajax Tires and Tubes
Retreads Guaranteed

4TH AND WEBSTER STS.
Phone Oakland 679
Work called for and prices given

RECORD TIRE CO.

Distributors

DIAMOND TIRES

FABRIC AND CORD

COR. 23D and BROADWAY
PHONE OAKLAND 212
Always at Your Service

FORD

Bring your Ford here when it needs to be "tuned up" or repaired. We guarantee the most reliable work—the genuine Ford make Materials and to ask Ford prices.

William L. Hughson Co.
24TH AND BROADWAY

RETREADING

By Experienced Vulcanizers Pays Big Dividends
Our Retreads Guaranteed to Give Satisfaction
Expert Tire Repairing—Cord Tires a Specialty

OAKLAND RUBBER WORKS

A Service, Tire and Vulcanizing Company
Lakeside 2574
WALTER APLIN, Manager
1762-64 BROADWAY
Open Sundays 9 A. M. to 1 P. M.

Goodyear Cord and Fabric TIRES

All Sizes Carried in Stock
Refiners, Vulcanizing, Ribbed and Non-Skid Retreads

Hogan & Leder
331 14TH ST. LAKEVIEW 2218
Bet. Webster and Harrison Streets

YOUR BATTERY BRIM FULL WHEN RECHARGED AT Imperial Garage & Supply Company, Inc.

Exide Battery

Service Station Now at 1426-32 FRANKLIN ST.
Phone Lakeside 2200

We specialize on rebuilding Batteries and guarantee all work.

VEEDOL Motor Oil
HEAT RESISTING
Federal Tires
Double Cable Base
Cord and Fabric
EXTRA SERVICE
A. E. BERG
Distributor
2023 BROADWAY
Lakeside 352

COOK'S
Non-Skid Retreads
Average Over 5000 Miles
—21st & BROADWAY—
Phone Lakeside 408

COME TO RENO
and divorce your tire troubles with KELLY-SPRINGFIELD TIRES
L. G. Reno Co.
(Distributor)
Twentieth and Broadway
Oakland 2742

DODGE BROS. MAKE RECOIL FOR BIG GUNS

On a crisp morning near the end of October a year ago, a handful of men with level and transit were trudging through a deserted field near the city limits of Detroit. Now and then they paused to examine a blue-print they would drive a stake, to mark the site of what was soon to be one of the country's greatest munitions works. Today that field has disappeared, and in its place stands a gigantic plant, valued at approximately $16,000,000, which for months has been making and shipping a vital part of our armies' heavy guns.

Shortly after war was declared the United States Government started to manufacture heavy artillery, the type then used by the French. These guns were commonly known as the 155 millimeter Howitzer, and the 161 millimeter Filoux. They were of French design, and a type that had never before been manufactured in this country. A certain recoil or recuperating apparatus was required for these guns, but as none of this mechanism had ever been built in America, the problem involved the gigantic task of not only constructing a special plant, but the designing and making of special machinery and special tools, and this with the greatest possible speed. Pershing needed guns as well as men, and needed them badly. The seemingly impossible must be accomplished.

SPEED IS NEEDED.

The government investigated every large munitions plant in the east and in the west, but the manufacturers could not guarantee the required speed. At the beginning of the war Dodge Brothers had advised the War Department that their resources were at the Government's disposal whenever it was found necessary to use them. So now the Government officials came to Dodge Brothers with their problem. Would Dodge Brothers undertake the task? After a hurried trip for the purpose of inspecting the French apparatus in operation, Messrs. John P. and Horace E. Dodge advised Washington that they would undertake the project, provided the Government had sufficient confidence in their ability to permit them to manufacture the mechanism in their own way.

PROPOSAL ACCEPTED.

A few hours later, or, to be exact, on Saturday, October 27, 1917, official word was received that Dodge Brothers' proposal had been accepted in its entirety. The Monday morning after the contract with the Government had been approved, Dodge Brothers had the Bethlehem Steel Company of Bethlehem, Pa., on the long distance telephone, and by Thursday the Bethlehem Steel Company's shops began to roll steel for this new ordnance plant. From that moment construction went on like magic, and within 20 days all excavations had been completed and a solid slab of concrete flooring covered the entire eleven acres.

The seemingly impossible was being accomplished daily, and within a year from the day the great plant was started, Dodge Brothers were daily shipping over twenty gigantic recoils to the proving grounds where they were tested out, attached to the big guns, and sent on their way to France. It is interesting to know that this plant was the Government's only source of supply for these recoils.

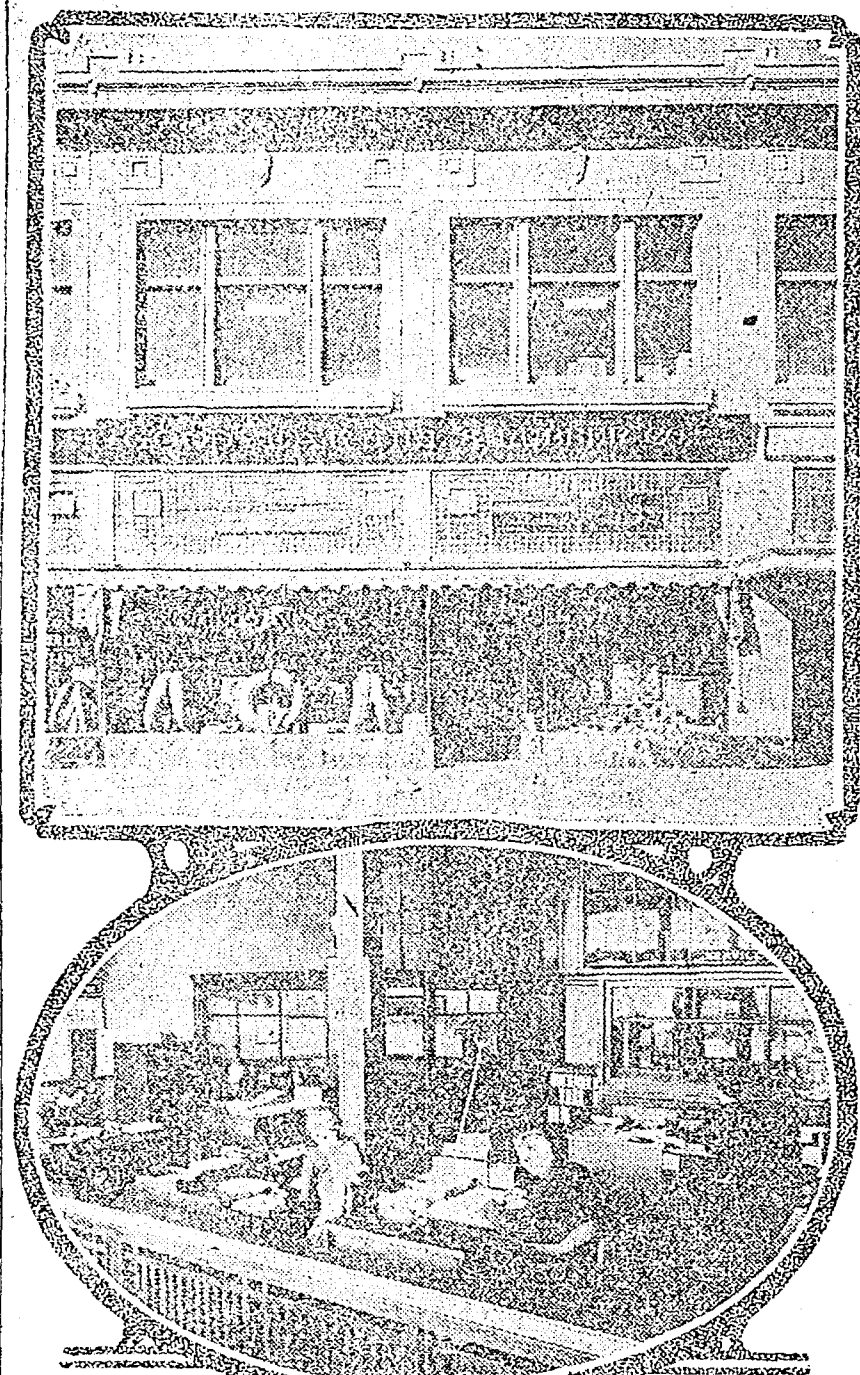

Auto King Bolt

Should Be Removed

The front wheel spindles, upon which the wheels are mounted, turn on the "king bolt" or pin. This pin is pin-brushed to take the wear, but if lubrication fails the bolt often freezes in the bushes and then the bolt turns around, causing wear where there is no renewable bush to take care of it. In cases of this sort, the king bolt should be removed by first removing the castellated nut at the bottom. After cleaning the pin, the whole should be well oiled and then replaced. The nut should then be snugly tightened.

A motorist should cross the street intersections at half the speed allowed by the ordinance.

Business Growth Forces the Goodyear Co. Into Larger Store

BIGGER SPACE NEEDED—Several months ago the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company occupied this new Broadway store to better care for its immense local tire sales.

Rear Signals Help to Safety Red Tail Light Is Insufficient

Laws are being discussed in many sections of America, having for their sole object the promotion of safety for motorists through compelling the use of signal lights on the back of automobiles, which will acquaint the car following with the intention of the driver in the car ahead, through a signal on the back of the car automatically operated from the steering wheel.

Years ago, when cars were few, and when there was plenty of space in the car ahead, through a signal on the back of the car, there was no need of a signal on the back of the car. But now, when the car is crowded with passengers, and the result is the creation of many accidents which will enable the driver to quickly acquaint all following his with his intention as regards the turning of corners, stopping, starting, etc.

Some of these devices have been adopted legally by several cities. Other centers where motorists are numerous have laws which are being considered and which will compel the use of a signal device of some character. According to one of the large insurance companies, 80 per cent of collision insurance is paid for rear-end accidents. In large cities it has become obvious that some measure to avoid such accidents and to eliminate danger must be taken, and the only method by which devices generally must be through the passage of ordinances.

WATER IN CARBURETOR.

Even a drop of water drawn up into the nozzle of the carburetor tends to starve the engine and block the flow of gasoline. Sometimes the water can be dislodged by speeding the engine up and then quickly closing the choke valve, holding the air valve shut and opening the throttle as wide as it will go. By opening the drain cock at the bottom of the carburetor any water that may collect will be drained out.

COLE COMPANY TO DOUBLE ITS MOTOR OUTPUT

An announcement outlining the 1918-1919 sales and production policy of the Cole Motor Car Company, of Indianapolis, has just appeared which has been the source of increasing comment both among motor car dealers and owners in this section.

First, the company announces that it has been able to take instant advantage of the government's removal of restrictions on passenger car production and will increase its output immediately to double that which it was able to maintain during the war.

Coincident with this doubling of output the Cole Company announces that the price increase of $300 which was to go into effect on December 1, has been removed and cars will be sold at the restored prices.

This action on the part of the Cole Motor Car Company is one of the boldest strokes so far taken by a motor car builder in availing himself of the after-war possibilities in the automobile field. It stamps the Cole organization with a mark of leadership and courage.

The dealer or owner of Cole cars has always shared in the company's good fortune," said L. D. Allen, president of the California Motor Sales Company, Cole distributors here.

"That condition has been characteristic of the attitude of the company from its start more than a decade ago. That is the cornerstone of Cole policy. They have possibility of doubling their present production—in spite of the fact that materials must all be purchased at present high prices—the company can see its way clear to earn just as much money with a lower price on its cars as it would with a smaller production and a higher price per car."

OPEN COUNTRY TEST OF STAMINA

"Smooth boulevards, paved city streets and good country roads do not show the real stamina of a motor truck," says J. Charles Nagel, general manager of the E. L. Peacock Auto Company, Northern California distributor of the Bethlehem truck.

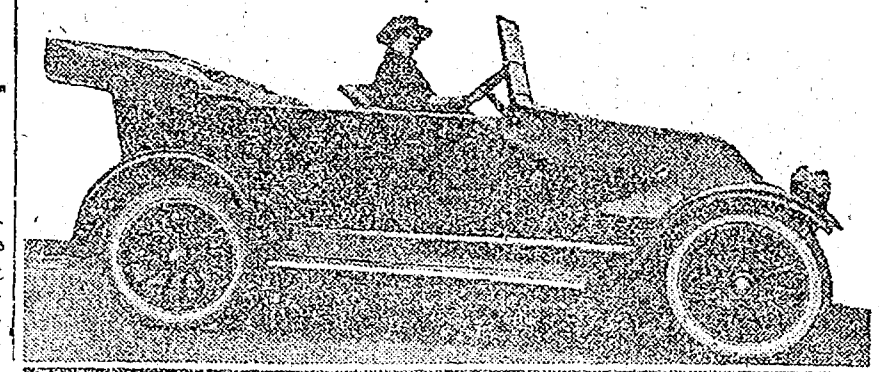

"The value and efficiency of a motor truck are largely proven in the open country where the roads are rough and hilly; in lumber camps where the trails are soft and muddy and in localities where the real 'stuff' in a motor truck shows up."

"It is under such conditions that real stamina reveals itself, or fails utterly. It is then that stamina counts. And there is an element of great satisfaction to the motor truck owner to know that his truck will withstand tremendous resting pressures and perform its duty with despatch and efficiency."

"When conflicting forces are seemingly striving to rend apart the entire mechanism of the motor truck, the axles, shafts, gears, bearings and housing, it is a great satisfaction to know that one's motor truck has the necessary strength with ample margin for safety to meet successfully just such emergencies."

"It is because the Bethlehem motor truck has proven itself a 'commercial vehicle' with this stamina and 'stuff' in it that accounts for its general popularity all over the country. It has been tested under the most trying conditions in all kinds of work. Because it has so eminently distinguished itself accounts also for the fact that it is so frequently seen in use in cities where paved streets prevail; where its most conditions are hauling over-capacity loads and climbing steep hills, which it does without a whimper."

Lightweight Car Favored By Noted Landscape Artist

FRANKLIN TOURING MODEL CHOSEN—Mrs. Frances Lane, prominent California artist, who is an ardent motorist, has just purchased a new Franklin.

STREI CO. WILL HANDLE PA. TIRE

The Pennsylvania Tire will be represented hereafter in Oakland, Alameda and Berkeley by the W. E. Strei Company. A contract, with this result, was signed by Strei several weeks ago, and he has received the balance of an initial order representing a stock which will enable him to take care of a large winter trade.

The Strei Company has grown in the past two years to be one of the biggest automobile accessory houses in the Eastbay region and under their management the Pennsylvania line should again become one of the big selling tires in this territory.

The Vacuum Grip Tread produced by the Pennsylvania Company has always been in demand for rainy season touring because of its non-skid merits.

EMBARGO NO GREAT HARM TO INDUSTRY

The embargo on imports of Egyptian cotton for use in automobile tire, airplane and balloon fabric and the limitation of the imports to 50,000 bales for the current year will not seriously hamper American manufacturers. The southwestern states, in which, since 1912, production of Egyptian cotton has risen threefold, will yield close to 50,000 bales. It is believed that eventually importation of this product will cease altogether, as American plantations increase their yield.

Careful analyses and spinning tests by the Department of Agriculture remove all question as to the quality of the American product, which has been found to be the equal in every respect of the foreign cotton.

ISSUES MANY ROAD MAPS.

The printing department of the Automobile Club of Southern California tackled up a new record for one week of work when it turned out 75,000 road maps during the period between November 18 and 23.

GEO. L. STURDAVANT RETREADING DRY AND STEAM VULCANIZING

Liberal allowances on your old casings in exchange for new Firestone Cord and Fabric Tires. A written guarantee of 5000 miles on fabric and 10,000 miles on cord casings.

Meet George at
2835 BROADWAY
LAKESIDE 1728

ENCLOSED CAR GIVES LUXURY AND COMFORT

The 1919 enclosed Buick models are meeting with even greater success than was anticipated. Already retail sales of enclosed Buicks to San Francisco people have reached the $50,000 mark, which is in excess of the Howard Automobile company's forecast.

Frank Sanford, manager of the Howard branch here, states that interest in the Buick enclosed models is not restricted to Oakland alone, but is well in evidence throughout the Northern California territory.

The closed car is no longer looked upon as a car of luxury and formality, but a car of comfort and utility. The driver who has operated a closed car for as short a period as a week will become the most ardent supporter of enclosed cars, and rarely goes back to the open models. The design of the new Buick Sedans is above all, practical. Four doors are provided, and to insure permanency in the body construction the divided seats have been done away with. The front seat is a solid seat along the same lines as the usual open passenger car.

One of the important factors in the success of the new Buick Sedans and coupes is the enclosed valve-in-head motor. Nothing is more disagreeable in an enclosed car than the noises of a motor, and many legitimate complaints have been registered on this score in the past. The operator of a new Buick would scarcely know his engine was running for all the evidence afforded by the sound. The metal cover fitted snugly about the 60 H. P. Buick engine so silences it that sound is practically eliminated. This is one of the pleasant qualities about the new Buick models.

ENGINEER SKILL IN TRUCKS TOLD

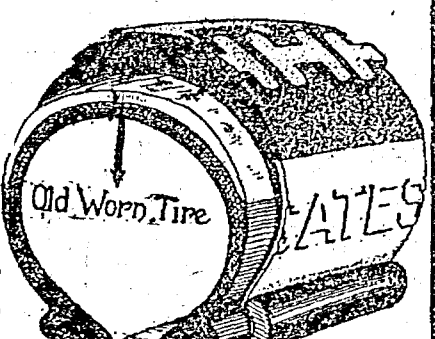

"Twenty Per Cent Super Strength" is the title of a small folder recently issued by the E. L. Peacock Auto Company, Northern California distributor of the Service Motor Truck, in which detailed explanation is made of one of the features of the engineering skill displayed by the designers of the Service Motor Truck. Some of the illuminating sidelights on this subject embraced in the folder state:

"Over-strength is one of the features of a motor truck which cannot be seen. Few buyers of Service Motor Trucks know of it, for it is not evidenced by extra weight, nor by huge fittings.

--now, thanks to GATES HALF-SOLE TIRES

Your worn casings are real assets

Slip a Half-Sole over a worn casing and it becomes the equal of the highest grade new tire.

Cross section showing how half-sole fits over worn casing clear below beads. Held immovably in place by cement, rims and pressure.

The 3500-mile guarantee against puncture is backed by the Gates Rubber Co., Denver's greatest industry.

Cost 1/2 as much

BERGER BROS. 2201 Broadway, Oakland Telephone Oakland 3425

Exclusive Dealers, Oakland, Alameda, Berkeley.

A phone call will bring you full information.

TIRE BARGAINS

Standard Makes

Goods shipped to all points C. O. D. Money refunded on goods returned intact within one week.

Size	Prices on Plain Tread	Gray Tubes
28x3	$ 8.75	$2.35
30x3	9.85	2.35
30x3 1/2	12.60	2.85
30x3 3/4	13.20	2.90
32x3 1/2	13.90	3.00
34x3 1/2	15.20	3.50
31x4	18.25	3.65
32x4	18.55	3.75
33x4	19.35	3.85
34x4	19.80	3.95
35x4	21.50	4.25
36x4	22.10	4.55
34x4 1/2	26.20	4.80
35x4 1/2	27.00	4.95
36x4 1/2	27.50	5.10
37x4 1/2	29.20	5.35
35x5	29.90	6.00
36x5	30.25	6.20
37x5	32.25	6.60

Non-Skid Prices in Proportion

SPECIALS

30x3 1/2 CI Non-Skid
Seconds $12.95
Prices subject to change without notice

Automobile Tire Co.
1776 BROADWAY
Phone Oakland 8219.

A. A. ABBOTT, Local Manager
H. A. DEMAREST, Coast Manager
23 Van Ness Ave., San Francisco
Sixth & Olive Sts., Los Angeles
Second & B Sts., San Diego
Hotel Fresno Building, Fresno.
The Oldest Automobile Tire Jobbing Concern in the United States and the Largest in the World.

Open Sunday Mornings

Oldsmobile

The First Medium Priced Car To Be Reduced

You can buy the Oldsmobile now and be sure that no further reduction in price will be made.

Sixes	Eights
$1295.00	$1700.00

Sedans and Coupes
$1895.00

(All Prices F. O. B. Factory.)

The Latest Models

Both Stores Open Sunday.

Osen and Hunter Auto Co.

12th and Jackson Sts.
Phone Oakland 4076

3080 Broadway

Phone Oakland 2933

Cadillac

Standard of the World and why

Since the performance of the Cadillac in France, "Standard of the World" assumes greater significance than ever before.

Standard because it is built like no other car, standard because it has demonstrated to the satisfaction of the Government Army officials that it gives service under the most trying conditions, such as no other car will give.

The foundation of Cadillac durability is the accurate machining of parts. More than 1000 mechanical operations on parts of the type 57 Cadillac are accurate to one-thousandth of an inch. More than 300 are accurate to one-half-thousandth of an inch—1-1000 of an inch is less than half the thickness of a human hair.

Such construction means freedom from friction, smooth running and a long and satisfactory life. Such attention to every minute detail of construction is the secret of the unbounded Cadillac enthusiasm. It is that built-in quality that has made the Cadillac "Standard of the World."

DON LEE

Oakland—2265 Broadway
San Francisco—Van Ness at California.
Los Angeles, Fresno, Sacramento

The Best Christmas Gift For Your Family Is a New Series Maxwell Automobile

A Quality Car That Will Bring Happiness to You All for Years to Come!

$250

First Payment

Balance Easy Monthly Terms

WESTERN MOTORS COMPANY

Service That Serves

24th and Broadway
OAKLAND 1234

2000 VAN NESS
Franklin 1773

TOUGH ROADS TEST BEST IN AUTOMOBILES

The astonishing thing about a modern automobile is the way it stands up and gives service under every possible road condition, in every part of the world," says E. B. Wells of Weaver-Ables-Wells Co., local dealers for the Studebaker.

"Tough roads, hills, mud, sand, only seem to bring out a car's inbuilt staminity. But to the owner who sits comfortably behind the wheel, free from worry of frequent mechanical difficulties, there is seldom a thought as to what is really back of the car's goodness.

"Yet this quality does not just happen—there is a reason for it.

"Automobile manufacturers take nothing for granted. This is, those recognized leaders who have created and consistently maintained a reputation for quality, accept no one's say-so when it comes to the materials that enter into the construction of their cars. They build longevity and service into their cars by making sure in advance.

"The Studebaker Corporation, one of the world's greatest and best known manufacturers of automobiles, obtains surety of manufacture partly from exacting engineering calculations, partly by scientific tests in wonderful chemical and physical laboratories, and partly by exhaustive road tests.

"Studebaker has invested a large fortune in its laboratories and equipment. The research and chemical laboratories, for instance, occupy nearly 15,000 square feet of floor space and employ a large force of skilled men, each man holding his college or university degree.

"In the chemical laboratory, materials, such as steel-bar stock, brass, bronze, hub and cast iron, are carefully analyzed and checked with specifications from the engineering department. Any deviation from original specifications means immediate rejection. Steering knuckles, transmission and rear axle gears, steering arms and other vital parts are regularly sampled and checked in the mechanical laboratory to see that production is always up to standard."

PROSPERITY FOR STATE FORECAST

California is one place where business is going to be good. The farming outlook is the best in years and added to this the splendid prices that the farmer will get for what he raises will mean untold prosperity.

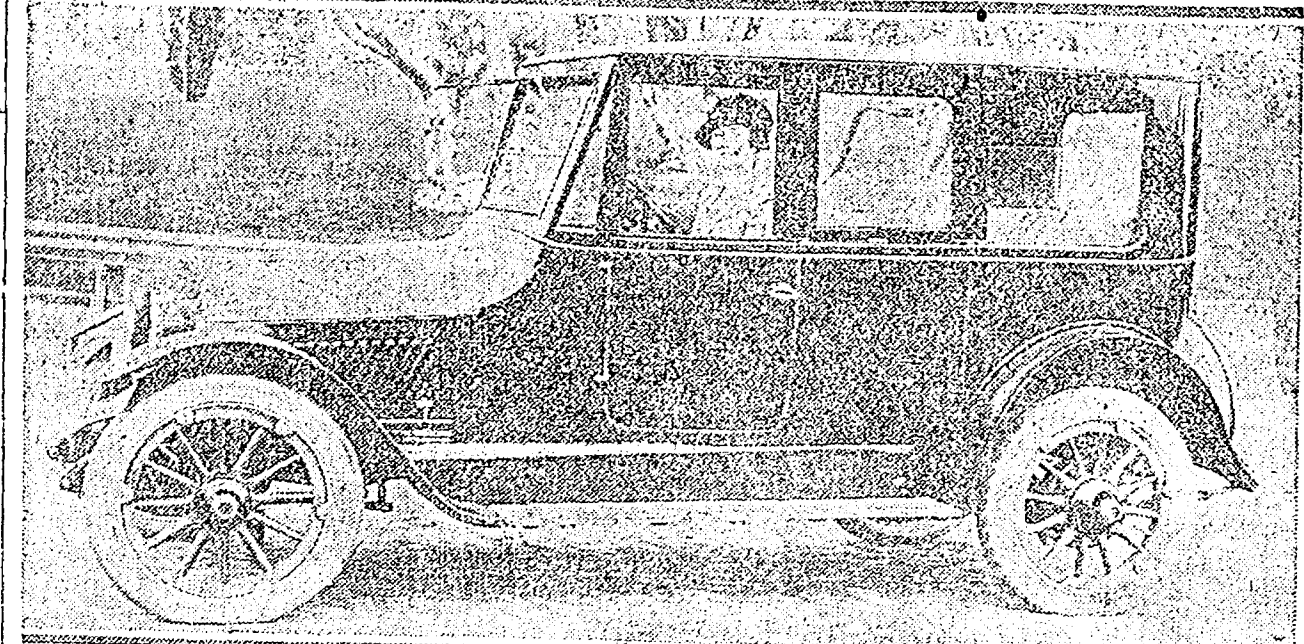

Already this prosperity is being felt by the automobile industry. When business is good with the motor car dealer it is good with everyone else. The automobile trade is the first to feel back times and the last to enjoy prosperity and when business commences to pick up for the automobile dealer it means that every other business is having good times.

Just what this means is best told by J. H. Davis of Latham, Davis and Company, Inc., distributors of Stutz cars. Davis says: "For some months past I have been spending much of my time at our San Jose branch where I have been constantly in touch with the farmers.

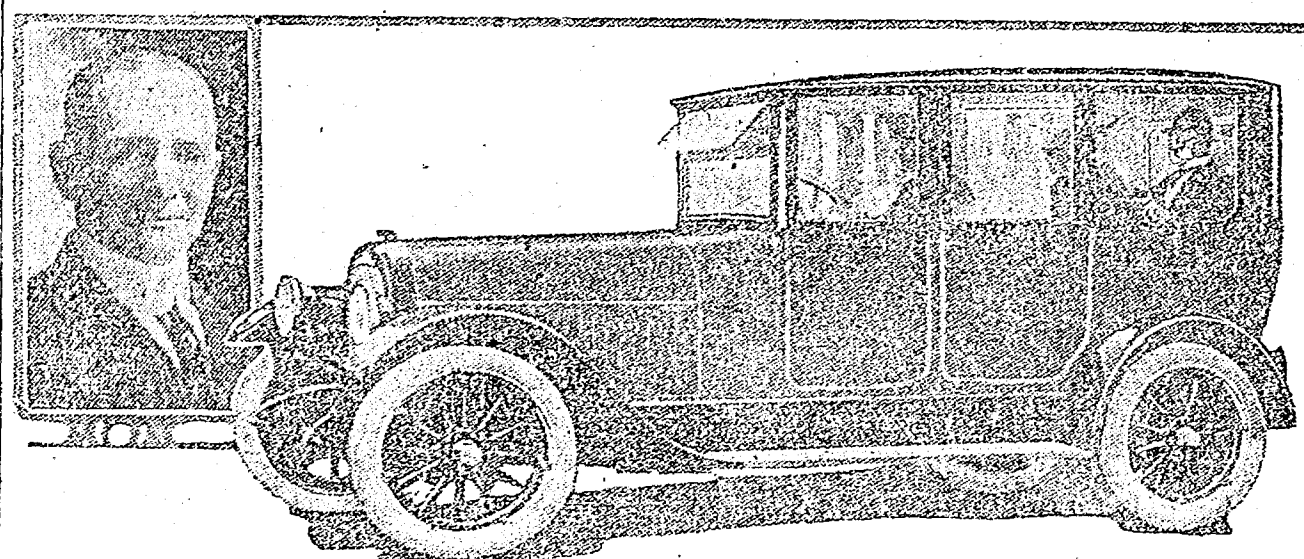

"The farmer today is more optimistic than he has ever been before. The last few years he has made lots of money but there has been no crop restrictions under which he has had to work. Now these are removed with an increasing demand resulting in a prosperity unthought of. A half a crop will be better than a big crop before Europe went to war.

"He is buying automobiles—tractors, trucks and passenger cars. He is even buying lighting plants and every kind of power machinery that will increase the production of his farm."

Enclosed Type of Car Is Rapidly Becoming a Favored 'Year Round Car' With Motorists

OLDS SEDAN HAS MANY BUYERS—Generally regarded valuable only as a winter car or as a "show car," the closed type now serves a wider purpose. Osen & Hunter Auto Company have delivered a number of Sedan models to buyers who intend using them for all motor purposes.

STUDEBAKER SEDAN LUXURIOUSLY APPOINTED—A distinct refinement is noted in the "19" Studebaker Sedans. Here pictured is the Light Six model. There is a brisk local demand for these cars. Insert is L. M. Dodson, who has joined the Weaver, Ables, Wells Company sales force.

Auto Is Ideal Christmas Gift

The Christmas shopping season is here again and for several weeks now we have been reading the time-honored slogan in the advertisements of the local merchants—"Do your Christmas shopping early."

There is at least one automobile concern in the city which has also taken advantage of the Christmas season to urge the merits of an automobile as an ideal Christmas gift.

"And after all isn't an automobile about the most suitable gift that anyone person or any family could receive?" asked Robert L. Alvies, manager of the Western Motors Company and originator of the "Maxwell for Christmas" idea.

"An automobile brings more joy and pleasure to a family the year round than any other article of merchandise. The family is enabled to get out into the open, health-giving air on Sundays and holidays, the women can use the car for about-town shopping and the men of the house often find valuable use for it in their business. It is an all-around gift for both pleasure and utility that means much to every member of the family."

MOTOR USERS TO PAY FULL HIGHWAY COST

A sixty million dollars bond issue to build 4200 miles of hard-surfaced roads was authorized by the voters of Illinois by an overwhelming majority at the election November 5. Unique features of the Illinois highway project which are worth investigation by the roadbuilders of other states are:

The entire cost of the road building program will be borne by users of motor vehicles. This is done by increasing the registration fees to the point where they will provide a fund sufficient to pay interest on the bonds and also to take care of the maintenance of roads after construction.

FRANKLIN CAR HONORED.
Mark L. Requa, director of the Oil Division of the Fuel Administration, according to a news story from Syracuse, recognizing the gasoline economy of the Franklin, purchased a Franklin touring car and four-passenger roadster.

Requited love?

"Nitrolizing" New Oil Refining Process

The Nitrolene Oil Company of Los Angeles, with service here in Oakland at 1750 Broadway, has discovered a new process in refining motor oil. It is a re-refined oil derived from selected crude, natural oils, by a special process (nitrolizing). The original and most valuable viscosity of the oil is preserved.

It enables the oil to maintain a slippery, elastic, continuous film of lubricant between all the metal surfaces, cushioning and relieving every shock, giving that soft, velvety motor action.

A few claims for Nitrolene, according to Local Manager, Forbes, are "that it reduces friction, increases compression, reduces gas consumption, increases oil mileage, prolongs the life of the motor. These statements are borne out by scores of testimonials on file with this company, of almost unbelievable performance records attested to by enthusiastic users. From 5 per cent to 25 per cent saving in gas, from 50 per cent to 100 per cent increase in oil mileage are some of the claims.

NEW HEADLIGHT LAW IS WANTED

(Continued From Page 27)

Interpretations of the motor law, this figure being the same as the number of counties in the state, the officers in each of which have their own version of correct legal rulings. Every county, regardless of its present efficiency or lack of it in proper road policing, depending upon the funds available for the work, would be patrolled in a manner capable of earning for the amount of travel passing through it.

The revenue to sustain this new department would be derived by annually taxing each motor vehicle operator 50 cents. At least $250,000 could be raised each year in this way. That amount is said to be ample to cover the maintenance expense.

FAVOR NEW LIGHT LAW.

At the Sacramento conference a more effective headlight law will be worked out. It is probable that a recommendation will be made to the present New York State Law will be made. The latter act is an improvement on California's statute. Any individual, firm or corporation would be required under the proposed act to see that every car sold was equipped with proper lights.

A mechanical signal system for all enclosed cars is another radical change sought by the police authorities. Because of the difficulty of a driver in a closed car to warn the driver of the car back of him of the direction he will turn at a street intersection many rear end collisions are caused at night. These can be averted, traffic officers assert, by compelling the owner to adopt some approved signal system.

BETTER TAIL LIGHTS URGED.

More efficient tail lights in order to distinguish rear license plate numbers is still another phase of the motor law which is likely to be remedied, and this will come up for debate tomorrow.

The meeting in the capital city, it must be understood is of an informal character and has been called by Acting Motor Vehicle Superintendent P. J. Tehaney in order to ascertain the views of interested officials in the department of laws now in force. That the legislative committee empowered to draft automobile laws will be guided largely by the suggestions coming from the Sacramento conference is almost certain.

Prosperous Year Is Maxwell Prediction

(Continued From Page 27)

asked as to the future outlook for trade conditions.

"The increased local demand for Maxwells has exceeded our expectations and has been called by many cars as we can allot to them.

"The public also seems in a buying mood. The relaxation of the pressure of war economies and the let-up on the worry about the future is releasing a great deal of money for the purchase of automobiles and other things which have long been desired but the purchase of which had been temporarily postponed."

When stopping at street intersections, keep out of the pedestrian zone.

PLACE YOUR ORDER NOW FOR A

FORD

To Insure Early Delivery.

H. M. Lawrence

Authorized Agent

12th and Jackson Sts. Phone Oakland 627

ROWELL MADE SALESMAN FOR WHITE COMPANY

Practically every automobile and truck distributor of this city and San Francisco is planning for an aggressive campaign for the business that all believe will be the outcome of the coming months of peace.

Reorganizations of sales forces, planning of advertising and selling campaigns and the building of effective wholesale organizations are the order of the day.

A number of changes have been announced along auto row during the past two weeks, among them being the appointment of Leonard G. Rowell to the retail sales department of the White Company in San Francisco by Manager G. A. Ughhart.

Rowell is well and favorably known to the automobile men of the city and has won his spurs in years of consistent winning as manager of the advertising department of the concern.

TAKES OVER U. S. TRUCKS IN NORTH

Announcement was made this week by Martin M. Hartmann, distributor of American and Oakland cars, that he had taken over the distribution of the United States Motor Truck line in the Northern California territory.

This announcement came as a surprise to the trade and yesterday Hartmann was receiving many congratulations from friends on his acquisition of this well known line of heavy duty trucks.

There is a great market for the heavy duty truck in the Northern California territory and in order to be in a position to secure a share of this business Hartmann is already making plans for the building up of a strong dealer organization throughout the territory.

Don't keep extra spark plugs and other delicate parts in with wrenches and jacks; the hash they make isn't a good truck diet.

JONES WAS RIGHT Smith: Logic, like the motor truck, is a common error.

"NITROLENE"
MOTOR OIL
Makes a 30 Shoot Like 60

Once a User
"Always"
Why?

5% to 25% saving in gas—50% to 100% increase in oil mileage. Backed by a money-back GUARANTEE
Further information call, write or phone
Nitrolene Motor Oil Co.,
1756 Broadway Phone Oak. 1654

FREE TUBE

As a Holiday Special For a Limited Period Only

Beginning December 9th, a Keaton heavy red Tube will be given without charge with every Keaton Non-Skid and European Type Tire. This applies to exchanges for old tires as well as straight sales.

Order your winter equipment at once before this liberal offer expires.

Keaton Tire & Rubber Co.

2811 BROADWAY Phone Lakeside 126
San Francisco, 636 Van Ness Avenue Phone Prospect 324

Highest Quality—Maximum Efficiency
At Lowest Cost

PEERLESS

Two Power Range Eight

$2785 HERE

We feel justly proud of the record made by the Peerless Motor Car Company in retaining the low schedule of prices during the war period. It is apparent that some manufacturers have taken advantage of war conditions to raise their prices to the highest possible limit and now we find them advertising reductions, which in reality is only a return to a very recent schedule.

We have maintained that the Peerless schedule of prices has been more than justified and a careful investigation will prove our statements that there is no better car on the market and there is none that can equal the Peerless record for economical and faithful performance.

IMMEDIATE DELIVERIES

Pioneer Motor Company

Golden Gate Ave., At Hyde Street. Telephone Park 444.

REPUBLIC

SOLID

TRUCK
TIRES

wear down as evenly and smoothly as a piece of steel and so slowly that the life of the tire is greatly prolonged.

They are made by the Prodim Process (an exclusive Republic feature), which makes them exceptionally strong and tough, and so resilient that truck upkeep is greatly reduced.

They stand up in the hardest kind of service and give dollar-for-dollar value.

Prodim Process rubber makes them immune from road cuts and chipping.

Our wish is that you

Test Republic solid truck tires alongside any other truck tires of like size. We know what the result will be. You will become a regular user of Republic Tires.

S. A. CORGIAT

29th and Broadway, Oakland

1919

Valve-in-Head

Buick

SIXES

The Best Cars Buick
Have Ever Produced

Noticeable in its improvements are—greater refinement in its lines—added finish—more quiet motor—more even spring suspension which gives added riding comforts—high-grade top with plate glass rear window—simpler ignition switch and an oil gauge on the dash.

Every mechanical feature which made the 1918 and earlier models so successful has been retained.

1919 models on display—inspection invited

HOWARD AUTO CO.

3300 BROADWAY Oakland

FIGURES LOSS OF BOOZE IS AID TO AUTOS

When old John Barleycorn takes the knockout count on the first of next July he cannot expect any sympathy or condoleance from the hunters that make the thousands that sell and the millions that own automobiles in this country, according to one auto writer.

For the motoring world will profit greatly from nation-wide prohibition, no says. Booze and gasoline, considered as teammates, have been a failure, dismal and complete. They will be remembered as one of the worst partnerships of all time, not excluding the notorious made-in-Germany combination of "Me and Gott."

"As far as the automobile is concerned, there is only one good thing that can be said about alcohol," writes George M. Dickinson, president of the National Motor Car and Vehicle Corporation, to Charlie Hebrank, manager of Osen and Hunter Auto Co. "It has proven fairly efficient in the East in an anti-freeze solution which poured into the radiator. That's the one and only mark to its credit."

"There will be a marked decrease in the number of automobile accidents and their attendant fatalities after the ban on the sale of the drink is put into effect. The court records show that the majority of the motorists, arrested for speeding, are under the influence of alcohol when they put their foot on the accelerator button in violation of the law. Oldfield or Ralph De Palma, too many highballs causing them to believe that a little old year's flivver is just as fast as Dario Resta's Peugeot."

INTEREST GROWS IN AUTO BUYING

Stimulated interest in automobile buying is very pronounced in San Francisco. The fortunate condition of the war has been followed by a revival in enthusiasm among present owners of motor vehicles and those who hope soon to become such. There is no question of the fact that the sense of depression which pervaded the entire country was very marked as it related to the motor car industry, but while there was less buying there was no diminution in hopes and aspirations.

A concrete example of conditions has been apparent at the establishment of C. D. Rand & Company, dealer and Jordan distributors. "The average number of callers at the store for the purpose of inspecting the cars has been ten daily," declared Rand yesterday. "A large percentage of these developed into actual buyers and the others were regarded as 'live' prospects."

"The San Francisco motorists have been especially interested in the new Mercer raceabout and runabout models which arrived last week and have been on display during the last few days."

"These cars are distinctive in every particular and make an especial appeal to those desiring the utmost in motor comfort and quality."

CHANGE OIL.
A prominent engineer recently made the statement that as we were now getting about 50 per cent gasoline to 40 per cent kerosene in our motor fuel the oil in the crank case ought to be changed every 500 miles of travel. With this heavier fuel the kerosene gets a chance to work down into the oil compartment, where it destroys the lubricating properties of the oil and cuts the bearings to pieces in a short time.

Tribune Trophy to Be Awarded Walter Aplin Is Winner of Cup

Final Chapter in Disputed Tire Contest Wednesday Night

Wednesday night the Alameda County Automobile Trade Association will hold its first general meeting in more than two months. Instead of a program featured with various sorts of entertainment, a business meeting of a serious character will be held. Two prominent speakers, H. J. Banta, commercial manager of Weinstock-Nichols Co., and Almer Chipman are scheduled to deliver addresses which will deal with the future business problems of automobile dealers must face in the general readjustment of business.

Both men occupy important positions in the commercial world and are regarded as keen students of industrial and industrial affairs. Banta is looked upon as one of the foremost automobile accessory men in the United States and has had a training in important capacities which fits him ideally to judge motor trade conditions in an accurate manner.

Chipman is an efficiency engineer and his services have been in demand by large corporations throughout the country.

TRIBUNE TROPHY AWARD.
The final chapter in the controversy of nearly year's duration over the disputed TRIBUNE trophy was contested for last January and finally won by Walter Aplin of the Oakland Motor Works. He will be presented in a ceremony which will take place Wednesday night when Aplin will come into possession of the cup.

Motorists will recall that the decision of the referee was not considered in order by the numerous winners who noted as officials for the audience present at the Orpheum Theater on the night of the contest. At an executive meeting of the Automobile Trade Association held shortly after the dealers' theater party, Referee C. A. Muller changed his decision by declaring a "No Contest" and agreeing to a new attempt to settle the championship.

In the second affair Aplin again won with ease, but the holder of the original TRIBUNE trophy assumed an unportsman-like attitude and refused to give up the cup. Legal action followed, which was interrupted by the enlistment of the disqualified winner.

To bring the matter to a close, the Automobile Association voted to purchase a new trophy and present it to Aplin. This will be done Wednesday and Aplin, after patiently waiting, will finally come into possession of the TRIBUNE cup.

To Combine Display With Truc hand Auto

(Continued From Page 27)

M. Baker, former president of the Detroit Automobile Dealers' Association, said Detroit's show would be national in character.

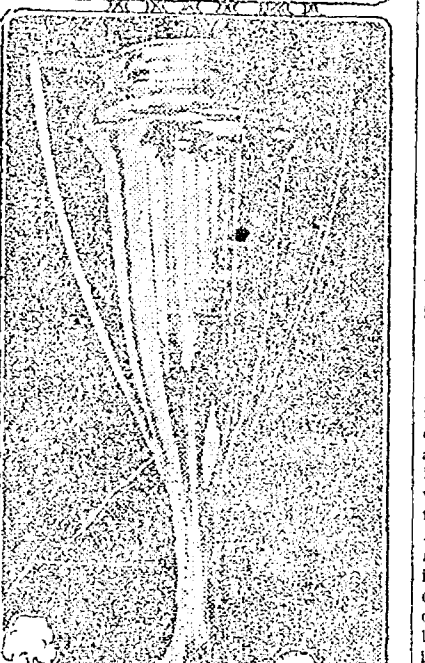

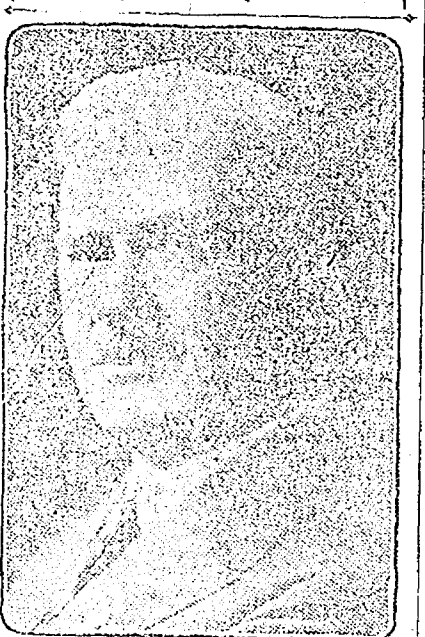

Dealers from all sections of the country, Mr. Baker pointed out, will come to Detroit to see the factories and make arrangements for the selling season, and this show will give the visiting dealers their only opportunity to look over all lines.

Tractor manufacturers are taking advantage of every opportunity to make dealers and the general public acquainted with their products and the dealers feel that more tractor space will be applied for than will be available.

The date for holding the show will be announced later.

GEAR CHANGES.
If drivers would only learn it the easiest way to avoid many gear changes is to make the necessary ones quickly. By slowing down the engine to about 600 revolutions at the beginning of a hill it is often possible to save making an additional change later on, in addition to which one makes a quicker climb anyway. Also the early change saves strain on the engine and transmitting parts.

(Top) H. J. BANTA of Weinstock-Nichols Company. (Center) Tribune trophy to be awarded Wednesday night to Walter Aplin (lower).

STANDARD OIL ADDS NEW TRUCK

Another Federal truck was recently added to the transportation equipment of the Standard Oil Company, according to the William L. Hughson Company, distributors of the truck on the coast.

It has been put into commission in the Santa Rosa district, distributing oil, gasoline and kerosene to their numerous gasoline stations in that locality.

The tank mounted on the frame of this truck is capable of holding almost a thousand gallons of liquid, and is one of the latest types of bodies to be used by this large oil company.

The work demanded of a truck in this truck is capable of holding almost a thousand gallons of liquid, and is one of the latest types of bodies to be used by this large oil company.

The Federal trucks now being used by this large company have given unusually good service, one of the reasons for this recent addition to their equipment.

OUTLINE THEME IN ADVERTISING

Martin V. Kelley of Toledo, one of the best known advertising authorities in the United States, has just published a book, "The Theme in Advertising." In it he makes a number of sensational claims on the merits and weakness of various publicity appeals.

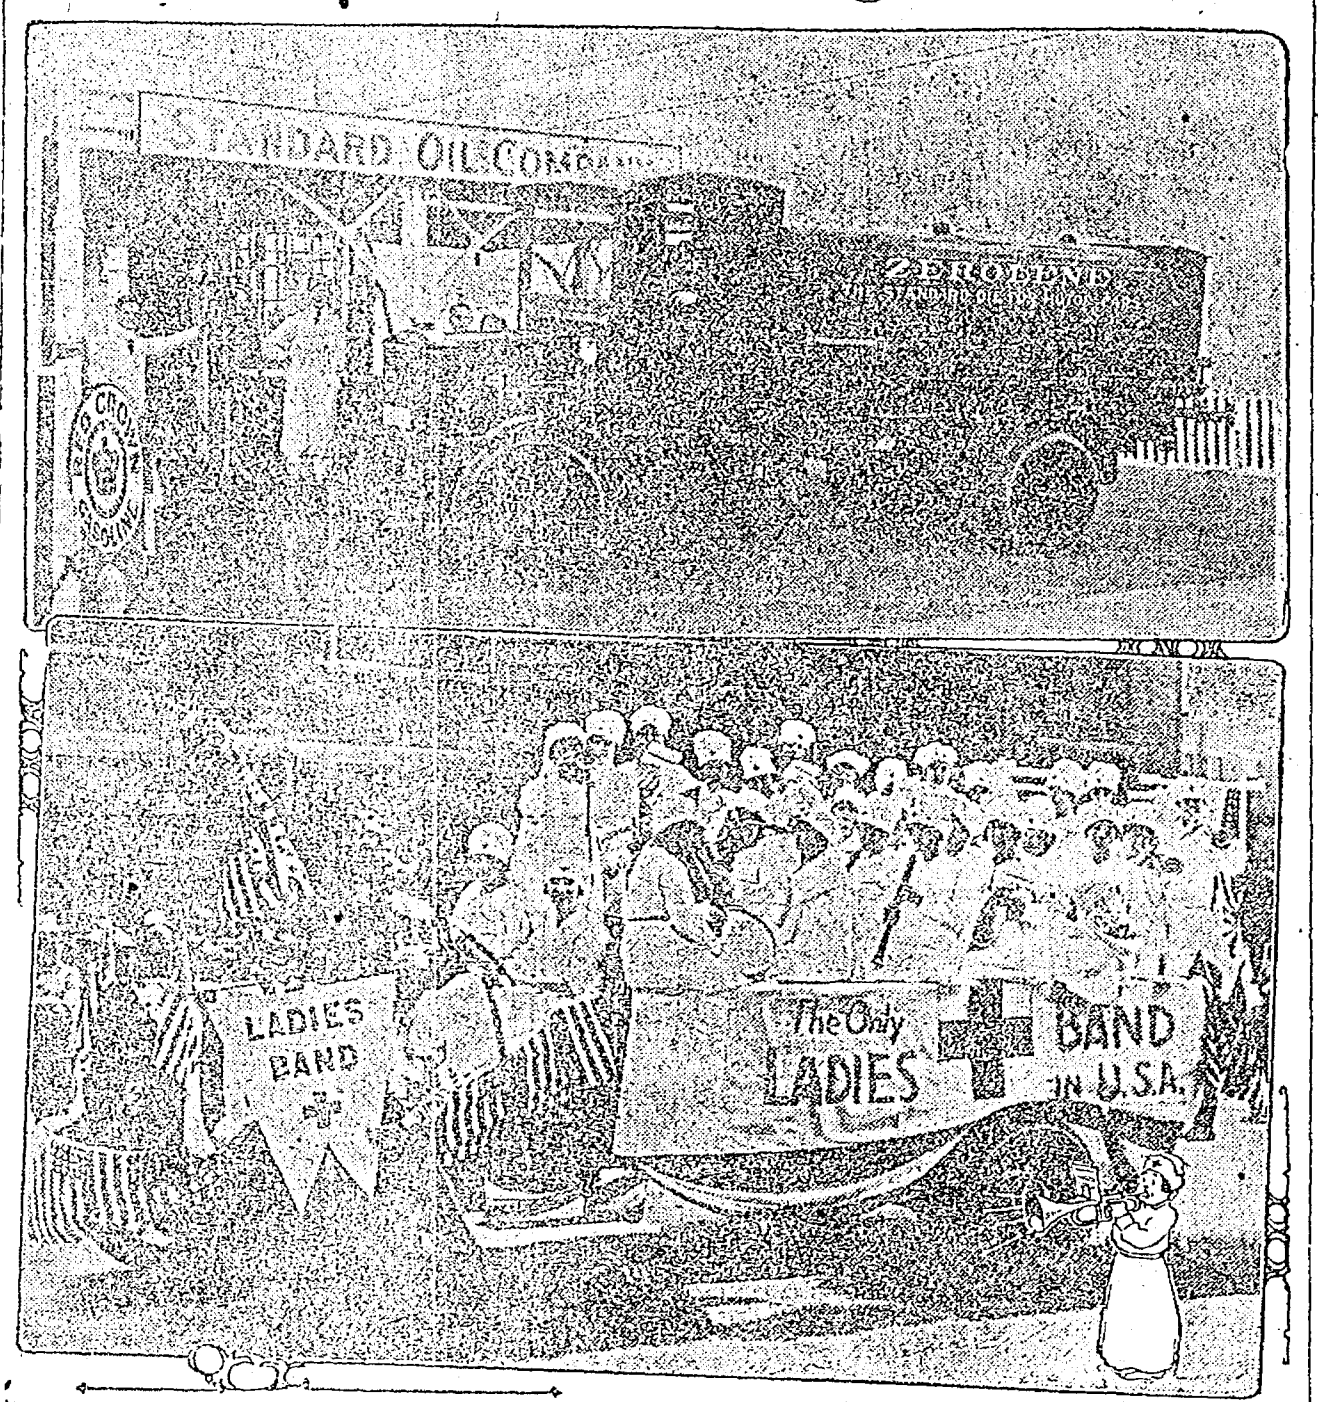

The "theme" idea, briefly outlined, is that every advertisement should have running through it a dominant note easily absorbed, as the author assumes advertising must be simple so that the idea may be quickly grasped. For, the writer strictly adheres to his theory, that only in rare cases are advertisements read throughout. They are rather a series of quick and repeated impressions. The "theme" makes it easier to comprehend this message quickly, reaches every intellect and links every separate advertisement with its predecessor.

This "theme" should, in Kelley's opinion, lead itself preferably to illustration of countless variations to make it attractive and to avoid monotony through repetition.

"If you have an article to sell why not run one advertisement telling the whole story in that one advertisement and quit?" continues the author. "Answer this question and you have told the reason for 'Theme' advertising."

The law states that a rear light must be kept burning at night so the number may be easily seen.

Increasing Use of Motor Trucks Being Shown In Industrial Lines Throughout California

FEDERAL AND WHITE MODELS POPULAR—Upper view is of another Federal truck just purchased by the Standard Oil Company. Lower view depicts Los Angeles Ladies' Band which recently toured Southern California on behalf of the Red Cross.

VACUUM TANK.
Once a week or so it is advisable to open the drain cock at the bottom of the vacuum fuel feed tank. It will generally be found that a few drops of rust and water will flow out before any gasoline appears. Sometimes it is necessary to push a wire up the drain cock to start a flow of any sort. The inference is that unless this foreign matter is removed at regular intervals carburetion troubles may ensue.

METAL GAS HOSE BEST.
A good many car owners who buy gasoline by the barrel have rigged up ordinary rubber hose attachments for running the fuel into the tank. Now, gasoline quickly destroys rubber and the particles getting into the fuel cause trouble. It is advisable, therefore to use metal hose or some other special type for this purpose.

FAILING IN GEAR.
Back lash or play in the steering unit is a very common failing. On most types of worm and worm wheel reduction gears, which are located at the bottom of the post, the shaft of the worm wheel is equipped with an eccentric bushing. By turning this bushing so that the gear teeth are forced into proper mesh the back lash may be taken up.

TRUCK INTEREST IS STILL LARGE

Optimism reigns at the San Francisco headquarters of the International Mack Corporation, western representatives for the Mack truck, and the outlook, according to R. H. Morris, branch manager, is exceedingly good.

"Fleets of Mack Bull Dog trucks were turned out by the International Motor Company during the war for the use of the engineers overseas," said Morris. "In fact, in order to supply the necessary number of trucks needed by the government, the manufacturing facilities of the factory were increased."

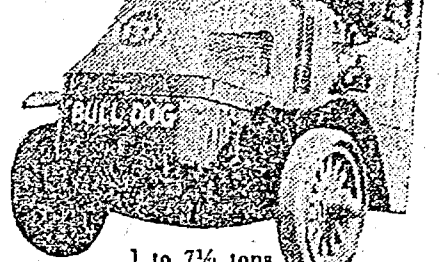

"As an example of the straits to which we have been put, for several months we have had an order from one of the public utilities corporations for eleven Mack trucks, and try as hard as we could, we have been able to deliver but a part of them. This concern is so thoroughly confident of the superiority of Mack's for their lines of work that they have been willing to accept deliveries as they could be made, rather than buy other trucks which they might have obtained immediately."

PERFORMANCE COUNTS

Satisfaction is the stuff that "Macks" are made of Early Deliveries

1 to 7 1/2 tons
INTERNATIONAL
MACK CORPORATION
BRANCH:
2020 Van Ness Avenue,
San Francisco
FACTORY SERVICE

Cole Aero-Eight Tourster

A car of distinction

A car as impressive in its lines, as perfect in its symmetry, possessing the poise and spirit of the Aero-Eight Tourster requires no elaborate description.

Speed, Power, Comfort and Economy mark the performance of this high quality motor car.

Demonstration by Appointment
Immediate Delivery

California Motor Sales Co.
3034 BROADWAY, OAKLAND
1420 Van Ness Ave., San Francisco; Phone Prospect 6300

BETHLEHEM MOTOR TRUCKS

Victorious
Over the Wear and Weight of War
Time Work

Bethlehem Trucks stood the "gaff" of war-weight-loads and did it without special care, and at a distinct economy in operation, upkeep and investment.

Bethlehem service means more than any speedometer can show you in mileage—it means the carrying of whatever you have to transport to wherever you have to get it in the least possible time and at minimum effort and expense.

Bethlehem Trucks are built to carry the owner's confidence as well as his goods. They are the modern motor trucks equipped with Gray & Davis Electric Starting and Lighting, a Driving Shaft Steady Bearing which prevents shaft troubles, and a whole catalog of other improved features.

Get a Bethlehem Internal Gear Drive Motor Truck and receive the kind of service you must have to put your business on a 100% work basis.

1 1/4 Ton Chassis	2 1/2 Ton Chassis
$1965	$2365
3 1/4 Ton Chassis
$3465

F. O. B. Allentown

The motor truck bought today without electric starting and lighting will be out of date tomorrow. Examine a Bethlehem and know why.

E. L. Peacock Auto Co.
3020 BROADWAY
Lakeside 5100.

Another FEDERAL FITTED TO A BIG JOB IN SAN FRANCISCO

Every buyer is given the type of Federal and body that is best fitted to the work it will have to do—Federal engineers have made a complete study of business requirements.

There Is a Federal Capacity For Every Need

Write for Traffic News, with Its Interesting stories of haulage

WILLIAM L. HUGHSON CO.
24TH AND BROADWAY, OAKLAND
Branches—Portland, Seattle, San Francisco, Fresno, San Diego, Los Angeles.

Society and Women's Section

Knave
NEWS OF WOMEN AND CHILDREN
WAR WORKERS OF EASTBAY

Oakland Tribune Sunday, December 8, 1918

the revolution of the Carpenter of Nazareth.

In this scene Miss Lucy Van de Mark impersonates the Madonna, singing two solos. David McCloskey and Lawrence Strauss likewise offer solos that illuminate the story, with the beautiful angels' chorus the climax. Assisting in this big feature are the Wednesday Morning Choral, the Orpheus Club, church choirs and other singing societies—the episode that typifies the birth of the spirit of the world.

The third episode, "The Service and Achievement," the big thrills are.

In this phase groups of handsome women will impersonate the Allies, who have put into reality the gospel of the Christ. A joveller

Mrs. Percy Murdock, the South; Mrs. Kenneth Lowden, the West; Mrs. Porter Garnett, American Indian; Miss Marguerite Howard, Hawaii; Mrs. Everett Brown, Britannia; Mrs. George Newton, Ireland; Mrs. William Thornton White, Egypt; Mrs. Joseph Russell Knowland, India; Mrs. T. Arthur Rickard, France; Mrs. Harry Mann, the Wright, Alsace; Mrs. Kenneth L. Brackett, Belgium; Mrs. Blanche Sharon Farr, Italy; Mrs. C. G. Lee, China; Mrs. Joseph J. Rosborough, Victory; Mrs. Joseph Carlston, Liberty; Mrs. Edward de Laveaga of San Francisco, Portugal.

Among the cymbal dancers whose business it is to keep the luxury-loving Cleopatra from the doldrums

Campbell, Grace Jackson, Ruth Codman, Betty Garden, Dorothy Brown, Miriam Sizor, Rosalind Blair, Miss Schilling, Miss Edward Campbell Rose.

The garland dancers, drawn from the high schools, are the Misses Carolyn Kenyon, Sibyl Smith, Phyllis O'Brien, Dawne Gimbel, Enid Nello, Mary Waterhouse, Lucille Wistrand, Mable Legare, Eileen Shanks, Marjorie Shanks, Beulah Fay, Thelma Lewis, Dorothy Black, Hazel Chestnut, Rebecca Gray, Kathryn Kilbourne, Margarita Spruance, Elizabeth Edinger, Charlotte Doty, Estelle Eddy, Caroline Yost, Alma Reimers, Helen Stone, Elizabeth Peppin, Clarice Decker, Marjorie Whitcomb.

Among the well-known Berkeley-

Il. C. Capwell, Tyler Henshaw, A. S. Lavenson, Walton Moore, Harold B. Fay, Joseph R. Knowland, Herbert Hamilton Brown, William Thornton White, Frank Procter, Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Grissim and Mrs. Geo. Tyson, and the Misses Beatrice Simpson, Florine Brown and Chrissie Taft. And others are coming in every minute, now that the pageant is on in full swing.

Postponement is a deadening thing. No wonder brides are superstitious about postponing weddings. Enough things happen under the happiest augury.

When the flu caught us amidst the pageant was booming along with an enthusiasm that was infectious. But it is again loosed in the air, and today there is nothing der five who have, for some reason or other, been handicapped by deformity or disease. And it's your business and mine to correct it and start them off right.

That's patriotism.

AT FAIRMONT

Since Mrs. Alexander McCrackin's return to the bay country from Camp Lewis, where for over a year she has been hostess at the Hostess House, winning the undying friendship of thousands of men in the service and their loved ones, she has been entertained at all sorts of interesting affairs. No more popular service woman was known on the coast than was Mrs. McCrackin when, as wife of Rear-Admiral McCrackin, stationed at Mare Island, she was the center of a charming social life that has never been eclipsed.

Mrs. McCrackin is at the Fairmont for a time, chaperoning the Misses Carolyn and Beatrice Lester, daughters of the Winthrop Elwyn Lesters of Los Angeles—two very interesting girls who have inherited much of their mother's charm.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hobart will entertain for their nieces in Burlingame, and old friends of their mother will give them a cordial welcome. Their childhood was spent at the old Hobart home at Van Ness avenue and Washington street, that after the fire became a commercial establishment, and has since been razed.

Much of the time of the debutantes has been passed abroad or at school in the East, and this year San Francisco society will have its first opportunity of greeting them.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Baldwin of Newport and Colorado Springs, their uncle and aunt, are planning to come to California for their annual visit later in the season to join their nieces at the Fairmont, when a lot of interesting things will happen socially in their honor.

ARLETT BETROTHAL

A felicitous surprise to college friends was the announcement of the betrothal of Miss Grace Arlett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Arlett of Chabot Road, now a guest in Hawaii, and Thomas R. Duncan, U. S. N. Miss Arlett's fiancé is attached to a receiving ship off the coast of New York, awaiting orders.

Thomas Duncan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Duncan of Dallas, Tex. He is a graduate of the Texas Normal College of that city. Present plans for the wedding are indefinite, but promises well for an early celebration.

The Arletts are leaders of Oakland's civic and cultural sets, Mr. Arlett having for many years taken an important part in state politics.

Mme. de Hemptinne Circle, of which Mrs. Rollin Ayres is president, and which for many months has supplied money and clothes for the refugees at Calais, France, is planning a Christmas tree party for one hundred children at home. A request for Christmas tree ornaments has been made, to be sent to Mrs. Ayres' home, 223 Jayne avenue.

The Christmas tree party will be held December 23 in the auditorium of Plymouth Center, offered for the merry day.

ON OTHER SIDE

The Edison F. Adamsses are finding the Fairmont an attractive tarrying-place.

Miss Elizabeth Adams and her mother make regular trips, however, to the Oakland Red Cross Shop, for which they bear a warm affection. Mrs. Adams has been superintendent of the shop almost since its inception.

Both mother and daughter are likewise serving in the new shop opened on Monday across the bay.

Mrs. D. W. Eberts and her daughter, Miss Carol Eberts, will establish in their new home in Derby street, Berkeley, tomorrow, having given up their home in Mariposa street, Oakland, that Miss Eberts might be nearer college.

Mrs. Kenneth Allston Williams (Margaret Eberts) is still at Brompton, where her husband, Lieutenant Williams, is stationed.

An engagement announced this week to Eastbay friends is that of Miss Jeanette Voorsanger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Voorsanger of San Francisco, and Leon Martin of Melbourne, Australia. The bride is a niece of the late Dr. Jacob Voorsanger, former rabbi of Temple Emanuel-EI and for some years immediately prior to his death professor of Hebrew at the University of California.

Lieutenant John Okell, U. S. A., who was on leave from Pensacola, Fla., divided his time between the home of the Edward Marion Walsheas, and the Okell ranch at Suisun, Cal.

MRS. JOSEPH ROSBOROUGH (standing), who for the three brilliant nights of the Baby Hospital Bazaar at the auditorium, will impersonate the Empress of Rome, the beautiful wife of Augustus Caesar, in the pageant, "The Road to Victory." Seated is MRS. CLIFFORD DURANT, who will hold the honor of personifying America in the colorful pantomime, with a background accented by the presence of two hundred or more soldiers and sailors and airmen. The pageant's first presentation is Thursday evening. Dancing will follow.

By SUZETTE.

Glorious days these, with the "Grizzlies" and hosts of other heroes on the way; a fit time to put on the "Road to Victory," the splendid pageant that has been weeks in preparation—quite the most colorful thing, and Bohemian, that Oakland has yet undertaken. It is for the Baby Hospital.

SUCH glorious days! The "Grizzlies" are coming! Three thousand lads in blue from Mare Island are visioning "home and mother" for Christmas! The wise men of the world are gathering at Versailles—Versailles of dramatic story—to bring the blessings of Peace to the people of the earth—Peace and Liberty.

And nearer home we are putting our houses in order for the triumphant homecoming of our beloved who have been fighting the Good Fight. And there is joy in the soul in these pre-Christmas days for the coming fulfillment of the Sermon of the Mount.

It, be it not forgot, there is also a dumb sorrow where the Rea, has gathered his toll, and for whom we are gathering lilies. But the rest it is the hour for roses and song and gleaming color, and dancing and opening up our hearts to our fellows, and letting in the light. It is the beginning of Life. And there is joy in the soul in bringing forth in glittering splendor the pageant, "Road to Victory," wherein the men and women of the Eastbay country are to play and lose themselves in the characters that have made the warp and woof of history, good and bad, but never dull, for dull characters don't live.

And so on Thursday evening the Auditorium will be peopled with the Caesars in all their glory, with the princesses of Golconda, a gleam with the jewels of India; Cleopatra, the Sorceress, with Mark Antony in her train; Thais, the Alluring, and a hundred other sirens and slaves of the days that were the splendor that was Rome's.

That is the first episode, with two stunning beauties, Mrs. Joseph Rosborough, the Empress of the Romans, and Mrs. William Thornton White, the exotic queen of Egypt, Cleopatra, whose court rivaled the splendor of Semiramis. Joseph Rosborough will be Mark Antony, as if molded for the part. Other stunning characters will be Mrs. Joseph Russell Knowland as an East Indian princess bearing tribute; Mrs. Harold Havens as the alluring Thais, who will dance the Dance of the Veils before Cleopatra, the Imperious One. And Roman generals will flank the throne swirled in their togas of royal hues.

This episode will unfold before a scene of the Mediterranean, blue even as our own blue bay, Roman pillars and marble couches filling the picture of the sumptuous days of the Caesars.

And then the second episode, the Coming of the Light—the light of the Star of Bethlehem—will epitomize the new era, when the pomp of Rome and Greece paled before group would be hard to find, even in California, where women grow as they grew in old Greece, free in the glory of sunshine and hills.

In this episode are: Mrs. Clifford Durant, America; Miss Sally Long, the Army; Miss Sally Havens, the Navy; Mrs. Carl Rhodin, the East; are, the Misses Katharine Howard Bennett, Sue Davis Tuttle, Helen Davis, Marguerite Howard, Helen Louise Saylor, Elsie Mae Shnock, Janet Knox, Miriam Marks, Penelope McEntyre, Priscilla Colton, Betty Colton, Gertrude Kane, Marguerite Geary, Vivienne Thomson, Harriet ans who have taken boxes are: Messrs. and Mesdames S. M. Marks, E. C. Holmes, J. B. Havre, F. F. Hall, William Thorsen, George Moore, Lucius Greene, Warner McCann, Paul O. Tietzen, Hill Tolerton, R. F. Thomas, T. A. Rickard, George O'Brien, E. B. King, R. M. Simms, Duncan McDuffie, Frank Stringham and Mrs. Andrew Davis.

Among the prominent Oaklanders who have taken boxes are: Messrs. and Mesdames Wallace Alexander, social that has not to do with the Baby Hospital pageant and bazaar.

The bazaar, with all manner of beautiful and useful things, opens on Thursday morning, continuing until Saturday night, when the dramatic pageantry will come to a climax with a dance in the big arena, aflame with color and light and beauty and chivalry.

Of course, you are going! It's for the babies—the kiddies un-

SOCIETY by Suzette

tenant Okell left early in the week for the south. Mrs. Okell did not accompany him. She will spend the remaining winter months with her parents.

SMART LUNCHEON

The debutantes are at last coming into their own.

Every day that goes by offers something done by or for them. And who is there to say it isn't coming to them—these brave little maids who put by all the legitimate things that belong to first-year girls, to do the thing that needed doing, and all the world knows how well they did it.

One of the outstanding affairs of the week was the luncheon given by Miss Helen St. Goar at the Woman's Athletic Club. Among the guests were

MISSSES
Elizabeth Adams, Josephine Clark, Josephine Grant, Jean Boyd, Rena Poler, Helen Eare, Emily Tabin, Helen Lynch, Cecily Caswell, Mary Boardman, Jacqueline Bess, Helen Holladay, Lacy Hanchett, Marie Louise Wislow, Mary Elma Macdonald, Katherine Treat, Betty Foster, Mary Emma Flood.

Mrs. Frank Hicks of Los Angeles, who has been visiting about the bay several weeks, left a few days ago for her home in the south. During her stay she passed much of her time with her sisters-in-law, Mrs. Ethel Hager and Mrs. Walter Dean.

RED CROSS HOME

A lot of Eastbay Red Cross devotees went over to the dedication of the new Red Cross Home on Thursday afternoon—the blue, pink, green and white little bungalows with colorful trimmings that rise up out of the City Hall lawn—a thing of beauty if only an ephemeral thing, for know ye it is the work of Bernard Maybeck, the arch-enemy of the commonplace. And indeed a joy it is to look upon so harmonious a color scheme as the creator of the Palace of Fine Arts has bestowed upon the group of utilitarian buildings that, but for their color, would be unpardonably ugly.

The San Francisco chapter kept open house from 2 to 10, with John A. Britton the host in the afternoon and A. S. Macdonald, of Piedmont, chairman of the building committee, with a group of departmental heads the guides, doing the honors in the evening.

Among them were Mrs. Joseph Sloss, Miss Alice Griffith, Miss Lucy Allyn, Mrs. Drummond MacGavin, Mrs. M. C. Sloss, Mrs. E. H. L. Gregory, Miss Mabel Arnstein, Mrs. Philip Kamm, Harry R. Bogart.

Refreshments were served during the reception hours by Mrs. Max C. Sloss and her committee, made up of Mesdames Charles Sedgwick Alken, William Hinkley Taylor, J. J. Gottlob, H. N. Gray, Isadore Cahen, Felix Kahn, Timothy Healy, W. W. Tomlinson, Richard Jose and Thurlow McMullin and Misses Agnes Rowan, Charlotte Ebbetts, Natalie Bowman, Anna Beaver and Julia Hinkle, T. J. Kraemer.

The Yerba Buena training school band, always standing to when there's need for melody, played through the interesting hours, during which thousands of round-the-bay folk poured through the new Home of Mercy.

LAUREL BRANCH

The many prominent Oakland women belonging to the Laurel branch of the Baby Hospital are preparing a sensation for basket lovers at the hospital bazaar next month. They are offering every type of box and basket that skillful fingers can evolve. There are some stunning waste baskets, in rich color harmonies, capacious knitting tubs and knitting bags, and every kind of sewing basket under the sun. Then there are baskets for little girls in quaint Kate Greenaway effects; lace-ruffled powder boxes for the boudoir, and stunning market baskets for good housekeepers who adorn the telephone type of marketing.

Three of the charming young girls of the Technical High School who are presenting the Garland Dance that forms one of the most spectacular features of the beautiful second episode of the pageant, "Road to Victory." From left to right, they are the MISSES ETHEL POWELL, MARIE LOEB and MARIE POWELL. The dancers are rehearsing with a compelling enthusiasm that means that the show will open with a "zip."

The branch is offering again the handsome boxes filled with prunes which so many people sent east last year—and they have not forgotten the many bay women who spend the spring working with trowel and pruning-shears; for these they have made the most fetching "garden sets" with aprons, basket and gloves to match.

Among the well-known members of this branch are Miss Beatrice Simpson, Mrs. Edison F. Adams, Mrs. George Jensen, Mrs. Thomas Olney, Mrs. Spence Black, Mrs. Charles Hutchinson, Mrs. A. A. Moore, Mrs. Wallace Alexander and Mrs. Frank Stringham. Mrs. Frank Proctor will have charge of cigars and cigarettes at the bazaar.

Incidentally, Mrs. Proctor has moved into her new home and is quite fixed in her new domicile.

Mrs. Carey Hill recently entertained at luncheon the group of young matrons who have been meeting during the war to do Red Cross work. Among the guests were Mrs. William Rideout, Mrs. William Wells Jr., Mrs. Frederick Farnham, Mrs. Jack Van Sicken and Miss Irene Farrel.

In compliment to Mrs. Howard Huntington, Mrs. Allan Chickering entertained at luncheon this week in her home in Piedmont.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Starr of Piedmont will be at home Sunday afternoon to friends whom they have asked to meet Mr. and Mrs. Howard Huntington, who are being royally welcomed by Oakland's smart set.

HOSTS TO ARTISTS

Mr. and Mrs. William Thornton White were dinner hosts to a group of distinguished visiting artists on Thursday evening, the affair a delightful approach to the concert that made musical history for us. The dinner was quite the largest of the winter, and unquestionably one of the most interesting. And such a marvelous chance to air one's French! An amazing feature of the coming of the French artist-heroes, however, is that some of them speak very good English.

The dinner was given at the White home. After the concert, Mr. and Mrs. White were the center of a gay supper party, this at the Hotel Oakland.

BETROTHAL

A betrothal that is of intimate interest to society both sides of the bay was proclaimed to friends this week—Miss Dorothy Taft and George Marwedel—when the news was passed along from friend to friend.

Miss Taft, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clay Taft, has rendered distinctive service to the Red Cross and other national movements, standing with her sister, Miss Christie Taft, in all her effective work for the Cause.

Both the girls are cultivated and traveled, and hold a fine appreciation of good things, the result of a sympathetic residence abroad.

Mr. Marwedel comes of a well-known family around the bay, the family home being among the fine old places in Fruitvale that in days gone by were centers of social life on this side of the bay.

The bride-elect is a good motorist, driving her car where the need for service arises.

The wedding date has not been determined upon—at any rate it has not been announced.

ALAMEDA WEDDING

At the home of Mrs. A. Mayrlich in Alameda the marriage of Miss Mary E. Dunbar of Portland, Ore., and Hans Lemcke was celebrated on Tuesday evening. The marriage ritual of the Episcopal church was read at 8:30 o'clock in the presence of immediate members of the two families and a few friends.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Edward A. Valentine (Helen Willkomm). Max Willkomm, brother of Mrs. Valentine, served as best man.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth K. Dunbar of Portland, and was a former Alameda girl. Her fiancé is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Lemcke of Alameda, a graduate of the University of California and member of the Sigma Nu fraternity. He is interested in ranching at Durham.

The bridal gown was white tulle over cloth of silver. Mrs. Valentine wore a pretty frock of orchid shade of tulle.

Following their honeymoon Mr. Lemcke and his bride will reside at their ranch at Durham.

SCHOOL GIRLS' MITE

The girls of Miss Ransom's school turned over to the fund for the Belgian Relief for Women and Children $570 from their fete at the school last Saturday—a record that is self-explanatory of their zeal. Most of the sales, too, brought in but small sums, so the contribution represents a hundred times more labor than appears upon the surface.

Miss Ransom, president of the Belgium Relief, has been eminently successful in rounding up something like $1000 a month for the unhappy Belgian people almost since the war began. In the work she is loyally supported by the students of her school, who are not only helping to soften the hardships and cruelties of war, but are thus receiving the best possible training in personal responsibility.

RUGBY THIS TIME

It was a gay gathering yesterday that assembled at Ewing Field across the bay when the Stanford rugby stalwarts played Santa Clara.

And particularly was it interesting following so closely upon what we are pleased to call the "old" game—American football. It gave a lot of us a chance to compare the two games in point of human interest.

The patrons and patronesses included the Messrs. and Mesdames Benjamin Ide Wheeler, James K. Moffitt, Oscar Suto, Robert Fitzgerald, Stuart Hawley, Guy Chaffee Earl, Wigginton E. Creed, Charles Butters, William Cavalier, Warren Olney Jr., J. Arthur Elston, William E. Colby, and the Misses Winifred Bangs, Evelyn Reed, Effie Kroll and Marian Leale.

Major and Mrs. George Mayo are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a son, George Mayo Jr.

Major Mayo is visiting in San Francisco from Camp Thompson, Virginia, on leave. Mrs. Mayo was formerly Miss Dorothy Thompson of Mill Valley, whose family has many affiliations around the bay.

ARTISTS' LUNCHEON

It was a memorable affair that the Chamber of Commerce mothered or fathered—which is it?—on Thursday afternoon at the Hotel Oakland to do honor to France through honoring the aggregation of artists led by Messier Messenger.

The ballroom was crowded to the guards with one of the most interesting audiences Oakland has ever gathered together, made up of men and women from all walks of life, meeting together to acknowledge the tribute that is in their hearts for her service to humanity; for the artists whose artistry Oakland enjoyed in the evening at Ye Liberty

Arthur Farwell, Joseph Caine, Mr. and Mrs. Bertrand York, Miss Annie Brown, Dr. and Mrs. J. Lorin Pease, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mitchell Potter, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Lavenson, Mrs. Daniel Easterbrook, Mrs. Minor Goodall, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fitzgerald, Dr. Aurella Reinhardt, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Aber, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Alexander, Mrs. Frank Avery, Mr. and Mrs. Horatio Bonestell, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Chamberlain, Mrs. Allen Chickering, Miss Violet Whitney, Mrs. Arthur Thomson, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Capwell, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Walker, Mrs. Isaac Upham, Mr. and Mrs. A. Vander Nalven, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Thatcher, Mr. and Mrs. David Perkins, Miss Christie Taft, Judge and Mrs. Charles E. Snook, Mrs. Fred Sherman, Dr. and Mrs. Herbert J. Samuels, Miss Maude Edith Pope, Mrs. John H. Perline, Mrs. Edgar Ormsby, Mrs. Harrison Clay, Miss Mona Crellin, Miss Caire, Mr. and Mrs. Norman De Vaux, Mr. and Mrs. John N. Donovan, Mr. and Mrs. Newton Koser, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Frick, Judge and Mrs. Dudley Kinsell, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Morgan, Mrs. John J. Valentine, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Bocqueraz, Mrs. Edgar Ormsby, Mrs. Edwin Garthwaite, Mrs. Victor Metcalf, Mrs. Spens Black, Mrs. John W. Stetson, Miss Theresa Russau and Miss Allene Edoff.

"Marsellaise" was sung as Frenchmen sing it—as a French artist sings it, Antoine de Valley.

Witter Bynner, whom good fortune has cast among us as our own, read his poem, "Republique to Republic," at the luncheon:

France!
It is I answering,
America!

And it shall be remembered not only in our lips, but in our hearts,
And shall awaken forever familiar and new as the morning
That we were the first of all lands
To be lovers.

To run to each other with the incredible cry of recognition.
Bound by ties of nearness or of knowledge

But of the nearness of the heart.
You chose me then—
And so I choose you now
By the same nearness—
And the name you called me then
I call you now—
O Liberty, my Love!

Dr. George Lyman, who enlisted with the medical corps of the army, has received his official discharge from the service and will consequently not go abroad.

Dr. Lyman's section has been taken over by the French Red Cross.

Mrs. Norman Bates (Helen Sargent) left this week for the Philippines to join her husband, Major Bates, U. S. M. C. Mrs. Bates, accompanied by her sister, Miss Harriet Sargent, came to the States early this year and has been planning to return to the Islands for some time, but was deterred by shipping conditions.

ditions. She has been the guest of her parents, the Fred G. Sargents, during her visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Noah Dewey of Alameda are entertaining as house guests over the Christmas holidays Mr. and Mrs. C. L. McDonald, parents of Mrs. Dewey. Mrs. McDonald has recently come from Hollywood, while Mr. McDonald has journeyed south from Portland.

CLASSES RESUMED

The dancing classes of the Misses Jessie Craig and Mary Shafter have been resumed, the Berkeley class

(Continued on Page 36)

Oakland's Exclusive Shops

Where the Styles Come From

A Full Line of Ready-Made WAISTS LINGERIE and NECKWEAR on sale for Holiday Shoppers.

Successor to LA FRANCE CO.

Vogue Knitting Co.

(Oakland's Exclusive Knit Goods Shop)

534 15th Street, Between Clay and Washington

You Save the Middleman's Profit Here

We manufacture our entire line of knit goods

Girls' All-Wool Sweater Jackets $4.75
Girls' All-Wool Fancy Stitch Slip-ons $5.75
Ladies' All-Wool Sweater Jackets $7.25

Complete line of Juvenile and Infants' Jackets; also Ladies' and Girls' Knit Scarfs, Tams and Toques at factory prices

SPECIAL ORDERS TAKEN

All Drummer's Samples Sold at Less Than Cost

-14TH STREET- SPECIALTY SHOP

Women's and Infants' Wear

LADIES

For the first time in Oakland you can buy the latest New York styles in all dress accessories at actually lower prices.

Also bear in mind that ours is the most complete stock in the city for all the dainty things for the baby.

576-580 Fourteenth Street, Oakland

Between Clay and Jefferson Sts.

Two Doors West of Taft & Penney's

Our Complete Line of Holiday Gifts

Is now on display. You are cordially invited to visit our daylight art needlecraft shop and see the many suggestions in useful and artistic gifts, both for little folk and grown-ups.

Emma R. Ilse 528 Fifteenth St. Opp. City Hall.

Christmas Cards

Beautiful hand-painted Cards for Christmas. These are exclusive Novelties and not for sale in stores. Call early, as my stock is limited. Prices are reasonable. Afternoons. Apt. 410, BAUER APARTMENTS, 19th and Broadway MRS. HOGBOOM.

San Francisco Furriers

1528 SAN PABLO

Ladies

You are cordially invited to inspect our complete stock of Furs.

New shipment of the choicest furs arriving daily.

A small deposit will hold any fur until Christmas. Remodeling done at popular prices with a guarantee for absolute satisfaction.

Liberty bonds accepted as cash.

The DEPENDABLE FUR STORE
1528 SAN PABLO—FOUR DOORS FROM KAHN'S

Jewelry for Men

A PIECE of jewelry, simple in design and tastefully selected, is a gift which will be greatly appreciated by a man, either young or old. Other articles made from precious metals are equally appropriate and give an equal amount of pleasure.

Scarf pins—Set in precious and semi-precious stones with over 500 styles and designs to select from.

Cuff buttons—In plain, engine-turned and brocade patterns. Also the new designs in enameled borders in both gold and green gold. Nearly all of the cuff buttons are made in the "no-fuss" bar link, which gives equal satisfaction and safety in either a stiff or soft cuff.

Waldemar chains—Every conceivable style and pattern in these popular chains. Cigar cutters, knives, match boxes and other articles to attach to Waldemar chains.

Belts—Silver belt buckles in engraved, engine-turned and hammered designs.

Cigarette cases—In solid silver, silver and gold plate. Match boxes in the same designs so that both may be presented as a single gift.

Christmas Gifts to Suit All Purses

Make your selection early and avoid disappointment.

H. Morton Company

Diamond Merchants

Broadway and Fourteenth

Oakland, California

Office NISHIMURA BROS. Asahigawa, Japan

PHONE LAKESIDE 289

源氏香之圖

Holiday Sale

BEAUTIFUL ORIENTAL CHRISTMAS GIFTS

THE NICKO CO.

JAPAN'S FINE ART IN GENERAL

522 15TH STREET

ORIENTAL RUGS at Sacrificed Prices

Artistic and Useful Christmas Gifts

Retiring From Business

Must go to Armenia and am sacrificing my stock of Oriental Rugs. Large variety from which to select, including Antique Rugs 150 years old. Come at once and have first choice.

NESHAN ZOVICK

510 22d St., Near Telegraph Ave.

Women of Alameda County and Their Work

Two of the busy members of the committee assisting Miss Frances Redman in the Linen Drive for France the past week. They are left to right, MRS. GARDNER POND and MISS NELL BROUGHER, taking charge of the linen as the donations are brought in to headquarters.

Women's Legislative Council to Open Office at Capital

By EDNA B. KINARD

ONCE the women of the State asked of the men of California a great privilege and right. Again and again they came back through a score or more years with their appeal, their arguments, their logic until they were granted suffrage. Once again the women of California are asking for equality and rights which they believe should be theirs. They have gone up to Sacramento once and are prepared to be there in January, and as many times to them the same rights in community property that their husbands now enjoy, thereafter as it will take them to win a victory and a law which will provide Ninety thousand women have joined their sisterhood, their money and their intelligence in a demand for legislation which will make the husband and wife equal owners of community property during life and shall give to them in equal power of disposition at death, or in other words the partnership between the husband and wife which requires each to contribute to the community property all earnings and returns from labor or business shall not end there, but shall further provide that husband and wife shall each have equal right and title to the property to which each has contributed. The bill which will be presented to the legislature by the Women's Legislative Council of California is as careful to preserve to the husband his individual privilege as to the wife, but at the same time removes the law which is now in force in the State permitting the wife to contribute to community property but forbidding a testamentary disposition of her share.

The Woman's Legislative Council of California, of which Mrs. Albert E. Carter of this city is president, will open headquarters at Hotel Sacramento with the opening of the Legislature and, backed by the full strength of its 90,000 members, will put up an active campaign for the successful conclusion of their bill and its writing into the laws of California. The California Civic League has appropriated $500 for propaganda on behalf of this particular measure.

Two other bills will be sponsored by the state-wide organization, in whose personnel is included a galaxy of the most brilliant women leaders on the coast. One is for an increase in state aid for elementary schools and has the endorsement of State Superintendent-elect Will C. Wood. The second provides for the establishment of a state industrial home for delinquent women. Among the women who are active in the Legislative Council are Mrs. A. E. Carter, Mrs. Herbert A. Cable of Los Angeles, Dr. Jessie Russell, Mrs. Dana Coolidge, Mrs. Robert Moody, Miss

Gall Laughlin, Miss Martha Jams, Mrs. Robert J. Burdette, Mrs. O. E. Chaney, Miss Anita Whitney.

Ebell received a real shock some few years ago when a daring member for the Birthday Party wrote and rehearsed a group of spirits as daring in a pantomime that provided a mirror for Ebell to see herself as others saw her. From that time on the luncheon celebrating the founding of the pioneer woman's club has been marked by a letting down of staid dignity and a frivolous jinks which, in the earlier history would have been considered highly improper. But Ebell today knows that it gives youth and good spirits and makes club life the more worth while to play once in a while.

So Ebell comes up to its birthday of two score years and two on Tuesday. When Mrs. Louis Cockroft has the arranging of anything, every one knows it will be clever and different. Mrs. Cockroft is assisted in planning the notable celebration in the Harrison-street clubhouse by Mrs. Kate Bulkley, Mrs. A. C. Posoy, Mrs. R. H. Kessler and Mrs. J. R. Scupham.

A peace menu and songs are announced. Mrs. Frederick A. Samuels, a brilliant Ebell member, has written a delightful play of Russia in the eighteenth century, which she calls "The Stupidest Princess," and which in its Tuesday presentation will have a coterie of club members in the east. For be it remembered that at this one function of the year all outsiders are prohibited from getting even the slightest peek into the clubhouse. Mothers, sisters, wives and sweethearts whose names are on the club's honor roll and members of the Red Cross section will assist Mrs. W. G. Ferguson, the board of directors, past presidents, honorary and charter members in dispensing the day's hospitality. They are: Mrs. Guy C. Earl, Mrs. A. L. Adams, Mrs. M. A. Anderson, Mrs. William O. Atwater, Mrs. R. H. Auerbach, Mrs. A. W. Baker, Mrs. Franklin Bangs, Mrs. W. A. Bechtel, Walter D. Reed, Mrs. A. M. Rosborough, Mrs. Frederick S. Samuels, Mrs. J. R. Scupham, Mrs. Prentiss Selby, Mrs. Ada Shannon, Mrs. George M. Shaw, Mrs. Francis Smith, Mrs. E. C. Snook, Mrs. P. C. Stoddart, Mrs. J. S. Summers, Mrs. Samuel J. Taylor, Mrs. Hayward G. Thomas, Mrs. John J. Valentine, Mrs. H. H. Wadsworth, Mrs. C. J. Waterhouse, Mrs. F. A. Webster, Mrs. J. W. White, Mrs. F. C. Wight, Mrs. A. G. Wilkinson, Mrs. R. O. Wilson, Mrs. W. V. Witchee, Mrs. W. W. Worden, Mrs. Frank Moffitt, Mrs. M. J. Erickson, Mrs. R. H. Geung, Mrs. Thomas P. Hogan, Miss L. C. L. Janssen, Mrs. J. Hamilton Todd, Mrs. Thomas Huxley and Mrs. Frank A. Leach.

The second big luncheon of the week will take place on Thursday at Hotel Claremont, when 350 members and guests of Oakland Federation of Mothers' Clubs gather at the reciprocity luncheon, celebrating a successful year's work closed, the holiday season and the dawn of peace. Superintendent of Schools Fred Hunter will give the address of the afternoon. The program will include a round of toasts, the reading of the original poem "Old Glory" by its author, Mrs. J. W. Comstock; soprano solo, by Mrs. Fred Lauffer; choral numbers by the double quartet of the Glenview Club, and community singing led by Glenn Wood.

The federation is making the following its guests of honor: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hunter, H. C. Capwell, Louis Aber, representing the Board of Education; Miss Lulu Shelton, president of the School Women's Club; Miss Elizabeth Arlett, president of Alameda County Educational Association; Miss Ethel Moore, president of the recreation department; Mrs. Edna Aitkin, president of the Second district, California Congress of Mothers; Mrs. J. Koughan, president of Berkeley Federation of Mothers' Clubs; Mrs. O. H. Fisher, representing the Alameda clubs; Mrs. J. Simmons, president of San Francisco Federation; L. B. Avery, M. B. Cox, assistant superintendents of schools, and representatives of the Oakland press.

The Victory Jubilee, with all the allied nations represented on the unusual program, will be the way in which the Oakland Club and its guests will observe Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Edgar Ormsby is chairman of the day.

For the girl who sits on her trunk and looks at the unresponsive wall; for the girl who wants to be a "pal" to other girls and does not know the way; for the girl who just wants a good time, there is good news aplenty this week. The Girls' Recreation Club, under the War Camp Community Service is being born. No longer need girls look with envy upon the Defenders' Club, which the boys in uniform have made so deservedly popular. They have a Community Club and clubhouse of their own. At 1444 San Pablo avenue has a whole floor been leased for the period of a year upon which the sum of at least $2000 will be expended in the complete equipment. There will be a canteen where dainty, substantial luncheons and suppers may be had in merry company and guests looked out after by cordial, sympathetic hostesses even as the soldiers and sailors have been over at Thirteenth and Harrison streets. There will be games, too, community sings, parties, dances—everything that girlhood craves—and friends as well. Mrs. Esther Wood Snyder has been named from the New York headquarters as the genius who will have direct charge of the new undertaking.

How does a girl join the Girls' Division? War Camp Community Service?

First she signs this pledge: "I pledge to express my patriotism by doing—better than ever before—whatever work I have to do; by rendering whatever special service I can to my community and country; by living up to the highest standards of character and home and helping others to do the same."

She then checks the club or organization to which she belongs or desires to join and selects from the following list the activities for service, education and recreation which most attract her: Red Cross classes in first aid and home care of the sick, cooking, sewing, French, English, scenario writing, hiking, swimming, rowing, dramatics, folk dancing, military drill, singing and any other form of study and recreation not mentioned. With the co-operation of the Board of Education, there is a guarantee that where twenty or more students express a desire for the study of any subject, however serious or frivolous it may be, classes will be formed immediately to instruct them.

The whole purpose of the Girls' Division is to speed up existing organizations for girls and intensify their work. To bring girls close together and develop for them such a background that there will be no more lonely ones but a great band of joyful, fun-loving, sane and sensible young womanhood leavening the whole community.

It is strange that in Oakland there has never been a survey made of the girl power. Since the war hundreds of strange young women have come into the city to be absorbed in its commercial life. There has been no adequate machinery provided for looking out after their social side. The clubrooms and the canteen at 1444 San Pablo avenue is the logical answer to the old problem which has grown with the influx of the newcomers.

The creation of the new community (Continued on Page 36)

Merchandise Orders

solve the problem for busy people. May be had in any amount. Good at any time.

J. Magnin & Co.

Grant Avenue at Geary—San Francisco

Handkerchief Shop

Main Floor, Main Building

Attention is called to the fact that the stock of Handkerchiefs in this shop is the largest and most varied ever shown by us. Prices as low as 15¢.

Hand embroidered, 25¢ to $5
Colored 15¢ to $2
Colored Crepe de Chine 25¢
Fancy Initial, 6 in box. $1
Fancy Initial, each . . . 25¢
Hand Embroidered Madeira 3 for $1 to $2.50
Embroidered Appenzell designs . . . 25¢ to $10
Khaki-Kolored Handkerchiefs for Men in the Service 25¢

NOTE — Our stock of Men's Plain and Initialed Handkerchiefs is especially complete. Prices 25¢ to $2.50 each.

Infant's Shop

Third Floor, Main Building

Gifts for the Baby

Dresses $1 to $25
Shirts 90¢ to $15
Caps $1.25 to $10
Sacques 75¢ to $10
Wrappers 85¢ to $10
Robes $1.95 to $6.95
Bibs 25¢ to $5.00
Bootees 35¢ to $1.25
Leggings $1 to $3.50
Comforters. $1.95 to $10
Pillow Slips . . 50¢ to $15
Afghans . . . $4.50 to $15
Bunny
Blankets. . 85¢ to $1.50
Baby Shoes. . . 65¢ to $3

Nursery Novelties

Rattles 50¢ to $1.50
Baby Books . . . 50¢ to $5
Bath Toys 25¢, 45¢
Rabbits . . . $1 and $2.25
Soap Bubble
Sets . . . $1 and $1.25
Sand Buckets and
Shovel . . . 85¢ to $1.50

Complete line of Nursery Furniture, including beds, bassinets, wardrobes, trees, racks, bath-tubs, high-chairs, nursery chairs, carioles, soiled clothes hampers.

Christmas Suggestions

Variety Unlimited—Quality
Unquestioned—Prices
Sensible

THE stock of suitable Christmas Gifts in the various Shops throughout the Store is the most comprehensive in years. Prices in every instance are remarkably low, considering the very high quality of each article.

"IMCO"

Glove Silk Underwear Shop,
Main Floor

"IMCO" Glove Silk
Vests $2.25
"IMCO" Glove Silk
Knickers $2.25
"IMCO" Glove Silk
Vests, lace trimmed $3.25
"IMCO" Glove Silk
Knickers, wide lace knee $2.95
"IMCO" Glove Silk
Vests, embroidered $2.35
"IMCO" Glove Silk
Knickers, striped knee, lace trimmed $2.95

Complete stock of Italian and Phantom silk undergarments, moderately priced. We are exclusive agents for the latter.

Toilet Goods Shop

Main Floor, Main Building

Perfumes

and Toilet Accessories purchased now have the added distinction of being wrapped in Magnin's special Christmas boxes, without additional cost.

You will find in this shop everything that good shops carry, and at no greater prices — goods made by Coty, Houbigant, Guerlain, Piver, Rogers & Gallet, Pineau, Hudnut, Colgate, Mirodena, Djer Kiss, Bourjois and Elizabeth Arden's Venetian line and Charmant French Paste and Cream, for which we are exclusive agents.

There are many varieties of: Toilet Water at 90¢
Perfumes at $1.00
Face Powders at 50¢
Soaps start at 15¢
Bath Salts at 50¢
Bottled Sachets 50¢

Hosiery Shop

Main Floor, Main Building

Silk Hosiery is always appreciated

Here you will find the largest stocks and the most varied assortments.

Complete assortments of fine quality silk hose. . . $1.50
Open Clox Hose . . . $2.00
Richelieu Lace Hose $2.00
Embroidered Clox . . $2.50
Lace Hose $3.95
Lace Hose, 2-toned. . $5.00

Negligee Shop

Third Floor, Main Building

Room Coats

of Armure or Raybelle silk featured at $14.95
"Slip-over" Negligee of good quality crepe de chine featured at $14.95
Boudoir Sacques
$7.95, $10.00, $12.50

Heavier Robes

Chosen for the perfect comfort their loose lines afford.

Blanket Robes,
$4.95 to $25.00
Eiderdown Robes,
$7.95 to $8.50
Corduroy Robes,
$5.95 to $15.00

Inexpensive Gifts a Woman Likes

Eiderdown Slippers. . $2.25
Crochet Slippers . . . $2.50
Boudoir Caps of Lace,
$2.00, $2.95, $3.95
Ribbon Carters,
$1.25, $1.95

Art Goods Shop

Main Floor, Annex

Covered Articles

Pin Cushions $1.00
Pin Boxes (filled). . $1.15
Trays 95¢
Smelling Salts,
Bottles (filled) . . . $1.35
Glove Boxes $2.75
Handkerchief Boxes $2.75
Powder Box and Puff $5.50
Desk Sets $4.75
Telephone Book
Covers $5.95
Waste Baskets . . . $4.50

Boudoir Pillows

Silk Pillows $3.45
Velvet Pillows (rose, copenhagen, brown) $4.95
Taffeta Pillows (rose, blue, gold, changeable colors) $5.95, $6.95
Corded Taffeta
Pillows $7.50

Leather Goods Shop

Main Floor, Main Building

Practical Gifts $2.50 to $25

Collar Bags
Traveling Clocks
Traveling Case
Hasty Lines
Handkerchief Cases
Manicure Sets
Wallets
Bill Folds
Card Cases
Cigarette Cases
Cigar Cases
Bridge Sets
Poker Sets
Domino Sets
Humidors
Brush Sets
Portfolios
Umbrellas

Articles 25c to $1

Clothes Pin Sets
Address Books
Engagement Pads
Coin Purse
Sewing Rolls
Shopping Lists
Telephone Pads
Hasty Line
Stick Pin Cases
Ash Trays
Picture Frames
Playing Cards
Library Sets
Ash Trays
Drinking Cups

S. & G. Gump Co.

The Christmas Shop

To simplify your Christmas shopping we are giving a few suggestions from all over the store of various articles suitable for gifts.

For Her	For the Home	For Him
Kimonos	Furniture	Smoking Sets
Bed Sacques	Lamps	Liqueur Sets
Evening Coats	Dinner Sets	Poker Sets
Scarfs	Glass Sets	Desk Sets
Shopping Bags	Pictures	Book Ends
Sewing Sets	Mirrors	Reading Lamps
Breakfast Sets	Sheffield	Cigar Lighters
Boudoir Lamps	Andirons	Men's Kimonos

Last, but not least, a few suggestions for the Kiddies

English Dolls Furniture Mush Sets
Kimonos Mandarin Coats Pictures

Merchandise Orders Issued

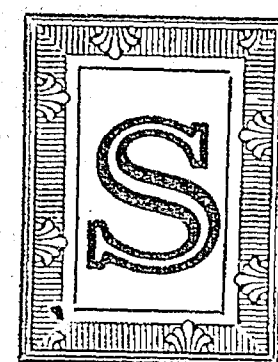

S. & G. GUMP CO.

268 POST ST., NEAR STOCKTON

Xmas Gifts of Jewelry

The exceptional bit of Jewelry has always been the most prized of gifts—bearing in mind the gift of today, may be the heirloom of the future—Useful and appropriate gifts for men and women—A stock unique in scope, quality and value. Your inspection cordially invited.

A. Andrews'
Diamond Palace
46 GEARY STREET
—SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 7.—Interest in the dictagraph and wire-tapping exploits of Mr. Densmore has been diverted from the Mooney case, for which they were ostensibly projected, to be centered upon the extraneous persons and matters brought in through the published report. Whether Labor Secretary Wilson authorized such an investigation as was made to clarify the Mooney case is doubted. Those in position to judge think he merely ordered Densmore to look into the matter and report, and that Densmore fell in with Fremont Older. Older was feeling the need of a scoop, and something had to be pulled off. Densmore and his mission afforded the opportunity, and the Federal official became an Easy Mark. Nominally he was operating for the Secretary of Labor, but really he seems to have been assembling "good stuff" for Older. It is being wondered who financed the operation. For that was a big part of it. Such a considerable outlay as must have been involved could hardly have been authorized by the Secretary of Labor. The enterprise extended over five or six months. It was last July that United States Attorney Ornbauer had his experience with Densmore and his men. The expert line work that was necessary to set dictagraphs and tap wires must have come high. It required linemen who were also sleuths. Then there were two offices, one in the Kohl and one in the Foxcroft building, and there would be required relays of operators in each to take off what came on the wires. It is reasonably certain that Mr. Densmore was not looking for publicity. Secretary Wilson says the report was not intended for publication. Densmore packed up and left the city on the Friday night when the story broke as an exclusive in Older's paper. It is surmised by newspaper men that Densmore's understanding was that the report was not to be made public, but that his coadjutor went ahead and spilled the beans for him. For when the clamor is taken into account that has gone East requesting, soliciting, advising, imploring and demanding that he return and help out in the matters that he has exposed, no other words express it so well as bean-spilling.

The McCarthys

The dictagraph furore has brought to the front the two McCarthys, though in entirely different ways. W. H. McCarthy, who was so decisively beaten for the assessorship by McGinty, when he was believed to have the decision hands down, emerges as the foreman of the Grand Jury, quite properly clamorous that the serious charges against officials and others as disclosed by the Densmore report shall be investigated and whoever shall be found guilty duly punished. He is an avowed candidate for the mayoralty. P. H. McCarthy is reported as saying of the alleged disclosures: "This is a matter that concerns me more than any other citizen of San Francisco." Just how this is it is not necessary to discuss; but P. H. aspires to be mayor again, and there you are. The McCarthys are affected by this strange upheaval as to a common ambition, not only in different ways but with a prospect of different results.

United Railroads Suits

There is an uneasy feeling on the part of responsible citizens, those on whom falls the burden of whatever has to be paid on account of municipal government, over the suits brought by the United Railroads against the city. These have now been consolidated and total $6,865,510. They are to recover damages for paralleling the United Railroad lines with municipally owned lines in a manner claimed to be contrary to the five-block law. The uneasiness comes from a feeling that the official proceedings leading up to the acts complained of may not have been of that well-guarded character that will stand a heavy legal onslaught; and when the outcome of the incinerator suits is remembered, assurance is not felt that the defense will be as able or determined as the huge sum at stake will justify. For the amount involved will attract for the plaintiff a battery of the ablest lawyers at the bar. And it is to be realized that the suit will get before a Federal court, and thus be divested of any adventitious aid in the way of local atmosphere.

The Shifts of Politics

I was thinking again that politics makes strange bedfellows when I realized how some were separated who but a little while back were inseparable. Sheriff Finn and the McDonoughs hunted in packs at the last municipal election. Sheriff Finn took Tax Collector Bryant under his wing, and is credited with being responsible for his election. Yet at the recent election Finn locked horns with the McDonoughs over an assemblyman, Finn getting the worst of it, and Tax Collector Bryant turned up in the McDonough camp. At the last municipal election Treasurer McDonough was a warm supporter of Mayor Ralph. Supervisor Gallagher was not. There is a story of McDonough having a picture of the mayor above his desk, and Gallagher, happening along and on being informed that the treasurer's sentiments corresponded with this display, uttered very forcible disapproval, and observed that he and his friends would remember both of them. Now the mayor summons the treasurer before the municipal bar and both he and Supervisor Gallagher heckle him.

Hauled Over the Coals

The public would be informed and undoubtedly surprised as to the amenities that obtain at the sessions of the Board of Supervisors if a verbatim report of Monday's session had been published. The city treasurer and the city auditor had been hauled before that body to be disciplined. It seems that they had offended by talking to reporters and criticising some acts of the supervisors and city government. The auditor had criticised Amendment No. 38, and the treasurer had talked about monies collected by city employees that were not turned in. He had pointed out that it was a felony for an official or city employee to retain the city's money for more than twenty-four hours; and he said so much about it that upwards of $60,000 that had been so retained was turned over. The treasurer came in for an especial scoring, which may or may not keep him quiet hereafter; and the auditor of the city's expenditures was given to understand that when he audited in a way that ran counter to the ideas of the municipal board he wasn't making a hit with the powers that be. This gives an idea, but it doesn't give the language of the occasion.

Williams Resigns

Immediately the primary election was over I was advised that two State appointees would lose their official heads. They were Corporation Commissioner Carnahan and Superintendent of State Banks Williams. The former's did fall over night, and with more visible feeling on the part of the Governor than he was ever before known to put into a public action. But the bank examiner held on. The explanation was made that while they both, enjoying gubernatorial appointments, were against the Governor, Williams was not overt. He merely supported another candidate, while Carnahan said things and performed in a general hostile way. It was foregone, however, that Williams would go. That his going was deferred a month after the election was evidently considered all that was necessary for appearances. Bankers here, and every place else where I have obtained expression from them, take a longer breath than usual when Williams' exodus is referred to. As a bank examiner Williams certainly had them all going. He seems to have carried out the laws that regulate State banking, which there appears to be no objection to on the part of bankers, with much friction. As it was related to me, the whole working force of a bank might come to their duties in the most amiable frame of mind, humming tunes, bandying jokes and indulging in wise prognostications as to the weather, and the whole joyous scene would instantly undergo a change with the examiner's entrance, though nobody would be conscious of anything being out of the way as much as a hair's breadth. But banks are extraordinarily tender and cannot afford to get into a controversy with an official who has jurisdiction over them. In this connection one and all testify to Mr. Williams' uprightness, and acknowledge that although he was in a position to realize great personal advantage, and not necessarily improperly, his acts were always without a breath of suspicion. Undoubted testimony to this phase of his character has been vouchsafed in his immediate election to the position of cashier of the Bank of Italy.

Significant Dismissal

The official reason given by the Postal Department for dropping District Superintendent Richards of the Postal Telegraph Company is insubordination. It may serve to indicate the national administration's attitude on government ownership to know that the insubordination consisted in writing an open letter to other superintendents opposing federal ownership and control of telegraph wires. The wire companies, meaning the telegraph and telephone organizations, are a new charge of the Postal Department and appear not to be entirely docile and submissive. In their operation and conservation they require a higher degree of technical skill than mail gathering, transportation and delivery, and it may be that there is individual chafing and unrest. At least it is said that this is the first determined step by the Postoffice Department to put an end to agitation within the wire companies against government control. The deposed official was of consequence, being in charge of all postal wires in Utah, Idaho, Nevada, Oregon, Washington, California, Arizona and New Mexico.

Tong Wars

The declaration that steps are now to be taken to purge the city of tong wars, to "abolish them from San Francisco forever," has a familiar sound. There have been tong uprisings in San Francisco ever since there have been Chinamen here; and they have all been characterized by about the same sort of stir by the police, and not infrequent assurance that steps were to be taken to cure the evil and menace for all time. But it has never been cured; it has never even been mitigated. Tong wars are just as bloody as ever and about as frequent. It is believed by those who are conversant with the situation that the tong sort of thing could be cleaned out of the city if the authorities went at it with no other thought, and without regard to any other feature of dealing with Chinese. I caught the expression that the Chinese are "good picking," and that it may not be wholly desirable to interfere too drastically. There is a lot of meaning behind this which I do not feel inclined to repeat as I got it, but the idea can be caught without much study.

Gridley's Sack of Flour

Some comparison has been made of the sack of flour started on the rounds of the Shriners' tents for the benefit of the Red Cross, with the famous Gridley sack of civil war times, which was started and kept on its sensational course over the country in aid of the Sanitary Commission. That feat, so novel and whose inception was impromptu, of course suggested the one of today; but the personal element which entered into it and which is absent in this made it a more striking enterprise. It was started at Austin, Nev., in the spring of 1864, by Renel Colt Gridley, a merchant of that place, who made a freak bet with Dr. Herrick as to the outcome of a municipal election. The loser was to carry a fifty-pound sack of flour through the streets of Austin, a distance of a mile and a quarter, with brass band accompaniment. Gridley lost, and his payment of the bet was made a hilarious local event, all in the very best humor. Gridley was what was known as a war Democrat, and some of the banter of the occasion caused him to challenge the crowd to a test as to who would do the most for the sick and wounded soldiers, raising money for their amelioration being considered a test of patriotism. He suggested putting the flour up at auction, with the understanding that the purchaser should put it up again, and his successor do likewise, and so on, ad infinitum. It was a novel idea and it took. Gridley himself was the first purchaser for $300. It was immediately resold, and became the sensation of the day in that town, whence it was carried to other mining centers—to Gold Hill, Virginia City, Dayton, Silver City—where it and its bearer received, a tremendous ovation and gathered, in over $22,000 in gold coin. The fame of the "drive" having spread, Gridley extended his itinerary to this city, in which, and other California cities, he swelled the fund to $63,000. Then he went East, arriving in New York in January, 1865. The idea was just as popular there, and after he had made the tour of the principal cities his total collections had amounted to $275,000. Gridley made it a rule to pay his own way, turning in every cent received from the recurring sales of the sack to the Sanitary Commission fund. He became one of the most famous philanthropists of the time.

Gridley Sack Still Extant

There is another chapter to the Gridley story that may not be as familiar as those which give the particulars of the rounds of the famous sack of flour. Gridley left a prosperous business at Austin to devote his whole time, and at his own expense, to this work. When he returned his business had dwindled, his fortune was gone and his health impaired. He removed to Stockton the following year, having been brought over the mountains on a mattress. He died at Paradise City, Stanislaus county, in 1870. In 1882 Rawlins Post, Grand Army of the Republic, of Stockton, started a movement to raise funds for a monument to Gridley and for the amelioration of his family, whom he had left ill provided for. The active spirit in the movement was L. E. Mosher. Mosher's history in itself is interesting. He was a telegraph operator, and for a time thereafter was stationed at Colton, where he amused himself by writing skits for the local paper that were reminiscent of John Phoenix. Later he joined the staff of the Los Angeles Times, and his suicide remains a mystery to this day. The posts of the Grand Army took up the Gridley project and carried it through. It may be interesting to know that the famous sack of flour is still intact. In 1914 Mrs. Gridley Wood of Modesto, daughter of the philanthropist, attended Nevada's semi-centennial celebration, taking with her the historic sack, which she presented to the Nevada Historical Society, and the same is now installed in the society's rooms at Reno. Mrs. Wood related that her mother, shortly before her death, had said that she would like to have the historic exhibit go back to Nevada, the State whence it started; and when it was found that the historical society had quarters where it would be cared for it was decided to place it there for its final disposition. Of the Grand Army committee which took the lead in collecting funds for the statue and family, Alfred Noack of Oakland is one of the survivors. He has a lively and interesting recollection of the stirring events. He is officer of the day of Arpatomox Post, G. A. R. His address is 1422 Eighty-eighth avenue.

Concerning War Bonds

The growing traffic in Liberty bonds is evidently disturbing those in high financial places. Treasurer McAdoo has come out with a national appeal to those who have purchased bonds to retain them. He puts it as a patriotic duty. The Governor of the Reserve Bank, J. K. Lynch, has added a local note to the appeal. The fear appears to be that this general hawking of war securities will injure the market for forthcoming issues, of which it is expected there will be two. Governor of the Reserve Bank Lynch thinks it may have been a mistake for the Federal government not to have made a market, or exercised some sort of control over transactions in war bonds. Canada did this. Its bonds are placed at 96, and it is provided that they shall not be sold at less than 95. This one cent margin is not a great incentive to trade in this class of securities, and the issues are thus safeguarded. The placing of our bonds in considerable part was not strictly a commercial transaction. A large contingent having bought through patriotic impulses or under pressure, and having but an equity in the securities, in trying to realize are often complaint and brokers are able to drive much better bargains than are sometimes advertised. The former issues have been put through under the spur of patriotism. Nearly everybody felt it to be his duty to subscribe, and those who did not feel such impelling power were afraid to refuse. Mr. Lynch says there may be no such consideration to figure in the next drive. And of course, if investors can purchase bonds of the fourth issue at 96, they will not see an advantage, as a financial proposition, in subscribing for the fifth at 100. He thinks the next loan may be a short one, but does not venture an opinion as to the rate. The opinion seems to be general among financiers that all war bonds will ultimately go to par, which no doubt makes them an inviting medium for the speculator.

A Historic Incident

Older residents harked back when they read of the death of A. C. Widber. Many recollect the drug store that his father, J. H. Widber, kept for so many years at the corner of Third and Market streets, in that building otherwise somewhat celebrated in its day and which stood on the site of the Claus Spreckels building. The elder Widber was staunch of character. He enjoyed an old-time California reputation, and when he aspired to the city treasurership there was nothing to it. The opposing candidate did not stand a chance, and he was elected hands down. But he died during his incumbency, and San Francisco, remembering the sire's worthiness, in its big generous way put faith in the son and advanced him to the vacancy. He performed properly so far as any disclosures went during the remainder of that term, and was a candidate for the next. It may have been due to the impetus of the family name, but anyhow he was elected notwithstanding that the opposing party was in the ascendancy. Just how he got on the toboggan was never quite clear. He was well educated, having been an honor man at the U. C. He was not a spectacular spender. His explanation to a friend after it was all over was that he was not responsible for the whole defalcation. He claimed that others who had access to the funds were in part blameable; that after he had made a start they took advantage and themselves dipped in, and he was not in position to remonstrate. When the exposure came all the blame was saddled on him. This may or may not be so; but it is a fact that when the exposure came there was a deficiency of something more than $107,000. Widber was tried, convicted, sentenced to San Quentin for seven years, if memory serves, and came out a broken and disowned man, to die finally of alcoholism, and his identity to be discovered only by accident. It is not a pleasant story.

About Mexico

Week before last I gave currency to an intimation that Mexico would receive attention just as soon as the pressing affairs in Europe were far enough along so that the national administration could look around. There have been many irritations, but what seemed to be the final straw was the hectoring of the oil control, which in the active days of the war threatened the English supply. But a prior irritation was the discovery of the Zimmerman-Eckhardt plot to involve Japan and Mexico in a war with the United States, recently confirmed from German sources. The fact that the attempt was ridiculous on the face of it, involving the "reconquering of the States of Texas, New Mexico and Arizona," apparently was not recognized by Carranza, who seems to have had some idea that the plan was feasible. At least he did not disavow it. It was discovered in February, 1917, and the United States declared war on Germany in April, and has been absorbed ever since in that weighty matter. There is promise that soon it will have the opportunity to take the Mexican matter up, and the probability is that it will not be put down till it has been thoroughly overhauled.

Crew Calling Not for Girls

Under the old plan of railroading there was directness in ordering things done or changed. As to minor things, whoever was in immediate charge issued a command, oral or written, and that was all there was to it. Now they have to start away back, and to meet a small emergency a formal order has to be promulgated from the fountain head of authority. This is illustrated by Supplement No. 1 to Railroad Circular No. 172, issued by Irlie Holden, Regional Director. Time out of mind it had been the custom to employ boys as train and engine-crew callers. It was their job to go around to the lodging places of those who were to take trains out, and sound the tocsin so that the trainmen would be around in good time to report for duty. It has never been a congenial job.

The person who wakes a healthy young man out of a sound sleep, whatever the justification, is not likely to be popular; and when help grew scarce and boys were in demand elsewhere they jumped the crew callers' jobs and it became necessary to substitute girls. Regional Director Holden has taken account of this, for Supplement No. 1 to Circular No. 172 declares that "the character of the work required by train and engine-crew caller is considered unsuitable for women, and they should not under any circumstances be so employed."

Sale of Techau Property

How Captain Hooper came to figure in the purchase of the Techau Tavern property is now being told in subdued real estate circles. The property was owned by the Hopkins Estate Company, which was carrying a mortgage on that and other property that was extra burdensome. It was known that the property was for sale, but it seems to have been figured that the holders wanted to sell so badly that a better figure could be obtained by dickering. Hence representatives of the bank people kept at the deal until they appear to have gotten on the owners' nerves. At this point the matter was laid before Captain Hooper. It was represented that the owners were anxious to sell, but that they were sore on the bank people, and suggested that he make an offer of $725,000. This was done, and was the beginning of a series of negotiations which ended in the Captain obtaining the property for $740,000. The bank people had counted on the property, considering it the most available site for a great bank, and now realized that all they had to do was to pay the new owner whatever he thought he ought to have, which is understood to have been $785,000, an advance of $45,000, which was quite a reasonable profit in a transaction that had been extending over two or three days, and in which he did not even have to draw his check.

Depopulation of a Corner

When it was first given to me that the Bank of Italy was trying to buy the Techau property, and peremptorily denied by bank officials, it was also a part of the story that Techau Tavern, which is an institution that has won a particular niche in the city's places of refection and entertainment, was negotiating for the St. Francis theater property, on Geary street next to the Gunst building and directly opposite the St. Francis hotel. These negotiations hung fire for a time. The hitch was that a Powell street entrance was desired. This was finally solved by taking in a store in the Gunst building, which runs through and abuts the theater property. The tavern will thus be moved three blocks up the street from its present location. The purchase at the corner of Eddy and Powell for a home for one of the biggest financial institutions in the city has not met with the hearty approval of some real estate owners in the vicinity. With the Techau Tavern, the College Inn, the Indoor Yacht club, a cigar stand and other kindred tenants, it was a very busy corner, particularly at night. Perhaps more people gathered and passed in the twenty-four hours than at any other corner in the city. It will be very different when a bank is installed there. It will not be such a populous locality. Adjacent and opposite owners have taken account of the fact. Some owners up the block have already met and renewed the old discussion about "cleaning up" Mason street and making it a retail thoroughfare.

The Red Cross Buildings

The erection of the Red Cross structures at the civic center has done more than afford a very worthy organization quarters free where before it had been paying $1000 a month in rent. This construction has camouflaged a particularly unsightly corner of the municipal premises. It covers the site of the old hall of records, which had remained since the fire, and since the new order of grouping of public buildings, a mass of shapeless ruins. Of course, the temporary buildings do not synchronize with the permanent structures. As an architectural proposition they could not begin to get past Willis Polk; but with the slopes graded off, and some modest shrubbery set out, they improve the prospect so decidedly that general note is taken of it. As the structures were designed for the especial accommodation of the Red Cross, that beneficent organization is better housed than it has ever been before.

Railroad Inventions

It may interest those of an inventive turn of mind who have devised railroad appliances or whose efforts run in that direction to know that the United States Railroad Administration has formulated rules designed to assist them in bringing their devices to notice and securing attention. Provision is made for the examining all models and plans and passing on their practicability. Every device will receive attention. So many instances have come to pass where devices thought at first to be of inconsiderable importance have proven of great value and been incorporated in the complex mechanism involved in railroading that nothing is slighted. Of course, a great majority of ideas and the mechanism resulting have already occurred to somebody; and some may be infringements; but nobody with a railroad idea should take it for granted it is not a good one.

Agriculture

NO. 104.

STOCKMEN ARE MOST PATRIOTIC

Conditions on the ranges in the mountains south of Livermore and in the Mount Diablo region are better than in the Sacramento valley. This is the word brought by Chairman D. J. Murphy of the Board of Supervisors from Livermore. Mr. Murphy said that the stockmen with the grain situation in his district.

"The weather conditions have been admirable for the stockmen," said Mr. Murphy. "The stockmen started early feed at a time when it was almost vital, and tided the stockmen over a period that threatened great loss. The weather was not so good as they trying. Range feed was short and stocks of hay were depleted. Ample early rains followed by warm weather saved the stockmen."

"The stockmen of the Livermore valley have been very patriotic in their support of the national food program. They have cooperated with the administration and with the university authorities in an effort to increase production. They lived up to the effort to increase production by the training in the way to bring production up to the highest point. The Stockmen's Protective Association of Livermore has shown the same spirit of cooperation. The officers and members deserve great credit for what they have done under adverse conditions.

The future prospects are most excellent for the range owners."

5221 James avenue; $125.
J. N. Freeman, 1-story, 4-room dwell.

ing, south side of Melrose avenue, 96 feet east of Forty-eighth avenue; $1950.

Thomas H. Carter, alterations, 1939
Chestnut street; $450.
Grayson & Owen, alterations, 812

Washington street; $250.
Mrs. M. E. Scott, alterations, 174

E. D. Mathews, addition, 9432 Sunnyside street: $200

Anson Blake, repair sidewalk lights,
1311 Washington street; $150.

S. G. Lane, alterations, south side of Main street, 300 feet west of Thirty-

Sarah E. Grosser, reshingling, 57
Twenty-eighth street; $150

C. Ketzmller, addition. 2349 East
Fourteenth street; $50.

C. Ketzmilller, 1-story shed, west side of Twenty-fourth avenue, 35 feet south

M. S. Swanson, 1-story addition, 674
Forty-second street: $255

E. T. Whelan, alterations and additions, 1424 Thirteenth avenue; $150.

Robert M. Gibson, 1-story, 5-room dwelling, southeast corner of Nineteenth avenue and East Twenty-fourth

Robert M. Gibson, 1-story, 5-room dwelling, east side of Nineteenth avenue, 35 feet south of East Twenty-fourth street: $2200.

BERKELEY TO BEDECK TREE
FOR YULETIDE

[illegible]

Principal J. H. Imrie of Le Conte,
Principal James T. Preston of Burbank, Principal Jeanette Barrows of Oxford, and Principal Blanche Morse of Mc-Kinley.

Federated Mothers' Clubs—Mrs. J.
Koughan, Mrs. Charles T. Colling, Mrs.
Clement J. Tobin, Mrs. Edgar Warren and Charles H. Cheney.

Boy Scouts—Lester W. Kink, Charles Keeler and Perry T. Tompkins.

Rotary Club—Nell Munro, Charles F.
Hunt and Vernon T. Peck.

Chamber of Commerce—James W. Plachet, Welis Drury and H. S. Howard.
 South Berkeley Commercial Club—W. C. Moran, George R. Webb and E. F. Steele.
 West Berkeley Commercial Club—Walter Mork, James P. Koll and Samuel Borkheim and Charles Hadlen.
 Manufacturers Association—Charles S. Lamb, William C. Koch and William H. Rees.
 Hillside Club—Robert Wetmore, Mar-

S. V. Culp and Bernard Maybeck—Mrs.
City of Berkeley—Mrs. A. F. Pillsbury of Playground Commission, Char-
E. Taylor of Park Commission, George
L. Schneider of City Planning Commission, Rev. E. L. Parsons for Charity Commission and Thomas Dowd for Library Commission.

Mobilized Women—Mrs. Lewis A.
Hicks, Mrs. S. H. Strite and Mrs. H. F.
Jackson.

Mothers of Boys in Service—Mrs.
Carrle Hoyt.

Mrs. E. M. Elliott. I. H. Clarke and

LOST BOY THOUGHT
KILLED BY AUTO

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 7.—The fate of Clarence Thompson, aged 5, is as much a mystery today as it was Nov. 13, when he disappeared from the home of friends near Estacada, Ore.

Since 400 men, with bloodhounds, thoroughly combed where it was first supposed he had been lost, it has been believed by officials and the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis H. Thompson, 1645 East 19th street, Portland, that Clarence was either kidnaped or run over and killed by a motorist.

The latter theory is most believed by the detectives, who have been working on the case, for no possible motive is known for anyone

It is plausible that a motorist killed the boy and then disposed of the body in the hope of not being detected and punished.

Clarence was last seen on the road near Estacada by a motorist who remembers that a car followed him at some distance.

The driver of the unknown machine may be the murderer of Clarence.

The boy's hair, light brown color, had been bobbed. He wore neither hat nor coat at the time he vanished. He wore a striped gingham waist and knee trousers.

Clothing Thief Gets $4000 Worth of Goods

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7.—Four thousand dollars in clothing—ranging from silk shirts to linen collars—was stolen some time during the night from Jacob Salzman's clothing store, Salzman reported to the police today.

Investigation showed a man yesterday rented a room directly above the store under the name of George

Fifty blue serge suits, four sozen extra nolsy silk shirts, uncouneted dozens of silk socks, one box of jewelry and an undetermined number of neckties, suits of pajamas, silk underwear, collars, overcoats and

Water Cure Too.
Much, Says Hubby
MANSFIELD, O., Dec. 7.—"This is the old woman's fault," explained Baldwin when arraigned in local police court on a disorderly charge. "She cusses and swears and calls me names too numerous to mention."

he threw a pan of cold water on the Saturday night when I was in bed," continued Baldwin.

When the judge let him off with a suspended fine Baldwin said he was going to the probate court to try to get a lunacy affidavit against his life.

Outside Judge to

Try Oil Land Case

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7.—Federal judge Robert Bean of Portland will preside over the trial of the California oil lands withdrawal suits which begin here in federal court next week, it was announced today. The fact that many California judges were interested in oil lands made it necessary to call a judge outside

New Labor Party Is Favored in Illinois

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Dec. 7.—Billionaire training only so long as necessary; public ownership of railroads; a new labor party, new trial for Thomas Money., and universal

WED IN VALLEJO.
VALLEJO, Dec. 7.—Jacob Grenburg, well known Los Angeles business man, and Miss Ida Duleen of Oakland, were married in this city last evening by Justice of the Peace J. A. Brown.

Hanlons and Crockett to Meet on 15th
GEO. HANEY WILL MAKE DEBUT
Fred Fulton and Sam Langford to Meet in Oakland Sporting Goulash
by Bob Shand.
R. NELSON IS COMING HOME
Three Straight Victories Over the Cardinal Gives

Mission Team Championship

Players Show Grit Playing in a Sea of Mud

SANTA Clara University is the rugby champion of the year. Yesterday afternoon at Éwing Field the lads from the pruned valley city carried off the honors with their third consecutive win of the season over Stanford, the final score being 8 to 5.

About 400 people braved the elements yesterday to witness the contest, among whom were the Stanford band, about a couple dozen cardinal rooters and a dozen women, while the Santa Clara band and rooters made up the rest. It looked very much as if this game was the funeral knell of rugby as a major sport among the local colleges.

The game started off in a listless fashion, Santa Clara kicking off. After about five minutes' play, in which Santa Clara showed to advantage at passing, the ball, Korte scored and Larry kicked the goal.

PATRICK GETS BUSY.

Immediately following the score, Patrick, who played such a good game against California on Thanksgiving

University Hi
And Berkeley Finish Even

Day, got away for a 30-yard run, being made to cough by Fullback Ed Velicer. Santa Clara, with a great run of 60 yards, scored these second touchdowns for his team. The Palo Alto boys could not seem to pass the ball, and their opponent gave them some good demonstrations of that style of play.

Larrey failed to convert the second

The game yesterday morning at California field between Berkeley High and University High for the American football title. Sponsorship of the A. C. A. L. title was won by the University High 7 to 7 tie, on a field that was not so soggy enough to dampen the ability to bring about any clamant roar fighting and cheering of the high school boys.

And wet, bringing out

Stanford started off the second half with more determination, Lier punt was more accurate than that of Santa Clara and the game fiercer. After the intermission, Stanford came back down to within a few yards from the goal, Captain Sheldon was shoved over for Stanford's first score and Patception of the last five minutes of play Stanford outgint Santa Clara in the second half and had they been able to do any passing should have had a large score.

FIELD SLIPPERY.

Santa Clara frequently would get the ball out of the scrum and in a second's time it was being rushed down the field.

and many fine plays were pulled off on that account. Stanford did the more accurate kicking. Patrick and Flood, who played the American halfback, did much to assist in the totality of these boys putting up a fine class game. Sheldon also did some fine work.

The Santa Clara boys had Diaz and Brown, who played the American been in nearly every play. Pete Flanagan refereed and Steve Guerin acted as touch judge. Ensign Howard was timekeeper. The teams lined up as follows:

SANTA CLARA.
F. R.—Ferrario and O'Connell.
Lock—Korte.
Breakaway—Noll and Kirkhoff.

BERKELEY WILL MEET VOCATIONAL NEXT TUESDAY.

W. F. Whelan.
Hill-Pipes.
1st Five—Plaz.
2nd Five—Larrey.
Center Three—Bure.
Wings—Bedolla and Judge.
Full—Volkmar.

STANFORD.
F. R.—Holsten and Meyer.

Lock-Van Clier.
Breakers—Clarke, Robinson.
R. W. Vinham and Swift.
Half—Schofield.
W. F. Flood.
Left Five—Henry and Bocher.
2d Five—Stelson and Bocher.
Full—Knight.

Oakland, Lads

At the Front

Read Tribune

Edwin Whittier, who played under the management of Charley Thollander as a member of the Fruitvale ball team and also with the Ambrose Tailors, writes an interesting letter to Charley Thollander. Note where Whittier makes ment of reading The TRIBUNE Sport pages while in France, and that he is keeping company with Earl (Red) Baldwin, Andrew (Red) Powers and other local boys. The letter follows:

Some where in France,
October 20, 1918.
My Dear Friend Mr. Thollander:
Well, Charlie, as I have a little

Lane says he was very close to losing his pitching job last year because he lost your deciding game in the Mission league, as I was following all the games up, as I receive The Okanogan Courier. He said, "I got five rolls all together and home, we were back in July, but that made no difference to me. When I get through with them they are all yours." Lane is a member of the Pacific Coast League club of the Salt Lake Baseball club of the Pacific Coast league, in an interview he said, "It all depends upon the government's policy according to Lane. Lane is very helpful.

Salt Lake could step into a season of baseball on a week's notice, it is asserted so far as playing strength goes. Not a single player would have to be provided if the Pres-of boys from Oakland. I like the sporting page of it and that is what mother mostly sends me as she knows that, too. I sure had a bunch of them.

I see where there are quite a few boys left in town, yet. I have not seen or heard from your son, Harry, since I left California. I would like to meet him, here. I would like to meet him, here.

In the service were released and those discharged at the shipyards responded. Ralph, my brother, is in the navy, Schenke is in the army, in France and Leverenz and Signa are with a hospital unit at the San Francisco Presidio. I would like to see them. I stand on paper is as follows:

Catchers—Mike Konnick, Butch Byler.

There is no chance of doing so. But I did get a nice long letter from Gus and enjoyed it. He said that he and his mother at San Diego were doing quite a time together. It sure made me feel good to hear from an old pal of mine. I have not touched a hair since I left home, but hope some day I will be back in the old game again.

I have been trying to write to you for some time, but some how I did not, as over here we are kept pretty busy most of the time. I have seen all kinds of weather here. Last week, had a big lightning and thunder storm, then very hard rain, some the days are very cold, some mornings are very cold. I have seen a bunch of Oakland boys.

Center field—Jack Farmer.
Right field—Ward Miller.
Utility—Cliff Lee.
The next league is said to be in excellent shape, and St. Louis said to be better situated than any of the other clubs which comprise it. The financial situation of the club is favorable. It has not a dollar of indebtedness.

The matter of railroad rates is a serious one, according to Lane, who says it is "practically impossible to pay the high rates called for by the present rates. To meet this situation, he suggests cutting the customary 30 week season to 20 weeks, beginning play two weeks later and closing on September 1. This would give each club two rounds of the circuit instead of three. "I don't open the program, and would make a season card and beyond labor day. Lane hopes, however, that there may be a modification of the war-time railroad rates.

SEATTLE, Dec. 7.—Few gold miners ever die rich, according to A. J. Blake, who was one of the first pioneers who staked claims in the Seward peninsula district of Alaska, before the rich Nome beaches were discovered.

"It's a peculiar fact," said Blake, "that money made

C. 3618 F. A. American Expedi- rarely sticks to the man who makes tionary Forces. it.

1950

ERN 7-room 2-story house, all connances and garage; large lot; good idence section of Berkeley; handy

S. F. local, school, University and Legraph ave. cars. Apply mornings er Sunday at 855 Arlington ave.
land; take Grove st. car.

8-r. house, hdwd. floor; corner
; east of lake; $35. Chesney, Lake
Sunday or Tuesday. Box 17159, bune.

V. mod. 3-room rear bungalow;
Kendle dist.; fine view; sleep porch

ement, fluid heater; $20. Oak 6181.
E rooms and sleeping porch; close
$65. Box E976 Tribune.
1 AVE., 3900—Modern 8 room house fully furnished, sunny Fruitvale. 4-mm, flat, hardwood floors, 35th ave
Call Sunday.
f. cottage, bath, big yard; $12, inding water. 2123 E. 25th st.
f. bungalow, 5252 Lawton av., Valet Dec. 10; tenant will show afternoon.

ROOM house; lake dist.; modern; beautiful view; $40 mo., Pied. 3920W.
M. house; mod. conveniences; $40; 4 1/2 st. Owner, 1396 8th st.
4-ROOM cottage, modern, with garage. See Davis, 6158 E. 14th st.
ROOM modern cottage. 624 61st st. Adm't 3911.
f. mod. bungalow; hwd. floors, slp. ch.; reas. Berk. 1552J.

HOUSES TO LET—FURNISHED

UPPERVILLE, turn, new Claremont
K. R. R. 9 r. sl. p. piano, garage, bath, 2nd floor, ref. Bk 37493.

—VILL, rent very reasonable, to suit, 10 r. 2nd floor, 2nd floor, furnished home of 6 rooms, etc. 3542
Mont Ave., Fruitvale.

MODERN house, 3 rms. and sing.
bath, 2nd floor, 2nd floor, 2nd floor,
near S. F. Trains. Ozk. 401.

MODERN 6-room furnished bungalow; water free; rent 342. Pled. 1965CV.

UNNY 8-rm. lake first home, 4806
Lakeside Vista; gar. jur.; 565. Lake 565

UPPERVILLE new furnished of 5 rooms,
bath, 2nd floor, 2nd floor, 2nd floor,
randomly furnished; play, piano, etc.
fashionable Lakeside dist. Owner, one Franklin 1401.

WISH to rent small farm, cottage, or place in country. Must be near Ellsworth or Shattuck
P. trains; rent must be reas. Box
83, Tribune.

2-R. ROOM high basement cottage,
35th st. Rent $20. Rear.

6-rm. bungalow, cor. 9th ave. and
E. 4th. Phone Merritt 3599.

WANT to rent a small attractive and beautifully furnished 10-room house, for rent, every comfort; garage. Phone 7672.

PABLO AVE., 3128, at 31st st.—
fire and living apartments in back; good condition; rent $13 a mo. Keys at door.

LEASE, 1 year or more, 9-room residence, completely furn.; linen, silver, rything needed, including garage;

in; near 30th and Telegraph av.; per mo. See Mr. Moss, 1460 Broad-y.

L furnished cement house, sleep-porch. Phone Mer. 2260 or Lake

. new cottage; nicely furn.; mod.
baths: 1 blk. trains, cars. Call Sun-after 12, 2504 Eagle ave.; phone ameda 255-J.

A MONTH and partly furnished;
small 4-room cottage. 2535 Marcom end of 65th ave. car line. Phone utvale 8163.

OSM cottage, elect., and garage if desired; bath and floor.; no children. $30M. age.

OSM bungalow, turn. 1823 Fruitvale av. Fruitvale 9723.

OSM cottage in turn, furnished; rent reasonable. $48 36th st.

OS. S. mod. bath; large lot; near S. city; 2 cars; 2 cars. $805.

OS. S. mod. bath, nicely turn. 747 14th; rent $45; adults.

USES AND FLATS WANTED

FINISHED flat or apt. by 3 adults. 4 rooms; good location and two-phone evenings or forenoon. $1000.00.

N. J. 3-4 r.m. bungalow or flat; best location. O. V. A. Cromwell, 1609 99th ave.

2-3 r.m. turn. bungalow or apt.; 2 conv. conven. rears. Box 6360, Trib.

AKLAND SENSIBLE SIX
Every Day Car.
Less per Mile.
S. H. BURMAN, 3074 Bdwy. C. 121.

MANENT couple; small furn. house flat; not over $30. Box 6591, Trib.

ED couple desire small bungalow or cottage, with large yard for children, chickens, etc., near K. R. or
R. R.

LL suburban cottage, one acre; 5 minutes to car, 20 min. auto drive to Grand City Hall; trees; good view.

WANT a quiet, comfortable furnished cottage or bungalow in good neighborhood, Oakland or Berkeley. I have no children and can furnish class references. Box 415, Tribune, S. F.

WANTED—4-room home; good lot; not more than 20 min. to Oakland City Hall; not over $1200; $200 cash, bal. mtge. at 6%; describe fully and fill answer. Box 6524, Tribune.

WANTED—Furnished home 5 rooms; at least 1 desired: Fruitvale and rose districts preferred. Rent reasonable. Box 6332, Tribune.

ANTED—By responsible party, 5 or 6 room mod. furn. bungalow in Berkeley or Oakland; rent about $50. Ph. 4. 4837.

ANTED—By reliable people, furn. cottage 4 to 5 rooms, convenient to city; will lease; E. Oakland preferred. Ph. 4. 4837.

WANTED—Furnished house or flat of 5 rooms; wanted by adults, rent not over $400. Call 3-1234.

T 4 or 5-room furnished bungalow; am heat preferred; walking dist. 12th and Broadway. 401 Bank of y bldg.

TED—Small home not over $900; price and terms—address.

TELE.—Furnished flat or house; 4-5 rooms; walking distance; state all particulars. Box 37160 Tribune.

5-ROOM bungalow, unfurn., bet.
and Oakland; rent $22.50. Box
1, Tribune.

6-RL. bung., house or apt., furn.
unfur., garage; will lease. Add. 904
Merchants National Bank bldg., S. F.

STORES AND OFFICES TO LET
A large store, modern, some fixtures, good location, Telegraph ave.; special inducements to good tenant.
J. Sardley, 1106 Oxford st., Berk.

RE with living apartment for rent. Reasonable, at 1732 5th avenue; good location for delicatessen. B. H. Welch Co., 5th ave. and E. 15th st.

First National Bank Building.
Pne. typewriter, etc. Lakeside 1635

RENT—MISCELLANEOUS
 Located, light, clean factory or warehouse bldg., grounds, shipping facilities; low rent. Owner, 236 Bacon
 St.

Continued on Next Page

DECEMBER

Alameda Land Co.
334 Park Street
Phone Alameda 490
Open Sundays and Evenings

re highly imp. going cken and fruit ranch;
e Hayward City limits;
laying hens and pul-Price $6500 clear)
couple; mod. cottage;
— N. Castro Valley
t. rd. and blvd.; 4-rm.
; barn; plenty of water.
Price $4500 (clear).
HOME IN FRUITVALE
ttages, well located; als rented. Price $9000;
$900 per yr. Trade good grain land.
(CLEAR LOTS)
0—All imp. done and for; for pr. mod. flats
to $5000.
5½ ACRES
land; rich, deep soil;
Hayward. Price $2750,
home in Oakland same

meda Land Co.
34 Park Street

EXCHANGE
R OAKLAND HOME.
A splendid young, bearing, apple orchard located in the Hillcrest Ore. district; it is in property of less than thirty acres, of which ten acres are to ten-year-old trees, ten to twenty-year-old trees and an accepting building site, and ten in wood lot and pasture. The place has a fine $1500 worth alone this year, and should $2000 next, and more later. We to the grade fruit, fine turkeys, cats, turkeys, chickens, turkeys, goats, hares, squabs, bees, nuts, garden, etc.

Five miles from town; good school near; fine healthy climate; fine sunny days; good water; healthy and fine; sweet feet altitude; fine development for labor and capital. Four years pleasant work on this place and can work on adjoining or eight months annually if desired.

$7500, clear; will exchange for modern Oakland home; no junk values considered; will give a full and complete list of properties are rarely offered in P. Box 5157, Tribune.

EXCHANGES
county, city or country, wanted for pair of Oakland flats,

[illegible]

Napa, on electric road; good improvements; value $4000;
land improved up to $5000.
Improved for all or any part;
value $1000.
Oakland; value $1000.
Central of Oakland; value \$4500; improved up to \$10,000; considerable improvements; value hung about on $\frac{1}{2}$ acre value \$5000; inebriance want lot of \$10,000 or increase to \$10,000.
AS. H. MYERS, Mutual Realty
1437 Broadway, Oakland, Cal.
Kendall
in close in flats; first payment $ ranch; not afraid to assume shows ability to carry. Sell terms. $1000, $250, $250.
GP—Corner lot in North Districts close to O. A. for corner in Thousand Oaks. Box 6112, OAKLAND income for smaller home. 1711 E. 14th st.
and you get possession of five of 11 rooms, porch, steps, garage, chicken and rabbit lunge corner lot, 1711 36th lot, 2 acres, 1000 feet, 1000 cans, flowers, vegetables; room bungalows on ground; the house, 1000 feet, 1000 feet, 1000 10 years, or might accept property; owner 11, with activity, 1000 feet, 1000 feet, 1000 proposition ever offered for a fine building, elegant located, beautiful grounds,
high counties; price $15,000.
85, 7000 feet, 1000 feet, 1000 all Hayward ranch; will take property and assume. 1114

age barn and out-buildings.
1950 Exchange service; rapid, efficient; bay cities and let us try the large property to it.
AND TEMPLE Exch. Dept.,
1st st., San Jose, Cal.
4-2600
4-Apple orchard, 1 1/2-200 acres, 1000 trees for 4 or 5-rm. mod. bungalow;
Address Box 6534, Oak, Trib.
4-2600
4-For income property,
Sedon, Okla.,
4 shock absorbers, bumpers,
4-2600
4-5-room cottage in East trade for lots or acreage in condition; near 3 car lines; lot 1000 sq. ft. Box 1000, 4-2600
5 and 6-rm. flats, close in want country; must be good;
stock market; will assume or
O. C. Dubson, 4-2600
4-2600
LAND SENSIBLE SIX
An Efficient,
Every Day
BURMAN, 4-2600

DECEMBER 8, 1918. 49

APARTMENT HOUSES, HOTEL
ROOMING HOUSES FOR SALE
AND LEASE

TRIANGLE

APARTMENT HOUSES, HOTELS, ROOMING HOUSES FOR SALE
AND LEASE

TRIANGLE
106 BACON BLOCK
OPEN SUNDAYS.

$275-6 apartments; rent $50.
New and Oaklawn. Gas house is good and can clear $165 month.
Furniture in the house easily worth $550. Exclusively Triangle.

We Guarantee Clear Titles to all Buyers

OPEN SUNDAY.

$150-Will Give You a House-$350
Clearing $90 month; near postoffice; rent $40; best buy in Oakland act quickly.

$1800-23-Room Hotel-$1900.
Rent $70; located center of Oakland; land, fair furniture; clears good money; a snap.

$650-14-Room House-$650.
Housekeeping; rent $40; you can month; bargain.

$1000—Fine Transient—$1000 house; $360 down, balance monthly; rent $40; something good; fine location.

$400—Best Buy In—$400
Oakland; 10 rooms; housekeeping; rent $30; gross receipts $105. Triangle exclusively.

$1350—Swell Apt. House—$350.
Clarks 300 Mpls. House $150. If you want something good see us once.

$1500—Buy a Nice—$1500 house; 17 rooms; garage, lawn; good furniture; rent $50; small cottage goes with it; located on 37th st.

$5000—Downtown Hotel—$5000
Hot. Has cold and hot water. Will need to clear $300 month; rent $100 rooms $50; all men roomers; look this up at once.

$3000 Cash—This Home—$3000 Cash
House with all new; rooms full every night; best transient house in Oakland; located near City Hall

$15,000—A New Steel—$15,000. fireproof hotel; rent per room $7.50 cheapest rent in city; 79 rooms $5000 will handle it; clears $500 month.

$30,000—This Hotel Is—$30,000.
guaranteed to clear $300 monthly all Stickney furniture, and $750 handles it; balance monthly pay ments.

If you are looking for a rooming house from $150 up, call and see us first.

$1800—Rent $70—$1800
Rooms 39; excellent location; all furniture and a snap for the price asked; will not last long at this figure.

$250—Best Buy In—$350
Oakland; clears $30 mo.; rent $10 near P. O.; best buy in Oakland.

$650—Swell House—$650

Income $130; located near Orpheum theater. Come a-running if you want it.

TRIANGLE

106 BACON BLOCK.
OPEN SUNDAYS.

SPLENDID 15-rm. apt., central; p
$550, terms. 545 Jones st.

WORKING MAN'S rooming house, rooms; clears $200. 1630 Franklin

17 ROOMS; bkps.; uptown location bargain if sold quickly. For part lars phone Lakeside 2971.

APARTMENT HOUSES

ROOMING HOUSES WANTED
LEASE and furniture of an apartment house wanted for corner lot, 4 mod. rms., near 5th St., San José; value $2,000. W. J. WHITE, 611 Federal Bldg. Bldg.

TO BUY good apartment house; abn. 1000. Box 6825 Tribune.

WILL buy six or ten houses with 2 rms.; no agents, c. 100. 595 8th St.

$340 HANDLES 6 rms. nr. K. R. 1 small income. Box 5739. Tribune

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES

A GOOD opportunity; large store rent; living rooms in rear; was supplied a grocery store; 1000 ft. (lot); garage; 2001 E. 21st st. Own. 644 E. 11th st.

equipped; boxes, etc.; located on 14th-Bdwy.; cheap rent; fine business to be sold; call 719-531-1111; Milchener, 252 Bacon Block.

A WELL established and good pay grocery business paying $3500 to $4000 per year net, carrying about a $8000 stock; no agents. Box 5792, Tribune.

ADVERTISER has $2000 and services for promotion or going business; is advertising man. Box 6114, Tribune.

BILLIARD room, cigar stand, bar, pool shop; country town, division point. Owner, 1531 9th st., West Oakland.

BUTCHER SHOP, fully equipped, rent, $15; or sale. Call 719 Oak st.

CAFETERIA—Noonday meals; feed

Desire Business
Opening
CAPITAL $5000
College graduate; age 25 years. Address 1021 Durant st., Berkeley.
EXPERT farmer, fruit grower & business man of ability desires co-operation with party who has $5000. $10,000 cash; will double value of money back in 6 years. Very big income thereafter. In legitimate industry proposition. Box 694, Tribune.

FOR SALE on account of sickness branch bakery, delicatessen, groceries 635 Ave. 10, New York. One day.

FOR SALE—Millinery store doing good business; established five years; good place to live back of store; cheap rent. Call 3123 Tribune.

FORTUNE IN THIS—New discovery that actually grows hair; also money discovery which keeps age strictly fresh ten months in box. Good taste, good looks, good money, worry free; few hundred dollars silent capital. Anyone can do it work. Store 2125 Market St., E. F.

FOR SALE—OAKLAND EXCHANGE ROUTE 1, 1000 ft. sixth corner.

GROCERY business for sale; store front and 4 living rooms in rear; modern and new. Call 1530 13th ave.

HAVE excellent opening for baker w/

RESTAURANT—A dandy little business opportunity. Good location, 4 tables a counter; good location. 1530 Franklin St., Washington St.

HIGH YIELD INVESTMENT

Why look further when you can secure 10% net? Secure this new up-and-coming bus. running full: choice of city, best car service. Price $25,000 net. 1500. No exchange. Box 132 Tribune.

THIS second hand store must be sold out in the next 30 days; going cash for bargain in all things. Clothing, clothing, closing out business; those wishing bargain may call 481 7th st.

OAKLAND SENSIBLE & ECONOMIC ENDURING.

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

7

Ehlers

Bankrupt Stock

Pianos and Phonographs

on sale at Brillhart's
531 13th St.
OAKLAND

Full Face Value
Allowed for Liberty Bonds

BUY NOW!

Pay
$10.00
Cash Down.

SALE
PRICE
286¢

Columbia Phonograph
on sale
$30.00

PLAYER
ON SALE
$276.00

Face Value Allowed

Liberty Bonds.

PLAYERS
ON SALE

450

$225 Victrola—

$178

CALL
PRICE
1600

5175 Edison

Phonograph
on sale
$124

A black and white photograph showing a close-up of a building's exterior. A sign is visible, partially obscured by a vertical element, with the words "BONDI'S KITCHEN" clearly legible. The building appears to be made of brick or stone.

Face Value Allowed
for Liberty
Bonds

HOWARD E. BRILLHART
KIMBALL PIANO DEALER
531-13th STREET OAKLAND

the 1990s, the number of people in the world who are under 15 years of age is expected to increase from 1.1 billion to 1.5 billion. The number of people aged 65 and over is expected to increase from 200 million to 400 million. The number of people aged 15 and over is expected to increase from 3.5 billion to 4.5 billion. The number of people aged 15 and over is expected to increase from 3.5 billion to 4.5 billion. The number of people aged 15 and over is expected to increase from 3.5 billion to 4.5 billion.

